TREND: Increase in Home Exchange

THIRDHOME Reports Uptick In Home Exchange

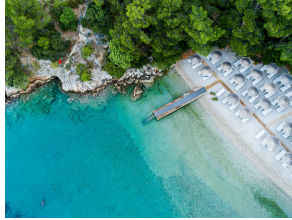

THIRDHOME Exchange is a private members' club which is exclusively open to second home-owners. Using a key system, guests can exchange time in their second home with stays in other members' second homes, allowing access to unique properties across the globe. The European President of THIRDHOME, Giles Adams, has reported an uptick in enquiries to join the home swapping club in recent months. He believes this is due to people becoming more savvy in the current climate and wanting to leverage their assets more wisely, and also because people are desperate to travel but want to be able to control their environment. Members can bring their own staff, chef, butler and housekeeping, and can therefore mitigate any potential infection from outside. www.thirdhome.com

Sustainability

Sani Resort Reveals Sustainability Report

Sani Resort's Sustainability Report details ongoing efforts and initiatives launched in 2019, to make the resort as eco-friendly and sustainable as possible. As well as showcasing Sani's impressive achievements, the report outlines future goals, and changes in protocol to achieve these objectives. Key inclusions include: goal to become zero carbon within four years, zero plastic goal (all single use plastics were banned in 2019) and CSR action for over 40 local Greek charities, including those supporting the refugee crisis.

Wilderness Safaris Sustainability Initiatives

Wilderness Safaris continues to invest in the local communities where camps operate and have introduced initiatives in Botswana, Zimbabwe and Rwanda with the help of Wilderness Sustainability Fund and kind donations from previous guests. Since introducing its innovative waste reduction campaign in 2012, Wilderness Safaris has reduced its plastic water bottle consumption by 86%. In Zimbabwe, the Children In The Wilderness Zambezi team has managed to secure seeds for their Tsholotsho schools' veggie gardens to ensure food security in the remote, rural areas south of Hwange National Park as well as distributing solar lights to rural schools surrounding Livingstone, Zambia. <https://wilderness-safaris.com/>

Hilton Seychelles Reopens With Further Sustainability Initiatives

Hilton Seychelles Northolme Resort & Spa is located in the north of Mahe within easy reach of the island's national parks and white sandy beaches. Northolme has recently been accredited with Green Globe accreditation, one of the highest standards for sustainability worldwide. The hotel has undertaken numerous eco-initiatives, including a coral restoration project, an artificial reef to help regenerate marine life, bottling their own water from Mount Dauban and a monthly "sustainable day". As part of the hotel's recent renovation project, Northolme has just unveiled a new restaurant, WAVE: offering all-day dining with healthy and most notably, environmentally conscious choices. The hotel itself offers secluded accommodation with spectacular sea views, private infinity pools, an oceanfront spa and a selection of delicious restaurants. <http://www.seychelles.hilton.com>

Lepogo Lodges Launches Carbon Offset Programme at Noka Camp, South Africa

Lepogo Lodges' Noka Camp, one of Africa's few entirely not-for-profit safari lodges, has added to its stellar eco-credentials by working with local and global charity organisations to offset their guests' carbon footprint, calculating the carbon emissions resulting from each guest's journey from the time they leave their home to the moment they return. The figure is converted into a monetary value which is then donated by Lepogo Lodges into one of three conservation projects, chosen by the guest.

The projects include Stand for Trees and its 16 conservation projects aim to protect the world's most spectacular forest landscapes, surrounding communities and inhabiting wildlife. The projects span across Northern Zimbabwe, Kenya, Tanzania, Sierra Leone, Papua New Guinea, Indonesia, Peru, Brazil and more, offering guests a range of sites to choose from. www.lepogolodges.com.
