Susie respects physical strength, especially when it works for her cause. She demonstrates "girly" tendencies at times, such as giggling or singing.

Although after the events of Planet Robobot; she no longer sees herself superior towards other people especially considering how she was beaten and what happens to Haltmann Company, although she still has a bit of an ego and still works hard towards her goals.

HEADCANONS

- After a while Susie manages to set up a workshop on Popstar which she uses as a home. She plans to open a workshop to sell different equipment to improve people's lives.
- She used to sleep in her Mecha suit which is very uncomfortable due to the fact it wasn't designed to be used for long period of time, and she had to sit in the mecha suit in order to get into it, however thanks to this; Susie is capable of sleeping while sitting up.
- Susie suffers from Athazagoraphobia (Fear of being forgotten) which was resulted by spending many years alone and returning to only have her father forget who she was; however, Susie will not admit that she has this fear and even flat out denied it.
- Mecha Suit 4.0 has the same appearance of her first mecha suit due to the fact she was very fond of the design and missed it's appearance after it was destroyed. As such, when she decommissioned Mecha 3.0 so that she could upgrade it; she went back to the old design.
- Susie has a sword which she crafted in her workshop.
- Susie has a couple of burn marks and scars on her body were caused by Star Dream after being struck by the machine; shortly before, she stole the remote control to the machine from President Haltmann.
- She also has a scar on the palm of her right hand, which is similar to lighting marking, which she got when she tried to pick up Galaxia (Meta Knight's Sword) after shooting the Halberd down and capturing the knight.
