Background

Please replace this paragraph with the background of your research. Background should briefly explain the state of the art related to this research, the importance of the proposed research, and clearly mention the aim of the research, written in no more than 1000 words.

Figures or diagrams that can better explain the background may be included. Please remove the above photo or replace them with your research-related figures. Please also include references in the figures if you cite them from other sources.

Method

Sub-heading 1

Please replace this paragraph with your method. It should clearly explain how and where the data/sample will be taken or the experiments will be conducted, including a brief explanation on what materials and equipment that will be used. This chapter should be written in a total of 500-1000 words. Please remove the photos or replace them with your research-related figures. Please also include references in the figures if you cite them from other sources.

Sub-heading 2

Please also include references in the figures if you cite them from other sources.

Sub-heading 3

Please replace this paragraph with your method. It should clearly explain how and where the data/sample will be taken or the experiments will be conducted, including a brief explanation on what materials and equipment that will be used. This chapter should be written in a total of 500-1000 words. Please remove the photos or replace them with your research-related figures. Please also include references in the figures if you cite them from other sources.

Expected Results & outcome

Heading 2

Please remove this paragraph and replace it with the expected result of your research. Expected result could be a hypothesis of your research or a description of what the team wish to achieve by conducting the research. It should be written in 500-1000 words.

You can also add an original figure explaining a possible mechanism or an explanation of your hypothesis. Please also write the planned outcome of the research by the end of the paragraph, for example: manuscript draft; international publication in Scopus-indexed journal; module for technology transfer; etc. Due to the very limited timeframe of this program, please consider to write an actual and realistic outcome rather than exaggerated ones.
