NHL: Columbus Blue Jackets @ Pittsburgh Penguins - 7:00pm ET

Penguins to win

Analysis:

We are on the Pittsburgh Penguins to handle the Columbus Blue Jackets. Despite recent challenges on the road, the Penguins have been strong at home, winning seven of their last eight games there and maintaining a ten-game home winning streak against the Blue Jackets. Meanwhile, the Blue Jackets are struggling significantly on the road, with a record of 4-12-3, including four straight losses while giving up at least four goals in each. Given these factors, I think the Penguins have the upper hand in this matchup. The public is also heavy on the Penguins to win this one with 82% of the public bets in favor of the Burgh.

NHL: Edmonton Oilers @ Boston Bruins - 7:00pm ET

Edmonton to win

Analysis:

We are on the Oilers to win this one tonight. The Bruins are facing their third game in just four days and have played three more games this season than the Oilers. The Oilers also have a notable shot differential of +217, compared to the Bruins' +38. Furthermore, Edmonton has a solid record of 8-3 when they've had two days of rest before a game. Given these factors, I believe the Oilers will come out on top in this matchup. The public bets are also in Favor of the Oilers on this one holding 68% of the bets.

NCAAB: Nebraska Cornhuskers @ Iowa Hawkeyes - 8:00pm ET

Iowa to win

Analysis:

The Cornhuskers have only played one true road game outside their state and were heavily defeated in East Lansing. Although Iowa struggled in their last game against Wisconsin, I believe that sets them up for a strong performance here. The Hawkeyes rank second in the Big Ten and 23rd nationally with an average of 10.4 made 3-pointers per game. They also lead the Big Ten in assists (19.6, 3rd in NCAA) and boast an impressive assist-to-turnover ratio of 1.95 (4th in NCAA). Additionally, Iowa has won nine of the last ten home games in this series, further solidifying my confidence in their victory. The public has put 95% of the bets on the Hawkeyes to win this one.
