Since 2017 the University of Minnesota Social Welfare History Archives Library houses and preserves MPHA's rich collection of historical materials. These archival materials are available for use in historical research and special projects by MPHA members, public health workers, academic faculty and students, and the general public. To increase awareness and use of this vast resource a three-minute video was produced in partnership with the University of Minnesota Libraries and MPHA. The video welcomes visitors to explore this extensive collection for research purposes and to tell stories of the public health history and its impact.

Help us Help Them

Each year, APHA selects a local organization to support. The APHA 2024 host city charity is the Dream of Wild Health, one of the longest continually operating Native American organizations in the Twin Cities. When you donate to Dream of Wild Health, you support their mission to restore health and well-being in the Native community by recovering knowledge of and access to healthy Indigenous foods, medicines and lifeways. Your gift supports Native youth leadership, healthy and traditional food access, and Indigenous seed stewardship. Attendees are encouraged to join in the effort to make an impact by making a gift through the registration process.
