

*circ*ULATE

Circulate is a multidisciplinary artist development programme at Jacksons Lane in 2023. We will be connecting 3 playwrights, 4 circus performers and 4 actors.

Participants will attend a series of workshops where they will learn about circus skills, dramaturgy and narrative, writing Arts Council applications and creating accessible shows. We want to equip the creatives with the skills to continue to create multi disciplinary work after the programme.

Over the course of the programme we will bring everyone together to attend workshops, develop new shows and perform in work in progress sharings directed by professional theatre and circus directors.

We want to re-articulate what is to: make theatre, write stories, perform with skill and share knowledge, keeping narrative at the heart of what you are doing.

We are looking for: Writers, Circus Artists of any discipline and Actors.

This programme will run on the following dates - please check that you're available for all the dates before applying:

13th February- Workshop day

14th February - Workshop day

15th February - R&D

16th February- R&D

18th February - R&D

23rd February - Tech (2 hours)

24th February - Tech & Dress WIP sharing (afternoon & evening)

25th February - WIP sharing (evening)

Please note playwrights are not required to attend all four days of the R&D or tech and dress.

One of our directors is only available during the evenings for our R&D days so if selected you may be asked to rehearse during the evenings (rather than day times) during the R&D period.

We are committed to accessible and inclusive practices and will be running workshops on creating inclusive work as part of this programme. We encourage artists from backgrounds that are currently under-represented in the arts to apply. Please feel free to email us about any access requirements and let us know if the application process meets your access requirements.
