Frontline by Alexis André - Debut Ordinals Collection

Alexis André (<http://alexisandre.com/>) is a distinguished French artist at the forefront of generative art who created top traded "Friendship Bracelets" with Snowfro for Artblocks, which did over 18.3k ETH ($60M+) in secondary volume. For nearly two decades, he has masterfully fused art and technology, creating groundbreaking interactive installations that captivate audiences around the globe and his works have been showcased in prestigious auction houses including Sotheby's and Christie's. "Frontline" is his first Ordinals collection, which he has worked on for the past year.

"There is no perfect world. There is no good without bad. What matters is where to draw the frontline."

Frontline tries to represent this struggle, this fight that happens in every moment. What appeared to be an obvious "good" choice a few seconds ago is now its opposite thanks to additional knowledge. The split between the two sides is never a clear cut: the battle rages on, and a lot is happening at the Frontline.
