Interview Begins

0:00 – 0:05 Welcome

- Introductions of interviewers and their roles
- Today's interview is 90 minutes long
- For today's interview, we'll start with about 30 minutes of behavioral interview questions
- Then, we'll have you walk us through one or two projects.
- We'll leave some time for your questions at the end.

0:05 – 0:40 Behavioral/Situational Interview Questions

1. Tell us about a problem you solved while you were working as a [job] at [company]. Something where the normal solution didn't work, and you had to find a new solution to the problem.
   - Probes
     - Why didn't the normal solution work in this scenario?
     - How did you know the solution was a success?
     - Tell me why you chose the approach that you did.
     - What did you learn from solving this problem?

We need people who are resourceful and creative problem solvers. The candidate should not buckle under pressure. They should describe rising to the challenge and finding an outcome that made the situation successful.

Weak	Strong
Negative or defeatist about encountering the problem	Fully understood the problem and thought through options
Did not look for multiple solutions	Considered many options for solving the problem
Did not ask for help or feedback	Asked for feedback on the proposed solution early in the process
Complicated the situation	Simplified the situation
	Defined what success looked like, including deadline
	Used multiple resources outside of self (e.g. peers, subject matter experts, previous research, competitive analysis, etc.)
	Communicated the solution well

How would you rate the candidate's resourcefulness and problem-solving ability?
Very Weak	Weak	Average	Strong	Very Strong

Notes

2. Tell us about a time you disagreed with someone on your team. How did you handle that?

- Probes
  - Tell me more about why you chose to approach the conflict the way you did.

Very weak	Weak	Average	Strong	Very Strong

Notes

0:40 – 0:80 Project Review

"Please share a research project with us. Present the project outcomes to us as if we are the client or key stakeholder. Make sure to include the project goal, what questions or hypotheses you had going into the research, what insights you learned about the people you were studying, and the recommendations or solutions that resulted from the research. We'll be jumping in and asking questions throughout your presentation."

Probe questions

- How did you decide on the methodology? What are the strengths and weaknesses of this method?
- What was the deadline/timeframe for this project? How did you manage your time?
- How did you collaborate with stakeholders?
- How did you make sure that your stakeholders were aligned on the research questions?
- Tell me about your approach to writing the facilitation guide/interview questions.

Disorganized and unstructured approach to research	Structured and mature research process
Works in a vacuum; no collaboration during the research process	Collaborative process with frequent reviews
Complex and jargon-heavy deliverables	Explained how results made an impact for users
Only shows final result with no discussion or visualization of process	Communicated recommendations in a clear, jargon-free format
Cannot describe success criteria for project	Findings and recommendations had an audience in mind (designers, product managers, etc.)
Does not clearly define their role and the contributions of others	Demonstrated understanding of user centred design process
Work does not line up with their resume	Educated team members and stakeholders about user research
Says they had no challenges	Can tell a story with data in an engaging and impactful way

	Very strong: Evangelized findings beyond a read-out to make sure they were implemented
	Very strong: Communicated strategic insights that go beyond the scope of the project
	Very strong: Showed results in a creative format that suited the intended audience (e.g. video, storyboard, etc).

0:80 – 0:90 Candidate Questions and Next Steps

- Any questions for us?
- At this stage, we're still talking to candidates before moving to the next step, which would be two 60-minute conversations with folks from the design and product teams. We want you to get a good look into how our team functions and collaborates. It also allows us to get to know you better.
- The recruiter will be in touch with you
- Thanks for your time and have a great day.
