

Email Draft for “Operate Drinks”:

Subject Line- Release your true potential and OPERATE at the highest level!

Hi Operate Drinks,

I came across your social media page the other day and I was extremely impressed with your product line. Not only do I believe a nootropics sports drink to be highly innovative, but I can see this product taking the market by storm.

Your dedication to creating a unique sports drink that doesn't rely on refined sugars, synthetic caffeine and is preservative free, coupled with the plethora of BCAA's and sheer plant power is more than capable of changing the sports drinks industry FOREVER.

My name is Usman Shah and my focus is on creating emails, landing pages and more ensuring you are maximising on your outreach to potential customers, and elevating your status as a game changer.

Whilst you have done a great job with crafting an enticing website, I noticed there is a lack of interaction for information regarding the ingredients of your product, which I believe will draw a wider array of customers if they can learn more about the product from one source rather than compiling it from various others.

I will be committed to delivering this insight to your customers and ensuring their engagement with your sales page and email sequences are nothing short of exciting.

In accordance with this, I am offering a free session where we can discuss the strategies you need to make a lasting impact in the game.

Let's schedule a call and discuss further your road to progression and how you can optimise your consumer interaction; leaving no room for mistakes.

Looking forward to hearing from you soon.
