

Hi, I'm cheese and welcome to my funky little explanation doc eugh.....

Here i am going to explain everything RED haves in detail, and with everything i mean, the 4d to 5d args, the revives, and his wincons (probably more), and also talk about other stuff that is kinda debatable and that i wanted to mention (like 6d and Mid Godly RED) (yes)

Anyways uhhh i'm not good with introductions so uhhh

NGC RED = CKC RED

Ok so this is fairly simple to explain, in fact i already did, but i just want to clarify some stuff.

To start with, i already explained how it connects to the lore (even made a timeline), but just to get the water more calm ill just touch up some other stuff

Is it official?

Yes, it is, I already showed evidence of how the collab monsters needed for the creator to actually write the story, meaning that cosbydaf clearly wrote it, there's no going around this one.

But is NGC RED the same as CKC RED?

Yes, he is, aside from all the lore proof I already gave, there are 2 major proof points shown in the wiki and in Solomon's bio.

First the wiki one.

Solomon - An exiled demon seeking revenge on his nemesis - RED! Designed in collaboration with Sunstone Games, LLC.

Shadow of Red - An echo of the malignant demon RED. Designed in collaboration with Sunstone Games, LLC.

As shown in the descriptions given in the official wiki, RED is an ECHO of what he used to be, this due to its death in the nes godzilla creepypasta, making a new body out of nowhere, without even its soul (mid godly explained more forward), creating itself once again trough his sheer evilness.

“But the bio says that Shadow of RED is not the same!”

Not really????

Overview: Shadow of Red is a demonic echo made flesh - a memory of evil that will not fade. Physically he displays a large bulbous humanoid head, thin arms, and a long tail tipped with a barbed stinger. Four thin spider-like legs emerge from the center of his underbelly. His back is covered in thin flexible plates, but otherwise the Shadow of Red is skinless. He charges into battle, scattering and crushing opponents with his great bulk before tearing into them with physical assaults.

Origin: Of the many horrors emerging from the depths of Zenith, Red was by far the most powerful, and the worst. His insatiable appetite for pain - even the pain of other demons, led to a great battle between Red and his siblings, especially the demonic Solomon. Red and Solomon's titanic clash was so powerful that it scattered their essences - manifesting shadows of them across time and dimensions. These lifeless shades play out the ancient conflict between these two combatants over and over, in different ways and formats. Our star has attracted one Shadow of the residual energy left by Red and Solomon's battle, which has come nearest to our world has assumed a fully physical form. This means it can be fought and defeated by other physical beings. But Red's malignancy will echo on, even if the Shadow of Red were to be defeated and removed from our space.

It states that it's the residual energy of the fight between him and Solomon, but it never says it's a different one, in fact, this RED is what remained of the creepypasta RED after being literally turned into dust, not even leaving its soul left.

“Oh but he died!”

Yeah, but he somehow survived, this showed by Zach literally stating how he still feels watched even after his death.

“But there's no proof that it's the same one!”

Except there is, and a very blatant one, although, it's funny that his worst enemy is giving the best evidence to help.

Origin: Solomon is a haughty but noble demon - one of the two strongest warriors in the realm of Zenith. The other champion, Red, betrayed Solomon and turned his former allies against him. Red and Solomon both traveled through several worlds, continuing their fight against one another. Solomon refuses to give up - even in exile he dreams of defeating Red. You may read more about Solomon's fantastic origin HERE.

In Solomon's bio, specifically in the origin section, it literally LINKS THE CREEPYPASTA to know about the backstory of that Solomon, remember, Solomon was also shattered, his essence spreading through time and dimensions, so, if he truly was another one, then literally linking the creepypasta would literally be meaningless, as that version that appears in the creepypasta isn't the CKC Solomon, but nope! It specifically links to the creepypasta to "read more about Solomon's fantastic origin", showing how CKC Solomon is IN FACT, our Solomon.

"But he died"

Yeah, but Melissa revived everyone after their deaths, meaning why Solomon is, well, Solomon and not "Shadow of Solomon", since he didn't need to use his essence to reform again like RED did.

But CKC was never finished! It shouldn't count!

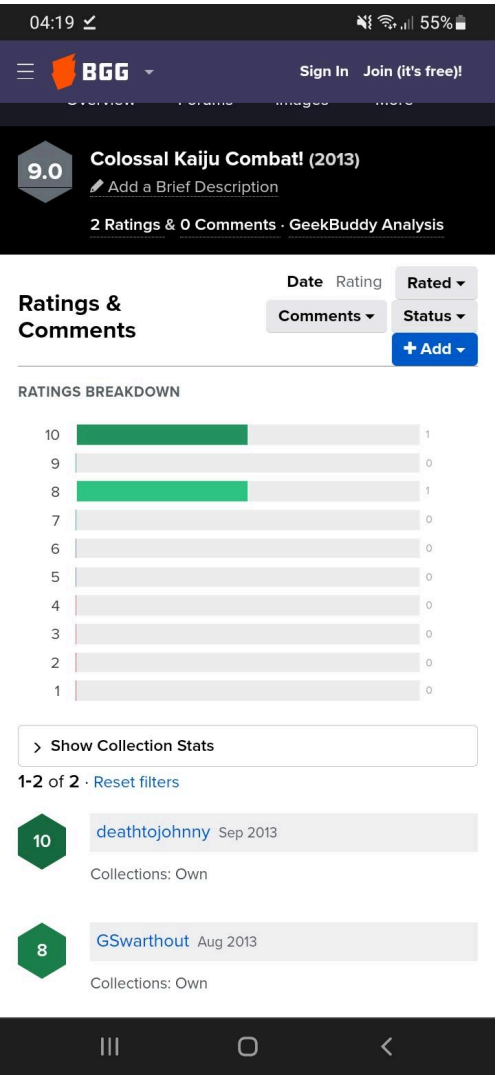

Fair, counterpoint, card game.

Then we can only use card games!

Wrong, the card games are obviously set in the CKC Verse lore, connected to the tournament plot, with some roster monsters also having cards (like RED and Solomon!), meaning that the cards take place in-verse, MEANING, that, AT THE VERY LEAST, the bios should be canon for the characters at the time of analyzing them.

But there's no proof for the cards being a finished project or ever being buyable!

To be honest I thought that too, until...

I found this, actual ratings given to the game in a website dedicated to board games, and if that wasn't enough!

Look, even it has my boy right there! Hi RED!!!!

And as a final proof.

So, now that CKC is 100% usable, I have to say something before I jump right in.

There are in total 6 decks of cards, having over 150 kaijus as said by the official comic issue.

Although it seems like a lot, I have only been capable of fully looking just into SPN 1 and 2, with some SPN 3 and 4 kaijus sparkled over. I have yet to find more information on the fifth and sixth deck, as it seems to be lost media, but hey, at least from 4 to down they have been 100% buyable as seen in the real life picture that i presented earlier.

4D TO 5D ARG GRAAAAH

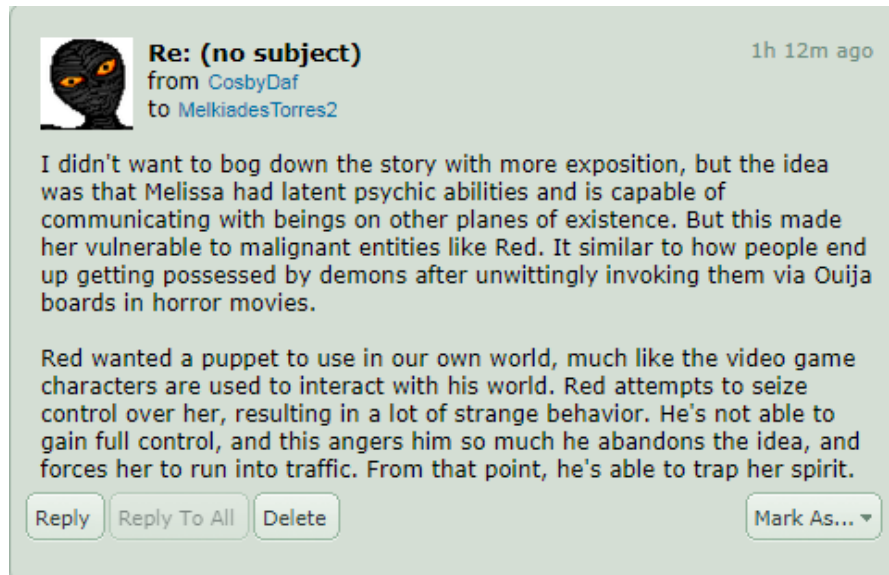

Big numbers yeaaa i love big numbers

SO, 4d to 5d, it's one of the most important stuff RED has, because it kinda determines if he's stronger than the evil hedgehog so... yeah let's get right into it

To begin with, there are multiple showings of 4d feats along the CKC bios, and even from RED himself, but the question is, are they really 4d? Well, yeah, there's a lot of showing that they in fact are, even just using logic.

I will go through EACH FEAT and explain it so hold tight.

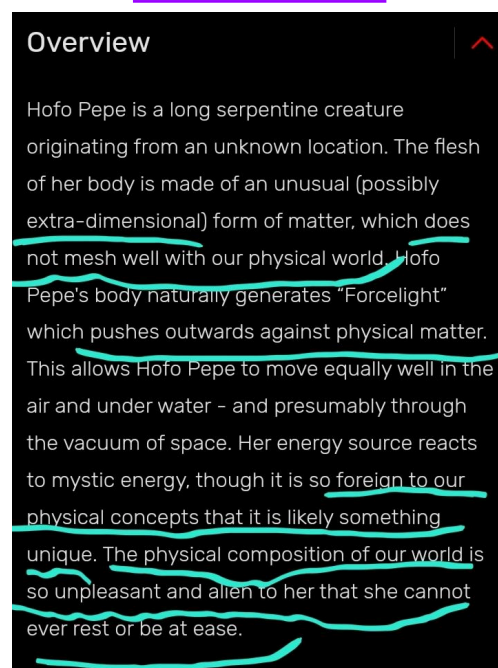

RED FEAT

As we see here, RED is described to be a being from “another plane of existence”, this literally means 4D, as it can’t mean other universes or a pocket dimension, this due to that concepts already existing in verse, and if that were the case, then it would be said more explicitly.

I know it's not a long explanation, but there's not much to explain here, it goes right to the point and is easy to understand.

HOFO-PEPE FEAT

At much greater energy cost, Hofo Pepe may use her innate force manipulation abilities at range- creating a Force Geyser which lifts opponents up off the ground, and a Mystic Force Beam of focused energy from her mouth which can engulf and demolish targets. Of interesting potential use is her ability to open up dimensional breach singularities, which create a vortex environment which has strong negative effects on terrestrial kaiju but can revitalize Hofo Pepe.

Melee Combat

Hofo Pepe is a very effective melee fighter, but her allergy to physical opponents is a significant impediment. Her strongest physical attack is her immobilizing bite, which deals massive quick damage to a single opponent, meshing her teeth with their flesh. This creates a lingering unpleasant effect for both Hofo Pepe and her target, as Hofo Pepe's body matter mixes with the terrestrial matter of the kaiju.

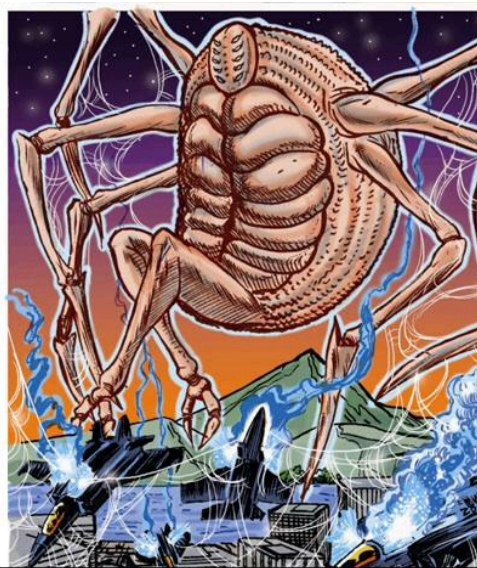

More frequently, Hofo Pepe will use her speed and mobility to charge opponents, which requires only momentary physical contact. In addition to straight charges, Hofo Pepe uses a spiraling "corkscrew" charge technique, which sacrifices some momentum but is difficult to avoid.

The most blatant one, not only is she made LITERALLY of extra dimensional matter, her energy is something so foreign to our physical concepts that it may be something entirely new.

NOT ONLY THAT but she can literally make DIMENSIONAL BREACH creating SINGULARITIES (kinda reminds me of someone).

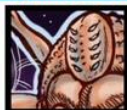

NOT ONLY THAT but the physical composition of our world (3D) is so foreign to her (4D) that she's constantly feeling unpleasant. In fact, when biting other kaijus, they matter instead of just touching their MIX, causing great discomfort and pain for both as it's literally pushing a 4D thing against a 3D one.

THE WEAVER FEAT

THE WEAVER

Mysterious Bringer of Form

Height: 114 meters
Weight: 55,000 tons
Gender: Female
Primary Attack: Segmented Legs
Secondary Attack: Stampede
Primary Weapon: Energy Webs
Secondary Weapon: Celestial Torment

History

The Weaver has a role to play in the continuing story of the universe. It is she who changes the form of energy into things monstrous and terrible. The concept of Kaiju is one of her greatest accomplishments - but also perhaps the cause of her eventual defeat on the mortal plane.

The Weaver taunts her enemies and goads them into proximity. Her webs do not simply ensnare - but also sort, sift, and re-form energy into new shapes and sizes. The Weaver plays a much larger game than any mortal being can comprehend.

Combat Style

The Weaver always fights for the long-term gain. She is careful and meticulous in her approach to battle. Her webs can burn or soothe flesh, and can be tacky or almost frictionless. Her slow pace belies the swiftness of her combat senses.

The Weaver can be quite difficult to harm with energy weapons, forcing kaiju to come close to her webs.

The Weaver's FEROCITY does not decrease as she attacks. Her KNOCKDOWNS cancel 2 attacks.

AS A MORTAL AND FIGHT THE NEAR GODS, THE KAIJU

SHIELDS OR RANGED BLAST
COMMONLY TAUNGHTS ENEMIES

This one is simple, the weaver literally, well, weaves universes, probably also their space time continuum by logic. It also shows that she's above concepts via literally being the creator of the kaiju concept.

This all implies she does this in a plane above our own, as it literally says that she will be defeated in the “mortal plane”.

It also helps that it describes that she plays a role so large than “any human being can comprehend”.

AZRAEL FEAT

Soul Keeper

Height: 106m
Weight: 48,000 tons
Gender: Male
Primary Attack: Claw Hands & Feet
Secondary Attack: Wing Smash
Primary Weapon: Soul Discharge
Secondary Weapon: Wraith Swarm

SPN2-01

History

Azrael's body draws in the souls of the recently deceased. He keeps these souls inside himself, feeding off of their energy.

Some people believe that Azrael helps the souls of people who have lost their direction - those that would otherwise wander the earth. But many believe that he prevents the dead from finding their natural resting place. He seems to have no concern for human affairs - but he seems to know when disaster will strike.

If you see Azrael, it may very well mean your death.

Combat Style

Azrael fights with the power of the souls he imprisons. Their anger fuels his physical attacks, and he can release the trapped souls inside him as deadly Wraiths to assault his enemies.

Azrael's claws create an unbreakable grip, and his wings are strong enough to carry opponents into the sky.

Height: 112m
Weight: 55,000 tons
Gender: Male
Primary Attack: Wing Crush
Secondary Attack: Physical Combat
Primary Weapon: Soul Siphon
Secondary Weapon: Wraith Swarm

SPN3-48

History

Azrael's affinity with the recently deceased has transcended the limits of physical space - giving him access to all souls in transition to and from the physical plane. The immensity of this power has overwhelmed Azrael's ability to focus on the material world - he is now completely absorbed by happenings in realms we cannot perceive or understand.

Azrael's body, however, continues to exist in the physical world, and the energies it now channels cannot help but attract the attention of powerful forces.

Combat Style

Should Azrael be forced to break his concentration in order to fight in the physical realm, his opponent will discover that Azrael now channels vast unearthly energies - granting him speed, anticipation, and power that cannot be explained in rational or scientific terms. The souls of the dead keep Azrael infused with limitless potential.

Again, talking about planes, this literally states planes that humans can't even comprehend, nor even perceive, it's pretty explicit in that department. It even mentions being above the physical plane, ascending.

NAGARL FEAT

NAGARL

Multi-Dimensional Monstrastity

SPN2-27

NAGARL

Teeth - Claws - Tail

Height: 102m
Weight: 51,000 tons
Gender: Female
Primary Attack: Finger Blade
Secondary Attack: Frenzied Tearing
Primary Weapon: Power Beam
Secondary Weapon: Electrical Spark

History

Nagarl was born in the pocket space outside the physical universe - the only organic creature to inhabit that place.

Nagarl is drawn to power, and to "otherness." She found our dimension and was drawn to the power she found within it. She took on a terrifying form, and began to rampage across every world she could find - inhabited or not. Her Bloodlust and fury are insatiable.

Nagarl is intelligent, but her notion of herself & of reality does not reconcile with the existence of our dimensions. It is unlikely that she can be reasoned with.

Combat Style

Nagarl's long whip-like finger ends in a tiny blade. Though small, it is her primary method of offense. The pain she causes seems to be just as important to her as (eventual) victory.

Nagarl can project a beam of pure extra-dimensional energy, which cannot be blocked by normal means.

Nagarl steals 1 POWER from her opponent when she deals damage with all three COMBO attacks.

I'll be more straight forward with this one, he's literally titled as a "multi dimensional monstrosity", was born in a space outside the physical universe (reminds me of someone), and can shoot beams of "extra dimensional energy" that cant even be blocked by normal means. Pretty blatant.

VALTAR FEAT

Overview

Valtar is movement incarnate - ever adjusting, adapting, and re-orienting. He cannot stand still. Entities under his sway can dodge, run, and plow through even the largest opponents. Valtar is faster than time and outside space - he represents freedom and choice. He believes that victory comes when a kaiju has the power to stay or go as they see fit. Valtar is primarily responsible for arranging kaiju to meet one another across vast interstellar distances, and even time & dimensional barriers!

I'll be even more fast with this one as it's fairly simple, this is the 5D feat, it literally states that Valtar can't be stopped even by dimensional barriers, and due to being a kaijujin, it literally means that he's above anyone in the roster, being unbeatable by anyone here, well, except RED scalling as i explained waaay before. Also, even if you didn't buy scalling, RED still can harness his power due to being a roster monster, meaning that he's 5D either way womp womp.

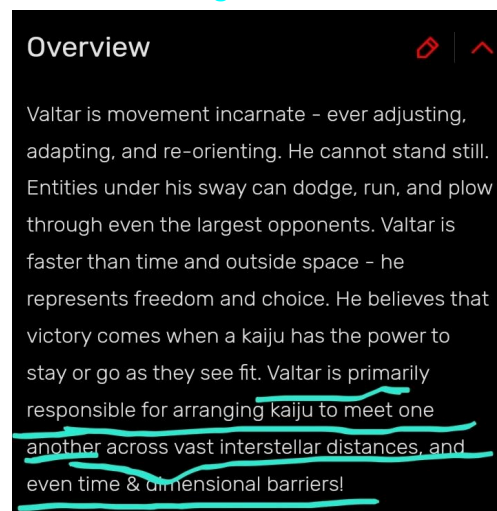

its also worth mentioning that the kaijus to them are nothing but a entertainment due to being so above them, only interacting with them to make the tournaments only for their amusements, giving them their powers in the form of power ups to make things interesting.

So basically, not only do these feats work, but they are consistent scalling for RED as he scales to everyone mentioned here.

IMMEASURABLE

Like, I don't really need to explain every feat, because it's pretend solid already, but, oh well, i'll do it anyways cause why not.

Hi again valtar

It literally says he's faster than time, do i need to say more?

MACROSAURUS FEAT

Origin: Macrosaurus is a terrestrial dinosaur who developed an immense appetite. His body managed to adapt to his ridiculous food intake by storing energy quickly in the form of fat. His increasing size made ever-increasing portions a necessity - and so Macrosaurus very quickly eliminated his original food sources. In desperation he began to metabolize rocks & earth - which kept him alive but could not satisfy his hunger.

Somehow, his desperation led this perfect eating-machine to bite a hole in the fabric of spacetime itself - creating vortexes to other eras and locations. At first Macrosaurus satisfied himself by eating whatever material came through these rips - but eventually he forced himself through one.

Now untethered by time and space, Macrosaurus treats the universe as his personal buffet.

Alexander Shukofs (Order #44387616)

Now this one is funny, at first I thought that maybe the feat didn't work, but then giving it another look, yeah, Macrosaurus it's quite literally, above time itself.

This is shown by how in the origin section it states that he's now "untethered by time and space", meaning that he surpassed both, and literally being described as "out of time" in the comic.

RED FEAT

Overview: Shadow of Red is a demonic echo made flesh - a memory of evil that will not fade. Physically he displays a large bulbous humanoid head, thin arms, and a long tail tipped with a barbed stinger. Four thin spider-like legs emerge from the center of his underbelly. His back is covered in thin flexible plates, but otherwise the Shadow of Red is skinless. He charges into battle, scattering and crushing opponents with his great bulk before tearing into them with physical assaults.

Origin: Of the many horrors emerging from the depths of Zenith, Red was by far the most powerful, and the worst. His insatiable appetite for pain - even the pain of other demons, led to a great battle between Red and his siblings, especially the demonic Solomon. Red and Solomon's titanic clash was so powerful that it scattered their essences - manifesting shadows of them across time and dimensions. These lifeless shades play out the ancient conflict between these two combatants over and over, in different ways and formats. Our star has attracted one Shadow of the residual energy left by Red and Solomon's battle, which has come nearest to our world has assumed a fully physical form. This means it can be fought and defeated by other physical beings. But Red's malignancy will echo on, even if the Shadow of Red were to be defeated and removed from our space.

Although not immeasurable, red does have a feat showing he's in fact, funny enough, omnipresent.

As it says there, RED has been shattered all across time and dimensions, essentially being spread all around them (this also explains why the fuck was he in a 4D plane), this not only means RED is everywhere, but also everywhen, as it literally says "manifesting shadows of them all across time and dimensions", the "all across" shows us that not only RED is in present time, but also in both PAST and FUTURE at the same time, this is backed up by the fact there are prehistorical drawings of him in caves, how he can time travel so easily and how hes unaffected by time stops, and how he was able to keep watching over Zach even after its "death".

6D RED

So, first of all, this one is a wild ride, so buckle up.

To start with, this is a kaijujin feat, this time for Grah, the kaijujin of strength. After thinking about it, I realized that Grah might as well be 6D, why? easy, if he's the kaijujin of strength, then being the same level as his other fellow kaijujins, like Valtar for example, would not make sense whatsoever, since well, he's the kaijujin of STRENGTH, him and no one else, if someone who wasn't even the representation of strength was the same level as him, then what would be the point?. here also helps how he's described as a "indomitable and invulnerable - which often means he does not care to engage, or cannot be bothered to notice events around him", clearly showing that he's above his fellow kaijujins, to the point he most of the time doesn't even bother notice them or what happens around him.

RED can access this level thanks to the kaijujin power ups, given to him via being a roster monster.

it's a bit weird, and not necessarily buyable, since with 5D alone RED can still stat stomp, but it was worth mentioning.

RED'S HAXES AND WINCONS

Why mind control works.

So, after reading why sonic.exe can't be mind controlled i realized it a bit and... I have some doubts. to begin with, his mind control resistance is... wonky, we have to canon explanations as to why he "resists" it, one is that he isn't bound to human psyche, and the other one is him "being unable to feel fear, because he likes feeling uncomfortable", as we can see both... are weird, first the human psyche one, this is extremely weird to me since, X, or well, Lord X, states how he used to not have a "conscience", and how he was suddenly struck with it, now, i see the problem, and is that,, how can he not have a mind, yet he haves a conscience? see where i'm going?, it's pretty easy, this claim contradicts itself by Lord X himself. and if he isn't bound to the human psyche then he wouldn't have things like emotions, like boredom and anger, which he does have, just that he doesn't understand them. Therefore, the claim doesn't make sense and contradicts itself.

Now moving into the second one, well, I'm not going to go too deep, if he likes "the way it feels" , it means that he can feel mind related things, yknow, the one thing needed for mind manip, a mind.

And why can RED go through that resistance? well, funny that you ask, you see, thanks to the information Cosbydaf gave, we know that Melissa was fighting mentally with RED over the control of her mind, essentially resisting the mind manipulation resistance, or that was until RED showed to be able to overcome this resistance, successfully controlling her to kill herself. as to why this should work, remember, X haves no experience in actual fights or scenes like this, while melissa, with a mind power able to reach another existential plane, fought against the control through possibly weeks and months, until her demise, showing how RED;s overall experience using mind based abilities would end up overcoming X, who never really experienced a mental battle, even more with a being way powerful than him.

Therefore yes, i not only believe RED can mind control X, but also, by the things shown, X cant mind control RED.

RED's stupidly high experience.

In this section I'm going to talk about the high experience RED has, because I think it's something huge that should be mentioned.

To begin with, not only does RED have been a tyrant and conqueror for a couple of years, which already gives him good strategic mind and fight experience, but also, thanks to CKC, he should have experience fighting all sorts of beings! from rulers of the dream world, multi dimensional beings, giant knights and immortal warriors, martial arts experts kaijus, and even some that have really powerful abilities, like monsters specialized in mind abilities, kaijus who deal with souls all the time, etc. but... there's still something, even with all this experience, he never encountered something like sonic.exe... or did he? let's see... being made of unnatural matter... can use singularities as weapons... it hurts to touch them... wait, that sounds oddly like someone we know!

Hofu-Pepe save me. so, in fact, RED does have experience with a being similar to X, at least on how he works. not only does hofu-pepe make RED be aware of how beings made of other type of matter work, but also makes him able to know what exactly are attacks made with singularities, surviving some in fact if we take them being similar, and how the attack is described as not an instakill but rather just another ability of the monster.

Mid Godly Regen RED and revives.

shocking to no one, i'm going to talk about regen and revives, and how it's mid godly, being, objectively, even better than what X has.

Overview: Shadow of Red is a demonic echo made flesh - a memory of evil that will not fade. Physically he displays a large bulbous humanoid head, thin arms, and a long tail tipped with a barbed stinger. Four thin spider-like legs emerge from the center of his underbelly. His back is covered in thin flexible plates, but otherwise the Shadow of Red is skinless. He charges into battle, scattering and crushing opponents with his great bulk before tearing into them with physical assaults.

Origin: Of the many horrors emerging from the depths of Zenith, Red was by far the most powerful, and the worst. His insatiable appetite for pain - even the pain of other demons, led to a great battle between Red and his siblings, especially the demonic Solomon. Red and Solomon's titanic clash was so powerful that it scattered their essences - manifesting shadows of them across time and dimensions. These lifeless shades play out the ancient conflict between these two combatants over and over, in different ways and formats. Our star has attracted one Shadow of the residual energy left by Red and Solomon's battle, which has come nearest to our world has assumed a fully physical form. This means it can be fought and defeated by other physical beings. But Red's malignancy will echo on, even if the Shadow of Red were to be defeated and removed from our space.

so, in the CKC bio is mentioned how he's literally just essence, “titanic clash that scattered their essences - manifesting shadows of them across time and space” and also how they are lifeless “These lifeless shades play out the ancient conflict between these two combatants over and over, in different ways and formats.” in no part it's said that he's something other than just essence and evilness, even stating how it “assumed a fully physical form”, meaning he can just make himself a new body, even going to the point to mention how he's usually “skinless”. All this leads to RED actually being just an essence, not even soul, just an echo of his evilness that will not fade, even to the point of remarking how “even if the Shadow of Red were to be defeated and removed from our space” he would still be there, alive. Again, I'm repeating this line like a maniac, but this checks out due to, well, how Zach still feels watched, even after completing the game.

ok so, cool, RED can make himself a physical form even being just his essence, but how fast can he do it? well...

yeah yeah i know, “but then why didn't he keep regenerating?”, because that would make the fight unfair under the cartridge game rules, and it's not like he can't go over the rules, its that he knew that if he broke them he would be punished by the Angelum, this is also shown on how he can normally negate any attack from their enemies or how he can just one tap anyone, this being recognized by both Zach and RED at the same time, so basically, he regenerated again thanks to using this huge final form as the sort of cliché on some video game bosses of having more than one phase, wich made it valid under the game rules as there were monsters that did that before in the story. what this means is that, not only his physical form is merely but a vessel, but that his real form is just his essence, which got spread as shades on all of time and dimensions, MEANING not only does he can make a new body in an instant (unlike some hedgehog with no official time frame outside of an hour), but he also doesn't have a soul, as in the end, its just his essence controlling a vessel like body of himself, making him literally soulless and just a echo of evil, a shade, a shadow, a essence. oh btw the only souls he has inside are those of his victims, so if x tried to do some soul fuckery, RED could just grab them back, but getting rid of them would at best just give him mild pain, and that's about it.

Also, even if X were to successfully erase him, which he can't now, he would just be erasing that specific RED, meanwhile there are countless other RED's all over time and dimensions, not making it crazy that he could just come back with another avatar.

EE not working on RED.

So yeah, in the last point I revealed something huge, RED doesn't have a soul at all, except those of his victims, making him unaffected by X's EE. but wait, why's that? Well it's simple, X's EE only seemed to work on souls, "but touching his dark matter gives a similar result" yeah i know, but i'll tackle that in a minute.

First of all, the black hole in its mouth only works on souls, that's something we all know and can guarantee, as the only things that can access his world are souls, in this case, Paul's soul, which was the one erased. he has never showed to be able to do it to a human body, and even then, it was literally specified to work only on souls, destroying them. now, this is easy to say as to why RED, would resist it, because, well, he doesn't have a soul to be sucked into the black hole, yes, he has souls inside but... none are really his, so getting rid of em would, as i explained, only cause mild damage to him, and that's about it. there's no mention to RED even having a soul to begin with, himself being only described as "essence", "a shadow", "an echo", and "a shade", all which are waaay different as to what a soul is, and it's not just fancy writing, because Cosbydaf himself wrote this, and he already established souls as a thing in the NES Godzilla universe, best example being Melissa herself, so him not just outright calling him a soul already gives proof as it not being one.

and the second one it's easy to explain. "if you touched the dark matter the same would happen to you" it's a nice and all, until you remember that, to be there in the first place you gotta be a soul, and even if it harmed his vessel, RED's essence would be just fine, as it's something that X can't harm, nor affect due to not being a soul.

all this combined gives out that, realistically, if RED were to touch dark matter, nothing would happen to him aside from maybe losing the souls of his victims, and that's about it, but if we give the benefit of the doubt to at least make it harm RED, his regen is instant and way better than what X has, so he would not have a problem to just grab it and shred it apart while regenerating.

EXE DEBUNKS!?!?!?

Really it isn't that much, it's rather more on speed. "Oh but speed isn't important", it is, it's a stat, it's always important to consider it.

So... what's wrong with Sonic.exe's speed feats? Well, the calculable ones are Ok, the infinite and immeasurable ones... not really.

Let me explain my points on both one by one.

- Has explored all of the void, a 4-D space. 4-D spaces have infinite sets of points (arguably Infinite)
- He cannot be measured (Immeasurable)

First the infinite feat, i mean, that right there sounds credible! I wonder how the feat is-

After X was born, he explored the recesses of subspace, floating in the darkness as a giant blob of pure dark energy with two red eyes.

Suddenly, he discovered a dimensional window that revealed planet Earth and all that it contains. It is here that X learned about humans and Sonic the Hedgehog, and right then and there he was utterly fascinated by both, mostly by Sonic, who he was smitten with.

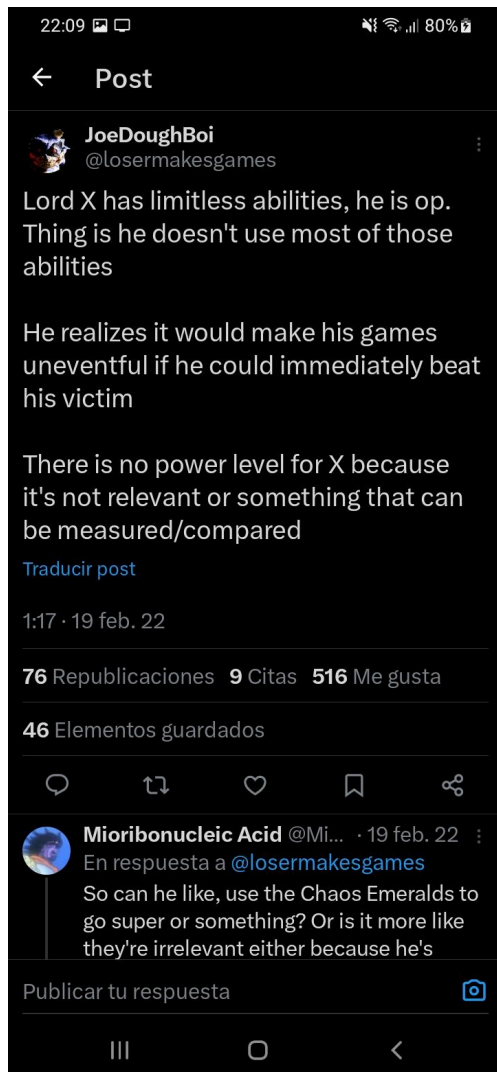

...oh, yeah I see the problem.

So, to begin with, yes, 4D spaces are indeed infinite, i'm not trying to deny that, at all, but... the thing with infinite space feats it's that it needs a specific thing to be infinite, it's not only just, wander through it, cause that's something anyone can do really, still a plane at the end of the day, so it is walkable, the thing making feats like this infinite it's not just wandering through it, its reaching the limit, and no, "explored the recesses of subspace" does not literally mean he reached a limit, it could be a way of talking like saying "i explored every corner of this city", but not literally, yknow, every corner. Clear evidence of this is literally what happens next, how he "suddenly discovered a dimensional window", if he really reached the limits of the void, and actually looked through all of it, then that would have to mean that he just stumbled upon it right as he finished watching everything, wich, by the way how it's narrated, it's clearly wrong, as how the "suddenly" implies that he found it while floating, which btw, we don't even get a real frame of how much time he really wandered, it could be hours, to days, or weeks, but we really don't know.

Therefore, not only is this feat wrong, it literally debunks itself in the next paragraph.

But hey, we still have the immeasurable lord x feat right? I'm sure it's very blatant about it.

Oh... monkey's paw. Yeah, it is technically blatant, but also blatantly wrong to buy it for speed.

I don't even need to explain more in detail, you literally have TO JUST READ to see that joe isn't even talking about speed, but POWER LEVEL.

“Oh but this should also apply to speed!”

No, not at all, i get it, lord x is op yadayada, but for speed we need direct confirmation, we cant just go off “oh hes just really op”, cause then fuck it lets make lord x immeasurable and boundless. No, that's not how that works, the feat clearly talks about the POWER level, and not the SPEED level.

Therefore, none of the non-calcable X feats work, or at least the ones that I'm aware of.

So, this does not only leave X below in speed to RED, but also gets BLITZED.

but oh well, he tried running to the green hills, but I guess he was too slow.
