Race: Lalafell (dunesfolk)

Height: 89cm

Family: ????

God: Thaliak, the Scholar

Grand company:

Primary classes: Black mage, astrologian

Theme colours: Jet black, cherry pink

Background:

- As far back as she remembers she was living in an orphanage in Middle La Noscea called Ringabell House
- She never knew her parents and allegedly the staff there didn't know where she came from either, she was just left on their doorstep as a baby
- She wasn't satisfied with that though so she used to make up stories about who her parents were. Big Tracy Beaker energy
- Specifically because she was that kid who liked scary stories and whatnot she would tell the other kids that her parents were super powerful black mages from Ul'dah who left her at the orphanage bc it wasn't safe for her to stay with them because they had Dangerous Important Missions to do and Dangerous People to fight. You know the drill
- She would say that as their daughter she was actually super powerful too and her magic was in danger of exploding out at any minute! Wuh oh!
- She was always playing the bad witch in pretend games. She really was That One Kid
- Anyway somewhere down the line she kind of forgot that all the stories she was making up weren't really true. You know when you push a lie so much that even you believe it
- So when she came of age she was like, well then, I'm off to Ul'dah to join the thaumaturge's guild and learn to harness my secret incredible magic powers until they induct me into the secret circle of black mages and I finally meet my parents!! Bye!!!
- I think like. Her confidence in herself does get her somewhere. She believes in her secret incredible powers so much that she doesn't take "I can't do this" as an option which means that she does okey as a thaumaturge. She's not like fantastically talented but she's competent and she improves quickly. The guildmasters become pretty fond of her although Cocobuki is exasperated with her always. So she's in with their crew
- She's gonna be vibe checked when she realises her parents really aren't there after all bc spoiler they aren't they really were just some people who died probably but. Hey

Character:

- She is the embodiment of "I am no longer baby I want power"
- Except she definitely is still baby

- Brimming with baseless but impenetrable confidence. Truly believes she can do anything
- Her hubris will definitely be her downfall but you know
- She wants everyone to know how cool and powerful she is so she shows off a lot
- Always giggling goblinishly in true little witchy fashion
- Likes to bug people and mess around in general
- She's pretty innocent though, she basically is living in her own little fantasy world and is lucky that she's gone this long without anyone bursting her bubble
- She loves anything spooky. All Saints' Wake all day every day babyyyy. Busy doing spooky things
- Has a mad sweet tooth she only wants to eat candy at any given time
- She has a La Noscea accent which she tries to mask bc it doesn't fit her image but. She never really succeeds
