Women in Economics at TSE - Alumni Mentorship Program

Our university has a new association: Women in Economics at TSE! This association aims at increasing the representation of women and facilitating their professional integration in the field of economics and at TSE.

A mentorship program is at the core of our association. We hope it will create an informal support network, build community among women and foster a more inclusive environment at all stages of the academic career at TSE. After successfully starting our PhD mentorship program we are now adding this Alumni mentoring so that students from all programs at TSE will have the opportunity to be mentored.

In practice, we will pair alumni with students from the same Master 2 that they graduated from. Matching within the different M2s will be random, although we might pair Alumni who went on to do a PhD with students interested in a PhD. Depending on the number of participants, mentors will have one or two mentees.

If you decide to participate as a mentor, we suggest the following guidelines:

- Online (or in person if you are in Toulouse) meetings with your mentee should be scheduled by you.
- There is no need to prepare for the meetings. They are about sharing experiences and advice in an informal conversation.
- We suggest meeting about once a month depending on your availability.
- Time commitment does not depend on your number of mentees, you can meet as a group.

If you decide to participate as a mentee, we suggest the following guidelines:

- Meetings with your mentor will be informal and there is no need to prepare
- Topics of discussion will depend on your needs. This might include: academic advice, career advice, sharing personal experiences...
