

Canvassing for the Statewide election in Chesapeake

/u/BranofRaisin and other republican state assemblymen are out on the field campaigning for federal republican candidates. /u/BranofRaisin is concentrating in his assembly district in the Chesapeake. He is out at the last minute passing out flyers, putting out signs on the sides of major highways, and visiting local places around his district. Along Route 77 in Eastern Ohio, there are 100s of signs saying “Dobs/Boom for President” and “Vote Kingthero for a better future for Chesapeake” along with a few other signs for other republican candidates. After being interviewed by a local news reporter, /u/BranofRaisin says, “I have committed to make sure that every voting station and highway in my district have signs in support of my fellow republican candidates running for federal elections. I will not let one voting station go without information on why voting GOP this upcoming election is the right thing to do”.

His last place he visited was his favorite restaurant, “Cracker Barrel”. He order a “Chicken Fried Steak”; While he is waiting for his large meal to be prepared, he is talking to local customers about issues that they find important and how the GOP stands on said issues. As long as he doesn’t get in the way of the waiters, the owner approved it. One customer asked about his local business and that there are a bit too much regulations for him to do well. /u/BranofRaisin talked about how the GOP is committed to getting rid of useless regulations. He liked what he heard, but then continued back to eating. By that time /u/BranofRaisin’s meal was cooked and he sat down to eat his meal.

On the other side of the Chesapeake, /u/Napoleon_Reincarnate is in his district doing the same thing, but is more committed to talking directly to voters. “Although I have put up signs, I have spent most of my campaigning time for my fellow voters and talking to them 1 on 1 to explain to them what is at stake, and why voting GOP is the choice to make for the Chesapeake”. In fact, /u/Napoleon_Reincarnate has visited almost 100 small businesses in the past week in his free time helping to campaign. This includes franchises of fast food owners, local restaurants, construction businesses etc. Talking to the business owners on how the GOP will help their businesses thrive and talking to many of the customers on how the GOP wants to cut their taxes.

Effectively, not only the federal GOP party has been mobilized to help campaign for their candidates, but the state assemblymen and even down to local levels are people committed to getting the word on the GOP and the importance of voting in this upcoming election. Getting people out to vote and register to vote is very pivotal to this election. The effect has been good the last months and weeks preceding the election due to the uptick in republican voter registration numbers.
