

Dreams are eternal, search for the true story

By OathkeeperRoxasxNamine09

Michael: I never thought I be doing this, or why I want to remember it, but this will be interesting. This came from me accepting a challenge to write an ending for an infamous Sonic the Hedgehog story called Sonic in the Search for Love. Basically it's a possible Troll Fanfic or someone with a possible raging hate for Sonic because it really wasn't about Sonic, just these loose plotlines and subplots that went nowhere and skipped so much with time consistencies and lack of buildup. And with all the random death and destruction that is then brushed aside, it has to be. So I'm going to tie up every single loose end, if I can. And because I can, both the Archie Comic cast and the Video Games cast will be featured in this ending, it wouldn't be a Sonic story without Sonic characters because then it's not a Sonic story, am I right?

I don't own the Sonic Series that would be owned by Sega and Sonic Team. And I really don't wanna, after that hot mess of a story. And I don't own any of the furry cast of characters, and I really don't want to.

Lastly, this would be chapter 12 of the story, so let's see how far I even try with this mess.

The planet Mobius is a lush and beautiful place to live. From the fields of land to the open ended seas, Mobius was a grand place. But even the grandest place has its worst moments. Wildfires, storms, pollution, Mobius wasn't always the beautiful place; it had its own share of ugliness. But there was one man who could bring out the evil and ugliness in the world, a man so menacing and evil, even speaking the things he's done is unforgivable. His name is Dr. Ivo 'Eggman' Robotnik. Grandson to Dr. Gerald Robotnik and cousin to the 'deceased' Maria Robotnik have made his mark in the world for years, capturing little critters and turning them into his Badnik army. He had control of many areas, including his own Eggmanland where it's impossible to destroy alone. But no matter the scheme he made, there was one person who would stand against the egg shaped tyrant, the Blue Blur and member of the Freedom Fighters, Sonic the Hedgehog. But for a couple of weeks, the blue Hedgehog hasn't stopped Eggman's plans since getting involved in one of them three weeks ago and after that, no one has heard from Sonic since then and even Eggman was in hiding himself. For now, the Earth was at peace, even if was just brief.

The weeks went by since Eggman's disappearance and the inactivity of Sonic. All of Sonic's allies, the Freedom Fighters, and his own team, Team Sonic Heroes, were just enjoying the peace, or to them the peace they earned after Eggman's attack weeks before. Despite their carefree and relaxed attitude, there was one thing on their minds, and in the city of Station Square, it was on the very thoughts of one fellow hero.

The streets of Station Square were packed with the hustle and bustle of its citizens, enjoying the clear blue morning sky, the peaceful sounds of cars, taxis, and buses, even the many merchants selling the latest goods or food. Someone in particular was making their way home from the market, carrying a single brown bag of groceries and passing by the many shops in the city. It was an anthropomorphic pink furred Hedgehog who was very short in appearance, her pink quills that resembled hair reached down to her neck wearing a red headband over her head and three strands of hair that was at her forehead. She had green eyes that shined like a green emerald, her muzzle a peach color while the rest of her body was pink. She wore a red dress with a white lining from the bottom of the skirt to the collar with the back exposed. Her boots were a matching red with white stripes, and lastly were white gloves with gold bracelets on her arms. She took one look at one of the store windows, eyeing a single digital clock which read the time 10:35 am.

"Still a bit early to make a meal, but I'm sure everyone will like it." She said with a bright and cheery smile upon her face. "It was a great haul I've gotten. Maybe I can try that new recipe I have in mind." The pink Hedgehog looked at a display calendar which showed the month of July, the date in particular was the 25th of today. She sighed to herself and closed her eyes, has it really been that long? It was a couple weeks ago when she, Amy Rose, a friend and comrades to Sonic and the Freedom Fighters had heard from the blue Hedgehog since an event in Knothole Village. She gripped her bag tightly close to her chest, thinking back to how this even happened to him.

'Sonic was at the village and then he collapse into a scream when it was attacked. Then, he fell into a coma. None of members, even our other friends outside the Freedom Fighters know why...' Amy turned around and leaned her back on the smooth glass surface of the display window, always thinking back to what happened to Sonic made her sink into depression again. She worried for Sonic, this was her friend after all. 'Sonic, please be okay, all of us are worried for you...'

"Amy!" a voice called out to the pink Hedgehog, breaking her out of her thoughts to look at not one but two figures flying towards her gliding over the ground. The first one she recognized off the bat, seeing her smiling and childish smile greet and wave at her. She was an anthropomorphic Princeton orange and cream white rabbit, looking much her height, if not shorter. Her eyes were cinnamon brown and wide in color, a single lash on both sides of her eyelids. Her attire was simple fitting, wearing a vermilion dress with white collar and cobalt dual-flap tie which reach to the hem of her dress. Her arms and legs were peach colored with her hands covered by white gloves with golden buckles on the ends of the gloves. Lastly, her footwear consisted of vermilion and yellow shoes with white socks reaching her ankles. The Rabbit's long floppy ears were flapping like bird wings as she was followed by another familiar face.

Amy recognized it as a Chao, its appearance she remembered fondly. It was light blue and had yellow markings at the tip of his head, hands, feet and tail, a bulb-shaped head, dark blue eyes, a floating, yellow pom-pom ball hovering above the top and a red bow around its neck. It flew towards her with two small pink wings as the rabbit landed before her.

"Cream and Cheese." Amy said looking to Cream the Rabbit and Cheese the Chao one after another. "I was going to be back soon, you didn't need to check up on me."0

"I know Miss. Amy." Cream replied politely as her Chao friend landing into her arms. "But you sounded like you need some company so I wanted to walk with you." Cream looked solemnly down to the sidewalk, Cheese mimicking her actions. She thought long and hard about what she wanted to say, not sure if she wouldn't make Amy sad again. "I know Mr. Sonic is still on your mind with him in a coma like that. But we're all here you know to cheer you up."

"I know..." Amy said leaning down to place a hand on her kid sister's head patting it. She leaned back and back to facing the store window in though, the two friends and fellow allies to the Freedom Fighters' reflections were shining in the sunlight. "I'm just... no, I wish I could help him though, I'm his friend."

"We all want to help Mr. Sonic, Miss. Amy, but for now, we have to keep our heads on straight. Remember what Princess Sally said to us?" Cream said but Amy interrupted her remembering what the heir to the throne said during a meeting with the rest of their friends.

"Sonic wouldn't want any of his friends to worry about him, that's the kind of guy he is. Yeah Sally said that to us, and she's right." Amy took a deep breath and smiled, eyeing the sky now with a smile now returned to her face. She shouldn't worry so much, this was Sonic she was talking about, the same Hedgehog who fought against dangerous beings, powerful robots, aliens, even saved the whole galaxy from a dangerous race that would have destroyed all of the universe for their superiority. Sonic has been through everything, not even a coma should stop him. "Thanks Cream, it's so unlike me to worry so much about him."

"Yes!" Cream agreed with Cheese bopping up and down making the two smile at the male Chao's happiness. Before they could move on from the display window, voices called towards the girls catching them off guard and whirled around to see three more familiar faces running towards them.

"Amy!"

"Cream, Cheese!"

"We got some great news!"

The three stopped in front of Amy, Cream, and Cheese, their heels skidding on the sidewalk before stopping to a halt. They panted heavily in front of them, their chests heaving up and down trying too hard to catch their breath. "Thank goodness we found you two and Cheese..." spoke the middle one of the three looking up the two and the Chao speaking in a very feminine and cool like sounding voice. She was much taller and stood much leaner than Amy and Cream, holding her hand to her chest before rising up to face them. She was a lavender, violet, and white furred anthropomorphic cat with a red bindi on her forehead with her hair tied with a red hair tie. Her attire resembled that of royalty, wearing a violet coat with dark pink hemline and white tights that resembled pants with the coat tails reached down to her legs. Her footwear consisted of dark pink high heeled shoes with white straps and fluffy cuffs and white gloves like what Amy and Cream have with fluffy cuffs. Lastly was the gold necklace around her neck that shined in the sunlight.

"We were waiting for you at Amy's place, but Blaze and I got a call from Knothole Village..." spoke up the second person on Blaze's left. Although he had a smile on his face, it sounded like he didn't like being one of the messenger boys for news. He was a red and white furred Echidna, his body built slightly muscular with two large white boxing gloves with two spikes protruding out from the knuckles of the gloves. His eyes were a violet color with a peach muzzle and a black long nose, his hair resembling long dreadlocks. His shoes were red and yellow with green cuffs and gray sextuple-bolted metal plates on top.

"Tails and Sir Charles wanted to let you know that Sonic finally woke up!" exclaimed the third person of Blaze's right. The third person was a Hedgehog like Amy, but his appearance wasn't like hers but more like Sonic's and Shadow's. He was a silver furred Hedgehog, his muzzle a peach color with a black pointy nose. His quills resembled that of Sonic's and Shadow's with three quills protruding upwards and two on the left and right sides of his head with two bigger quills on the back. He was built like Sonic and Shadow, with a white tuft of hair on his chest to his neck, with long legs standing taller than Amy. His gloves were white with gold cuffs and circular aqua symbols and his boots were white, navy and aqua with gold cuffs that reached up his ankles.

"What?!" Amy gasped, passing Cream the bag of groceries before walking up in front of Silver. Her green eyes were shaking, hoping what the silver Hedgehog from the future was telling the truth. She placed her hands to his shoulders, startling him that she came up to him so quickly. "Is it true Silver, is Sonic really awake?"

Silver paused for a second to response, still he felt taken aback at Amy but he nodded, confirming his words. Amy immediately hugged Silver immediately on the spot, everyone shocked she was hugging him like that. It wasn't like Amy to be this emotional to anyone, even to Sonic but it was a change of pace to see the usual 'self-proclaimed girlfriend' to act so normal for once. Tears fell from Amy's eyes, but she was smiling, overjoyed Sonic was okay. "Thank goodness, thank you."

"Well, anyway, Princess Sally asked me, Knuckles, and Silver to come get you." Blaze said clearing her throat to gesture everyone to back on track on why they are here. "We are to meet her at the Train Station where Knothole Village is located in the area. Let's move, she says the faster we arrive, the quicker we can find out what happened to Sonic before he collapsed."

"Eh, right." Amy responded, her face turned a darker shade of pink, releasing Silver from her embrace and looked away in embarrassment of her actions. Amy grabbed her bag from Cream's hands and held to her chest looking towards Blaze, Knuckles, and Silver. She nodded towards the trio and they nodded back at Cream and Cheese. They turned around and ran down the street towards the Station Square Train Station as quickly as possible in order to not miss their train. Turning the corner, they walked up the stairs and through the sliding doors, finally made it inside.

"The train will be departing in a few minutes." Announced a male's voice on the intercom. Blaze and the others sighed in relief, they didn't miss the train, seeing it from over the top of the stairs and several people starting to board it. They followed suit without hesitant, knowing being late to see Sally would be a danger for them in more ways than one. They followed future passengers both human and mobian, not wanting to bump into anyone despite their meeting with Princess Sally was upon them. They walked in one by one into the train, Amy the last one of the group as the sliding train doors closed right behind her. The train started speeding up and finally left the station, Amy and her friends' destination was at hand: Princess Sally, Knothole Village... And Sonic.

Knowing that their stop would take some time to meet up with Princess Sally, Amy, Cream, Cheese, Blaze, Silver, and Knuckles all sat around the train car waiting for their stop. Amy sat by herself, looking out the window watching the passing scenery before her: plains, trees, power lines, even a whole river. Amy sighed, even watching the scenery passing by, her thoughts still on Sonic and what Princess Sally had to tell them if Sonic really was well or not. It wasn't like she wasn't thrilled for his possible recovery, she was happy he could be okay, but it was the pinging feeling that maybe Sonic wasn't fine or he could really be dead and this was just Sally's way to combing it over. Of course even as a future ruler, she wasn't the kind of person to lie to her people. Maybe this was just a lie to Sonic could be dead, and only wants the Freedom Fighters to know before the public. She just felt more depressed about this, knowing her friend is possibly dead.

'Or maybe I'm just overthinking, Sonic is stronger than he looks.' Amy thought shaking her head of those thoughts. This was so unlike her to worry about the survival of her friends like this, she had to stay positive. It's what Sonic would want from her. Amy's head still face the window when a young woman's voice spoke behind her.

"Would you care for something from the cart young lady?" she said sweetly getting Amy to look right at her. It was a Train Stewardess, dressed in the standard dark blue blouse and skirt with black leggings and black matching dress shoes. She was wheeling a food cart with her, which had many different treats and drinks even newspapers on the bottom tray. Despite the meal she was going to prepare for her friends, she was quite hungry now, and meeting the others at Knothole Village would take some time.

"One Chaos Soda, a Newspaper, and bag of chips please?" Amy requested and one by one the Stewardess passed her a Newspaper, a bottle of Chaos Soda, and chips and Amy gladly took them. "That'll be $3.75 please?"

"Yes ma'am." Amy replied reaching into her bag and pulling out a purse, paying her for purchase as the stewardess smiled at the pink Hedgehog and walked away from her the other occupants in the train and her friends. Well she wanted the soda and chips, it was the newspaper she wanted, the headline reading in bold words:

THE MYSTERY OF EGGMAN'S KNOTHOLE VILLAGE ATTACK

She looked at the front page of the newspaper which showed a full colored picture of several of her friends standing before the rebuilt village that was the aftermath of Eggman's attack. The first was Princess Sally Acorn, Uncle Sir Charles 'Chuck' Hedgehog, and Miles 'Tails' Prower. Princess Sally Acorn was second shortest of the three, a tan and light brown furred anthropomorphic Chipmunk with dark auburn hair with three bangs facing down to her forehead leaving a shadow over her blue eyes. Unlike her more covered female companions, she was more natural looking, wearing an azure denim vest and matching azure knee-high boots. On her right, Charles stood beside her with a hand on the future queen's shoulder, a much older looking blue anthropomorphic Hedgehog with grey hair and deep brown eyes, his skin still a fresh peach. His attire resembled that of an engineer worker: a brown vest with matching boots and gloves, a pair of glasses that rest over his eyes, and gray socks that were visible over his boots. On Charles' right, Tails stood smiling happily with a brown tool belt around his waist, a anthropomorphic yellow-orange and white furred Fox with two bushy Tails with white tips of fur at the ends of his Tails, a white muzzle with a black nose on his face, oval blue eyes and three strands of hair in the center of his forehead that protrude out.

Like most of his fellow male companions, Tails wore white gloves and socks with small gray fasteners and red sneakers with white toes and gray soles. Standing a foot from the trio stood the only human visible in the picture, whose appearance was that of a young teenager. She was a very average heighted teenager, much taller than the three Mobians before her, her blonde hair with a dark blue headband on her head and matching blue eyes and pink lips. Her attire was a mixture of blue and sky blue: A blue jean jacket with a sky blue blouse with a matching sky blue skirt reached past her knees and white shoes with white socks that were hidden in her shoes. What was pinned to her jacket so small she had to squint to look was an official G.U.N agent badge. After looking at the picture, she read the article aloud:

The past few weeks since that attack on Knothole Village was the talk of the presses as no one knew what happened. The attacked caused by Dr. Ivo 'Eggman' Robotnik was a mystery of itself. As the famous Freedom Fighters were always a thorn on the Egg tyrant's plan for years, but no one why this attack to the base of several of the Freedom Fighters was the most interesting. What was more interesting was Sonic the Hedgehog himself, who only returned to the attacked village only to mysteriously collapse arriving to the fact his friends were attacked. What seems strange as no one saw him attacked: There was no viable marks or scars to him or even wounds, it was like he only collapsed on the spot. After the attack, Dr. Eggman had vanished from sight, no one could pinpoint his location or his whereabouts, not even a single trace of him left.

"We will do our very best to find Eggman, you can count of it everyone." spoke Maria Robotnik, age fifteen, believed dead for fifty years and a member of G.U.N military.

For the most part, the royal family and all of Mobius is at a moment of peace from Eggman, but for now, everyone is on high alert for Dr. Eggman and will make sure the people of Knothole will get their payoff soon.

For the complete article from Maria Robotnik, look to pg. 3.

Amy put the article away and pondered for a bit, her thoughts were on the article, the attack, and Sonic's collapsing. Eggman had to have a reason, no matter most of the world he has controlled besides half of the world, the royal family, and Knothole, Eggman doesn't launch an attack on their village without a legitimate reason, there was something odd about his attack. Was he looking for something? Even eyewitnesses say the robots weren't horribly wounding the village as much, they were looking for a particular thing, but what was it? Amy felt like it was on the tip of her tongue as finally their stop approached, feeling the train stopped and her friends getting up from their seats. Deciding to follow them, she got up from her seat and exit the train.

Amy watched her friends already left for the exit of the station as the pink Hedgehog had turned to a trash can to throw away her newspaper and place her not touched soda and chips into her bag and turned quickly only to collide face first into someone and fell to the ground.

"Ow!" she screamed, feeling her butt felt sore from the impact as she spotted who she collided with. It was someone, but she couldn't tell if it was a boy or girl or even an adult. Their face, hands, all of their features were covered in a black cloak with black gloves and matching boots. Amy got up quickly, picked up her dropped things, dusted her dress off and look at the figure before her, paying no mind to their face being hidden.

"S-Sorry, I didn't see where I was going!" she stammered fearfully, worried she might have angered the person. The black cloaked figure didn't respond, but held out a hand to show it was no harm done. "M-My sincere apologies, I have to go, hope you aren't hurt." She bowed once more feeling a little embarrassed she ran into someone and hurried after her friend. The black cloaked figure just watch Amy vanish into the wave of people, finally spoke with a cold and calming tone.

"Huh, so that's Amy Rose.... The doctor will be surprised that I encountered her so early..."

"Good grief Amy, can you be any slower?" Knuckles berated her seeing the pink Hedgehog finally run out the Train Station where he, Silver, Blaze, Cream, and Cheese were standing with Princess Sally as Amy stopped running up to them and panted heavily catching her breath.

"I'm sorry... I ran into someone.... Was I late?" Amy panted not eyeing the princess.

"Don't worry Amy, Knuckles just has the impatience of a child, you know that." Sally admitted and the red furred Echidna and Guardian of the Master Emerald merely glared at the Princess of the kingdom with a dark glare. "But anyway, glad all of you can make it, I'm sure Sonic will appreciate seeing you."

"So he's alive, he's really awake?" Amy asked hopefully, but not trying to get excited if this was a lie. "Would I lie, I want to be a great queen someday, that's being truthfully to their people. Sonic is okay, he only awakened just a few hours ago, so I told Tails and Sir Charles to watch him. We sent Bunnie out to investigate, she won't be meeting us and Shadow and Maria are alongside Rouge and E-123 Omega checking out sources. So it's just us."

"That's good to hear." Amy sighed.

"Let's move and do try to stick together, we don't need anyone being lost like last time." Sally ordered and as they walked, Cream chuckled nervously, knowing the last time was her.

They left the Forest area Train Station and made what felt like a quiet trek to the Village, or at least for Knuckles who talked about the recent robot attack to the Angel Island who went after the Master Emerald, but to no avail they couldn't take it.

"Eggman trying to take my Emerald, ha, he may be hiding but he's losing his touch." Knuckles scoffed snorting a laugh at the idea.

"Still, what does Eggman need for the Master Emerald again than the last few times?" Blaze asked, the Guardian of the Sol Emeralds' arms crossed in thought.

"Hmm, could he after the Chaos Emeralds again?" Silver asked, placing his hand to his chin.

"Well we can't speak about the whereabouts in case we are being followed, so let's keep moving." Sally ordered to the group who agreed. Despite not knowing where Eggman went, speaking of their hiding spots for the Emeralds would be bad move. G.U.N, the king, the citizens of Knothole, all over the world, hid the emeralds the best they could. But it wouldn't be long now before Eggman got them and knowing Eggman, his big scheme would be as big as using the Eclipse Cannon a few years ago. While they did stop it (the Ark from falling), and never forgetting their battle with Black Arms and Black Doom, with the ark still at orbit, Eggman might get the idea to use it again and no half-moon would last too long.

Finally they arrived to the village after a couple minutes, Amy still was flabbergasted about how much construction was still going on. Roofs were still worked on from citizens and other towns; construction team, new trees replaced the ones that were damaged, spouting fresh new flowers from the branches. Many of the Knothole citizens looked they were still supporting several injuries, bandages wrapped tightly around foreheads, arms, legs, even someone wrapped their Tails up for pride reasons. But for Amy, it made her happy no one died in the attack, at least the idea of losing her friend Sonic lessened a little. As she made it to the simplistic style household of Sonic, his uncle, and Tails, she still felt that that pit in her stomach lessen a little. She knows Sonic is alive, she knows he's okay, but the unnerving feeling won't end until she sees him. She has to see him, only for that feeling to fade away forever. Entering Sonic's house greeted Amy and Cream (who haven't visit Knothole Village in such a long time), with all the lights dimmed to a very almost depressing atmosphere. Sally let out a groan, going around the living room to turn all the lights.

"Honestly, Sir Charles, Miles, don't make this feel like a depressing meeting? It's so cliché it hurts." The Princess rambled on, finally flipping on the last light before turning back to the others. "Sorry about that, I'll give them an earful later, Sonic's room down the hall. Come on."

'Well time to face him again.' Amy thought halfheartedly, following the Princess down the hall, the hallway showing off several pictures of the Freedom Fighter members, Sonic himself, visits from their other allies, and even the King coming over for holiday feasts. Those were happy times even when Eggman controls part of the world. Finally they stopped in front of a wooden door which read on a hanged sign in blue letters:

"Sonic's Room, knock first"

Knowing to obey the sign, Sally knocked first and spoke towards the room, hoping they can hear them. "We're here, we're coming in now." And without a second to reply inside, Sally grabbed the knob, gave it twist to the right, and opened the door and all their eyes were on the scene before them.

Sonic's room, which always look unkempt in neatness was made into an emergency hospital room. A small IV machine was by the wall with several wires that connected to the machine, to the occupant in the bed and crossing the back wall and floor. Chuck and Tails stood on either sides of the white sheeted bed, their looks unfixed on Amy and her friends and the bed's occupant stared at them with a small smile on their face. He was an anthropomorphic Hedgehog with blue fur that covers most of his body, peach skin that covers his arms, muzzle and torso, and emerald green eyes. He had six head quills dropping back from the back of his head, two quills protruding from his back drooping downward and a short tail that points up. His pair of white gloves with sock-like cuffs weren't present on his hands, his blue hands visible to the guests with IV cables attached to his left wrist.

Seeing Amy, Cream, Cheese, Knuckles, Blaze, and Silver standing before him, clambering inside his room, he was pleased to see them, even Knuckles was a pleasant surprise.

"Hi, great to see you all again." He said, his voice noticeably weakened because he hadn't used it for so long. Cream and Cheese bounce happily seeing their friend safe, sound and live again. Knuckles crossed his arms with 'you couldn't have come back quicker' smirk, but inside he was happy his friendly rival for so long was okay. Blaze and Silver smiled to Sonic, both the future Hedgehog and other dimension cat guardian of the Sol Emeralds both felt at ease that Sonic wouldn't die, he was too strong to allow even a coma to do him in.

"Everyone here is pleased to see you Sonic my boy." Charles said smiling placing his hand to his shoulder, getting his nephew to look at him with agreement before looking at him friends and allies, seeing Sally cross her own arms with a smiling face while Tails was happy too. He was grateful Charles and him were able to perform medical treatment to the Blue Blur for the past few weeks. Sonic ran his ungloved hands through his blue quills and felt a feeling of happiness, having wonderful allies and friends, all who still were there for him when he was out of commission.

"Everyone..." He spoke, his voice cracking a little and eyes closed for a moment before realizing there was another face in the room with him. He reopened his eyes only to find Amy and him face to face. It was a moment of silence for him and the twelve year old pink Hedgehog, the two friends didn't say a single word to each other while everyone, even his Charles taking a spot with the others, felt it would be a rude gesture to ruin this reunion between friends. Sonic never realize how much Amy had changed, remembering the small almost eight year old Hedgehog he saved on the Little Planet once controlled by Eggman and Metal Sonic, to the future adult she was growing up now. Amy had her arms behind her back, a brown bag he thought he saw in her arms was now in the procession of his friend Tails who stood with Cream and Cheese. It felt different to even be looking at each other like this, usually their moments would consist of shenanigans and hijinks they would cause, but it felt refreshing to be like this, even if it would be like this for a little while.

"Hey there Amy." He finally said speaking aloud to his friend in a low voice.

"Hey back." Amy replied in a calm soft voice.

Sonic felt like he wanted to say something, anything to the girl but didn't when he felt the wind knocked out of him as Amy's arms wrapped quickly around his chest and shoulder. Sonic felt for a moment taken aback from her embrace, feeling Amy's head to his right shoulder, not at all sure what to do. Even the others in the room were astonished by this development. Sonic didn't know if he should hug her back or not, feeling his left arm (still attached to the IV machine) place a solemn hand to her back without a second thought.

"I must have worried you for a while, haven't I? I'm sorry." He admitted shamefully his voice low feeling Amy's embrace lessen a bit as she released Sonic and looked closely face to face at him. She kept her hands to his shoulders, shaking her head in response to his claim of her worrying, several tears fell from her green eyes. They weren't tears of sadness, but tears of joy finally Sonic was okay and the two friends were having a conversation that wasn't always seeing each other during Eggman attacks or visiting the village.

"No I wasn't Sonic, I'm just happy you are okay." Amy replied wholeheartedly smiling at the blue Hedgehog.

"The feeling is mutual, Amy."

The two Hedgehogs remained like that for what felt like a eternity, everyone else still watching their reunion in silent, not saying a word but just allowed them to have their moment if not for a second. Tails and Cream tried not to aww at the two friends, knowing them for so long would never expect a moment like this from in the few years they fought together against Eggman. Knuckles couldn't hide a smirk and neither could Blaze nor Silver who enjoyed the scene between Sonic and Amy. Uncle Chuck had a feeling of nostalgia, remembering the days of Sonic's parents having a similar moment like this, it was like a reminder of his former youth and it made a tear fall reminiscing those happy memories.

"Well now, I was hoping we get some answers to what happened weeks ago, but I wouldn't mind leaving you for a couple minutes to get... reunited with one another." Sally said with a suggestive tone crossing her arms. Upon hearing the princess' suggestive offer, Amy and Sonic's cheeks turned a beet red color and quickly deny their moment, both shaking their heads and hands in response.

"N-N-No, you got the w-w-wrong idea Sally, I'm just pleased he's okay, that's all I swear!" Amy exclaimed in horror, her voice switching from nervous to squeak in a manner of seconds.

It didn't take too long for everyone to start laughing at the pair at Sally's 'get a room you two' request, Amy and Sonic both denying any idea between the two of them their heads and their hands shaking rapidly. The two finally look to one another during their friends' laughter and joined in. As embarrassing it was from Sally's comment, maybe it was the medicine of laughter at yourself was the perfect way to change the atmosphere from worry to heartfelt to happiness. It's just like old times, not worrying about Eggman's schemes, they were a couple of Mobians enjoying the day to its fullest. This was them after all, a couple young teenagers and their friend's uncle battling an evil tyrant who has fifty percent of their world under his control and they were normal. Sure they had a talent deep inside them, but that's who they were. Once the laughter subsided, it was time to get Sonic some food, then it was questioning two things: What he and Tails found and what happened to Sonic that day. Hopefully, all their loose ends and questions could be answered now.

While Sonic was well revived from his coma, his body was still unable to function correctly. His arms and upper torso worked fine, but his legs felt like they had no circulation going through them that he almost felt like collapsing and even to his comrades would never thought the fastest thing alive would actually be unable to even walk a step. Once Tails and Charles unhooked him from the IV machine, Amy didn't mind carrying her friend to the dining room by her shoulder as his steps through the hallway were slow while Knuckles, Tails, Charles, Sally, Cream, Silver, and Blaze followed after them. Amy helped Sonic towards to the table and push his chair closer to the table while everyone else sat themselves around the rectangle table while Amy went to the kitchen to cook a meal for her friends and for Sonic's recovery. Of course this was Sonic's home and if there was one thing Sonic loves in the whole world, it was chilidogs. Amy had a bit of help from Charles making the chili dogs, while Sonic looked so hungry that he if could move his legs he already have bought chilidogs by now.

While the others sat together in silence, they wouldn't mind a meal after Amy promised them before hearing about Sonic recovering his coma. Finally, Amy and Charles walked into the dining room carrying three full trays of streaming warm chili dogs that they placed in the center of the table. Everyone's mouths watered in anticipation, the usual ones who rarely have Sonic's favorite food were eager to try them. Everyone took one from the first tray to dig in, but Sonic grabbed three of them before stuffing one full into his mouth. While Sonic enjoyed his meal, he looked on Amy and his uncle, smiling at the two.

"These were delicious, thanks Amy, Uncle Chuck!" Sonic exclaimed happily.

Amy smiled back sheepishly rubbing the back of her head, feeling on the spot while Charles merely smile a small smile. "Aww, you make me feel bashful, just doing what came natural for me to do for you." Amy paused for a moment to see Sally holding back a giggle, the pink Hedgehog shot Sally a dark glare that if looks could kill her and they should. "Anyway Sonic, you were sleeping for three weeks since Knothole was attacked."

"Tails and Uncle Chuck filled me in on that, and no I don't know what happened. Tails and I were checking things out, we came back to see the village attacked, and everything was a blank." Sonic thought for a moment of his own screams before falling to the cold ground, the image very static and grainy like an old model TV. "Then in my sleep, I had a very particular dream. No, it felt like I was watching all these events play out and I was the protagonist to this story..."

"What kind of dreams were they, maybe they can help us with searching for Eggman." Blaze said intrigued crossing her arms on the table.

"Well, that's the thing, the images weren't something I can say around Tails and Cream, and you all might look at me like I'm a pervert." Sonic frowned, knowing these images played out in his heads for what was three weeks weren't something he would share with his friends especially to Tails and Cream.

"We won't judge you, we're all friends and very mature to handle anything. Just tell us, it's not you to ever hide things. You're always an open book, tell us your story." Silver encouraged gripping his fist up with a smile.

Sonic sighed, trying to piece together all the memories of his dream and looked at his friends and uncle, all eager to hear this tale, despite how much he will regret it eventually. But they all seem they were mature enough to hear this, even Tails and Cream, the youngest of the group wouldn't fathom or even handle the images in his thoughts. But they were mature enough to handle them, so he might as well unleashed what he saw. Grabbing another chilidog from the tray, he spoke aloud the dreams from the beginning. "Where to begin? Well, it all started five years ago, but appearance wise, Bunnie and I looked the same like it was the wrong date and she was my girlfriend." Everyone looked on with mixtures of confusion, all of them sure knew Sonic for a couple years but Sonic was never in a relationship and would be ten years old at the time. "And she, and I'm not kidding when I say this, invited me for a masturbating sleepover."

"What?" It was what all of them said with blank stares on their faces, all making sure they heard Sonic clearly on what he said. A masturbating sleeping, the first idea was Bunnie would never have just sickening idea and two, why? Cream held out her hand, wondering what it meant.

"What's a master bating sleepover?" Cream said innocently, everyone looking at the cream colored rabbit mispronouncing the word but knew she was only a child so she couldn't understand the situation someone of them of the birds and the bees. Blaze placed a hand to her rabbit, smiling at her without trying to wish she would cover her ears.

"We'll explain where you are old enough to understand, continue Sonic."

"Sure Blaze. So we basically went down on one another or unrealistically went all night and only stopped if we went to the bathroom but that never stopped us. When it was the present, I visited Sally and she had these new laws, but if you want to know, they were made by her not her dad. The laws were as followed: 1. you must get and receive a blow job from anyone you talk to for more than thirty seconds except your parents and relatives. 2. You must also drink all their cum and if they happen to pee while you're doing this you gotta drink it. 3. You now can masturbate anywhere you want to know even while you're standing there talking to your parents/relatives. 4. Sex is now forced after you give and receive a blow job you have to have sex with them. 5. The guy can now tell the woman (no gays or lesbians) what to do after sex for an hour after they have sex for example you can tell her to drink her own vomit and make her eat her shit and yours."

"That's contradictory, sexist, misogynistic, and gross, I made those laws, for whom, a complete pervert?!" Sally asked, slapping her hands to the table making it shake.

Sonic didn't need to say a word, but once he pointed to himself, the whole room letting out a loud of, "What?!"

"Okay, I would never make laws that horrible, just for Sonic. Who would ever do such a thing, my father allow this?" Sally said in baffled disbelief.

"Your father was no better, especially Dr. Quack, and before I continue on, you had a chair leg in your privates until the point it was removed, you can't have children." And Sally only buried her face into her hands with a sigh, can't believe she would do such thing but when Sonic continued on, the next part made her scream. "And when you met up with Edward and Edna, you were already trying to find me to tell me how you felt, but saw another Hedgehog who looks like me and punched him in the face and stormed off."

When the names Edward and Edna popped up (and Sally groaning annoyance of the person she was in her friend's dream), Tails' ears perked up with interest, looking forward to Sonic curiously as to the names in question. "You know Edward and Edna, Sonic?"

"You know them?" Sonic asked his best friend with curiosity. The Edward and Edna in his dream were an odd bunch, Edward knowing who he was and fainted a lot and Edna, a very incestualize sister who slept with most of the Mobians in their school, how can Tails know the two foxes?

"Yeah, be right back!" Tails replied with a smile and without a chance to explain the others who were still bewildered by everything their friend said, Tails started to twist his twin Tails together into a propeller and flew off to his room.

"That's unexpected, are you sure you didn't tell Tails and Charles this Sonic?" Knuckles asked, already eating another chilidog intrigued by Sonic's story.

"No and good thing because you three were there, well except Knuckle who was only mentioned." Sonic explained and Knuckles growled in frustration about being left out. The red Echidna snorted a remark, as he wanted to be in his dream anyway. "Tails basically went down on me and we were sucking each other off, the things he said weren't my best friend, he wanted to become my sex slave of all things and I allowed myself to do horrible acts, including Chuck. Then it's who else I was sleeping with and the horrible thought of who was the girl that I seem to fall for in the mall."

"Sounds to me you had a very complicated dream, was any of us there too?" Blaze asked, wondering what horrible acts she committed, looking to Silver and almost felt red in the face.

"Eggman attacked Knothole, just like three weeks ago and killed most of villagers including Bunnie. Then there was Snively, Big, Sally, and King Acorn... That was it."

"None of us, that's just strange of a dream, if we weren't there who was?" Cream asked, still baffled Sonic wouldn't dream of all his friends and allies, but only mention a small handful.

"Just all of Edward's school friends, one of them lost a mother to Eggman and the spy who was Krezza's twin sister who kidnap her own brother and harmed his friends, then there was this Hedgehog calling himself the Sonic Master and Sally betraying Tails and Chuck." Sonic let out a groan his own frustration. "Ugh, I can't believe I was in some kind of threesome with Edward and his girlfriend and then in a long six hours, six minutes, and six seconds of sex escapades with his girlfriend and strangers, I'm the worst!"

"Don't blame yourself, you never did these acts yourself Sonic, you shouldn't be upset about it." Charles said matter-of-factly. "The fact is your dream seems particular, why only a few of us and why all these Mobian children we don't know and where was this located?"

"Pouncefield, that's where Eggman left to be principal of St. Lovejoys for some reason, we didn't even comfort once."

"There's no records of that in the any books, so are you it's not some made up place?" Amy asked, sure never heard of the city. Sonic shook his heads, everyone crossing their arm. People Sonic seem to know, Sonic Master, Pouncefield, all of this feels like an afterschool special or a novel written by someone for their own twisted games. It was Tails' quick departure that most of them wanted to know why. Tails seems to know the names of the two, but neither of them do, what's going on? Once the sound of Tails' bedroom door swung opened and the yellow Fox was carrying a laptop and equipment, hopefully it might shed some answers.

"There we go, grabbed everything we'll need: laptop, video projector, and speakers. Just give me a second to set everything up." Tails didn't give anyone a chance to refuse but went away hooking up his laptop, projector and speakers up. Everyone watched their genius mechanic get to work setting everything, the laptop facing Sonic and the speakers and video projector behind the screen.

"Pardon me by asking, but what's this about?" Sonic asked.

"Well you said Edward and Edna right?" Tails asked back and Sonic nodded still confused on what this had to do with anything. "Well I know the two humans."

"Humans?!" everyone asked in bewilderment. From how Sonic's tale went over, they were Mobians like them. But Tails said they were humans. Something was off, which version was correct?

"Yeah, the humans, friends of mine who I Video Chat with after they come home from school." Tails explained setting up the projector and video settings before eyeing Sonic and his friends' faces. "I have friends outside you guys, is it hard to believe?" Their silent stares only confirmed the yellow two tailed Fox's question, knowing Tails' past of not having many friends before Sonic would have friends outside their niche group. "Well, I met the twins during an Eggman attack and we been video friends ever since. I would help with Edward's school work and hear about the twins' school life, wanting to learn how school will be the day I can go. After that, it's just fun chats with them. You'll like them." Tails completed the preparations of the Video Chat, everyone look to the projector turn on projecting the laptop screen before them as Video Chat opened up to show an average looking style bedroom and two children staring at the video screen as Sonic, Charles, and his friends could see them on the wall. The flash of the two fox children came up in Sonic's minds, replaced by the two children he stared with Tails standing before him. Appearance wise, the two fox children didn't look that much different from the two human children before him. Both were the age of fourteen at best, looking both close to the same height of Sonic, if not taller than him. Remembering their brownish-red fur of the fox twins, their dirty brown hair different from the foxes. The brother's brown hair was in a short, wavy and well groomed appearance, but the sister's brown hair was much longer, tied into a loose ponytail. Their attire confirmed what Tails said that they just came home school when they contacted them, both wearing a school uniform that resembled private school students. The dark blue blazers were opened up to revealing both of them wearing white long sleeve shirts and a red tie visible from the collar. The brother's pants were a dark blue, but the sister's skirt was a much lighter blue and reached to her knees. Their matching hazel eyes brighten up the moment they saw Tails, greeting the two tailed Fox with a smile.

"Good afternoon Miles, how's it going?" greeted Edward.

"Edward and Edna, it's a good to see you." Tails replied as Amy, Charles, Knuckles, Silver, Blaze, Cream and Cheese stood behind Sonic and Tails, eyes on the laptop screen and on the projection.

"Anyway, guys, there's a reason I called you. Oh, where are my manners, Edward and Edna, this is Sonic, Charles, Sally, Blaze, Knuckles, Cream, Cheese, and Silver. Guys, this is Edward and Edna, the friends I was talking about."

"Hi!" Sonic and his friends greeted to the pair.

"Hi. Miles, we saw you were opening a Video Chat and wanted to see what's up. You mentioned Sonic being in a coma, but I guess he's well. We only just came home after calling our classmates and friends." Edward said pointing to his opened blazer and to the phone behind him on camera.

"Were any of them name as followed: Nicro, Joey, Tom, Sam Jones, Ralf, and Carmon?" Sonic asked and Edward and Edna were dumbfounded at the question. They look to each other still dumbfounded and looked back Sonic and the others.

"Yes and does Scott, Nova, and Jenny ring a bell? If those names you know, then what about them?" Edna asked and Sonic nodded confirming the names.

"Was Scott and Nova cats and his mother killed."

"No, they are human and their mom is alive, here I got a picture," Edna corrected Sonic, leaving from the view of the camera to grab something while Edward was still in view.

"How do you know our friends Sonic?" Edward asked.

"Because Sonic had a dream that you and Edna were in. you were a fox along with your sister and she had incest lustful feelings for you." Silver replied and Edward's face turned completely red in shock. They couldn't blame him though, seeing his face distorted into complete horror and finally spoke up in a stammering mess.

"W-w-w-what, my own s-s-s-s-s-sister is in love with me in your d-d-d-d-dream?! I-I-I have a girlfriend and I'm s-s-s-s-s-sure Edna doesn't see me anymore than her b-b-b-brother!" Edward stammered, Amy, Blaze, and Sally finding it almost cute of his reactions and Sally forgetting about herself in Sonic's dreams.

"Wow, the Edward here is surprising accurate to the dream one." Sonic mumbled to himself. 'Just needs the fainting fits.'

"I got the picture of me and Ms. Katze and their kids. And don't ask..." Edna frowned looking at them who were still on Edward's reaction to his own sister wanting him in Sonic's dreams. "German ancestors, you wouldn't understand." She held out the picture of what looked like Scotty, Nova, and their (was dead) mother. Sonic was still bewildered, both of them while humans looked far too much like the Mobian version in his dreams. Scotty even had the similar clothes to him: the same shirt, jacket, pants, it's far too real. The only main difference to Nova was her chest (Sonic felt his cheeks flush at the memory of them), while the dream Nova was very well endowed, the real Nova was very petite looking, standing by her younger brother and Edna with a smile. Seeing the smiling face of Ms. Katze made him sad she was killed by Eggman and Valarie. Edna placed the picture to the ground and looked at everyone her hazel eyes almost shooting daggers. "And I don't see my brother any more than a brother and friend. He has Laura and I got Jenny crushing on me if my mother doesn't want me dating yet but trusts Edward."

"I'm sorry about that, you know I am." Edward replied apologetically.

"I know, I know, you said that many times since you two met last year." Edna sighed. Sonic's ears perked a little, remembering how Edward and Laura met in his first year of school, but from how he remembered their meeting in his dream, they met in the girls' bathroom and Laura blew him off in the stall. "You got lost, and she found you out of request of your homeroom teacher and you been dating ever since. I'm not bitter, just annoyed."

"You sound bitter to us." Knuckles and Blaze reiterated in union and Edna crossed her arms to her chest with a huff at their response.

"If I have this incest crush on my twin brother, what kind of person was me in your dream?" Edna asked still 'annoyed' by the two for their comment.

"Well, you were kind of a 'lady of the night' in my dream. The Edna's lips seem to never stay closed." Sonic said and shuddering at what he met by 'lips'. "And there seems to be the horrible things Edward knew about you, he even knows it from someone else, but my dream left that info out many times. Oh and Laura went from 'Let me show you how much I like your sister' to 'you got what coming to you' so quickly."

"Wow, the Edna in your dream is horrible, Laura too. And Edward just seems to be worse too. He never drew a line?" Edna asked.

"If by line then telling me his friends' dirty laundry, then yes he drew a line Edna." Sonic replied crossing his own arms.

"I'm still baffled by the incest and my sister sleeping around. Is there any morals made in your dream?" Edward asked finally calmed down after his stammering and apology.

"No morals, laws made by Sally, my best friend and Uncle screwing me, pee and beer parties, the fact everyone; every Mobian I met is having sex including Eric would want to have sex with me." Sonic replied and this time again, Edward and Edna's ears perked up at another name they recognized.

"Eric, that name is familiar, didn't he...?" Edna asked looking to her brother for help on the subject.

"Yeah, at some point, he wasn't happy with Sonic during an attack from Eggman, so then he kind of..." Edward added and stopped speaking for a moment a long pause all gave the Sonic and his friends an idea what happened. The image of a boy's swinging body crept up in the minds of everyone but Cream, making their eyes go completely wide in shock.

"Dark..."

"And I thought Big getting eaten and Tails and Charles not caring was much horrible." Sonic said at once, Cream looking horrified that Tails and Chuck didn't care about their friend.

"But there is one thing that's bugging me about all of this Sonic said and what Edward and Edna, the real ones, confirmed to us." Blaze said sternly still her arms crossed.

"And what is that Blaze? That all this is even freakier than our time to Eggman's Amusement Park in space?" Silver asked cocking his head.

"Well that, but there is something about all this is completely fishy. First of all, Sonic's dream, don't you find it strange all of these people in Sonic's dreams and the friends Edward and Edna have are the same except they're like us and they're humans to Tails' Edward and Edna. Two of the same people can't exist if this is Sonic's first time meeting them."

"Maybe Mr. Sonic have met them before?" Cream asked looking to Blaze.

"That's the thing; even Sonic wouldn't have such dreams like that." Blaze replied still eyeing Cream and the video screen.

Everyone started to ponder for a moment about what Blaze said. Edna and Edward also started to ponder on everything Sonic and their friends said and everything they confirmed back. A Edward and Edna who are Mobians and their relationship is completely different than theirs, their friends' fates were different, but the fact even Laura is involved, and it sounds like everyone is completely wrong. What made this even stranger their names were all the same, even to Scotty and Nova, two Mobians Sonic didn't know as well in his dream. Sonic wondered if Krezz and Irina were friends with Edward and Edna, but something told him they weren't and kept thinking, but then everyone look to one another, even the siblings looked at each other too.

"You don't think someone planted the dreams?" Sally asked everyone.

"Not someone, some who. Think about it. Who else is evil enough to put even Sonic out of commission for three weeks? Who might have the tech to plant dreams into Sonic? Who else might have information of citizens?" Blaze asked.

"If that's who all of us are thinking, then you better believe he's planning something, something grand to attack this village." Sally said and gripped her fist tightly in rage and thought knowing this was true. 'But this doesn't seem like something Eggman and even Snivley to do alone, there is someone working with them to get information on random citizens and our names.' Sally looked towards Sonic and gripped his shoulder in concern. Sonic mention a spy in explaining his story, if a spy was in Sonic's dream, then there was the real version here.

"Sonic, you said there was a spy, that's why you went to that town?"

"Yes, and I know who is the true spy working with the Doc. It's not Shino who worked with Sally. It's not Valarie; Valarie just seems like a random assistant. The real spy.... The one who contact me and the Sonic Master with letters, planes, and food...? Is the fox girl I meet twice, gave me planes twice, and I meet in the mall. It's her, she's working with Eggman."

Everyone looked around at each other, then to Sonic, and then to Edward and Edna. Why her of all people, why her who seems to be in love with Sonic and thee Sonic Master? What side was she on and more importantly, who is she? Everyone kept on thinking, no one saying a word to respond. All in the while, Amy looked to Sonic, Edward and Edna with concern present even more, a frown forming on her face.

'Whoever this is, invaded these kids' private life and sided with Eggman, I'll do my best... We will do our best, to make sure they pay dearly,' at the same time, the heroes of Mobius were being watched too and someone (while unable to hear them), could see everything. Sonic had recovered and was learning the true mystery of the attack and getting answers. Someone knew they were on the case and wanted answers.... And it won't be long enough for them to finally meet in the real world.

"Sir, Sonic has awakened, just like you said." The response to someone viewing the video feed into Tails' House where Sonic and his friends were conversing with the human Edward and Edna. The room around them was a laboratory like setting: test tubes, beakers, machinery that hung around the walls and ceiling, and the sounds of bubbling and sparks echoed the silent room. The only source of light was the large LCD computer monitor which showed the video feed of Tails' house and the face of Doctor Eggman. Standing before the screen was a balding middle-age man, his hands firmly on the keyboard before him. His height was short, yet streamlined and lean human at the size of most anthropomorphic animals, though his most distinguishing feature is his long beak-like nose. He wore a green sweater-like shirt and black pants with large front buttons, his blue eyes covered by a pair of round speckles that reflected the video screen.

"As we should be expect this t be our outcome, Snively." The voice of Dr. Eggman spoke through the monitor speakers. "The laser we fired at Sonic was only to keep the Hedgehog out of the way and the images our spy help create was only to slow him down. Where is she anyway?"

"Don't you mean Hisako sir?" Snively asked rubbing his chin. "She said she was to investigate the area for a Chaos Emerald, she only reported she be back soon."

On cue of Snively's claim, the lab doors opened up and shadowy figure stood in the doorway. Snively turned and smirked, seeing the figure standing him. Without a chance to speak, the figure walked closer to Snively and the doors closed automatically behind them. The figure stood alongside Snively, the short assistant of Eggman turned back to face the monitor.

"Speak of the devil, she's here sir." Snively said as the figure reached up and pulled off their hood, revealing the face of a female fox. Her facial features were that of a much older Tails, her dirty brown fur had noticeable spots of black spots on the sides and back of her. Her white muzzle was like Tails, her mouth forming a thin frown with a small black nose. While her eyes were large and icy blue, the expression from them suited their color: cold and emotionless.

"Doctor, I've returned. Sorry for my lateness, I had a brief run in with Amy Rose, one of the allies to the Freedom Fighters." Hisako said tonelessly.

"She didn't see you face?" Eggman asked, fearing the Acorn Kingdom, Sonic's allies, or the Freedom Fighters spotting her face would jeopardize their mission. Hisako merely shook her head.

"No sir, my hood was up, she didn't see my face. But I do have this to show you when you return to this Egg Carrier." Hisako reached into her pocket and pulled out something that made Snively's blue eyes shine. The item in question was an emerald, but it wasn't like the usually green emerald in stores. The Emerald in her hand was yellow and almost bigger than her small hand. "The fourth Chaos emerald, you only need the other three correct?"

"Excellent work Hisako. We are only three more to complete my machine. Preparations of the 'other world' should complete soon. If not now, I'm sure the final emeralds will come."

"And you are certain Knothole has the fifth emerald?" Hisako asked.

"Sonic and his little do-gooders are quite predictable. They will bring them to me soon enough. Originally, I was after the Master Emerald..." Eggman continued but Hisako knew what he was going to say.

"But it looks like the Master Emerald won't be in your grasp this time. No matter..." Hisako gripped her gloved fist tightly in anticipation. "We've endured... I've endured all this planning not to go to waste. I'm sure they won't defeat you."

"But I must admit Hisako, that dream you planted was quite genius. A dream so bizarre, no way Sonic would piece together. If only we knew what they were talking about in the house." Snively said looking at the video feed again and seeing the conversation continue on.

"Doesn't matter if they learn the truth or not, collecting info from the fellow students and people of the city, creating false story of death, sin and debauchery, only someone insane would come up with that. And that's the role I played, to keep Sonic oblivious to us." She eyed the video feed once more, this time her gaze rested on Sonic. "We will continue things here Doctor, get preparations ready in weeks' time for the collection of the next Emeralds and the trip to the 'other world'. I'm sure you are ready to not only have half this world and a full world under your rule."

"Will do, Doctor out." And the icon of the Dr. Eggman vanished, and the screen was blank minus the video feed. On camera, Sonic held a fist out to the screen, simulating a fist bump towards Edward as something was going on that even Snively, Eggman, and the spy Hisako didn't know themselves. But the fox spy didn't care as much of what counter measures they had, she eyed Sonic, a smiling forming as she gazed at the Blue Blur with instead not of lust but absolute wanting.

'It won't long now we meet for real Sonic the Hedgehog. Don't worry; I don't want your body... yet...'
As the words started to appear on screen confirming there was more to it than meets the eye:

Preparations to the other world: 65%

Chaos Emerald Collection: 4 of 7 founded

Next Emerald (Knothole Village): confirmed

The End...?

Michael: And that's my take of the ending for Search for Love: a story within a story of Eggman planning something and everything: the sex, the destruction to the village, the characters themselves, all was the efforts of Eggman and his real spy Hisako. Yes it's Japanese, Sonic is known in Japan too. The name means 'enduring child'. If her talking about enduring enough for this plan, the name suits the theme I went with this character. Now you might be asking why I went with a dream but build up to a real story and Eggman plan. Well originally when I wanted to take the challenge it was just going to be Sonic retelling the story and everyone being freaked by it and after that he has it all record in a diary. But I felt no real effort would come out of it being just simply that will 'closure of the Search for Love plot' but not on what Eggman's really up to. So it went to this kind of ending and be the 'For True Story' if you would. Why all the Sonic characters present even one from Sonic the Hedgehog 2006 and Rush? This is a story based on the Sonic series, it needs Sonic characters especially an Amy that isn't the usual self proclaimed girlfriend she's like in the games and TV shows minus Sonic Boom. Isn't Maris dead? Yes, but I always enjoyed fleshing her character than well, the usual she's shipped with Shadow fics out there. Why this isn't 8,000 words? Mostly my fault on that, but when you make a stand to improve your writing, you make it clear. I couldn't rush this even to submit to you guys when I was done. I hope the introductions and some of the buildup didn't bore you and I wish I could had more time with this version of Edward and Edna, I had more from them. Maybe if I want to make something of this, I can. Well I did, just basically me going for the slice of life and fighting Eggman and his cronies with Sonic, his friends, and their allies that matter than the ten or so that didn't. In short, just me taking that to the hundred or so stories of characters coming to planet Earth and you expect some character development and world building, nope it's mostly original characters shipped with canon and just screwing around until the enemy plot happens (like a story I'm reading now, I might send that if the series you may or may not heard of).

Well that's all from me on this ending, to all of the Friday Night Fanfiction hosts, good luck in Season Three. May your liver be with you until the end of time... or at least until the end of Fanfiction time? I hate myself for that adlib from My Immortal.