mouse trapping, and rodent clean up services. We also provide contaminated rodent cleanup and remediation to Budd Lake restaurants and other food service companies. Rats are significant carriers of diseases like rabies, leptospirosis, Bacillus thuringiensis, and Hanta virus. Xceptional Wildlife Removal wildlife biologists can help asses the risk of a rat problem and recommend corrective actions.

German cockroaches are one of the most widely transported pests in the world, and can be found in homes and businesses throughout Budd Lake. These invasive pests are attracted to the warmth and moisture inside of homes, where they feed on spilled food and garbage. A single roach can turn into an infestation in just a few months, making regular pest control services essential for Budd Lake homeowners.

Stink bugs are attracted to the smell of food and garbage in urban areas, and are known to invade homes and businesses in large numbers. These insects can be difficult to eliminate, but a good pest control program combined with preventive measures can help.

Bats can become a nuisance animal within the Budd Lake area when they congregate in attics of homes and buildings. They are known to roost in soffits and other attic spaces where they build up huge amounts of bat guano. This can cause serious health issues when inhaling the guano. Xceptional Wildlife Removal provides no obligation in home bat inspections, bat guano removal, and bat reentry solutions.

Skunks are another invasive pest that can be a major problem for homes and businesses in Budd Lake. They can be very dangerous and should only be handled by a licensed wildlife biologist. Xceptional Wildlife Removal can remove skunks and their nests from properties in Budd Lake as well as deter them from returning with our skunk repellent services. Stinging insect infestations can be a dangerous problem and should be addressed by a qualified Xceptional Wildlife technician as soon as they are identified on your property. Bees, wasps, and hornets are common stinging insect species we handle on a daily basis throughout the Budd Lake area. If you have a hive or bee nest on your property that you would like to get rid of, call us today for a free estimate.
