

30/10/2022

We really doing this? Writing a story together?

Come on Azalea, it'll be fun! Like all the fun we had last night~

Alright... Should I go first or do you want to write?

You are the birthday girl~

Haha, alright then, but don't be surprised if I don't write too much!

Alright, so as you may know (or don't know), I'm a Halloween baby. Yup, born on the spookiest day of the year. I had already celebrated my birthday with my family and was now going to celebrate with my friends back on Earth. It was going to be a simple trick or treating adventure, nothing special. That's what Hiros and Nick were led to believe anyway~

But a week prior to Halloween, I met up with Nagisa and we had quite an enjoyable discussion. She didn't know Halloween was also my birthday. She went all like "no kidding!" and "well I got to do something special for you~" I turned down her offer-

Pff, yeah right! You demanded I made you a god!

I did not! Only the power of a god!

Sure~

Hey, it's my turn to talk, don't interrupt me please!

Anyway, we talked for a bit and of course, the gift slowly morphed into transforming Nick and Hiros~ We could always get down doing that and now that I think about it, we haven't really transformed them together before. Given it was Halloween, we narrowed our transformation subjects to something spooky. We decided to transform them into monster girl versions of their costumes but also came up with backups in case their costumes were... lame.

Nick and Hiros weren't the only ones we were going to transform. Rather, we were going to curse them~ No, the transformation itself wouldn't be the curse, but anyone who saw them would be! Anyone who witnessed my brother and Azalea's roommate in their new monstrous (and cute) forms would transform into a monster girl themselves! For the rest of Halloween mind you, but I couldn't slip the idea of throwing the city into a little chaos~

We spent the rest of the week in Azalea's basement, working together to create the perfect potion. Of course, I could have just put the curse on them with my godly powers, but Azalea wanted it to be "authentic". Or I guess, she just wanted to make the curse on her own. She did most of the heavy lifting, I simply guided her and helped her test it.

We finally managed to finish it in just the 11th hour! Yeah, October 30, a day before Halloween. Hiros had no idea where I was for the last week, but Nick was certainly suspicious. After all, I had been crashing at his and Azalea's home for a week, and we didn't transform him once. We didn't hide the fact he wouldn't be human on Halloween, he wouldn't believe us anyway if we told him otherwise.

So Halloween came and Nick finally gave me a present! It was... an octopus plushie from Splatoon. Not something that I necessarily wanted, but I did appreciate the offer. I threw a potion up into the air and summoned Hiros. I think he was expecting Nagisa to summon him, since he fell flat on his butt. He was already dressed up and appeared a bit tired. I forgot he lived six hours ahead of us and might have already been Halloweened out, but too bad! His night hadn't truly begun yet~

Oh yeah, their costumes were pretty... bad. Hiros had a very cheap looking spider costume that was very cutesy and barely resembled a spider. Nick wore his normal clothes but covered himself up in toilet paper.

"What, I'm just going as a mummy~" He snickered. The way he emphasized the word "mummy" made me think he knew that we were going to transform them into their costumes and he was hoping to manipulate it to become a MILF. Not today though!

"Oh sure Nick, I can make it... work," I told him. I honestly hate mummies, not that they scared me or anything! Just, I found them lame and of all things Nick could go as, he just had to pick mummies. Heck, his costume was very cheap and had zero effort put into it. At least Hiros' costume was a bit cute, but Nick just half-assed it. Fortunately, me and Nagisa had prepared for just the occasion~

"Alright boys, you two wait outside! Me and Azalea still need to change into our costumes~" I told them. We were going for a theme as you could clearly see. Azalea went as a gardevoir as he volunteers suggested she go as a Pokemon that year (and I guess to make up for "missing" the Pokeapocaylspe that occurred a few weeks prior). I was going to go as a Pokemon trainer but I thought that would be too simple so I decided to become a monster girl as well!

Azalea went to her bedroom to transform and I went to the lab to do mine. I thought of several types of monster girls I could be this year. A centaur, a dragon, maybe a lich- oh, I could be a Pokemon Master Witch! So I decided to throw in a witch as part of my costume, but I couldn't decide on what monster girl race to be!

"Eh, why don't I just be all of them?" I shrugged my shoulders and used my powers to alter my form.

I could go into detail but, it would take forever and I didn't lose a dick like the boys and that's the interesting part you guys like anyways~ I transformed into a Witch dragon ghost centaur sphinx Pokemon Trainer... thing, and went outside to meet up with Azalea, who also had already transformed into a gardevoir and was waiting for me. She didn't appear too different honestly, keeping her general hair color and clothes. She was mighty impatient though, but the look on her face was priceless when she first saw me.

Of course I was surprised! Have you bothered to look in the mirror? Also, what do you mean with 'impatient'? It took me two minutes to transform and we had to wait twenty minutes for you!

At least Nick and Hiros liked my costume but they were absolutely astonished at Nagisa (What a show off...).

"Wow sis, you outdid yourself this year!" Hiros laughed.

"Yeah, we just threw everything into a blender and see where it lands," Nick commented. "Would you mind if I ride on you?"

"Oh Nick, you would crush me if you did!" Nagisa laughed. Nick seemed confused by this, I guess he was still convinced he would transform into a MILF mummy.

"What do you mean?" Nick asked.

"Oh, it's nothing~" Nagisa looked over at me and winked. It was my cue to give everyone a treat. The candies we made would have no effect on us (and if they did, Nagisa would be a witch and I would be a fairy. So uh... yeah), but of course, they were the triggers for the transformation. Nick took his candy and observed it while Hiros simply stared at my hands.

"You are not very subtle, you know," Hiros said, rolling his eyes

"What? Did you expect not to be transformed on Halloween?" Nick laughed, already tossing the candy into his mouth.

"Haha..." Hiros then plopped his candy into his mouth. "Yeah, you're right. Should have guessed."

My smile quickly became a frown and then into laughter. Nick and Hiros squinted as they chewed on the candy. It was like caramel candy, with a filling in the center. They looked like they were ready to spit it out, it must have tasted awful. Nagisa did work on adding the taste after we had tested it, but I hadn't tasted it myself. They managed to swallow it but coughed hard and spat a few times after.

"God, that tastes like shit!" Nick complained.

"Bleh! Being turned into a monster girl better be worth it!" Hiros exclaimed.

I was a bit thrown off by the fact that I hadn't actually managed to make the candies taste too good but decided to simply laugh it off since at the very least we got an amusing reaction out of the two. "Oh don't worry I promise it definitely will be~" I teased in response to my brother's complaints as I watched the two with Azalea in preparation to witness the fruits of our labor unfold as the first changes started to take place between the two.

It was their faces which changed first becoming feminine countenances of their usual expressions with their lips growing a bit fuller and their eyes becoming a bit wider to give them a delightful looking innocence. However all the same a bit of the monstrosity was beginning to show too as my brother gained two extra pairs of eyes above his original set causing him to flail a little with how much his vision had multiplied.

"Gah, it's never easy having to adapt to having MORE perception..." Hiros said as he blinked all three sets of eyes in order to get used to having them before Azalea decided to pipe up at Nick, "Hey you might wanna step away from the house." she warned to which Nick replied, "What do you mean?" his confusion grew for a moment until he realized he was starting to get taller- no bigger as his clothes started to feel a bit tight on his ever increasing frame in recognition of this he then decided to step back.

"Man, am I seriously going to be a kaiju mummy? That doesn't really feel like it clicks." I simply gave a giggle knowing the truth of his transformation as I answered him. "Trust me, it will make sense in a moment."

As the duo's transformations progressed they each gained on monstrous transformation along with their feminine ones, Nick's eyes caught up in their transformation as they became black scleras with piercing red eyes to contrast them in a delightfully spooky look. His neck meanwhile slimmed down and his voice was changed with it becoming something rather sexy to contrast the more intense look of his eyes. I hid my smile behind my hand knowing he'd become quite the sexy beast and that there'd be no shortage of eyes on him once his transformation was over.

However all the same I was especially pleased as I turned my attention to the transformation of Hiros and saw his torso slimming down and his arms becoming thinner, dainty hands gaining long decorated nails but more importantly he was growing something under his arms. With a rip from his shirt the second pair of arms had burst forth looking identical to the original pair, which Hiros quickly brought great enjoyment.

Of course this had been planned on my part since I knew my brother very well and it showed with how big his smile was when he began moving the extra pair of arms around and giving them a stretch to break them in. All the while his own voice had been changed to give him a more sultry tone to match the body he was going to have.

Since their heads were unmistakably girly now, the transformation seemed to take to the lower parts of their bodies next. When a pop and a moan escaped Hiros and Nick's lips, I couldn't contain my giggle knowing what was about to come.

I should note that Nick at this point was roughly thirty feet tall, which was already quite monstrous in size in its own right, but unfortunately nowhere big enough for what we have planned. Most of his clothes had ripped, save for his underwear which was deliberately the only thing that grew alongside him. Also that pathetic excuse for mummy wrapping paper was replaced by genuine, creepy, made from the silk of silk worms raised by Italian monks since the 900s, mummy wrapping paper.

Oh yeah, boobs. I think it was around this time when they started moaning in the most shamelessly way possible, their hands resting on their chest which would soon be filled with the wonderful mounds of flesh that made men go gaga. Nick's long moan twisted into a howl which clued in on what the other part of his transformation was.

“Did I just howl? You’re not turning me into a werewolf, are you?” Nick’s voice was quite booming now, I had to cast a spell to make his voice volume fall off at shorter distances so he wouldn’t destroy people’s eardrums (I forgot to add that, oops).

“Hehe, no but you are becoming a dog!” I laughed.

“A dog?” Nick looked down at us, dwarfing us at a massive fifty feet, but even then he just kept growing. Black and red fur began to cover his entire body, starting from his face and slowly crawling down to his feet. His fingers and toes became sharp and appeared more like claws than anything. His hair remained brown but slowly morphed into black near its ends. Also he got a gigantic pair of super cute dog ears~

“Hey guys, I know he- or she’s massive right now, but does my butt look big to you?” Hiros said, trying to look behind whatever was happening behind him. I had been trying to hide my laughter up to this point, but this was too much. Me and Nagisa laughed at Hiros’ ass becoming a black and quite large spider abdomen. His anger turned into embarrassment quickly as he realized what exactly was happening now.

“Hey Nick, does forming a spider abdomen feel this... weird?” Hiros asked. Nick didn’t reply and seemed more focused taking on the amazing view he was granted. Hiros let out a sigh and a few spider-like-legs popped out from his growing abdomen. They made their way to the ground and stood him up, making his human legs useless as they could no longer touch the ground.

Of course the normal legs he had ended up changing as well to match the rest of his spider-like body and soon he was having them curled up a little in a sort of sitting position while he used the rest of his legs coming from his abdomen to keep him up. He sighed, “I suppose if I’m going to be walking around on spider legs I may as well at least feel somewhat like I’m sitting.”

As he was adjusting to his new leg situation I turned my attention back to Nick, he was already about 80ft tall at this point and nearing his final maximum height at record pace. However the more important detail I noticed was that Nick’s hips were finally starting to spread out and his thighs were becoming plump and a bit more rounded.

I decided to take a quick stroll around the back and caught sight of his doggy rear becoming round and jiggy as well, his new tail wagging and slapping against it every now and again, contrasting the pouty face I had seen just a few seconds ago.

When I returned my focus to Hiros he was trying to look over his shoulder at his abdomen which made me smirk a little as he then said, “I still feel a bit weird back there, is it seriously not over?” Little did he know that he was right in the assumption as he would catch a glimpse of his spider abdomen starting to extend outwards, changing into a scaly tail that reached out a good few feet behind her.

He was now a mix of spider and snake as he started wiggling the tip of her tail a bit in amazement. “Well this is certainly unique...” He wound up looking rather enamored with the form he was ending up with, enough so that he missed when his clothes had changed into something much classier looking though still revealing as he gained a spider web sash and a dress that put his entire cleavage on display.

Though the main event had yet to happen of course as Nick finally reached his final height of 100ft making it near impossible to miss him and gained a metal collar along with two cuffs each of which had their own chains which were broken. The two were still boys where it counted so it was about time that changed; right on cue the two monster boys felt that familiar sensation in their crotches which soon turned into a pair of wanton and shameless moans as they felt their bits inverting on them, becoming their female counterpart with such intensive pleasure.

Finally the two were now proper monster girls ready to join us for halloween, though of course I also looked forward to seeing the kind of chaos they'd wreak with their still yet to be revealed curses, but undoubtedly it would also be quite a blast~

Hera let an "ara ara" escape her lips while Nicole let out a loud howl to the heavens above. The night sky turned into a red mist due to the presence of the world's largest hellhound gal. Even the moon seemed to take a dark twist as well. Fortunately, no one had anything to fear since Nicole was also the goodest girl that was ever good.

"Wasn't expecting this, but I feel great!" Nicole laughed, stretching her arms out and making a dramatic pose. She howled again on her, no instinct or transformation trigger needed. Nagisa giggled while I face palmed.

"You know, you are a hellhound Nicole, not a werewolf!" I shouted back.

"Ara ara, I don't think that matters to her~" Hera giggled. Oh yeah, Nagisa forgot to mention that their clothes had changed.

Um, Azalea, I did mention it.

Agh, I'm too lazy to go back and check. Anyways Nicole's only surviving piece of clothing (her underwear) was now a pair of black panties. Hera's outfit was way too drastic to describe. Important thing was, she had her boobs on display. I also felt a presence... the curse we had put on them~ Nicole being so huge, she was going to get some eyes on her. Nagisa and I looked at each other knowing that already more transformations were occurring.

"Alright girls, I hope you enjoy our 'trick' for you too," Nagisa said.

"Nagisa darling, I believe it was more of a treat~" Hera butted in.

"Whatever it is, this is awesome!" Nicole roared. The mental changes, while minor, still were quite overwhelming for them. Though maybe they were playing more into it than I expected, I'm not quite sure.

"So, are we just going to stand there or are we going to get some candy?" I said. I think Nagisa and Hera said something, but even with the muffling spell, Nicole's booming "sounds good!" made it impossible to hear anything else.

So with that we set out into the night to enjoy ourselves on this fine halloween Azalea and I were able to witness and enjoy a few other trick-or-treaters getting affected by the curse we had placed on Nicole and Hera causing the number of monster girls in the neighborhood to skyrocket on this fine Hallow's Eve. As for the actual trick-or-treating we did we visited quite a few houses and surprised each of them with the same curse and while some of them were quite shocked a few others were pretty happy with the transformations and were quick to give us candies for the delightful surprise.

Azalea however seemed to wind up getting missed by a good few houses we stopped by (No doubt they were far too caught up in the fact that a 100ft Kaiju girl, Snake Drider, and my own glorious self were standing before them.) which had caused her to raise a fuss on the return trip home.

Yeah, you guys got the cool transformations, and my volunteers told me to turn into something so basic! At least I got most of the candy~ Oh and... thanks for making this birthday extra special Nagisa. You are a good friend~

"Turning an entire town into monster girls is a small feat for someone as great as myself~"

"We didn't turn the entire town into monster girls though... right?"

"Did you hear Nicole's howl towards midnight? If there is anyone left in this place who didn't hear it, then they should definitely be visiting an ear doctor soon~"