

Community Counseling Resources: Broadneck Elementary Cluster: Last Updated 2/11/2026

At times, our children need a broader support base than what can be offered in the school setting. As School Counselors, we regularly partner with community based counselors to support students. Below is a list of some of the local community based counselors as well as some general suggestions to help connect with community based support.

Suggestions:

- Call/research more than one option.
- Check with your Insurance benefits to see what mental health benefits are provided (Call the Mental Health number on the back of the card).
- Find a counselor that is a good match for your child and family schedule/insurance needs to allow for consistency.
- Ask questions – counselor/client “match” is important.
- If you choose, School Counselors can speak directly with the community based counselor with a signed release form/permission from you to help provide a bridge between school and community based counseling.
