Global Malt-Based Drinks Market

The malt-based drinks market is expected to witness market growth at a rate of 4.70% in the forecast period of 2021 to 2028 and is further estimated to reach USD 31.19 billion by 2028. Data Bridge Market Research report on malt-based drinks market provides analysis and insights regarding the various factors expected to be prevalent throughout the forecast period while providing their impacts on the market's growth. The rise in the demand from the consumers due to the expansion in the product line is escalating the growth of malt-based drinks market.

A malt drink is known to be a fermented, aged beverage in which the main ingredient is the grain or seed of the barley plant. Originally, the grains are grown followed by boiling and drying by utilizing a traditional procedure which is also called as malting. The dry powder obtained from this procedure is referred to as the malt, which is abundant in protein, minerals, strands, nutrients, and several other dietary benefits.

Major factors that are expected to boost the growth of the malt-based drinks market in the forecast period are the increasing importance of the flavoured drinks amongst the consumers. Furthermore, the innovative research and development and new product advancement is further anticipated to propel the growth of the malt-based drinks market. Moreover, the rise in the prominence of malt-based health drinks because of their rich content of calcium, vitamin B, and other important amino acids and the growing disposable income and the increasing health awareness in the advancing countries is further estimated to cushion the growth of the malt-based drinks market. On the other hand, the raw material procurement is further projected to impede the growth of the malt-based drinks market in the timeline period.

In addition, the brand awareness and rising penetration of offline channel will further provide potential opportunities for the growth of the malt-based drinks market in the coming years. However, the social distancing measures set up, the shutdown of the sports event, shows and other massive gatherings, that have led to slow down in consumption of the single-serve malt drinks like beer which might further challenge the growth of the malt-based drinks market in the near future.
