

The Treaty Known As
The Second Pact of Borders

Between

The Eternal Sovereignty of the Luminescent Void

And

The Hobgoblin Nation

On this day a second holy covenant between the Eternal Sovereignty and the Hobgoblin Nation will henceforth be established with the following additional terms:

Condition 1: Sovereign Currency

The Nation shall accept the Sovereign as their currency, benefitting from its heightened value and the prestige of holding a “free currency” unbound from slave trafficking.

Condition 2: Treaty

The Sovereignty and the Nation shall benefit from the Sovereign’s favor in economics. (balanced treaty: 10% to Sovereignty, 10% to Hobgoblin Nation).

Condition 3: Holy Worship

The Hobgoblin Nation will construct a cathedral in the name of the Church of Dusk and Dawn in the city of Half-Circle, which shall be renamed Vespera, or “Dusk” in the dragon tongue. They will allow a role for any ancestors who wish their bodies to be raised during their sleep.

Condition 4: The Sovereign

The Hobgoblin Nation recognizes the authority of the Sovereign, while continuing to remain independent, although the Nation reserves the right to become a vassal of the Sovereignty should circumstance dictate.

Condition 5: The Hobgoblin Nation

The Sovereignty recognizes the ability of the Hobgoblin Nation to deal with all the affairs of goblinkind so long as they do not encroach upon the power of the Sovereign.

Condition 6: Tribute

The Nation will properly tribute the Sovereignty from its adventurism. An account shall be made of all powers, profits, property, and corpses and the Sovereign shall choose his due portion first.

Signed this day, the 29th of Eleasias, 1376, in West Haven of Pandora.

Nihilus Eventide

Nihilus Eventide, Eternal Sovereign

Malgrim

Malgrim, Commander