Energy frequencies and vibrations fuel the universe and is light. Light is the gas that fuels the time in our universe's space. Solar alignment is our GPS since it dictates specific times in our space-time continuum. Gravitational lensing proves you can bend light. If you can bend the light of space-time then you can obviously warp space-time to create wormholes for time travel so light can jump across the lights fibonacci sequence that exists inside of the universes PI. Since time is light and light never ages it's infinite life is a circle. Light exists at the beginning of time throughout the middle of time and at the end of time all at the same time. While there is a public thing called Christian conversion therapy that demonstrates the living body of Christ is everything they say the devil or satan is on Earth I have not witnessed such evil to convert people into any other religions. Which leads to the logical conclusion that the never ending forgiveness by Jesus is a temptation of pure evil that most people are willing to take and is why Christianity added in the return of the body of light for judgment to remove evil's never ending temptation of forgiveness.

To many, the word deployment means fatality or some other word that scares many civilians. But to military families we are all too familiar with the word. We dread it every time it rolls around, but here deployment is just another thing we have to conquer. The media portrays deployments as deadly and sad, which they can be. But the media often forgets about the ones left behind during the deployments. And if they do remember the families, the truth is often not told. The "normal" problems we all have everyday don't seem to matter. After your loved one comes back, those problems still don't matter. As military families, we face so many different obstacles in our lives. Those little everyday problems just seem silly compared to the big picture.
