

BYOFG = Bring Your Own Fighting Game

Bring whatever fighting games you own (the worse and more random, the better), and for every game brought, an entry is marked. Everyone does this so we have a larger collection of them. Essentially, each round, a new game is randomly drawn/picked and that's the game played that round.

If you own none, it's fine. Just show up. It's a random draw event (with over 200 games, and growing every event, current list). Everyone will be playing a random game each round, so button mashers can make it to finals (it happens almost every time in some capacity).

Rules:

Double Elimination, bracket style

Top 32-8, Best of 1

Top 8, Best 2/3

Losers Finals, Grand Finals, Best 2/3, Loser redraw after each round/win.

Tournament Banned Characters not allowed (Yoda, Gill, etc.)

Special rule information:

If you don't like the game that you draw, you will have the special option to pay $1 for a redraw, however, your opponent can also pay $2 (outbid) in order to block that redraw and choose to redraw, or play the original game. Of course, if you then paid $3, perhaps I might look the other way as you redraw...unless your opponent pays $4 of course. And no, all bids don't have to start at $1. Sadly, like society, money can buy you happ...erm, victory.
