| GALAXY PLUNGERER | (flies onto stage in UFO and abducts SELENA while spinning)                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| MELEK            | Olamaz hemen camiye gitmeliyim! Oh yeah! I am called Melek and I live in the otoman empire. Oh no! I am late to go to the mosque!                                                                                                                                           |
| GALAXY PLUNGERER | (flies onto stage in UFO and abducts MELEK while spinning and drops every one in the space ship)                                                                                                                                                                            |
| MELEK            | Bu da neeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee!!!                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| KYOUKO           | ここはどこ？天国？                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| SELENA           | I think we're in space inside a UFO!!!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| UNICORN SPARKS   | I can still see the line for Garrett popcorn in Harajuku!!!                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| MELEK            | Sen kimsin? Ve nedden gokusagi gibi giyiniyorsun? (points at US)                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|                                            |                                                                      |
|--------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SELENA                              | She said that you look like a Rainbow.                               |
| UNICORN SPARKS                      | What!!! This is Harajuku Fashion!!!                                  |
| MELEK                               | Biraz deysik ama guzel!!!                                            |
| SELENA                              | She is right! It does look good.                                     |
| KYOUKO                              | あら、なんで頭に庭があるの？ (Points at Selena)                                    |
| UNICORN SPARKS                      | And she says that you have a garden in your head!!!                  |
| KYOUKO                              | 私も付けてもいいかしら？                                                         |
| UNICORN SPARKS                      | She wants to try it on!                                              |
| SELENA                              | (gives the flower tiara to Kyouko and gives her a pocket mirror)     |
| KYOUKO                              | あら～とってもきれいだわ！                                                        |
| GALAXY PLUNGER                      | (raises head out of UFO)Beepoladakikkojab                        |
| SELE &amp; UNIKYOUKOMELEK | WHATTTTTTT!!!!何—————NEEEEEEEEEEEE                            |
| UNICORN SPARKS                      | Wait!!! I have a translator in my IPHONE 7. (points the phone to GP) |
| GALAXY PLUNGER                      | Beepoladakikkojab                                                    |
| KYOUKO                              | それは何? (Point at iphone 7 and looks curious)                          |
| SELENA                              | It is a smart phone. It is a phone but it is smarter.                |
| MELEK                               | “PHONE” ne?                                                          |
| SELENA                              | Are you joking? You don't know what a phone.                         |
| UNICORN                             | Hey you guys stop talking and look at this!!                         |

|                                       |                                                                                        |

| SPARKS                                |                                                                                        |
| SELENA                                | It says that his name is Galaxy Plungerer                                              |
| MELEK                                 | Neden bizi kaciriyorsunuz?                                                             |
| SELENA                                | Yeah、 why did you kidnap us!!                                                          |
| GALAXYPLUNGER                     | Heh, heh, heh...(Float out of the room)                                        |
| SELENA                                | HEY!!! I was still talking.                                                            |
| KYOUKO                                | 腹がへりました...なにかお食べするものはありますか？                                                            |
| UNICORNSPARKS                     | Oh,you are hungry! I have a crepe, do you want a bite? (Shove it in to Kyouko's mouth) |
| KYOUKO                                | なんですか？この恐るべし霧の味は！閻魔様の味です！                                                              |
| UNICORNSPARKS                     | What!? It doesn't taste like a MONSTER!!! And its CREAM not FOG!!!                     |
| SELENA                                | (Pops a gum in her mouth)                                                              |
| MELEK                                 | (Staring and pointing at the gum.)                                                     |
| SELENA                                | Do you want a piece of gum? (give one gum to Melek while chewing loudly.)              |
| MELEK                                 | (nods and eats the gum) Mmm!! Cok tatli!                                               |
| SELENA                                | I know! It is sweet yeah?                                                              |
| MELEK                                 | (Smiles and swallows gum then gags)                                                    |
| SELENA                                | Are you ok? (hits MELEK on the back)                                                   |
| MELEK                                 | PPPOOO!!! (throws gum out of her hand)                                                 |
| SELENAKYOUKOUNICORNSPARKS | EWWWWWWWWW!!!                                                                          |
| SELENA                                | You don't swallow gum!!! You chew and then spit it out!                                |
| UNICORN                               | Well she DID chew it and then spit it out.                                             |

|                                    |                                                                                      |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SPARKS                      |                                                                                      |
| ALL                         | HAHAHA!!!                                                                            |
| KYOUKO                      | どうしてあのギャラクシープランジャーが私達をさらったの！？                                                        |
| UNICORN SPARKS              | Yeah, she is right! Why do you think Galaxy Plunger abducted us!                     |
| SELENA                      | Maybe we have to learn something.                                                    |
| UNICORN SPARKS              | Well were all from different time and places so....                                  |
| KYOUKO                      | ああわかった！私たちみんな違う場所と時から来たのね！                                                           |
| SELENA                      | Its amazing that we get along well even if we're from different place and time!      |
| KYOUKO UNICORN SPARKS MELEK | un!!!Yeah!!Evet!!!                                                           |
| KYOUKO                      | もしかしたらギャラクシープランジャーの目的はこれじゃないの？時々は違う視点から見たほうがいいんじゃないかしら？                              |
| UNICORN SPARKS              | You're right we should see other peoples point of view too not only our own.         |
| SELENA                      | There are diffrences bettween us and also                                            |
| GALAXY PLUNGER              | (Flies across stage, abducting all again)                                            |
| ALL                         | (Spins and falls on the ground)                                                      |
| KYOUKO                      | 江戸にもどれたわ！あら？まさか....                                                                  |
| SELENA                      | Finally I'm in 2014 Turkey!! Wait...                                                 |
| MELEK                       | Sonunda Camiye gidebilirim! Ama burasu...                                            |
| UNICORN SPARKS              | YEY I'm back in Takeshita!! No this is not ...                                       |
| ALL                         | Nooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooちがああああああああああああああああああああああああう |
