

SL: The Battle Against "Walk it off" and "Man up"

Hello, Gentlemen of Inherent

A friend and I stumbled across Inherent while on vacation.

We talked to Marshall who was well informed and provided excellent service.

I'm a marketing partner who focuses on email marketing.

I have written several emails you are welcome to use.

These emails are written to increase the lifetime value of customers as well as build the Inherent community.

One of these emails is attached below.

If you would like to see the others let me know and I will send them over.

Kindest regards,

Andrew Schauer

Why do we miss the "Glory days?"

The primary reason men miss highschool or college football isn't for the game or even the attention they got from popularity.

What they miss is brotherhood.

Knowing full well that the man next you has your back is massively empowering.

Open communication and friendship can change your perspective and build the future.

Here at Inherent we believe that human connection is essential for personal and communal growth.

You are one connection away from the opportunity of a lifetime.

We are here to facilitate these valuable connections.

September HUDDLE taking place on the 21st at 7pm. We'll be gathering at the INHERENT shop, situated at 123 N. Tejon St., Colorado Springs, CO 80903.

Great food, fine cigars, refreshing beverages, and impactful discussions.

A place of genuine friendship where your presence is greatly appreciated.
