

ARTICLE TITLE FOR ACCENTIA MAX. 15 WORDS: A CASE STUDY AT ACEH UNIVERSITY

^{1*}First Author and ²Second Author

¹First Affiliation, City, Country

²Second Affiliation, City, Country

*Corresponding author: email@go.com

ABSTRACT

An abstract is a brief summary, usually in one paragraph of less than 300 words, of the foremost aspects of the complete paper in a prescribed sequence that includes the purpose of the study and also the problem being investigated, the research design, and the main findings found as the results of the study.

KEYWORDS: First Word, Second Word, Third Word.

INTRODUCTION

The authors should use this template for submission of new articles to Accentia. This MS-Word template is made easy to use for the authors, and can be downloaded from the journal website. The authors should type their articles onto this template using the fonts, sizes and other formatting instructions given on the template.

An introduction ought to announce your topic, give context and a principle for your work, before stating your analysis queries and hypothesis. The introduction set the tone for the paper, catch the reader's interest, and communicate the hypothesis or thesis statement.

LITERATURE REVIEW

This section reviews books, academic articles, and some other sources pertinent to a specific issue, territory of research, or hypothesis, and by that, gives a depiction, rundown, and basic assessment of these works in connection to the issue being explored.

RESEARCH METHOD

Research method is the process used to collect data and information in a study. The methodology might embody data analysis, interviews, surveys and different analysis techniques.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

In this section, the authors should write down necessary findings after the data are analyzed.

FIGURE 1. Title of figure

SUBHEADINGS

Any subheadings should be in italics. The discussion may further break into more details that the authors feel necessary to provide in the article.

TABLE 1. Format for table

LIST	COLUMN A	COLUMN B
Font	10pt	All
Alignment	Centered	All

CONCLUSIONS

The conclusions should reflect the main points of the article. The conclusion permits you to make the ultimate say on the problems you have got raised in your paper, to synthesize your thoughts, to demonstrate the importance of your ideas, and to propel your readers to a replacement read of the topic. It's conjointly your chance to create a decent final impression and to finish on a positive note.

Your paper's conclusion is used to ingeminate the most argument. It reminds the reader of the strengths of your main arguments and reiterates the foremost vital proof supporting those arguments.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS (OPTIONAL)

Name(s) of funding bodies and departments that have (financially) supported the project.

APPENDICES (OPTIONAL)

Include appendices before References, identified as Appendix I, Appendix II, etc.

REFERENCES (APA 7TH STYLE)

- Brown, H. (2015). How to cite from an article in a proceeding in APA 7th style. Proceedings of the TEFLIN International Conference (pp. 100-110). City: Name of Organizer.
- Doe, J. (2018). The article in a journal. Education Journal, 4(2), 10-17.
- Goodman, L. (2017). A book in Bahasa Indonesia [The book title is translated to English]. Jakarta: University Press.

- Green, M. (2016, July 11). Citing the online news article. The Jakarta Post. Retrieved from <http://www.thejakartapost.com/academia/2016/07/11/project-fear-campaign-lessons-from-the-eu-referendum-in-the-uk.html>
- Hemmingway, J. (2016). Citing a published dissertation. (Published Doctoral dissertation). Name of University, City. doi:xxx
- Leicester, B. (2018). Citing unpublished thesis. (Unpublished Master's thesis). Name of University, City.
- Mettam, G. R., & Adams, L. B. (1999). How to cite from a book with editors. In B. S. Jones & R. Z. Smith (Eds.), Introduction to the electronic age (pp. 281–304). New York: E-Publishing Inc.
- Smith, J. (2015). The article presented in a seminar or conference. Paper presented at the 5th Some Conference. 15–20 July, Rome, Italy.

Note to authors: Please use Mendeley for referencing manager.