

Hello Kristen I hope you having a nice day.

I am a copywriter in the beauty and hair design niche, helping businesses grow their communities by creating content.

I offer you the opportunity to grow your Instagram community and improve your content.

I will make professional explanations using words (before after, customer comments, etc.) for the various posts you share.

I will make your web pages on your website creation journey.

I am in contact with some businesses and they are also interested in cooperation.

I'm sure you know that when a business has a large Instagram community, its customer base increases proportionally.

I have always delivered the content I created on time.

Another opportunity I offer is;

I can make a new Instagram account for your business (hair salon Alabama branch) and grow your community by taking on the social media manager there. (Because successful businesses in the beauty niche find that running a business on a personal account isn't strategic at some point.)

And when the community is big enough, you can make affiliate marketing deals and earn commissions from beauty and hair styling products.

P.S. I am not asking any fees from you at this time. Only after I have proven to you that I have improved your business and kept my promises do I charge a fee.

By offering you this opportunity, or even just giving this information, I have taken you to the next level from other well-known businesses.

So Kristen, be sensible

You can ask about the parts you don't understand,
re-read my message,
and make a strategic decision.

I am waiting for you.
