What has this invention influenced?

Morse code has quite effectively influenced the whole communication idea. Morse created this machine that could be used to send messages faster than any physical letter. This has then been used to inspire a whole society built on efficiency and getting messages around the world in seconds.

