

“Ah, Hello there. Yes, you. You're whose spirit has found its way to this place. I welcome you to these lands between Light and Darkness. Who am I? Well, that hardly matters now does it young traveler? Regardless, I assume you are aware of the massive battles that have taken place within this realm for what seems like ages now. From melees to brawls, all these odd fought confrontations surely have become ultimate things of legend. Yet now here you stand, on the edge of reality, a place outside the standard domain. A place where these long held fighters exist, but with no reality to call their own. Perhaps you can assist them, and give these wayward individuals purpose?”

Welcome to the smash shuffle! If you aren't the type to really understand the big words of the mysterious individual acting as a protector of this place, let me explain! For this project, ill be allowing you guys to shuffle up the smash brothers characters into different positions. So for example(which doesn't need to happen mind you) Bowser could take the place of a dragon quest protagonist, or Joker could become the space goddess role that Rosalina filled). You can have as much or as little of a story reason as you want, though for those of you who do add stories to these fusions, ill gladly add them to the post proper, otherwise ill craft some lore around them my self. Additionally, unlike Kinktober I would love to give you guys credit for these shuffles, so when it comes to the character you want to shuffle, please leave your DA or Discord name so we can give you a proper shout out! Here's an example of what things can look like.

Following that will be the list proper, feel free to give it a look over and ill be glad to get to drawing!

(EXAMPLE!)Luigi-Simon (Luigi has become the unwitting successor to the belmont bloodline. A terrified mess he attempted to avoid taking up the mantle, before he was pushed into action by a mysterious disease only dracula could cure)

-TreyKun(GamingLover)

Mario-Wii Fit (a portly and overweight man, he became a fitness figure the world over as he quickly dropped those ponds and became a personal trainer)

Mewtwo-Ness (A creature created from the minds of Dr. Andonuts during some samples of Giygas's alien DNA and studies of PSI; the beast called Mewtwo struggles to find a place in Eagleland society, or to control his explosive temper. Good thing the three kids that form an unlikely partnership with him are there to keep his spirits up, and maybe teach the psychic prodigy some important things along the way!) - Azure "Azzy" Lionheart

Wolf-Link (100 years ago, a space mercenary lost a heated battle against his main rival. The wolf crash landed into an odd land, during a great calamity. He was put inside the shrine of Resurrection by the Sheikah, and now faces the land of Hyrule as the wolf of courage! Plus some added amnesia to give him some encouragement along his travels.) - Thailong(Thailongz on DA)

Dark Samus - Ryu: As a creature of pure phozon, Dark Samus isn't inclined to be good. The Satsui no Hado (Surge of Killing Intent) was great inside of them, and ultimately consumed them for a long while, slaughtering others with the power of Shotokan Karate with the added power of their natural abilities, near without reason. That is until they saw something that would change their ideals forever. The person they were copying, on a television screen, doing good and fighting neerdowells with the same moves. Something about this awoke something in them... And the Satsui no Hado faded just about little to reveal their true soul. Since then, they've dedicated themselves to suppressing it, training in remote places and always looking for more mastery of those skills, perhaps in the hopes of surpassing their original. (Jolopoly, hopefully this is good???? ldk)

Toon Link - Isabelle: Little is known of the 'Hero of the 'Town's past life, there are rumors that before he became assistant to a town then a getaway island that he learned to balance books and plan his day perfectly all before learning to talk, a trait he holds to the day. He lends an ear and while has a silent demeanor is always willing to look after his family, er well he considers the town his family of course. He does however have to speak up for the morning announcements, odd for someone who barely talks can ramble about finding lost rupees during his favorite soaps. The rumors of his interests of the mayor are totally unfounded in his own words, excuse the blushing. - Timmyo00

Incineroar - Terry Bogard: After being a consistent failure to his trainer, Incineroar was abandoned to fend for himself. In an attempt to get over his anguish, he began taking up different martial arts and fighting styles. This was when he was approached by a certain tournament owner, in an attempt for him to improve his skills in battle. Throughout the different fights he would go through he would end up perfecting his brawler/grappler style, getting some explosive new techniques to rock the world around him.

Marth - Peach: Marth was the first born to the king and queen of the mushroom kingdom. He was to be raised as a knight, as all sons of the queen are....but after her tragic death...and there were no daughters born, his upbringing would take a dramatic shift. As decreased by a long treaty many years ago, the toads must always be ruled by a human princess. As there was only one child with royal blood...and any daughter born by the old king would not...He was raised from a very young age to be a princess. Now an adult himself, she wears the traditional pink garb of the queen's long past, has the proper manners of a prim lady, and knows nothing but state craft and cake...as well as a martial arts all about using his lady like hips.

Ganondorf - Rosalina: It started when what at first seemed to be a star landed near the Gerudo Training Fields, just as the young prince happened to be perfecting his archery. Investigating, Ganondorf was surprised when a little yellow creature calling itself Luma popped out and begged for help, desperately wanting to find its mother. Thinking that the star-like alien could be a useful ally to his people, Ganondorf agreed to assist repairing his spaceship, said his goodbyes to his kingdom and the two soon took off into the skies. They saw all sorts of things the prince had never seen before, such as comets, planets, nebulas and more. As they searched and searched for a mother for the Luma, more and more lonely stars joined them on their quest, while Ganondorf grew more and more protective of his little ones. The ship-turned-observatory they shared began to feel more and more like a home to the Gerudo prince, and by the time one of the Lumas innocently called him "Mama", he didn't have the heart to correct him. - ShinnokRaiden

Zero Suit Samus - Incineroar: Samus Aran was born on a mining colony from earth, colony K-2L. But her planet ended up being raided by space pirates. Lead by a big purple dragon-like creature, later known as a "Naganadel" a poisonous dragon from a place called "Ultra Space". The orphaned Samus Aran ended up being found by a group of humanoid cats with black and red-striped fur who had mastery over fire. They took the human child in as one of their own back to their home of "The Alola Region". The Incineroarians infused her with some of their DNA to save her from the brink of death. They also trained her by equipping her with one of their artifacts; The Power Zuit (totally different from the Power Suit from the Choco's) The Power Zuit resembled the Incineroarians and granted incredible strength and endurance to Samus. Once she mastered the Power Zuit she became known as the Protector of the Galaxy!

-SissyPrincessBrianna

Pokemon Trainer - Ridley: Simply known as the Pokemon Trainer, he once travelled across his home planet in search of rare and powerful creatures to collect and add to his arsenal. After some long years, one day he had done it. He had caught them all... but his desire to collect was not yet satiated. In his travels he had met up with and helped a lot of people, powerful ones even. They still owed him from when he had helped them. Eventually he had gotten himself a working spaceship. He would collect them all... even the ones on different planets. "The Trainer" became a feared title throughout the galaxy as one of the roughest, baddest and strongest space pirates out there. Always looking to capture, collect, trade and even sell rare powerful creatures from all across the galaxy.

-SissyPrincessBrianna

Megaman - Min Min: Basically mega man gets an upgrade that makes him into a cute noodle girl, maybe like from some noodle themed robot master?

Or possible other story. A new model of "Megaman" had been created so the older model got scrapped and reused as M1n M1n a robot fighter with extendable arms. This robot was made to fight in tournaments of a new sport featuring many other kinds of people with long stretchy arms.

-SissyPrincessBrianna

Pichu - Peach: I have no story for this one. Just, Pichu being the Princess of the Mushroom Kingdom. Not a Bowsette situation, just, Pichu in a cute dress. Can be anthro or not, dealers choice.

Isabelle - Bowser: Years ago, the Koopa Kingdom was run by a powerful tyrant, feared by all. However not even the mightiest king is immune to the ravages of time, and as his twilight years grew near he realised he had no choice but to hire an assistant. The tiny dog didn't seem like much, and she was initially put off by the ruthlessness and brutality of her employer. But the years passed and not only did her flawless organisational skills make the Koopa Troop many times more efficient, the Koopa King noted that she also possessed the capabilities of becoming a great leader. Before long the secretary found herself elevated to the King's most trusted advisor. When his life drew to an end and lacking any heirs, there was only one person who could be trusted with the throne when he was gone. That is how Isabelle found herself named Queen of the Koopas. -
