Creating Careers WebQuest!!

Have you ever wondered what you were going to school for? How what you learned today will be used in the future? What subjects you'll actually need to know in order to have a successful future?

Have you ever wondered what you'd be really good at when you grow up? What type of jobs you'd enjoy doing? How about what career will make you the most money?

Well today is your lucky day! You'll not only learn what types of jobs you'll be good at, but what you need to accomplish in order to be successful in those jobs!

Day 1:

Today you will find out what personality style you have! Your personality style is very important to consider when you are beginning to choose career paths. Some people are introverts, which means that they prefer to be, and work, on their own. Other people are extroverts, and love being around and working with others on a team. Some people are kinesthetic workers and enjoy working with their hands or outside. Still, others are linguistic workers and prefer writing, reading, and speaking as professionals. Each personality style lends itself to a certain type of career. Let's find out where you fall in this spectrum!!
