Ms Stephanie Everly
 Managing Editor
 Dickinson Press
 12 Main Street
 Amherst, MA 11001

Dear Ms Everly:

I am writing to express my keen interest in the editorial assistant position you advertised with the University of Washington's Career Center. I will be receiving my bachelor of arts degree in English in June 2012, and I am eager to join a small publishing house where I can use my skills in writing, editing, proofreading, research, and critical analysis. Based on my knowledge of Dickinson Press publications and objectives, I believe that my educational background and abilities would be an excellent match for the editorial position.

Through my academic work in English language, literature, and writing, I am prepared to make meaningful contributions to editorial discussions and to function as a member of your editorial team. In addition to my university training, I have held editorial positions with Bricolage, the University of Washington's undergraduate literary journal, and with Steubing Press, a small publishing house specializing in non fiction and regional publications in the Pacific Northwest. These intern positions have provided me with experience in editing, proofreading, fact checking, production scheduling, working with off-site vendors, sales, marketing, and customer service. My positions with a small publication and a small press have taught me to manage my time effectively, adapt readily to new responsibilities, work as a team member, and function well under pressure. The writing skills I developed through my background as an English major have been further refined in both of these positions, where I learned to write concise, persuasive prose for press releases, catalog statements, and website content. Both positions afforded me an in-depth understanding of the important and varied behind-the-scenes work involved in book publishing.

I hope you'll agree that the combination of my academic training and my internship work in publishing has provided me with excellent preparation for the demands of a literary editorial position with Dickinson Press. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to meeting with you to discuss this opportunity in greater detail.

Sincerely,

Mary L. Martin

(Reuters Health) – Half of all heart patients made at least one medication-related mistake after leaving the hospital, and guidance from a pharmacist didn’t seem to reduce those errors, in a new study.

Consequences of mistakes – such as forgetting to take certain drugs or taking the wrong dose – can range from side effects like constipation to more serious drops in blood pressure. Two percent of errors were life-threatening.

Hospitals involved in the study were already taking steps to prevent medication mistakes in addition to the extra pharmacist intervention, said Dr. Sunil Kripalani, the study’s lead author from the Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, Tennessee.

“We were surprised to see that in spite of these efforts that 50 percent (of patients) were still having these medication errors,” he told Reuters Health.

Although the pharmacist visits didn’t help the average patient, he added, certain ones seemed to benefit – such as patients who were on multiple drugs or had trouble understanding health information.

As for traditionally lower-risk patients, he said other strategies to prevent errors may be needed.

Nina A. Loasana (The Jakarta Post) Jakarta. Wed, October 27, 2021 The government is planning to make polymerase chain reaction (PCR) tests mandatory for travelers across all modes of transportation, officials say, in a bid to prevent another wave of COVID-19 infections amid increasing public mobility ahead of the year-end holiday season.

Currently, negative PCR test results are required only for passengers traveling by air in Java and Bali, as well as in other regions with a high risk of COVID-19 transmission. Coordinating Maritime Affairs and Investment Minister Luhut Binsar Pandjaitan, who oversees the pandemic response for the two islands, said on Monday that nearly 20 million people were estimated to be traveling in these regions over the New Year's holidays, and that the government was keen not to "repeat past mistakes".

Jakarta, Sun, October 17, 2021 At least three people were killed and dozens were injured in an earthquake that struck Bali on Saturday morning. The 4.8-magnitude quake was centered in northwest Karangasem at a depth of 10 kilometers, which is relatively shallow, a factor that experts say contributes to the potential damage. The effects were felt in Karangasem, Denpasar and on the neighboring island of Lombok, AFP reported. "The quake was felt strongly for five seconds," National Disaster Mitigation Agency (BNPB) spokesperson Abdul Muhari said, as quoted by AFP. "People were panicking and ran from their houses when the quake hit."

Malaysian powers have confined six anglers from West Brandan, Langkat, North Sumatra, on Langkawi Island.

"Six customary anglers from Langkat were captured and kept in Langkawi, Malaysia," executive of the North Sumatra office of the Indonesian Traditional Fishermen Association (KNTI) Tajruddin Hasibuan said as cited by Antara.

The captures were made as the anglers were returning home from a three-day trip. Tajruddin said that Malaysian oceanic police captured the anglers on May 9. The anglers were recognized as Abdul Rais, Daiman, Zailani, M. Zais, Radit and Hery. Hasibuan encouraged the administration to help discharge the six anglers.
