Dear Representative _____:

I, the undersigned, am writing this letter to state that as your constituent, I do not support the policy of your administration of not arming Ukraine with heavy weaponry. I find it inhumane and counterproductive to our national security.

In the current phase of the Russian war against Ukraine, Russia is consolidating its forces in the Donbass region with a goal of overwhelming the Ukrainian defenders with long range artillery and air bombardment. Ukraine needs heavy weaponry and air defense systems in order to repel this offensive. Unfortunately, the US and NATO refuse to provide these weapons out of fear of military escalation with Russia.

Avoidance of escalation with Russia cannot be a guiding principle of what level of support we offer to Ukraine. The USSR did not worry about such factors during the Korean and Vietnam wars. Continued reluctance to arm Ukraine today makes our country look weak and emboldens our enemies. I, like the majority of Americans, now more than ever want our country to project strength and be the force for good.

On March 25th the President made a very powerful speech in Warsaw. It was clear that hearing the stories of refugees moved him, and that in his heart he truly wants to help the Ukrainian people. Now is the history defining moment. Will the United States live up to the legacy of our greatest generation? Are we still the nation that carried out the airlift of Berlin? I sure hope we are!

As you constituent, I ask you to initiate a legislation that would provide Ukraine with:

- continuous supply of long range artillery.
- long range air defense systems.
- tanks and armored vehicles.
- soviet-made combat aircraft.

God Bless Ukraine and God Bless America!

Sincerely,

s/ _____
