

Google Chrome

On the top row of the keyboard you will see two keys that look like the sun. The one on the left turns it down and the one on the right turns it up. Hitting the key will incrementally turn the brightness on the screen up or down.

This button will turn down the brightness.

This button will turn up the brightness.

Here is a full view of the keyboard and where these buttons are located.

