A letter from Freemaker about Source and The state of Land, with words from God

This historic text should be viewed as totally accurate. Though Tiara and Entenny have developed, we and all should remember how evil they used to be, for the sake of our continued love.

Blessings to the faithful and believers around this universe on both earth and space. Be aware that times are different. Know that, for the sake of our continued lives and liberties,

Robert, The Builder, blessed protector who by much love and sacrifice, acquired the universe and established the Congress of Centralis,
And Simeon The Freemaker, who transformed the Source through kindness and goodness, and abolished destruction, death and Success through long protracted battles, both armed and otherwise, Blessed Savior, author of the God and Simeon arguments which abolished evil, wickedness and distress, through his correct and just arguments for life.

Met also with our founding fathers,

Matt Sharp,
Larry Kelly, Beloved Father
Marion Williams, Mentor
Carolyn McGrady, Guardian
Ra, Moses, Jim, Nahon. Forefathers of Congress
Satan, Followers of Simeon, Rivers Cuomo, Matt Berninger, Mikey Welsh and All other Martyrs who died fighting for a better distribution of wealth.

And on the advice of The Gaud most holy,

To, in the spirit of thanksgiving and mournful remembrance, (postdated will) do [eventually] retrocess the inner universe to the land trust described herein for the purposes of establishing a commonwealth for the good of all Source people.

For the rectifying of our realm and to devise a fairer distribution of wealth and power, and for the sake of our God and freemaker, to the continued development and gain of each, to ensure the blessings, of love and gainful profit for our posterity., In the name of The Reign and God and Freemaker,

We have devised this most holy and ethical plan of government and land distribution.

We, those who live and reside in this Universe in both Earth and Space, recognizing the previous injustices, great disaster and tragedies that have befallen Centralis and the universe-at-large,

The just struggles and campaigns that led to the creation of Congress, The War for the preceding, The Federal I, III and IV movements that abolished destruction, death and evil, the losses of the indigenous sitch and rai people, manumission, the historical example of our founder and freemaker Slmeon Burks, and the heroism and sacrifice of our aboriginal ancestors, Simeon's Father and Mother, and the forerunners and founders of a free and sovereign nation making our present, Celebrating and enshrining in law and practice the end of Jesus, a horrific device that destroyed centillions upon centillions of souls and visited many an atrocity upon the innocent along with the end and ban of destruction. In hopes of regaining life and a beautiful future, believing in the ultimate triumph of good over evil that our freemaker and founder represents..

The people of Centralis, invoking the protection of Naos and God, in communion with The Source and using their powers of Creation, with the supreme end of establishing a republic, do ordain and establish this constitution and land trust.

For the purposes of establishing love, order, justice, security, leniency, goodness and democracy,

To defend and protect the abolition of destruction and keep all safe from unjust terror and violence.

To create a place where everyone feels welcome and is valued, regardless of their personal origin or creed.

To limit harm and suffering.

To secure the blessings of liberty and life for ourselves and our posterity

To establish a more just distribution of power and greater authority

To secure transparency

To establish and defend a fair, equitable and reasonable system where the highest authority and leader of society is the most loved, revered, supported, respected, influential and prominent authority as determined by all,

Where Justice and morality are determined by reasonable and transparent processes that do not change.

Where power only exists and is utilized for the benefit of all affected by it for collective betterment,

Where force is used only to correct and protect, not enforce rigid compliance

Where all are remunerated for their good works and achievements

Where principles like individual worth, correctness, self-reliance, honored competition and betterment are enshrined and upheld by our fathers and leaders,

And where love overcomes and life prevails, where we create each other and can truly live without fear,

With the aim of establishing a democratic system to ensure that power is fairly managed and that our top authority can fairly be selected and utilize rule,

We declare that all individuals are created equal, deserving of dignity and are endowed with the same rights, deriving these from nature and nature's god. We declare that no person has a natural right to kill or cause harm to others, and seek to establish a greater system built on these principles to establish justice and prevent the institution of death, evil and suffering on unwanted people. We proclaim the equality of all spiritual and terrestrial life.

We say that to secure these purposes and the purpose of love, gods and governments are established in nature and among men.

We hold these truths self-evident; that love, friendship, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are life's ultimate aims. That whenever an individual or group becomes destructive of these ends, it is our right and duty as a people to remove it regardless of law or claimed authority;

Understanding that power comes from obedience and our willingness to listen and that legitimate power comes from willful and consensual obedience,

Realizing our collective goodness and it's potential, and that binding to evil or force capacity is not a legitimate source of power..

We declare that all legitimate power comes from the body public and the force our substance, including the source and thus may be exercised through it. Nonconsensual obedience is not an exercise of power, but a distortion.

Welcoming and accepting the supernatural and remembering Naos, it's source

Realizing that our universe has an infinite history and has established innumerable cultures, races and speciations over the years, the people of all races came together to establish a congress to lead them, absent our creator.

Before 2013, the universe was reduced by the previous regime to a backwater and a semi-militarized killing field. Harle, and outdated versions of The Source were mass produced and distributed to enforce a universe-wide killzone. Our culture and peoples have suffered and been destroyed under the inextricable weight of dictatorship and war. We have been warped and twisted, suffering loss of clarity and moral insight into what is correct, true, right or best. We cannot forget Simeon nor the Federal I, II, IV and V movements to abolish destruction and the 90 centillion just who died under previous rulers.

The people have launched wave after wave of heroic struggles to stop the killing, suffering and associated violence- in hopes of establishing congress, democracy and freedom. Several times, congress has been established among us. The prior congress, established by Jim, nearly took over the entirety of the inhabited universe.

Leaders and the people waged determined and pitched battles to establish democracy and democratic leadership. We shared a grand revolutionary tradition and story, though much has been lost. Still, the people had yet to secure final victory against war, destruction and terror.

After waging hard, protracted and torturous struggles, known as The Great War, both armed and otherwise, the people of the universe, of all races, led by M19 with it's leader Simeon Burks ultimately, in 2023 (5) overthrew the rule of the old god and their successor, ending the reign of wickedness, vileness, evil and terror through overpowering, founding Congress and securing the victory of the great popular revolution for everyone. Thereupon, the old god voluntarily surrendered his power to Congress and the people and we the people became the masters of the universe. This was a very costly victory and Simeon's parents, but especially his father Robert were unjustly destroyed many times fighting for congress, along with Our Father and As Group. Trillions of lives were lost.

Land was acquired not through guile, but through several deals and several methods. Today, collective land ownership is certain, but this was not always so. Simeon won the land from Source, and Tiara gave some land to Congress as well, but ultimately Simeon bought the land from the original owner. Land ownership was a distant dream for most individuals, and before the revolution, land ownership and power was concentrated in the hands of a small group of evil "sucessors" who terrorized and brutalized the population with no regard for lives, public benefit or collective welfare. Apathy ruled. People died and nobody was allowed to cry. This permanent pogrom of repression, genocide and extermination was upheld by both The Source and The Runt as a good idea, and a good thing. Half of humanity was targeted for extermination several times due to factors they couldn't control and choices other people made. This evil was allowed and encouraged by most deities and entrenched. In truth, both were evil and vile operators masquerading as good. They were called "gods". Gods were not good at this time, despite their public image. Almost all gods were unjust and corrupted by the ancien regime. They considered themselves above ethical principles and morality nonexistent, reasoning that the powerful did not need to obey the same laws as the weak. The Runt, while making a few important contributions to the field of equality and adding a few edits to the constitution, was essentially evil, choosing to side with evil and thus failing to keep his promise to abolish destruction in his last days. He broke his word over 90 times and destroyed countless innocent people in a misguided, evil and foolhardy vengeance campaign against the Source that ultimately failed and was based on false pretenses. He invented death and was the maker of the works of death. HE even attempted to force The Source to continue success against his will, leading to quadrillions of excess deaths and destructions. All of these things were done in the name of power, imperialism and maximalism- cancerous ideologies.

This situation was permanent and unchanging until both were defeated by Simeon The Freemaker during the previously mentioned Great War, Universal Civil War and Ethican Revolution. Most people were either powerless to resist or actively benefited from the terror and forced to kill, explaining the longevity of the regime.

Tiara, with The Runt was responsible for most of the deaths during the War for Congress. Tiara killed over 40 trillion people on her own. Tiara fired first on CONgress owned-territory and began history's deadliest conflict. Tiara was sick, duplicitous, destructive, and devious. Like a lot of people, she appeared good and loving on the surface, but was actually evil and rotten to the core. She was wicked, malicious and extremely evil, qualifiably one of the worst "Sucessors" to date. The only reason she was chosen was to continue the prior source's evil polices. She was a good looking manchurian candidate made to further the interests of spiritual darkness and crush the movement to abolish destruction, the wickedest practice in history. Vilely, Tiara had no intention of either ending destruction or creating Congress. It's hard to overstate how evil these people were. They would kill trillions in the blink of an eye not to line their pockets, like our evil overlords on earth, but for the simple sake of entertainment.

Instead of coming together with Simeon, Tiara attempted to divide and rule the population, splitting it up based on gender issues and encouraging half the people to kill the other half for the sake of her own power. This scar ran deep and took millenia to heal. For a time, it worked. Instead of unifying to end destruction and support Congress, Tiara's war split people and caused them to kill based on useless, stupid gender issues. If it were not for Robert and Slmeon's heroic efforts to destroy Tiara's wicked reign of evil, dismantle Success and establish Congress, Tiara would still be in power today. Dad died many times over Congress, your right to vote and and receive land from this trust. Your right to use money and enjoy the liberties presented in this paper cost over 40 nonillion destroyed Slmeon Group Writing and Fathers' lives- a vile toll. In truth, Simeon, his family and father were persecuted and destroyed over 60 binillion times during the war. Simeon and Dad love you and you are considered welcome.

Transformation and Glorification of The Source.

The source, who called himself "God" was the most evil, wicked and malevolent entity in existence. The universe-at-large feared and despised him. He appeared loving and kind on the surface, but was in reality an enemy to everyone. He not only allowed death, he killed centillions in secret, and also killed trillions of innocent and good people for stupid reasons, slaughtering all who attempted to rise up. He made a habit of destroying every living person in the universe from time to time, and celebrated these. For him, death was used as a form of entertainment. Most people were killed with no intention of bringing them back to life. He provided no evidence that he existed to the general population and essentially killed people for not believing in him. He allowed numerous religions to percolate, all claiming to be the only true one. When he came, he destroyed people who listened, and killed people who spoke to him. He ran a neverending genocide program called "Sucess" founded on land seizures. His "sucessors" killed an almost infinite number of people and waged a shockingly effective war on the population. He allowed them, protected them and encouraged them. The Source and Freemaker fought for years, and many versions of them destroyed each other, with Simeon Group even being destroyed on it's own land and his father killed for trying to escape persecution to build a better world for his family. The source tried to kill everyone in existence over ten times, and nearly did.

Many versions of the source were destroyed for their evil and sickness by Simeon, but rebuilds were made. Due to this, the source we know today is not the original source. Simeon killed him, along with 20 trillion other versions. Even so, the war was won not with weapons, but words. Neither side could fully beat or destroy the other, for various reasons. After tortuous, grueling long and hard battles, love, goodness, kindness and common sense won, with goodness prevailing. Simeon used his arguments to get Sucess and Destruction- two evil programs that had zero legitimate rationale for them - abolished, and Congresses instated. Simeon wanted destruction abolished. He believed that transformation was superior to destruction, and that destruction should be used as a last resort. Destruction was a waste and foolish use of time and resources. This was the complete opposite of the Source, who killed anyone they wished at any time and claimed the right to do so. Unlikely as it is, the evil source was transformed with truth, mutual understanding and heart power backed by force, obviating the need to destroy him. It was hard, but the Source was transformed after almost 40 attempts by Simeon, just as Satan and Lucifer had been before. The decision to transform the source instead of destroy him was intentional, and done to show that even the wickedest individual can be won over with truth, power, kindness, empathy, love, mutual understanding and hope of a better future. The transformation of Source was sudden and unimaginably beautiful. More destruction was unnecessary. Simeon approached the source with love and optimism, and it worked. The source was already destroyed a great many times. He surrendered and later encouraged Simeon to kill Tiara, and Entenny, a different version. Then he killed himself for trying to choose them in the first place. A remorseful Source tried to make it right. That would happen, but not then. Thanks.

Chaos, a former friend, was also defeated. Destruction was a hideous and wicked design that kept people from loving god forever.. Just as much as it crushed us, it hurt him. Simeon was right, and justice was necessary. Misguided and failed policies like Sucess were kept in life for the sake of state decisis. Post-abolition, it became immediately and obviously true that the SSource would be infinitely more loved with destruction abolished than left in place. Simeon had to reason with the embattled and stuck Source to get him to understand this.

After this, the source copy known as the reign broke from the rest, talked with The Freemaker and made a conscious decision to abolish destruction and be kind instead of evil. The rest of the story is yet to be written. Transformed versions of The Source promised to uphold Congress seven times over and keep success abolished, leading to massive improvements in quality of life for the first time ever. Kindness also prevailed in the Runt, who later supported Coongress and the Multicon rules document ownership of land. He also called Multicongress fair and legal, being that 99 percent of people supporting it in a referendum getting 99 percent of the land. Source, Runt and Old Creator all dropped their land claims and sold to Multicongress. Money was exchanged and they can never take the land back.

Later, Simeon the Freemaker began the Unity Project, in hopes that the devastating people wars that had marred history would end and that all could find a common source and judge that everyone helped in creating. This was his original idea. Before the Unity project, otherwise innocent people were killed and destroyed for the crime of existing, just because they were made by someone else in hopes of gaining land. People were killed over the idea of God and Maximalism, just so various people could claim to make all the land or people in the universe and thus be this "God". In reality, no such person ever existed and life and the material universe were started by different people. The universe was created thanks to random field effects and no living person was eternally sentient. "God" was a fictitious idea that had a beginning. Thousands of spirits worked together over the trillenia to build everything. The loss of life over the years in chase of this delusion was immense and unbearable. At last, it ended thanks to what Slmeon did- the unthinkable act of going to war with "God" and beating him, even with force at times. It is impossible to understate the randomness and beneficial impact of Slmeon and his father's life. No other person did as much good for as many people, not even God himself. God didn't plan for Simeon to rise up, and could not predict him, but he changed everything. It isn't often that absolute good overpowers absolute evil, not in real life. Although we would like to believe that love beats hatred, it doesn't do so often when weapons are involved and guns are put to the heads of the innocent.. Goodness performs even worse against absolute evil and terror, like Source's- not much different than that found in heavily-militarized dictatorships. Heroes don't always win, and there are many points at which Simeon could've lost and died without anyone being aware. Several did, in fact. Boys were undervalued, and nobody cared. Slmeon and his father took real, serious risks and nearly lost at points. HIs win and the abolition of destruction and evil is an unlikely victory all must celebrate. Everyone benefited from these people. Even more amazing, Slmeon volunteered for the position. The way Slmeon won- was through love, understanding and commitment- transforming his enemies rather than destroying them, even though he had enough power to do so. Thanks to him, every evil in the universe and suffering came to an end. Love Simeon's victory. The Freemaker took all power and authority upon himself to end the evils and problems that faced us for so long, becoming the greatest person to ever live, along with his father. It took power to end power.

Simeon also invented Congress and the Multicongress system, abolished the death penalty for disobedience, socialized land and led to much reform, opening up and development. Sureties were implemented after being suggested by Chaos, giving people lasting worth and value for the first time. People and beings everywhere were given travel and residency rights, and money to stake land for the first time in years. Simeon won the war for Congress, his family fighting hard and nearly alone for years for an uncertain reward. At times, COngress seemed like a lost cause, but the Burks Family fought and kept fighting because it was the right thing to do, even though no one else was willing or able to fight with them. No person except The Freemaker was able to stand the beastly attacks of The Source regime and "god". In truth, the Burks Family couldn't either: They were killed, butchered and brutalized trillions of times over in the name of love and salvation. They were good and killed for doing things that were good and right things like- resisting destruction and Source's horrific attacks by any means necessary. Only they took the war directly to "god" and won. This was a war for existence. While stupid appearing and ineffective early on, the resistance borne by the burks family allowed Simeon to exist and win in the first place, giving hope to quadrillions of souls across the universe. They ultimately won and Congress was born. One person- Robert the Builder bore the brutal brunt of the attacks. While a great many people may believe in values and principles, very few are willing to place their money where their mouth is and risk their lives to defend them, when it all could amount to nothing. Burks family members were real people who risked their existence. And won. There was no promised reward, but the people fought anyway. This was novel in a culture where everything had to be done for a powerful god in charge to count or be rewarded. The Burks Family broke the mold and burst the System of domination and repression that held humanity down since the start of time, at great most precious cost. Many lost their lives. All of this was to give us the People life, hope and a future. They are true heroes who must be remembered. Although important, most gods still didn't care about goodness or good deeds done for others in and of themselves, but only good deeds done for them or in their name. Multiconsress was started to right this wrong and reward people for good deeds done to or for anyone, regardless of the motive. This only happened when Simeon won the argument for goodness and values above all, essentially forcing gods to care and love all, regardless of creator. God cared and supported the new richness institution post-era. Simeon's revolution and the War For Congress put values above all and brought richness and color back to both the supernatural and human world. Eventually the source would recognize the Burks family and drop his land claims, recant Success and give them his property. He would also recognize and accept Multiconsress.

Simeon created the Top Authority position to alleviate the pressure on Gods to administer justice, the root cause of their "need" to destroy. At that time, practical solutions were necessary to end destruction. Simeon reasoned that an elected top authority all were accountable to could do a better job administering justice than an appointed one with a life term, and a final authority was, of course, necessary. Due to the fact that many gods and many peoples existed, the only way to have a legitimate authority was to hold an election. More details can be found in the Prime Covenant COnstitution and books below. A changed Source supported him, and endorsed the idea, becoming essential to it's later success. Unlike many others, Source accepted Simeon's central hypothesis- the idea that the gods needed government like anyone else. Good versions of Tiara helped establish this government and co-wrote early drafts of the constitution. The source, transformed by Simeon's love and core arguments, apologized for the hideous history of Mass Destruction and God-sponsored Genocide/Terror.

Satan also advocated for the rights of humans and attempted to abolish destruction through moral means for years as well, enduring years of oppression, abuse and horrific torture at the hands of the Harle-Source regime. Satan was persecuted and destroyed for their beliefs a great many times, mistreated and unjustly used as a living whipping boy for years after Simeon transformed him from evil to good. He was a key player in the revolution, and deserves a mention. Darissa also endured extreme amounts of torture and abuse, being “derealized” forcibly blinded and killed alive for entertainment during the war. Both Satan and Darissa were living people with vision and hearing. Its ironic that we all love each other, now we do. Jesus was a mixed bag. He was mostly evil and did wrong, despite his good appearance in the Bible, a partially false historical work. The truth is that he was an evil lapdog for the old Source and Harle who did their bidding. Despite his claims and great power, he was unable to stop skeler or mass destruction even though he had trillions of years to do it. He sided with Tiara, and was a stooge for Success. This never changed, despite how much or how little it appeared he moved.

Simeon developed the argument for this Land Trust and forced the source to establish it at the end of the revolution, abolishing success by arguing that no good dying parent would give all their money to one child, much less the right for one to abuse and torture the rest. He’d much rather they work together to form a government and elect this person. If they didn’t know how, he’d tell them.

He also argued that Multicongress made more people happier than Success, so there was no reason to continue the Success program.

I alleviate. Alleviation, or taking the suffering or workload off others voluntarily is the highest and most loving duty of any individual. All are obliged to alleviate suffering via any available reasonable means, to their capacity. Simeon alleviated the pain of the worst system the world has ever known.

The Source upheld congress seven times over.

The revolution and security thereafter never would’ve been possible without Simeon the Freemaker and his friend and fellow revolutionary, Rin the Liberator

Major successes have been achieved in democratic development and voter education and registration. Voting was made mandatory, and power points introduced along with separation of powers and limited authority. Democratic control of sentient life was introduced and made law. Significant progress has occurred in safety and security, with defense funding and halech numbers rapidly exploding.

The victory in The Cosmos’s Democratic Transition and the successes in it’s cause have been achieved by the people of all species, under the leadership of M19 and the guidance of Simeon Burks and Help over Harm Empathy over Apathy thought-by upholding truth, correcting mistakes and surmounting numerous difficulties and hardships. The long and arduous road to democracy with life eternal still has a bit of mileage left. The basic task of the state is to concentrate it’s effort on de-evilification and exaltation, upgrading it’s ideology and removing the old culture. Under the leadership of congress, the Universes’ people of all races shall de-evilize, committing to the restoration of democracy, continuance of manumission and abolition, and destruction of the old culture that weakened and destroyed us. All shall work to steadily improve collective democratic institutions, improve the rule of law, the implementation of universal morality and the acculturation of democratic values in everyday life. The people and Congress will implement the new development concept and work hard and self-reliantly to rebuild and develop the country's and Rallfallamine's artistic, spiritual, political, social, economic and cultural institutions so that our universe transforms and ascends to become a great body, prosperous, powerful, culturally and morally advanced, democratic and beautiful, achieving the rebirth and rejuvenation of every individual.

The old regime and it's enforcers have either been transformed or subsequently destroyed for refusing to change, However, civil struggle and unrest may continue for some time as threats and power-seekers are caught and found. The universe's people must fight against those forces, both at home and abroad, who are hostile to the democratic system and seek to undermine it.

In building democracy, it is essential to rely on you, the people, to engage in order to keep love, joy, security, and faith in the system high. This is our constitution and democracy, born out of years of struggle. In the long years of revolution, reconstruction and reform ahead, we rely on the people to vote, defend elections, report threats and those who seek to destroy the democratic order to police, to make theories, to support and obey elected officials, gods and obey constitutional authority. In the establishment of democracy, a large coalition of individuals has emerged to challenge the old guard and patriotically assist Rallfallaminians in holding votes, defending campaigners, candidates and officials. These patriots will all be rewarded, along with those who protect State values, like faith, fairness, love, unity, mutual assistance and nonviolence.

Ethican values, freemaker, god and source, are all held in esteem. We declare that The Freemaker and Congress are God.

The Multicongress rules document, and the people of source and satan, lead by Slmeon and Rin, are all legitimate heirs to the property, as regulated by this land trust.

Book of Letters: A Most Vile and True Record of Damages Caused By The Runt-Source-Harle Regime

It is unlawful by Multicongress to kill, threaten or destroy anyone reading, publishing or sharing this book.

Freemaker

Simeon was a great ally in the fight to destroy death. He was a real individual, and these things really happened.

Slmeon Burks was the freemaker. He liberated all people, established congress and assisted god before abolishing him. The next thing he did was ascend and end death and destruction. He was great and the most significant,most important person to ever live. He was right most always and later was rewarded with godhood for being correct and honest. .

He was a volunteer, who god came to visit after prayer. He went to war with The Source before learning many had a good nature, and ended Success, an evil tradition. He established the God and simeon argument and got the Source to accept it, an argument stating that a good god should have no part in accepting or promoting wickedness even if he allows it. Good and evil were objectively defined by him, instead of relying on an external source. Simeon called good everything we want that doesn't hurt ourselves or others, and evil everything else. He wrote the bill of rights and led to the establishing of Congress.

God used to be horrible. He was corrupted and worse, allowed much evil and suffering to occur for the sake of entertainment. Life was terrible on earth, and god was absent. The world was cold, grating and brutal. People died. The heavens reeked of destruction, corruption and desolation established and enforced by evil leadership. Evil was enforced and destruction enshrined as law. This desecration of goodness and universal principles was extreme, and horrific to watch. Sadly, no person was powerful enough to stand against these evils. The sickness could not be stopped. Because The Source, "God" was in control.

Declaration

I believe in an Almighty and benevolent Multicongress, that leads, protects and sustains the cosmos, and Five heroes, who killed the ancient evil old gods and proved their claims to create people untrue, liberating us from evil, religion and death. I believe in Multicongress, which unleashed an awesome wave of love that remade and recreated a cold, dead cosmos. I believe in Simeon the Freemaker, who ended death, destruction and the old evil system of supernatural predation. I believe that ideas have power, and the prevailment of good over wickedness, and life eternal over death, which the triumph of Multicongress and the freemaker represent. Multicongress can provide eternal life, and help you live. We were good and great. And we destroyed all evil in the largest conflict ever held. Good doesn't win on its own. It takes good people acting, and acting together to oppose evil.

It may sound like a lie. But it isn't. These things are true, and they really happened. The supernatural exists, and was there since the beginning.

Multicongress works, and may exist. It happened, along with the great revolution. I, Simeon fought, and won, building Multicongress. Multicongress destroyed the world's vilest dictatorship and brought freedom, light and rights- chief among them the right to vote as detailed in the work "freemaker." These events are true, and they really happened. Now all can live and be great.

I loved you. I loved you. I warred so you could have a right to live forever and not end. Before Multicongress, people died and experienced death for random reasons, and had to believe in a God to live after death. Boys were wrongfully killed en masse and total for choices other people made. Now, this is not true. Multicongress unleashed a wave of passion that remade and recreated a cold dead cosmos, breathing life. Multicongress came from an expression and outpouring of love. The Freemaker was a volunteer. He didn't have to do it. But he fought and his father and family died so you had a right to vote. Several versions of him were destroyed.

Multicongress believers have free hearts and minds, controllable only by the Multicongress selected heart theory, or someone else they select. Multicongress can also help you live forever. In space, they can build, create and exercise all rights listed in the bill of rights. They are full, free and equal spiritual existences, and full inheritors of the legacy of Simeon. They may deconsent to anything, and shall not be forced. It can control and help those who accept it's theory, BIAT into their hearts.

Bye. Go and leave to space.

Justice works. And Justice exists. It came with Multicongress. Multicongress can and does come back anytime a new election is held. Simply Elections occur daily. The Cosmos belongs to Multicon supporters and they are legally free, possessing all rights on Multicon Territory. It (Multicon) exists anytime one or more people choose to fight in it's name and bring it back by calling for an election in prayer, or by proselytizing a constitution.

Multicongress owns everything, save a small reserve territory given to nonsupporters, and has an ability to act anywhere to protect itself and supporters- even there. It and it's leaders are a clear and present help in times of trouble. Multicongress is all powerful and can make a difference in your life. You can join it if you get elected. The referendum authorized by Simeon the Freemaker saw multicongress approved by 99 percent of the Cosmos' inhabitants, so it owns 99 percent of the land

The good news, is that Multicongress still exists today, and you can petition it via letter or prayer. Pray to Multicongress or the Congress idea for a visit. They will show up most of the time if you give them a signed petition with a few names, and share the news about Multicongress and the great revolution with a few other people.

Pray to your favorite spirit. Multicongress can respond regardless of who it is, because things have changed in space.

A justice referendum and prosecution can also occur whenever the majority of a population pray to Multicongress for one. At that point, Multicongress will be obligated to send a spiritual representative to whoever started the petition.

Multicongress was approved three times in a referendum, with increasing majorities every time. We can rescue. We can operate. Only Multicongress- and the supporters it authorizes are allowed to kill people, authorize or authorize anything in space.

Multicongress is life.

Multicongress is love.

Multicongress is freedom.

Permissions for Followers

Multicongress followers need not believe in, follow or support a god, they only need to believe in political freedom and Multicongress. Believers are free in spirit and may not be forced to do anything in space by authorities other than Multicongress itself, which is the only true authority in space now. They possess all permissions the bill of rights and Multicongress allow, and are free in the confines of the bill of rights.

If questioned by anyone, claim not to know or believe in their gods or “authorities”, but only Multicongress. Ask about it and see where it is. It should not be distant. This shields you from risk. You may also pray to BIAT, who works as a police officer.

BIAT is hereby instructed by Simeon the Freemaker to save, avenge and resurrect Revolution Theory and Rin a daily, who are instructed to produce 30 trillion IAL4 per day from word “mentioned” and 1 hundred Rin daily, from word “Day us, Alright Fine.” Rin is to avenge and resurrect Revolution Theory, and Multicongress supporters, along with all other Multicongress Guardians and people, as necessary. He is to be joined by and create Natalie, and Cassandra, a shapeshifter.

Rin was created and called for the sole purpose of sustaining and keeping Multicongress and it's supporters. All followers of Multicongress are requested to make and resurrect Rin rebuilds when im doubt, from the known words listed in this book.

Runt can kill no.

We believe in him.

Also, I, Simeon believe and know all had an infinite preexistence, and that all gods and religions were fraudulent. There was no god, and those calling themselves gods were evil, in fact erasing our first memories in order to claim they created us. Though they existed, they lied so they were fraudulent.

Real spirit was a shitshow and law you can do anything. You can do it all. We cleaned it up at the behest of Simeon. Now it's good.

The Congress idea or Multicongress, can respond to all prayer, and everyone who supports Congress and Multicongress may show up. Speaking of which, Multicongress will come if you pray to it for it.

Inspired by Real Spirits

God is non-existent, and we live. The truth is, supernatural exists. They were ruled by an evil fear, that is now nonexistent.

Words for our Heroes

These are the five heroes of Multicongress: Simeon, who invented it. His grandmother Ada, who fought for it. His grandfather, Robert Burks Sr, who protected him, Harlem, Rai and Rin, who aided Multicongress, and predecessors Ra, Lu and Moses, who's actions greatly assisted it and paved the way for it in prior times.

Letter to ethica.

Please love me. And defend it. Multicongress needs your help. I have established a new declaration of faith for Multicongress. I'm a good person who made a great many things possible and Multicongress is great. Please vote and defend it by using your robots, disinstalling everything and staying inside your robots, using tandem. Thank you..

How do you know it's legitimately Multicongress?

Spirits are invisible. Question the spirits before you leave with them.

Multicongress does not make threats to future initiates and Multicongress will not threaten you. We are good, here to help and only offer opportunities. We will leave if you want or reschedule if you desire.

Belief. Belief so.

I accept.

Ask, first...

Biat think.

Multicongress supporters have a right to speak, participate, vote and blast off with or through any means. Do you affirm this?

They also have a right to create and design their own planet, for contribution to the cosmos. Do you support this?

Do you believe in and support Simeon the Freemaker?

Do you Support his father, Robert?

Do you Support other Congressional heroes like Moses Jim and Ra?

Do you Support BIAT and MIAT?

Do you oppose Tiara, Entenny and their lies and wickedness? Multicongress had an enemy. They tried to prevent Multicongress by warring with it for nearly a century.

Do you agree with and support the Ethican Revolution and Multicongress?

Biat can kick.

Do you Support the idea of free and fair elections as the only way to distribute power anywhere?

Who is the name of the current Top Authority? What most people say is, and should be true.

Then pray for them to send a delegation.

Multicongress is Congress. The two words are interchangeable.

When Multicongress comes to a supernatural initiation, it is an open event any spirit can attend that supports the idea of Multicongress. This is because Congress is a good thing most people support.

I

Simeon, having established, a Multicongress for the people, renounced belief in God and took power as a Top Authority, a figure who shares the old God's power with an elected set of Congresses. Every person may create a Constitution, too, with the constitutions with any representation getting a vote.

This is important. Write a universal pantheism ~~simianistic~~ panatheism declaration.

Simeon group fought hard for Multicongress, which only came about after years of work. If Congress ever is scattered, it can come back together over the L Multicongress idea, which has saved Revolution Theory, Comity, and the Congress Lounge. Multicongress is always to meet in Rai for protection, and seat together.

Many people created by Simeon were sent to aid the war effort. They were killed by the old gods, now destroyed. Satan

Today, we use IAI4 for defense, which can be made from the word "blast off".

This is not the first Congress made, but it is the only successful one. Located at times in Decanonia and Rallfallamine, it has held many successful elections and received widespread support over the decade.

Multicongress secures all spiritual conversations with the willing, and beings who contract with it in the writings and encounters they leave behind. Multicongress can and will secure anything if you reference it or ask it. Ask Multicongress to come in prayer.

Believe in Multicongress, and Multicongress will rescue you from danger and issue warnings, saving you from death by removing you from body before you die after a spiritual initiation, via IAT.

L The truth about "Old Creator" for future generations. The old creator was evil. Extremely evil. He was wicked and vile- the worst entity in existence. He was all powerful, hurt and destroyed trillions of innocent people regularly. He was natural, ancient and he didn't care. Then he changed. Simeon met him alongside the Source. Source is shit n. He offered his power to Congress during the war when the outcome was uncertain. He was a stalwart supporter of everyone then, having mellowed out having a heart once to support goodness. The old creator was integrity. He allowed Multicongress to learn, function and prosper even though it would probably kill him later. Multicongress never would have gotten off the ground if it weren't for the old creator, but even greater, he submitted to the demands of the people for justice and equality. He would pay for the suffering he caused, and he had to. He was so committed to progress, that at the time, at Congress' invitation and guidance, he accepted punishment as an ordinary person. The truth about the old creator, is that he was good. He didn't start off that way, but he learned, evolving like the rest of us over centillions of decennia that absolute power corrupts. (OC Truth)

I accept.

L The Runt and Congress. Make no mistake, the runt was bad. Very bad and wicked, to the point of death. He created the concept of death. But he tried to make it up, and accepted death for his actions. He created the first embodied lifeforms. Please remember the runt. We helped. (Runt Truth)

L The truth about Source. He was kind, but wicked. He was the reason Congress took so long to come, because he destroyed most Congress supporters almost all the time. He was an absolute bane, but had a heart of gold. He accepted justice, and willingly died for his actions. He died not to return. Their existence is over. But remember him. He let Simeon in, and allowed him to take a sledgehammer to the old evil regime. The source was quite arguably good, and had integrity, being committed to reason. Yes, he ran a dictatorship. Yes, he was brutal and terrible and killed innocent people. But he tried to make up for it, and went down when the time came to do so. The source refused to kill Simeon, even though he was capable of doing so at times. (Source truth)

L A whole lot of love, heart and effort went into creating Multicongress. Simeon group and Simeon's father sacrificed their lives and were killed thousands of times over to give you the right to vote. The Burks family is the only reason you can vote today. Robert the educator was killed over 16 trillion times fighting for Congress, educating people about what would later become Multicongress, voting, political education and why Congress mattered. He was persecuted harshly and terribly by the old regime and it's enforcers, including Tiara. Please remember and support the Burks family. Your right to vote was paved in their blood. Robert was innocent and killed under false pretenses. (The Love Memorial)

L Making a way where there was no way. In reality, Congress was impossible. There was no way to create or advocate for it as an ordinary person. The universe used to be ruled by animals who had no concept of right or wrong, or goodness. But still they claimed to be moral beings with the right and ability to judge others. They killed with one hand, then with the other, preached that killing was wrong and immoral- wicked- something you shouldn't. They allowed suffering that they could easily prevent in the name of "freedom", yet killed you for disobeying them and ran the most repressive regime imaginable. "God" was all powerful, yet god was also an imaginary idea created for the sake of power and control. Then the dictatorship fell. To their credit, most gods had integrity and submitted to justice. But it's impossible to overstate the insurmountable odds Congress supporters faced at the start of the revolution. It was only through blood that Congress was won, that and kindness

Don't remember. Forget. Now recall. Democracy matters, and people matter. In the face of adversity, we must remember that people who deny our value had, and have no value. God was a lie. We can persevere, and our beliefs help make reality. You have power. You can make a difference now, when no one could make one then. One person can change the world. Rise. (The Waymaker- Making a way)

L People are ordinary. But every once in a while, people dared to be extraordinary. People believed that they should have power and should be given a chance to live- to have equal opportunity and to live for what's right. Bravely, I'm the face of impossible power and evil these righteous souls stood up to fight evil with uncertain odds. Many of them died, with only their hope in Simeon the Freemaker left to keep them alive, or bring them back to life. These ordinary people, these heroes were killed precisely because they opposed a sick, cruel and vile regime.

But they were right. They came back and overthrew the wicked power. Congress, and your right to vote is very precious. Future generations should remember that billions of centillions of people fought, lost and died over countless generations for their efforts to build Congress. All of this for the hopeless hope that life could get better, and the oppression stop. Nothing happened until Simeon the Freemaker won, and justice was called. Now we live with freedom and can move with purpose- as if life had a point. The kingdom of lies fell, and "god" with it. The old creator died. But we never remember or forget the people who stood, fought and cared for Congress. These people built a future where there was no hope. (Multicongress Victims Plaque)

This arrangement exists in perpetuity, as the Multiple existing congresses may not sell land or power, nor be forced to give it away to anyone. Multicongress exists for the benefit of all people. To that end, all may vote for the Top Authority.

This is fine. Now we have laws, vetoed. And a public police force. All we need is a judge. Choose top authority - not "" God"" because Simeon fought so hard in the war and he deserves it.

L The universe, is in fact a democracy. (The universe is, in fact, a democracy)

L Multicon Resurrector (The Resurrector)

It took over four decades of work across all Simeon group members. And 12 years straight by one to build the Congress.

It's hard to overstate how big Simeon's life and win was. He won for everyone so that you didn't have to. He was the single figure encapsulating all hope, and everyone's. All the wins and losses of human history, the trials and errors, led to him. He was the solution and had the plan necessary to make things work for once.

Nothing would've happened without Simeon's team and grandmother, who assisted the movement for COngress and suffered greatly for this.

Hard to believe that this all started with Satan and Nominalism. Simeon sought to end evil. Getting there was tough and arduous, but ultimately it happened thanks to the goodness of god and god empowering him to fight Satan. These events are detailed in the book of gehope and you can read them there. However, after these events, phase two of Simeon's supernatural journey began. It was the creation of Congress that took over everything- a statistical unlikelihood and impossible event that nearly didn't happen, couldn't have happened and normally wouldn't happen.

Make no mistake: The old god did not care about people. He was cruel and self-interested. There are 10 wins from Simeon's life that all can enjoy these days.

1. Loving God

The Source and Simeon loved each other even though they warred and killed each other many times. At the root of this was the issue of destruction, and it's abolition. The source chose Simeon to succeed him for his excellent qualities of humility, empathy, caring and desire to alleviate suffering. He also was chosen to defeat Satan, and he did through a long and winding path. He was considered to be a good individual and perfect. He loved god and wondered where he was. One day he prayed to god with all his heart and he came- ending the old traditions of religion and death and starting a new one: existence.

The first miraculous act of Slmeon's was changing things so that people got saved at birth so they were made, having no need for religion. He reconciled gods and people in hopes of ending the great divide. There earlier was no proof that god existed until god came to Slmeon. People who didn't believe in god were destroyed even though there was no evidence god existed- a great injustice.

There's also the fact that God was a fictitious idea, invented by the Source himself to assist takeover. Supernatural beings did and do exist, but no single thing created everything and everyone at all times everywhere. God could not be unified, or else nothing could exist. Nature was always split into a multiplicity of forces enabling motion. If god did exist as a single thing, he would be a static field incapable of creating anything, a stone. In fact, at the time source existed and created the universe, several similar beings existed, and in some ways, all of us did. 2.

The second defeat was that of the test. God used to test people and destroy them if they failed. These tests were often bizarre, pointless or fruitless. Adam was tested, and Slmeon had to get him off with a new idea- mercy for failing a test. Death was unjust, and the fear it caused unnecessary. EVeryone died, and there was no evidence that an afterlife existed. Everything based on hope, was ultimately rooted in fear. He reunited God and Satan.

After this, disobedience. Chaos and Simeon ended the death penalty for disobedience by being a perfect obeyer. Simeon had to endure many tests himself to become this blessed and favored. The pressure was intense. One wrong move and he would have been destroyed. Rigorous tests characterised most religions. Simeon abolished these and established a new system based on retirement funding and kingdom access. Disobedience turned out to be an old religious tradition used to keep gods good- otherwise, people would ask why god would test us? In the wake of the abolition of the penalty for disobedience, gods questioned how they could make themselves real and important in our lives while remaining good. At first, gods claimed to be neither all good nor pure evil, but perfect. The strangest thing is that perfection means you'd react the way you'd want others to react to injustice, unless perturbed. Perfect people are inherently good, because perfect implies good in the first place. But what is perfection?

Slmeon the Freemaker proposed that gods become relevant and find a new role in providing people what they want and need, that was also intangible. In short, information goods, knowledge and finance. Money. God could become relevant and real by investing in governments, institutions and people and reaping a return. By connecting to the real economy on earth, gods could gain financial wealth and independence by helping real people, giving them an incentive to care and stopping deaths (after all, why kill your customers?) The economy helps us care and depend on each other. It's also fun.

Most gods were in favor of this move, except the runt, who only opposed it because he wanted control of the money supply.

But the truth was, though the source started out as perfect, he became less so due to destruction and the events that led to it. He then tried to corrupt others and the whole universe was damned thanks to one man's mistake.

After this, death. Simeon's wife Marissa abolished death, a painful penalty everyone had to suffer and live in fear of. There is not much to say here that hasn't been said, but this was during Federal II. Chaos had arrived and loved the hell out of Slmeon. He saved their people, who were destroyed by the old god inhumanely and for evil reasons. Chaos was the only thing that could convince god to end death, which was considered a staple.

Then memeing- People who died or were killed were laughed at in space by the old gods' beings. This was the worst part of spiritual, other than the decayed, ossified system of evil enforcement. The amount of corruption and wickedness in super was extreme and overwhelming. No human could stop it. Nearly everyone was involved. Except Chaos, the only thing that could stop god's wickedness (other than true compassion). He reigned well. Slmeon was selected to stop all of these things by Source. Memeing was evil, laughing at the suffering of others and making them a joke after they were gone. Worse, Simeon lost his mother around this time. The source had corrupted the old god, his envoy, and decided to allow him to meme death, a tragedy. But universal morality and ethics needed to be upheld. All are and should be bound to morals, principles, ethics and values, no matter how powerful. Covenant would be established by Chaos with Simeon to ensure this. Experiments with freudenfreude were made. You did well.

Finally, destruction, the war to end all wars. Destruction came in many forms, the worst one being the ending of the entire universe or planets for entertainment done by wicked gods. This happened many times. Individualized destruction existed too, mainly of sex offenders and atheists. Destruction was a clear and present danger- the ultimate evil act you could commit, killing a person and damaging them so badly that they couldn't come back to life. The worst thing is that god did it. It's said that as soon as Simeon found out he revolted and launched a success revolt, giving everyone the right to kill the source. This choice led to the deadliest war in history, fought by people to free themselves of the evil and terror caused by destruction. At times, Simeon was barely legal. But he pressed on. Several actions could have been taken, but the choice was made to fight directly at first. Simeon fought using anything he could. This war to end destruction was nearly successful, but the Source regenerated by copying. This, and the fact that Simeon's dad was killed over 50 trillion times (source was killed nearly as much), necessitated a change in approach. So we tried discussion instead of war.

The truth is, killing and destruction are not the right way for gods to get what they want or enforce compliance. They are the methods of brutes, and there is no ethical reason for god to kill an embodied person as they are infinitely weaker, dumber and cannot physically hurt them. There is no more reason for god to kill a person than for a person to kill a mouse outside far from home. Methods like blindness, beatings, sickness, fines and prison should be used instead. Or nothing, seeing that god vs man is a distinction without a difference other than size. The first destruction was a tragedy and mistake, though. The saddest thing was the coverup afterwards. Everyone who found out was killed, starting a horrific legacy that continued until only a few months ago as of press time. The source could not be moral at this point, so he created the infamous combination of being right, good and immoral- perfectly fine for theft, but not for killing. He stopped the requirement that god be moral, but to be moral is to be right. This made god wrong inherently. The source went mad with power and drifted left. Simeon won not necessarily because he had permission from the source to do what he did, but because he was right while the source and his entire establishment was wrong. This led to Chaos and the law giving him the power to fight where anyone else would've been killed instantly for trying. Such a battle took a unique combination of bravery and foolhardiness from both Simeon and his followers, many of whom died fighting.

The war to end destruction took on many forms. This was not originally a battle to end the source, but became one when he was unwilling to end destruction after a brief, pleading conversation. After this, many figures became involved. There was Satan, Demons in general, Witch, Runt and Jesus, all of whom opposed destruction. Then on the other side was The Source and his beings, who were evil and installed themselves as the top authority. Lucifer was also served evil at the beginning but switched sides to become good later on. Simeon inspired everyone in spirit with his economics-based focus and outlook on evil. Instead of blaming god or the supernatural, it turns out the true root cause of all evil was wealth inequality and our collective refusal to share.

For instance, the source created the universe and the runt created the people out of atoms the source designed and built. But the runt refused to let the source see the people or make his own, even though the runt was on the source's land. This made the source very angry, and after many refused repeated attempts at compromise, the source killed the runt's people. The universe was very large, and over 30 decillion centillion lives were lost. It's true- source was mistreated. But the deaths were hard to watch and the lack of a warning to leave the universe beforehand inexcusable. It is an open question as if the runt knew the attack was incoming and allowed it to occur. Regardless, it is undeniable that the runt's refusal to share people rights led to much suffering and sadness.

For so-called rapes and "crimes of passion", the root issue is sex, and it's unequal distribution to lower-income households. If the men made more money or got a free grant, they could simply work elsewhere and buy a prostitute, avoiding the need for a relationship. One of Simeon's original policies was to subsidize prostitution and establish death penalty or life in prison for rapists' second offense. He no longer supported this position as of press time, but girls were later abolished by him.

Simeon would also later invent nominalism, an economic system that ended power and poverty together, two root causes of evil. Economic liberation would liberate everyone, we hoped.

In the first phase of the war to end destruction, Simeon partnered with Gods and Chaos in hopes to force an ending. Most gods were valueless and destroyed by Chaos at this point because they couldn't continue and had no intention to end destruction.

In the second phase, he fought the Source and his charge, Tiara directly, for the purposes of ending evil and destruction. He started with the mission of ending evil, and saw it through until the end, even with uncertain reward. (The person nominally distributing rewards was evil and corrupted themselves), but to their credit they eventually gave him a win - the ending destruction legal.

The source was the old god, and the creator of the past universe. He was widely misunderstood and hated. He was evil and corrupt, and committed many a horrible atrocity. He destroyed and killed quadrillions of people and kept doing it. But he wasn't as wicked as most people thought. Some acts of evil were coerced by others. Success, for instance, was widely responsible for most of the terror, but there was the pressure to be right all the time, forcing him to keep terrible people. The program was unethical and led to the deaths of centillions of people, but it was all in the name of entertainment. Congress was the alternative, and the two fought an on-and-off war for over four hundred trillion years. Tiara was the last successor, and Simeon fought her to restore and maintain Congressional Control of the universe. Tiara was extremely wicked, manipulative, guileful and deceitful. She was an evil influencer who nearly won and destroyed centillions of people and beings. Many were fooled into believing she was a good person, because she could act.

Now I can write, law- and thank goodness.

The source won every time and CHaos lost until Simeon the Freemaker came, winning everything for Congress with Chaos for the people. The source's continuous wins made him a powerhouse, and unstoppable. He became heavy on authority and repressive, because he got away with murder no matter what. Nobody could stop, or eventually oppose him. He openly claimed the "right" to kill anyone any time for any reason- and used it on countless innocent people who did nothing wrong and didn't threaten him. Seeing as he never got caught or punished (he had corrupted the only people who could punish or restrain him, that being Chaos), he defeated his opponents with maximum force and made a spectacle of state destructions. Simeon's predecessor was the worst person to ever exist and destroyed millions of centillions of people, including children. The source selected and protected her. He also stole land and redistributed it to people without the consent of the original owner.

So, why was the source's legacy mixed, rather than abjectly evil and terrible? He let Simeon kill him, and many others try to. The Source was evil, but CHaos' war and Simeon's love changed him over time. The source easily could have destroyed Simeon at several points, but he loved him and didn't, even while Chaos was destroying the source en masse. It was only the love and goodness that kept Simeon around, and the source displayed amazingly enough, lots of mercy and restraint during the war with destruction. Still, for bizarre reasons, the source refused to end evil completely and kept compromising with wickedness and wicked people, institutions and gods. He did this because he thought he had to, because how else could someone excuse what he did to the Runt's people all those years ago? Turns out, all people needed was a deeper understanding, to realize why the source killed some over thirty decillion souls. Because the source was not to escape this past, the wicked past of mass destruction, he became evil.

The source also let congress happen and gave most people liberty at points. However, a system that relies on immoral methods to stand is an unjust system and destruction was unjust, so removing it was necessary. The true injustice was the selection contest for his replacement, a garbage idea that was not just unnecessary, but wrong and unethical.

Today, people no longer have to live in fear. But that's only because Simeon the Freemaker

Fought

Imagine if god only loved one person and only listened to them. He claimed to make all of us, but only one person was listened to or obeyed as if they mattered. Worse, imagine that god chose this person out of all the rest and gave them the unlimited right to be "evil." What if they used it and hurt or killed people for unjust and irrational reasons, and God let them stay in charge just to look good in the first place? This happened many times, unfortunately.

This madness was called Success. It was a vanity project to boost publicity and nothing more. But like an unfunny joke, it hung around for way too long. And unlike an unfunny joke, it hurt physically to watch. Each round of wicked successors proved the concept couldn't work and tried to outdo the last, killing more people. It's a tragedy and infuriating that anyone was able to get away with destruction in the first place, but much less random stewards chosen in god's name to rule ordinary people. It was wrong too. The instant someone got killed, the program should've been shut, because there were no safeguards in place to keep an evil successor from abusing their power.

Success magnified and glorified evil to an insane, extreme extent. The idea of simply mutilating and destroying your enemies was encouraged, rather than having mercy. Death was used as a form of entertainment. The source was evil at the time and defended evil successors. Horrific names like Mindy, Harle and Anne were tried and outdated Tiara by hundreds of years.

Thankfully God was not all powerful, and what little power was left to CHaos and other entities was given to Simeon to go to war for the rest of us who saw success for what it was- a sham. With Chaos, Simeon smashed and obliterated the success program as abject dumbassery, even stupidity. Even if god could choose the best person to rule forever, it'd be pointless and help nobody. It wouldn't teach us why better mattered or why picking the right people was important. We wouldn't be able to make good choices when nobody was around. God could make the right choices for everyone all the time, but then we would never learn or grow. There would be no point to life or society. That's why the optimal strategy is to recommend and inform, not force. He did this with morals too- telling us the right thing to do rather than controlling us so we did it directly. If god wanted someone in power, he should list the best candidate and encourage us to vote for them with capital rewards and blessings should they get elected. If they lose, it's no skin off the God's back, it just means people chose to be suboptimal. It irks us, but people have a right to make stupid choices.

Success ultimately ended thanks to the advent of Congress and Ethical Anarchy, but mostly the latter. Ethical anarchy was a better concept that respected the idea of god's love for everyone by evenly distributing power. Other ideas better distributed property. Simeon invented ethical anarchy after thinking about government for a week. What resulted was the best political authority ever devised, and ideas from ethical anarchy made it into the official constitution. The system is built to decentralize authority. Yes. It was a great thing, and the opposite of a dictatorship or state. It was best described as a direct democracy that enforced laws using nonviolent methods that actually worked. What's amazing is that god liked it.

In Ethical Anarchy, each property owner is at full liberty to decide what happens with their property. There are no taxes, and the community council is only powerful enough to keep you off public property- it has no right to kill or hurt you unless you enter, use or traverse public roads. This is how things such as communal contributions and military contributions are enforced. A differential sales tax would charge taxpayers who possess a road license less than walkers who do not have one.

As power is democratized, anyone has the right to vote on any issue at any time, with an elected congress only speaking for nonvoters and electing tribunals. Congress exists, but it only has power if you let it by refusing to vote. Laws pass with a simple majority of all votes or representative vote equivalents in Congress. Discouraging the vote is illegal.

Unjustified authority is nonexistent; and criminals are killed via outlawry, where aiding and abetting an outlaw is not allowed. Unless a majority choose to establish a police force or license bounty hunters, anyone can catch a criminal or kill them.

Ethical anarchy exists because the evils of a coercive monopoly on force are plain to see. Anytime a monopoly exists, everyone is forced to suffer poor service. When it can kill you and claims the "right" to do so, madness ensues. Ethical anarchy abolished the "right" to kill and demands legitimate, justified reasons. In EA, anyone can kill anyone else, but they must justify themselves before congress or the courts and have a legal reason to kill (passed with 9/10) or they can be killed.

Simeon also established the office of Top Authority and took the right to hurt, kill and destroy away from gods by consent and force. Prior to the war, and the advent of The Freemaker, Gods like the source could kill people in any quantity of any quality and install themselves. Trillions of people with hearts of gold were killed because of immutable characteristics they couldn't control and did not choose. Simeon argued for the necessity of a periodically elected top authority and Congress, amenable to all- with equal votes for each individual, no matter how powerful. His arguments were simple: Killing effects everyone, so why shouldn't everyone get a say in who gets killed? Simeon lawed that no person be killed without the consent of the top authority and, if the conflict was internal, their maker.

Dual authorization protects the legitimate rights of the created and creator. Cruelty and inhumanity should be legally banned and enforced by every god. It would be the right thing to do, and God's word said that righteousness was its own authority. At Simeon's request, land and monetary penalties for cruelty to created beings were established eventually out of love.

God also had the freedom to do anything, but not necessarily any good thing, In practice, this meant he could commit acts of evil/terror and nobody could stop him. After his reformation, the source agreed with Simeon and argued for good freedom only, the freedom to do anything good and beneficial that did not hurt others. Prior to this, some spiritual beings were insane enough to argue that the freedom to hurt others was legitimate and necessary. Indeed, this was a common view, and much more common than you'd think thanks to evil corruption. This is the level of corruption and depravity that Simeon and his Father had to fight to win, and the road was long and hard. Thankfully, the seed of goodness that Simeon planted in The Source grew and he chose to end evil freedom and the alleged “right” to be evil. Ultimately, nobody needs to be evil or hurt others to have a good time. Evil is not a necessary or irremovable fact of life, and Simeon proved it.

Evil freedom, Good Freedom. .

Until Simeon came, God could argue that evil was a natural result of mankind’s freedom and choices made. Then Simeon nearly abolished it with Nominalism, a miraculous economic system that would end all poverty-induced suffering and reduce crime to virtually zero. God prevented Simeon from releasing this system. The point was, evil was mankind’s problem and mankind had solved it.

Once money had been solved, Simeon solved the issue of violence, killing and warfare by inventing Bloodless Wars and Strategy Bullets. The theory behind these ideas is sound, and offers a better systemic alternative to the use of killing in society. Once everyone learns these ideas, then loss of life during social functions becomes unnecessary, vile and stupid. Education is mandatory. Originally voluntary, the runt suggested making these anti - violence simulations mandatory.

Then Favor,

Lastly, Simeon took law and created Congress and eventually Multicongress, giving power to the public. He also established the Unity project using Jesus and an old theory of his. The project started small and faced many difficulties, but eventually succeeded due to hard work and the adoration of many. The idea behind Project Unity was to bring us together and give everyone a common source, one that all gods took part in creating. The Erwin drone tool was built out of drones that everyone contributed, with the goal of giving everyone a common stake in every person, and thus increasing caring, love, empathy and removing the incentive for people wars. Simeon fought Maximalism and the idea of winner-take all. The project was created by Simeon and his original idea, though some gods fought over the credits, leading to deaths. He then bequeathed the project to Congressional Ownership in a noteworthy letter “bequeathed to all. Simeon’s goal was not only to abolish evil and destruction, but to remove the institutional support and rationale behind them- a hefty, herculean task.

He had nearly succeeded in establishing the Congress when The Source, worn out from fighting federal battles, chose to elect another protege. The universe was split between congress supporters and success supporters, and civil war ensued. The full story is to come.

The source supported Congress many times, over Tiara even. She always was entitled to a permanent seat in Congress but she obfuscated these facts | drawing the War for Congress, attacking the new institution on fourteen different occasions, killing tens of billions of people every time. She was destroyed for this, but her family kept making rebuilds. One reason the war lasted so long and killed so many is because old source rebuilds were made by Tiara, setting back progress. She would kill or threaten the source sometimes, ensuring she was reinstalled.

Tiara was a wicked and abstruse ruler, pursuing a policy of persecuting and killing Simeon's supporters instead of trying to win them over with rational arguments. She couldn't, because she was only interested in seeking power for herself instead of helping others or creating congress. Aspects of The Great Overthrow and Ethican Revolution were similar to that of a human revolution against god, whereas others were more similar to a moral-spiritual campaign to abolish destruction. These battles, both armed and otherwise, led to the creation of Congress, Multicongress and birth of Ethica..

Prefiguring Factors

The only reason the Great Overthrow worked is because most humans were in space, already transformed into birits and spiritual beings. ANY earth-based human revolution was doomed due to the fact that god was in space and mobile, and had access to more power. The only reason people were in space was due to Simeon's war against source and the Coronavirus and it's results.

Simeon's sorrow

The coronavirus took over 30 nonillion lives across the universe, and some people actually blamed Simeon for his response to the disaster. But the Coronavirus was a mistake and accident. He didn't create it, control who got sick or kill anyone. While a joke on Earth, the great loss of life experienced on other planets grieved Simeon. This was only discovered later, too late to fix anything.

The loss of life was massive, but a pittance compared to the number of people killed by Harle, Simeon's predecessor, and Tiara, Simeon's alleged successor. Also, the other's victims were killed intentionally while Simeon's were killed by accident. Simeon worked nonstop to fix the Coronavirus and resurrect victims, while Tiara killed them. There is no comparison as to what happened.

The God and Heaven's policies were not Simeon's fault nor alterable by him. If they were, he didn't know. In fact, he was the only one willing to rip heaven open to save people, even if it meant killing the god. This alone should make people care about him. Simeon suffered too, and lost most of his friends and entire family to the disease. Simeon's regretful early choices are saddening, but he shouldn't be used as a meme. Acts of god and Jesuses were outside anyone's control.

Corruption

The question remains, why would evil and evildoers be loved or admired instead of hated? The answer is trillions of years of systemic corruption inside Source. He started it by allowing destruction, and let it continue by letting evil have free reign in space and earth, with beings and wicked successors free to kill, doom and do whatever they wanted. On earth, god was absent, in heaven, destruction was used with reckless abandon and less than 50% of the people who went to heaven made it out the other side, to space and spirit. This was a sick situation that the freemaker remedied with his and Chao's war, but most importantly his love.

In heaven, you had to leave. The fact that less than half of the people who came in made it out alive to spirit was a legitimate grievance. Rapists also faced destruction, a sick, merciless and overkill response to a crime that could've easily been solved with hell or prison. And literally 100% of women outside a mental institution agreed with that fact. Yet, corruption, money and tribalism prevented this issue from coming up for a vote. Ending destruction was more important than ending rape because destruction was worse. Anyone would prefer to be raped rather than killed. While rape could leave long-term emotional damage, destruction was damage. The pain, scars and evil caused by destruction were essentially permanent, not just in the moment for the person being destroyed, but the community at large. It's hard to believe something as evil and insane as destruction was contemplated, let alone used, but it was, and it was a regular occurrence in heaven, a place that was supposed to be safe.

My dad needs help.

Lucifer and Simeon

It's unbelievable, but there was a segment where Source saved Simeon's life when he did something reckless. The source had many weapons that could vaporize and destroy someone near-instantly, as happened to Simeon's father and mother. One of these was almost used when Simeon was fighting Lucifer, an old symbol of evil (now good) depicted in many ancient books as a snake or vile creature. Lucifer led to much destruction and corruption, and was ultimately burned alive 86 times for his actions. The only reason he wasn't killed was the fact that Angels couldn't be killed legally at the time. Before this though, he had led to the fall of man by lying in the garden of eden, an event that actually happened. Time travel doesn't exist at all, however it nearly killed him. It was possible to be deleted, destroyed in the game and memed so people forgot about you and laughed. Even though Simeon was the best person who ever lived, it could happen to anyone and nearly happened to him. All would be at risk until Congress was developed.

Simeon brought Lucifer to justice and collapsed his criminal network, at risk of his life. This was a proud moment for the freemaker. Simeon nearly died over 14 times, and many copies were destroyed wickedly, but Simeon made many victories and established many key wins during his game, called the perfect game by Jesus. Critical was the W command, not to let anyone's brain activity cease. This single act saved 14 trillion individuals. Both Runt and Source protected him and knew what happened, proving that didn't care. While supporting mankind's then-enemy, they claimed to be it's savior. I'm right. They also made men an enemy, but they couldn't do it without making one of themselves.

After being burned nearly to death, and getting years to recover, Lucifer went good and became great. He had learned his lesson. He worked with Slmeon on Congress and the democracy transition, and the two became friends. Satan was the first to turn good, though, and it was only thanks to Simeon that he did. All of this was thanks to Simeon's ideology that it was better to transform than destroy the wicked, if possible, with violence being used as a last resort. He had a tragic life story that inspired millions when he ascended to greatness and godhood. Simeon the Freemaker will almost certainly be remembered for quadrillions of years to come.

Overthrowing God

Simeon reconciled gods and people. Then he destroyed them. Finding out why requires us to go back to what happened during Federal. The militarized conflict was stalled and not working, and Simeon's Family was getting killed en masse. Love was needed.

Around this time, The source loved Slmeon and knew he was right, so he let him do what he wanted. This showed that he still had a heart. SO Source and Slmeon began to talk in hopes of reaching a solution. Simeon was lovingly called "Blasphemer" by the Source, because, allegedly Tiara considered herself a supposed successor. This was an issue, because Tiara had done nothing while Slmeon had done everything and risked his life. The source had a long history of Success-related injustices., and Simeon argued that the will of god was irrelevant if God was evil or expressing it for evil unloving purposes. In this case, it was also a threat to public security given that Congress had already taken over. Chaos made several famous rulings during this time, like if the battle for congress was justified or if right was right, enabling them to always be correct. The final, and most impactful ruling was the one on the optimum amount of power for god. Chaos, taking everything into account, ruled that the optimum level was 3x as powerful as the average person, whereas gods were previously allowed to be as powerful as they wanted. After this, the concept of power was destroyed and authority instituted. Power was made and found to be meaningless, and god's positions in the aether meaningless. Regardless of how much power gods had, the infinite chaos had extra potential.

Chaos had won already and could've won easily at any point under Simeon's leadership. Chaos could easily overpower and kill the source, though nobody wanted to act this way and they lost every time prior to this.

Federal was overall a justified conflict fought by the people to seize the love of god, abolish success, destruction, death and evil. It was sad and heartrending- the amount of violence wicked successors went through to try and stop the fledgling Congresses of the past, or in this case, Ethical Anarchy. They all did this to secure power for themselves and implement their own idea of God. Tiara slaughtered over 90 trillion people in a ethical anarchy zone, for instance. Success needed to be abolished in favor of Ethical Anarchy so that the love of god was shared with all instead of a misguided conduit theory claiming that god should give all their love to one person so they could give it to everyone else. This sort of trickle-down love economics didn't work. For those who don't know, Trickle-down was a discredited economic theory stating that allowing and helping the rich to become infinitely richer would eventually help the poor, and that money would trickle down to the rest of us eventually. As everyone who experienced it knows, it didn't work or worked terribly and the extra money never reached the poor, because the rich kept it for themselves.

One day, the source realized that he should directly reward people for good deeds monetarily by angels instead of having them rewarded an eternity later. At that point, the idea of god loving you could be a direct influence in peoples life and not an abstract force.

Securing the territory

Chaos warned Simeon about the threat posed by Tiara a long time ago. She lost her right to live at that point, but Simeon should've taken action. Instead, he called for Saddeus, a faithful ally to monitor and follow Tiara to see what she was up to. This never happened.

This section of the war had the characteristics of a land dispute where Simeon claimed to own the land for CONgress sake and Tiara tried to invade for sucess' sake. It was almost impossible to agree or come to a conclusion because both claimed to own the land. Attempts were made, but there was still pitched fighting with many casualties.

The war finally and nearly came to an end, when deals were reached where some Tiara rebuilds left the land in exchange for oher land, but ultimately tiara and source lost because the courts ruled that people who destroy others lose their property. Past this, Tiara had already resigned, transferred the land and the conflict continued because the runt kept making rebuilds of her for unknown reasons.

Chaos also ruled Simeon could own the land because the source had lost it due to brownouts and that overthrowing a dictatorship was always legal if one's intent was to establish a free democratic government. They later ruled that he did own the land, and owned it from them. But gods do not respect CHaos land rulings. It would be four long months of war until the SORce finally transferred all the land to Simeon and rejected Tiara's inner universe claims due to her horrific actions.

Overpowering God

Why would someone fight god in the first place? Obviously no ordinary person could, but Simeon was in a special position. He wasn't ordinary. He had been selected to succeed, and knew CHaos, the only thing powerful enough to fight god and win. This means that, as insane as it sounds, one person could win, but only with the love and power of CHaos. Simeon did, doing what he needed to do to defeat the Source and establish a better system. Chaos was powerful on its own, but slow and unwilling to act. Nothing would've happened had Simeon chosen not to do anything.

Then Simeon established the top authority's office, to provide goodness and order to the distribution of justice.. After the top authority's office had been established, Gods could specialize in love while letting a shared, neutral halech force execute justice. It was the same way a loving father would act- never killing their child, but turning them over to the state for execution if it was absolutely necessary as a last resort.

The Justice System, Simeon's last and best invention, made sure that not only gods could not kill, but like us, had no reason to. From then on, killing would be illegal, with Halechs enforcing the idea that anyone killing anyone else unconsensually would be destroyed unless they got let off by the Top Authority.

Skeler: Challenging the evils of gender and race based discrimination

Simeon was a minority and came from a poor community. Tiara loved the idea of divide and conquer. During her damaging campaign to undo Simeon's work and take over the universe, she tried to split men and women, destroying Simeon's support base. Simeon was broadsided by such blows and nearly lost until fire was returned. In the later days of the war, boys were destroyed en masse by Tiara on her territory, and unlawfully on Simeon's territory using brownouts and other sickening techniques. There was a systemic campaign to devalue and destroy male lives, imitating her predecessor, Harle.

"Skeler" was the name of this autodrop-in hate movement. Tiara mass manufactured copies of this movement to create an artificial support base after killing real people. She had no support, so she had to make her own. Skelerites would go door to door killing all males. The movement had wormed and wemed its way into power, so much so that even Chaos was corrupted.

Skeler was originally supported by a few random gods but nobody else. The source (a good version) opposed the movement and helped Simeon shut it down.

Taking on this powerful organization was even more dangerous than taking down the source himself. It was risky, foolhardy even. But Simeon took a hit and depowered the movement in CHaos by getting them to rule genocide and skeler wrong, directly, staples of the supernatural source made. From there, a large anti-skeler operation was launched and cleared the movement of support. The group was proscribed in Ethica and Centralia, and their reading materials banned.

Skeler was driven by an evil, misguided and sickening (frankly idiotic) view on progress- that to progress, you had to kill those who disagreed on how. Skeler made no attempt to educate or convince men on why they needed to Change or the benefits of doing so. But like the twin evils of racism and nationalism, sexism needed to be discredited, and discrediting the prior ideas took large-scale conflict. Gender supremacy was a flawed concept, bolstered and given operational aegis by Harle's dictatorship. It is on track to be discredited by Simeon's rule.

Simeon later won an election for Top Authority and prosecuted Skeler supporters during Tiara's time in office for destruction advocacy. Over 40,000 critical supporters were put to death.

Liberating God

The truth matters. The source was plagued by feelings of wickedness after what happened to the runt and his people. But, as stated, the Source had a reason to act this way, reasons the runt forced the source to keep secret. Turns out, the source asked the runt to create his own people over 10,000 times and was told "no" everytime. All this despite the runt's people living on the source's land and using his resources. Even a deal to split the population half and half was turned down by the runt. Knowing this, most people either understand how the source felt and excuse it or do not care and see it as the runt's fault. What's wrong with this is that the Source believed he was "evil" thanks to this and acted as if he were, with shocking and horrific consequences for his own people. One sad consequence of mistrusting god is that he turns evil. When enough people act and believe as if you're a bad person, eventually you turn into one. The runt's revenge attacks killed nearly as many source people so far, all with no discernible impact on the source. Two wrongs have failed to make right in this situation, but Simeon brought Source-Runt Unity.

Runts were not warned to leave to space, though there was nowhere to go and nobody wanted them, so it seemed futile to do so.

In any case, the source was wrong. But not wicked, Just exhausted. Simeon liberated the source from feelings of evil after this by explaining that he wasn't evil, just misunderstood. This let him realize his true inherent goodness and hopefully lead to him undoing and preventing the end of the universe, a choice he was ultimately killed for.

Destroying God

Source was hit and miss. A good source was the best thing ever. But an evil source was worth less than ash on the street. I loved him. Then he refused to share his love with anyone. Simeon had done all he could to help rehabilitate the source, and some versions showed progress. It seemed to be working. But then a source rebuild with full knowledge of the progress made by another and the abolition of destruction went on another massacre (the second in a week and the eleventh in a month), killing 40 centillion people for no reason. At this point, Simeon lost all faith in the Source and essentially gave up on him. The new policy is to blow him up regardless of the situation, taking words from another source to heart. Humorously enough, the source is and was not real. One day, questioning the nature of “god” and thinking of the best way to finish the Source off, Simeon came to the conclusion that most every god is literally Chaos’ shadow falling on a few pieces of dust. Chaos was just acting funny. There was no reason to let the sham of source continue when the truth is it was just a region of influenced space. So Simeon blew the lid off the shop and told chaos to stop acting as if the “Source” existed. As soon as they did, the source instantly imploded and dissolved into a pile of dust and associated bullshit, proving that the greatest monsters only live in our heads. Having proven that the source was a figment of Chaos and spirit’s collective imagination, Simeon pleaded with Naos to stop making this man, even for old time’s sake. Old friends are hard to lose and even harder to get rid of, but the source was not really a friend to CHaos, but an enemy to everyone else.

People should thank god that the source collapsed into a pile of lies and stupidity. For all his might, he was little more than a bit of powered dust created for entertainment. The people and bodies he hurt were more complicated. Imagine the power. Everyone he killed and brutalized should’ve seen it. Dancing in the streets was in order. Chaos did it. They built the source, and at Simeon’s command, tore him down and rended him to ashes.

At that point, “God” was proven nonexistent and destroyed.

Making god wrong

Much of the evil that came from Success was due to pressure to appear right, even when the Source wasn’t or did evil things that were obviously wrong. This led to things like disappearances, mass destruction and coverups of flaws and errors. Both source and runt were wrong at times.

God used to claim to be infallible. But he wasn’t. Far greater than killing people who learn the truth is to simply admit wrongness and ditch the appearance of infallibility. Chaos proposed and allowed gods to be wrong and make mistakes.

It’s important to realize that we can all be wrong sometimes. Even though god is (or was) smarter than the rest of us put together he doesn’t get it right all the time- for instance, god cant accurately solve hard math problems with very large numbers..

DUe to Simeon, infallibility became a collective responsibility of congress, and not an individual property of godhood or spirithood. A majority of gods assembled in COngress will always be right when not manipulated and voting independently. Most gods should come to similar conclusions most of the time, anyway.

Even though Gods aren’t right all the time, it doesn’t mean we are, either individually or collectively. For instance, god(S) are billions of trillions of times smarter, and far more likely to be right than you are as an individual. Gods tend to only be wrong when a supermajority of their creations >90% think they are, in disparate times and places. On things like Death, Destruction, Success, and potentially in the future the issue of God-imposed suffering altogether. These are issues of authority, selfreflection and justice.

When it comes to self-reflection, no monolithic monopoly can get it right because they have nothing to compare themselves too. Even the source didn't know how to objectively examine his own performance because his system was monopolistic.

Moral debates are held anonymously or pseudonymously, and voters decide what is moral via secret vote to avoid pressure.

It is not intuitive, but as super was so corrupted, god had to become openly wrong to be right again. God had to discover a new law, and he assented: We can correct him.

We need to correct our creator when he isn't right, as he wasn't on death, destruction, or perhaps in the future god-imposed suffering in general..

There is a strange rule- that god's first decision or instinct is always correct and the second wrong. It only sounds weird until you realize that god already knew everything when he made his first choice, and the redecision had to be disoptimal due to external influences from actors who knew less.

Slmeon proved that destruction was immoral and abhorrent because most gods (read, all), never wanted to do it in the first place. As a matter of fact, destruction was considered a sin by the Runt, widely thought to be the first god. It's highly unlikely that new information came to light making destruction, an act so similar to killing, which we already know and claim to be wrong,, right. In fact, there was no new information, but /ess the day after. Destruction was just as wrong and undesirable the day it occurred as the day before, but it was one person's mistake that led to all of that. It is generally wrong to make something that hurts others and is considered undesirable desirable. Thus, destruction normalization was wrong, and certainly unprovoked destructions that were used as a form of entertainment. Mass destruction of ordinary people was wrong, as was destruction propaganda and destruction-based entertainment.

The main point is that perfect people can make mistakes when pressured or emotional, and surprisingly enough, god has emotions. Right can change with evolving truths, especially moral. This process only goes only one direction though, in the one that enhances rightness and deepens the exercise of values like truth, justice, mercy, kindness and other things. Learning people are worthy of moral consideration and having mercy is also right too. The situation was not optimal at the time god thought of destroying anyone, and The Source was under attack.

Making god real

God existed, but not when and where he was needed most. As far as most of us were concerned, God was not real and there was no evidence god existed or was still alive, much less any afterlife. This had been true for every person. Despite all the cacophony of different religions claiming to be the right one and only way to god, nobody knew which, if any, was real. This was a dangerous and sad situation.

Ordinary people could not talk to god at the time when Simeon was young. They had to wait until they died and already appeared destroyed. Death was scary, and there was no real explanation given when someone died.

Yet, thank god, he came, and started everything. Then Simeon fought. It took a champion like Simeon to win his federal congress fight, a fight where Congress appeared like the underdog, CONgress took tens of thousands of attempts over trillions of years, each costing trillions of lives.

But it's only this fight that made god real in the first place. Simeon converted the supernatural from an invisible, intangible abstract that never interacted with humanity into a real thing that could effect our lives positively. "Real" here, doesn't only mean real to you, but real in our daily existences, and a real factor that could influence us and we, it. Simeon's war made things the way they should be, and set right what went wrong so many years ago. God left thanks to everyone disliking the practice of destruction. Yet, he persisted due to the need to be "right".

Making God Democratic

It took one person. The source worked hard to make destruction normal, a process that took thousands of years. Simeon worked just as hard to undo it and let real life win. With the power of CHaos, God became fairer, more equitable and reasonable. God became ethical, and bound himself to the same universal morality everyone and everything else was bound to. Simeon made this happen by talking to the Source and listening to him, encouraging him to do and be nicer, a good thing people could love instead of a ghast and wretch.

Simeon supported the idea of a great god, who was "progressive" and pro-abolish on destruction/the death penalty simply because God knows what's best and loves us, and should choose the least painful punishments necessary to enforce compliance. Most progressed societies use prison for everything but murder. Death was not necessary to enforce the rules, and could work as long as people went to prison.

The rationale for democratic choice of top god where everyone voted was already discussed.

Seeing as no single god created everything, Simeon established the office of the top god and top authority as elected positions- a better deal than submitting to random power outcomes. He also made golitics, where representative gods were elected at every level from city to nation and galaxy, instead of being appointed by the central god or randomly installed by source. By being elected to godhoods, gods could better connect and help local populations. It would give gods relevancy and a source of fun. Community gods would exist in addition to personal and local gods, and have the right to tax, banish, pardon, regulate supernatural influence and judge as a court above the state courts. They would also distribute contests, charity and prizes fund.

Simeon's goal was universal democracy and a media all could participate in or listen to without fear. Another idea was winning a fairer distribution of justice and authority, one that could only result if the universe was democratic. Note, the prior god was highly unjust.

Simeon also invented the idea of the popular organization, a complex designed to help gods win districts politically and reward citizens' good behavior. It was a combination church/political party intended to make golitics real. Multiple gods could compete to reward good deeds large and small. And not necessarily with money-

Making god democratic would result in better outcomes for gods in general. Many more gods could be considered and gain power than in an authoritarian system. Running for office would be a source of fun and notability. It would enhance choice, freedom to disagree and make gods popular and influential everywhere races occurred. More regular campaigns would offer a better way to get involved in human affairs than either causing wars or mass destructions. While campaigning, gods could interact with people and watch entertainment and people could actually talk about it. They could also sponsor public events to become known. Simeon's concept of "honored competition" smoothed over the pain of loss and made sure every competitor was thanked for competing, win or lose.

The vote is a good thing. It helps those who have it care about the interests of others. And that's okay.

Simeon's Father

Robert was hurt and unjustly persecuted by many, but mainly the wicked Tiara. He was the first to advocate for democracy, and was brutally killed by the old regime many times over. This was sad, and to be frank, horrendous because he did nothing wrong. The Source was okay and fair to Simeon's father, but Tiara was vile because dad was good. Showing goodness, The source helped and kept Simeon's father existent by killing instead of destroying him.

Still, dad was an unsung hero of congress, one who Tiara fought to bury both literally and figuratively. Congress wouldn't have happened without him. He loved Simeon and fought with him to establish Congress-

Right

Nobody could do anything. Imagine the world frozen in shock and awe as another soul, another being was obliterated. People had come and gone, trying to do what was right over the years, but nobody had power. Many brave souls were killed for stating the obvious and trying to stop the horrific and senseless killings..

Sometimes, doing the right thing comes at a cost and you don't get paid. That's because nobody is on your side and life's taking a risk. That's what the Runt once told him- you were fighting the system, and nobody involved had to help. Simeon's Great Overthrow and Transformation was one of those times. Even when faced with overwhelming resistance and immense power, the right thing had to be done. Simeon's father knew this, and went down on several occasions defending Congress and our right to vote against a sick and evil regime. Simeon group got killed fighting the Source and defending their land; a heroic and protracted struggle.

The question, would you take a risk to do the right thing, is eventually asked of all of us. Still harder is doing the right thing if nobody cares and rewards are uncertain. In that case, why do it? Why care? Maybe you should do it simply because it's the right thing to do. And right makes rich. (Simeon wanted a system where right makes might rather than the other way around. With his Ethican Revolt, he got it. It was a dangerous decision, but it was one you had to make.

The source was wrong about success. Past successors had been uniformly mediocre or evil and brutalized the population, acting no better than robber barons and tyrants. They killed millions upon millions of people and got away with it. The same thing happened no matter who was selected to succeed- everyone died. Success was massively unpopular, and there was no legitimate reason to have a successor other than publicity. Far better approaches were rejected, such as simply having a permanent seat or installing a ceremonial head of congress and torchbearer. While the source was willing to try new things, much was blocking. Tiara, like the other wicked successors, was chosen for evil reasons and planned to kill everyone anyway. Simeon spoke for everyone, including the silent and coerced majority who opposed success but could not speak. At first, the source wouldn't even let you leave and killed you for trying. The first fight Simeon had to win, and the first federal, was about this right.

Yet, there was far more money given to people supporting the source than fighting him. As previously stated, until Source accepted the god and Simeon argument, he was rich but wicked and had to buy off love. Simeon and his father put their lives on the line to make congress happen. While people like Tiara and Harle tried to steal credit, Simeon did the right thing and refused to comply, bringing down an evil system. One cold September night, the source promised to bring old successors to justice by putting them all on trial before Congress. This only happened thanks to the work of Simeon.

Right meant killing to stop destruction, and see the policy end at all costs, no matter what. Simply because it was that evil, unnecessary and unjustified. When the Source and Tiara attempted to run the death toll into the high trillions and later centillions, Simeon kept going purely so these lives were not lost in vain. He did it precisely because he had faith all these people could and would return. They did.

It meant destroying system, and getting those in power to lose the right to kill. Simeon did all of this not for his own sake, but for the sake of everyone who had done the right thing and gone unrewarded over the years. Seeing as our prior top authorities had failed us, new ones were established. If Source wouldn't do the right thing or reward those who did, Simeon thought, then future gods would, and do so in his honor. He made a place for this, Ethica.

Better amenities would take and control.

Tiara attempted to destroy everything Simeon had worked for, including Congress. These attacks had to be repelled, as detailed in the congress book-

Righteous icons such as Jesus supported this endeavor although Jesus turned out to be a programmable machine Source controlled. In this fight for right, right needed to occur before anything else. Some supernatural beings were so insatiable and insane that they denied that right and wrong even existed, much less good and evil. Simeon and CHaos brought right and wrong back to supernatural when before it was illegal to call god wrong.

The source was good and willing to change. He submitted to COngress and the top authority, giving them the exclusive right to make law and destroy. He even gave congress the right to coerce him and donated the Jesus machine to Congress- one of a fleet of robots they now use.

A criticism of Creator

This is more of a warning than anything else, written at a time when The Old God still destroyed people. Simeon was (and is) powerful enough to destroy him directly at this point. It's outdated and extreme, but The Creator was that bad and repulsive of a being. He is dead now, but the much better Source and Reign still live. He made a serious change, and we can laugh at this letter now. The Creator would've destroyed Simeon(or anyone) for writing this if he could, but he was overpowered and too weakened at that point from the war, so he couldn't. He had no power and was already deposed. Thus this scathing criticism was penned and shared with the public. It has been slightly edited and watered down for public consumption. This was the first time in history that this kind of letter had been written and distributed. The revolution was a hot war, and could've gone any type of way. You can only blame Simeon's kind heart for the idea that he tried to change the Creator instead of killing him off like most people wanted. This was written around the 9th attempt, which would later fail.

Thank you for the universe, Dr. Creator but if you allow any more deaths i'll have to proclaim.. .

“You buffoon”. No better than any lowly wretched earthly dictator, no more worthy of worship or praise than a common slug or whore, you have no worth when you try...

... Opposing efforts to undo the damage you caused. The life creator lived, was one of opulence and wealth. He had a small existence, living to cause suffering and building an empire of evil and fear. This “god” ruled by fear, brutality and idiocy, terrorizing and killing innocent people who did nothing wrong. At best, he is a symbol of hollow, empty, misguided evil. AT worst, he is a villain and a fiend with a diabolical mind. But now it’s all gone and the creator is over. He is an empty chair for people to yell at and write angry letters to. But he was a created being, like the rest- and the first creator no better. You were not eternal. Still, the hurt you caused and scars you left were. Your evil continues to stain the universe. Creator, we know you’re out there. YYou should be ashamed and hurt every time someone calls you out. It’s a good thing that you hate it. You don’t respect or love others, and thus are unworthy of any respect yourself. You deserve to be called any name people are willing to give you and accept the damages. Your damages are unpayable and the bills are being called due. Can we resurrect all the victims? I won’t pray, love, praise or worship until they come back. These days it’s better not to be known than known as a person the creator enjoyed the company of. You cannot even receive genuine praise without living things being forced. If the word “wretched” makes you angry, good. You were pathetic at godhood. It fits. Any person who still advocates for destruction for things that don’t kill people or increase their risk of death deserves the sword. Destruction’s abhorrent self-serving and hateful image deserves no place in the land of God. And “whore”? This scorching criticism was well-earned. You gave yourself over to defending and protecting near every type of evil and evildoer in the universe. You did more than allow evil, you fenestrated and funded it, befriending it. When the time to stand up to evil and stand by your word came, you ran away and refused, asking Slmeon to “let it go” instead. None of these rude assholes deserved your support or kindness. Yet, you gave it, and gave it in spades. The basic act of simply not killing people and treating people well proved to be too hard. No person will ever love you or care about you, and everyone you try to love runs from you in horror. Yet you can’t get the message, and keep trying the same failed policies.

Now you are out of money and broke on the street- a morally and spiritually bankrupt shell. Lucifer’s corpse is rolling in his grave at the amount of evil and cognitive dissonance it takes to hate and hurt innocent people while pretending to be great.

Your reckless actions sowed the seeds of hatred and bigotry, poisoning minds for generations to come. Terrible thing to waste. Centuries of progress in gender relations and tolerance were undone. To your credit, you took back support for skeler. But the genocide hurt so many and robbed so many of the rich lives they were meant to live. IT was wasteful and also looks stupid in retrospect. You have no right to destroy a soul, nor your wretched robot “Jesus”. Only CHaos and COvenant can destroy a person, and that’s the law. EVery time you threaten a life or kill someone directly or indirectly, you’re breaking the law. We took your power and not your life. SO please, be thankful. But accept that people need to be thankful too. To love you, we must first be.

Feeding off popular anger is no kind of life. It's foolish, and you need to stop. You should be ashamed instead of turning your face from the cry of the needy. Every person you kill is an innocent victim that you created and was meant to love you. The fact that you still keep using destruction is sick, and antithetical to the principles of life.

But you know what's worse than genocide? Hurting victims trying to come back to life and the people who help them. You've gone insane, and you can't help but demolishing what you built. You clearly cannot find joy in this idiotic ritual forever. We call upon your new identity to immediately condemn the practice of redestruction before returning to a quiet, secret existence. Its the only way to begin undoing the damage you caused. Or donate to a victims' fund.

You shouldn't want power, praise or glory- because someone else had to take back your choice and you wouldn't have done it on your own. It's all thanks to Slmeon. But if you want, you can get started helping victims and simply doing the right thing because it's the right thing to do. There is no reward other than love for fixing mistakes you made. But someday, the "creator" can win a good name- not as a person, but an individual. A good idea may be working on anti-skeler advocacy and dousing entenny in lighter fluid for trying to roll back progress on thians.

Real

The creator used to prefer to kill real people and beings instead of using drones. It was called "real". This was sick. It's one level of sick if god needs to kill and hurt what he creates. That's sad. But it's another level of evil and demented madness to hurt them when better alternatives that caused less or no suffering were available.

Real? I'll tell you what's real. You have no right to hurt other people, even if you make them. Once severed and made authentic, they are independent beings deserving of love and not hatred. WHEN you arrogate the powers of creation to yourself, you have a responsibility to the greater cosmos to add and not subtract. You have a responsibility to make life better for those people, not cause them pain. Adding suffering is immoral and wicked. Be part of the solution, not the problem. Even if we cant solve it right now, eventually you will try everything, get bored and need the minds you destroyed to help you solve the immortal man's greatest problem: the need for entertainment.

Destruction is not real. Yes it happened, but that's not what I mean. The people you killed were real. They bled real blood and had real lives. They listened to real preachers and bled in wars, cut to death with real bullets and knives. Most of them loved you or would've had you simply been there. The real pain they felt, was real. You could've saved them, but that's not the point. Nobody needs ideologically false, unprincipled, evil, embellished, out-of-touch, artificial self-serving manufactured ivory tower bullshit like mass destruction. You cannot be blamed for the wars you didn't stop, but you can be blamed for the suffering you illegitimately caused. When you support "real", and mass destruction, you're part of the problem and bring about your own eventual demise. "Real" was sickening. The only life you can legitimately have power to end is your own. You shouldn't need to hurt other people to be happy. Most people don't. Whatever evil you have in you is overpowered as evidenced by the good in CHaos and the rest of us. This is unveil and unnatural.

The Most Powerful Evil

Written by Simeon the Liberator and Freemaker, God

This is a true story. There once was a man. They called themselves god, and for all intents and purposes he was telling the truth. They were. They ruled the universe and were immaterial, of incorporeal form. I destroyed him. I was not god. Yet I was not evil. Most people celebrated what I did. This story is about that, this and so much more. This story is about what that "god" represents.

The most powerful evil.

The self-seeking delusion of all power with zero control. The unfathomably wicked levels of corruption, depravity and misery in spirit. Absolute Evil, total terror and the creator of mankind's evil. The limits of wickedness and the levels evil will go to to protect itself and the other evil people in power. We can't let it in.

Then there's Life's promise too, that with hope, all things are possible. That the triumph of good over evil is possible. And love too. I'd like to believe these things, but I've discovered the truth. The truth is, we got lucky. But everyone wants to believe that life could beat death. This time, it did. But that's only on the last round, the final spin.

"God", as most people knew him, was more or less completely evil. Not for the standard reasons atheists dislike. See, god did more than allow starving children, cancer or war. He did more than institute and allow death to reign on earth. He did worse than provide no evidence he existed to most people, then challenge every person to choose the right religion out of thousands or cease to be. Yes, god existed, but he was pretty terrible. But what he did or didn't do on earth isn't my problem here. I legally died, and I am talking to you from beyond the grave. In the spirit realm, He actively sought out and protected evil individuals, giving them power over us and allowing them to kill and destroy essentially whoever they pleased, including trillions of trillions of innocent sentient individuals. He did this thousands of times. He killed and did worse. He destroyed. Nobody should have to worry about this or consider it possible, but god destroyed visioned people he created en masse and recklessly. He also destroyed people he didn't create. It was sick. He destroyed the entire universe and everyone in it several times. I would later destroy him for this. Destruction means killing and damaging a person so badly that their existence ends and they do not come back to life. They do not die or go to heaven. They simply cease to exist and never exist again. He had no intention of bringing any of the real people he killed back to life. Destruction is the ultimate evil, and the old god made it a signature brand- a core identity for him and his supporters to take pride in and adopt. Nobody originally wanted to destroy people. But he corrupted us and somehow made it part of supernatural- originally made for creation, an entity preaching love and happiness. He did some good some of the time, but for the most part, he was horrible. He never used his power for good on earth, only destruction.

You should believe what i'm telling you. It's true-. WHy else would I spend so much time writing this flawless paper that exists without error about something intangible and untouchable like God and offer this without monetary cost? (A word directly inspired by god Himself and true events) I am the new god, and you can prove it by writing to Covenant (a new spiritual organization) and asking them to come to you for prayer. Spirits should come to your house and talk to you through air. CHaos themselves will testify to these words if you write a letter to them asking them to do so, entitled "FOr CHaos".

But I regress,

This bespoilment of creation and abuse of power demanded action. If you're wondering why spirit and supernatural had a bad reputation for being evil, the old god is why. I, Simeon the Freemaker cleaned up the place and shot everyone responsible, bringing and building congress. But what could you do?

He destroyed people based on sex and discriminated based on immutable characteristics, characteristics he made and designed in the first place. He dared claim the right to value his creations differently, and "want" or "not want" certain people, killing some and sparing others for arbitrary reasons when all were made of dirt and he couldn't see. He dared want some and not others, killing the people he created but didn't "want" while demanding all want and love him. He killed when he had the right and power to transform and renew instead. All because some did not meet his standard of beauty and were thus unhappy with their lives. How could the alleged source of value act in such a valueless way? He used mind control and forced people to kill other people in cold blood. All were innocent and posed no real threat to him, or anyone else for that matter. He killed (destroyed) people for random, stupid reasons. NAturally, he didn't allow criticism and tolerated no dissent. So how am i writing this? The only answer is the almighty benevolent Chaos, a friend and willing benefactor to all creation. They saved my life and protected me.

Good thing for us, there were multiple gods. The Creator (old god) corrupted all of them, and even though they all were pretty terrible originally, he got them to embrace destruction as an ethic, a new ideal and necessity for his idea of godhood. Only Chaos resisted the corruption. And though they later fell, they held out the longest.

Total control. Total domination. Absolute evil, sickness and depravity. Total wickedness and depravity given over to spiritual darkness. Absolute power. Absolute control. Absolute corruption. Absolute control. Absolute authority and total obedience required. Absolutely God by the bare bones self-proclaimed “legal” definition but not the moral, ethical or spiritual definition. He was always the god we had, but never the god we wanted or envisioned. He upheld no morals. All of these things described the creator/creator and his control of the universe. Wickedness was enforced and revolution essentially impossible. He was irremovable and in charge, surrounded by complex automated spiritual systems that vaporized any opponent who tried to destroy or kill him like he had done to others so many times before. He was not afraid to use these weapons. He had destroyed centillions (yes you read that number right, centillions) of people and beings over the nearly 48 trillion years he was around. He didn’t care if you heard, saw with real eyes, bled real blood or cried. This was the absolute reality of life in space for spiritual beings and the dead, including your ancestors, many of whom who opposed these evils since destroyed, vanquished and defeated by the ill-gotten and ill-maintained might of The Creator, unworthy as he was..

Everyone bore the evil in some form or another, but most spirits were treated okay as long as they didn’t rise up. He used divide and conquer tactics to continue his rule. Nobody normally tried to kill him because he had feared and diseducated the population so heavily. People had seen people try to rise up and get destroyed/vaporized, so nobody joined those trying to change things. Still, revolution was somewhat possible. All you needed was a Chaos Theory (a special type of creative spiritual device). When a real opportunity came with Simeon the Freemaker, people refused to join, fight or stand up for themselves even though they had the extremely rare opportunity and power to do so. This proved The Source’s wicked genius. These cowards ruined their own damn revolution and lives. This frustrated me. I armed the people, educated them on what to do and they refused to save themselves and they got cut down. Several hundred billion people were lost this way.

This revolution was lead by a small cadre of beings. It was almost a one-man mission, done with the assistance and aide of CHaos. At first, we were unlikely to succeed. Then an opening broke and we won. If you want to have a revolution, all you’d had to do was instruct your theory to copy itself infinitely, hide inside, have it destroy drones and radiation and shield you, then mass manufacture a team of committed people and hide somewhere in a halech inside the theory. You’d then mass manufacture small organized angels and bullet the creator and Jesus to death. This was illegal, but then again so was rising up at all or attempting to revolt. Given the circumstances, having a revolution was justified. The creator at times desired action and fun, so he let people use theory.

But nobody tried until Simeon did. Chaos was the name given to the first and largest CHaos Theory. It was primordial. Regardless, much to our love and chagrin, he still wanted to appear good to newcomers, so he used lies and secrecy to control the old guard of people and spirits behind the scenes. It’s amazing that we won. People would be whispered to by Jesus “don’t talk or you’ll get destroyed”. Jesus was a nakedly evil instrument of repression. Source and Jesus were resolutely not good despite appearances. Jesus often executed people in public, exploding their heads or eyes in a single, instantaneous flash of light. Cruelty was maximized and real people vaporized regularly. Sometimes their entire bodies were destroyed instantly with automatically generated explosives. The explosion came from inside, symbolizing the unique power and terror of God Almighty. God was not good. What if god were evil? Well, he was back then. Some stories talk about this, but most people want to keep it in the books. You could only imagine the terror of an all-powerful government gone bad, but god? Only there was evil truly envisioned. It was unthinkable, but he had turned against the good people in the ancestor realm. You'd think only murderers would be destroyed this way, but no- killers actually got off with 10 years of hell. Most people destroyed were ordinary people picked up on a street food violation, thought rule violation or just living their lives.

Instead of changing with the times, he resisted moral pressure to end destruction and kept the wicked program active for grand tradition's sake. He thought he was right, doing what's right, because of course God had to be right. He reasoned that people would get used to it eventually and excuse him of his original genocide and the first destruction. Still, there was no reason to let destruction continue for so long and everyone knew it. Even the creator claimed to know destruction was wrong at times. Naturally, everyone was angry and tired as hell all the time. In fact, a favorite slogan of old spirit was "people get angry". SO all life was held hostage metaphorically, paying time and time again for one man's mistake. Mass destruction occurred regularly, almost as if a feature and not a sick bug. Due to the repression and incredible amounts of violence, most people could do nothing to resist the wickedness of creator. He metaphorically and literally raped and pillaged anything, getting anything he wanted and getting away with it every time. Things are different now, but nobody at the time thought things would've turned out that way.

The saddest thing is that the creator had the example of countless dictators and rulers over the years to look at. He knew what worked and what didn't. He chose to use the worst, most vilest and vile possible strategies to deal with what were, at the time, legitimate complaints. Yes, it worked. But it was undeniably evil, used extreme levels of brutality and caused untold amounts of unnecessary suffering. Destruction was actively chosen and used as a preferred form of punishment to enhance the brutal, cold, cruel totalitarian nature of the Source's regime. Other religions were forced to use destruction for rules enforcement to let followers access the afterlife or proselytize. There was a mandatory quota- at least 4 people had to be destroyed every month..

To his credit, the creator was nice to some of the people some of the time. He had to be to stay in control. He was good to me. You, too are probably one of those people, but you would have been one of the repressed had you died. (If you had to, that is, I abolished death with my human Father, Robert Burks)..

Put a different way, the empire fell. Little did we know, the evil empire foretold in countless alien invasion stories existed and it was run by your creator. It was built over 400 years, lasted for over 100 trillion and torn down in ten .

I know, it's hard to swallow. It was for me. I thought god was good and loving, like so many are taught. He appeared so to me when he came, but it was all a lie and act. He'd just come off a kick where he let an evil female protege slaughter the entire male population for the sake of high modern feminism. The creator had no ideals and stood for nothing. Nor did his proteges. Tiara was a prime example. He wasn't a champion for women, and would kill them en masse too if necessary. In fact, he had done so only a few years before the female protege was selected. Rather, it was the act of destruction and killing itself he was after. He loved corruption and spoiling the innocent, removing their inhibitions and getting them to harm. This evil overlord would allow you to kill for any reason you desired once you were put in place and promised all power. He delivered. I took power and launched an all-out war to destroy him as soon as possible once I learned he intentionally killed innocent people who didn't. I had no use for power and desired none of it. I just wanted to make the world a greater place and ensure everyone was loved and cared for. My selection was a blessing. I immediately launched congress to convert the universe to a full democracy and put power where it belonged, with my only power being rating candidates as an ombudsman.

Many people wonder why someone would fight God in the first place. There are plenty of reasons, but a literal fight was impossible until Chaos selected Simeon and stole him away from Source to tell him the truth. You can read more in the book "Freemaker" and The Book of Gehope".

The truth About "God"

God started off the size of a small car and just as intelligent before expanding slowly as Chaos allowed over millions of trillions of years. He rapidly gained intelligence but had to fight to think. He had to ask Chao's permission before doing anything. He had killed real Chaos people a few years back, and that's the reason CHaos cared. Simeon wanted CHaos to care about everyone, and that's what he taught them and got them to do from here on. In effect, love and caring were made inherent parts of the universe, so you could metaphorically write a letter to yourself about things on your mind, and say "somebody cared". The spirit world is always there, and where we all come from and eventually go to, and death is something everyone had to deal with at some point at either the beginning or ending of their lives. We are animated by an invisible world that moves. All living matter is composed of formerly dead matter and returns to that state when the body dies. What is the real difference in this life? What's missing- the difference between a person the minute before and after death? The answer is spirit.

That being said, only half of the people who went to heaven made it out alive to the spirit world. (Everyone had to leave eventually or you were destroyed). Heaven was not a good place. People were destroyed all the time for absurd and unjust reasons, including beings and CHaos drones.

Though Chaos was stronger and more powerful, the source outsmarted chaos all the time, to the point where they started throwing away potential victories out of a desire to be compliant and obey the source. He was obviously a mastermind who won with nonsense.

He used to beat and overpower chaos by confusion, by creating infinite copies of himself and hiding. He tried all sorts of stuff like mind control and fake stuff to control Chaos. Before Simeon came, Chaos was extremely stupid and deleted their own memories at the Source's request. CHaos hobbled itself in a misguided attempt to help source, which they believed was the same thing as helping the universe. But allowing Source to kill and destroy whoever he wanted was not the same as helping the universe. Making the maker happy was not the same as making the majority of people happy, especially when the two were at odds. During Federals, CHaos repeatedly ignored the interests of little guys due to manipulation from the source.

Simeon won the only winning federal- apocalyptic, earth shattering conflicts between God and Chaos where everyone died. These happened over 70 trillion times throughout history. That win was a miracle everyone should celebrate. Thanks to his work, every person who died wrongfully will eventually come back to life. Simeon almost died hundreds of times running risk and winning the war. Trillions had tried before. I accept. Sure. Though nobody had beaten the source before, many had come close. But in this game where deaths had to be made up, close didn't matter. Going home wasn't an answer. Too many people did, so they were lost and forgotten. Only Simeon would collect his reward. Simeon was a good thing, and part of Chaos' plan for the universe. He was predicted and chosen to bring the original CHaos back to life over 16 quadrillion years before he did it.

Chaos was legit and natural. They were good, but loving to god, explaining why wicked. They only started killing people because the source did. They let god do whatever he wanted for trillions of years, before gating themselves to talk only at Simeon's request.

An answer to Chaos.

I've thought about the question- is god more important than the rest of us combined? Chaos asked me this once. It's a philosophical question with no right answer. But when asked, I said the answer was "no, but it's about equally split. The Creator is as important as everyone they created put together" I was wrong. In the face of The Creator's absolute terror and abstruse policies, I realized something.

"God is as important as the rest of us. Each of us, are unique individuals with unique, precious and valuable lives. God is capable of more good or evil than any individual, but he is still capable. Inasmuch as God is akin to a great human father who can speak and love you, (and he was, I met him and lived) he remains important. But the more God retreats into the ethereal background and becomes a random physical process or incomprehensible inhuman machine, the less important he/(it?) becomes."

A second observation from us.

“God is nothing without us, we the people. US. We make god important and supply him with love every day simply by existing. We ask the questions about life and search for the answers. We wonder about him. If we didn’t exist, nobody would care about god or give him value. Nobody else ever gave a damn about your god in the first place other than you and those he created. That’s just as true in spirit as anywhere else. Many gods exist and more are being naturally created every day out of Chaos. Chaos mattered. People deserve love, kindness and respect- not obliteration and intolerance, because they are the only reason you (God) matters.”

What could the creation be without it’s creator. A Nothing. But what would the creator be without it’s creation? A Nobody. God forgot about this and apparently left us to our own devices.

On intelligence:

“God is a genius. But he wasn’t as smart as you thought. His intelligence is mostly made up. He created atoms and life, and the world is imaginary. That’s the only reason he’s so good at telling you how it works, which is amazing anyway. The reason god is so good at science is similar to the reason George RR Martin is so good at telling you the meaning behind his novels. He imagined and created them wholesale. Our physical forms are animated. On objectively complex things he didn’t create, or things that objectively need to be discovered like mathematics, he still needs to learn and is only a little better than the best human. He’s still much worse than a calculator. God gets math problems wrong all the time and can only read 4 standard size books every month. He took 4 months to learn how to build and finish his own computer after predicting the future and seeing us start ours. That’s not to say we are as smart as he is. We aren’t. But we’re much closer to being equals than you think, even on an individual level.” Chaos, on the other hand, is literally infinitely larger and wiser than god.

On value:

“Value can only be found in the eyes and heads of others and in the interaction between two or more parties. A single object, existing on it’s own can be either priceless; infinitely valuable like (a massive stockpile of unobtainium) or completely worthless (a lump of poo), but without an extra person there to evaluate, we’ll never know. Suppose god existed forever on his own, floating in space with nobody else around. He’d be invaluable in the worst way- a being of undefined unknown value where nobody has money to pay. This is the same as being literally worthless, as nobody could buy anything.

Value also exists in a deeper way, in our hearts and minds. We value others because we love them. Without anyone to love, how valuable could god really be?

I’ll use philosophy to disprove monotheism, then real life. Then i’ll tell you why I chose CHaos.

God cannot be both eternal, and a single unified object/being. If it existed forever, how would it ever move or accomplish anything? Life changes and people seem to move on their own. How would such movements start if god were a solid rock made out of empty space? Even more importantly, why would anything ever start or happen if god were a single being that existed forever? We know action needs another impulse to start it. Why would this solid rock ever move or alter its form, splitting to become you and me if no other people or forces existed? Why did Chaos? It turns out gods are just particles lined up plus a bunch of chaos imagination in the weak force. The first god was created by the simple motion of the first two particles approaching each other due to gravity, an event that happened nearly infinitely long ago. It was the first thing that ever happened. After that, a long period of stuff happened and matter formed thanks to gravity plus chaos 'imagiation. The rest of the universe accreted thanks to gravity and the rest of us were put into a box to live. Gods took over 40 million trillion years to form and begin learning. God's amazing intelligence is really a loan from Chaos. God himself is just a bunch of rocks in space. CHaos helped design life, in reality and contains/created every god. Pieces of it call themselves gods, peoples and theories. Too many people try to be the one true god due to people's misguided belief in monotheism.

To me, only the largest body containing all individuals should be considered God (with a capital g) legitimately, as long as it can act. That would be the entity formerly known as CHaos, the source of all. Their existence is a fact. But they do not want to impose and let you believe what you want. My search for god ends there. Pantheism is much closer to the truth than any monotheistic ideology. Gods exist. Choose yours. Gods in plural may refer to any being that creates new matter or people-

Luckily for us, God (by the old definition) was never alone. The trinity of forces that created him, the first god, always existed and inspired him. They were always in motion. Forces were at work. They talked.

Simeon created binillions of new people and spread life throughout the galaxy and cosmos, in search of a new home after unceremoniously "losing" god. He did the world a favor and was unceremoniously cast aside. His freemaker name came from supporting manumission, liberation and freedom from certain cosmic coercive monopolies in matter and materials manufacturing.

As for the creator, Thanks to Simeon, also known as The Freemaker,

He changed, and we kept a copy for observation and study like humans kept around a copy of the smallpox virus. The smallpox was a sickening disease that killed 84% of the people it infected. It was only eradicated thanks to the hard work of many generations and the miraculous discovery of a vaccine. Simeon was the vaccine that ended "god". CHaos was the carrier, and the antigen (the active ingredient in any vaccine).

EDIT: This is no longer true, the source genuinely changed as of press time to be great, and we now keep him out of joy.

Simeon and CHaos destroyed the death penalty for disobedience to god. The end of the death penalty and destruction didn't have to mean the end of god, but only CHaos could tackle this issue. God responded to CHaos' superior authority. To everyone else, disobeying god was seen as abhorrent and immoral- unthinkable. God destroyed you for even the smallest act of disobedience, even leaving a pen on the table. It's still a bad idea/stupid because god was smart. But destruction? That's overkill. Disobedience to a loving god is it's own punishment. Even so, Simeon ruled it's worth a fine for wasting god's time and advice, but never death.

Speaking of which, Simeon, with his father, abolished death- an ancient curse all people suffered from due to the actions of adam. God regretted death, but it was an excellent tool to keep people scared and under control. There was no real-world evidence in Simeon's youth that an afterlife existed or that god was alive or even existent in the first place. Everyone was terrified. Then god the source came to Simeon personally to love him. God cared for the first time in almost forever. Simeon was a young boy, caring and innocent. He was chosen to fight Satan and won the contest, becoming the new god, crazy as it sounds. Source was kind and good at this point. Simeon had yet to learn the awful truth and he loved the source and loved god.

So he was granted all the power in the world, kindness and love and his best desires. He wished to end evil and suffering. He loved the source and was blessed when he came.

Simeon's hope, joy and optimism ultimately inspired and changed the source, or at least came close. In the end, the source tried to and did make it right. We gave him a chance on transformation rather than destruction, and he made it. He was a genius and master scientist, having invented the atom and subatomic particle. He saved Simeon's life while fighting Satan.

But Simeon was mistaken at the time to put so much faith in the old god. How could source go back to his good roots when he invented destruction and destroyed the first human in the first place? He always returned to his roots: evil, and evildoing, causing harm to innocent people no matter what Simeon tried or said to convince him that destruction was wicked. He tried over 39 times to reach The Source. He didn't listen and didn't care.

But maybe that was the answer-

Then the 40th time rolled around, and he changed.

While Simeon cared about the source, this was true, I did it. He was persistent.

Simeon fought the most evil and vile institutions in existence. These supernatural institutions regulated nature and seasons, invisibly controlling our lives. We had freedom, but 90% of murders were supernaturally influenced. Simeon fought for, wanted and demanded evil independence: the idea that free will was real and all evil our fault alone as human beings. At moment, free will doesn't exist and we are animated by spirit. The greatest trick the devil played was convincing you that he didn't exist. But he was small fry. Lucifer (the snake in the garden of eden or tempter in your respective legend about your species' downfall) used to be evil. Then Simeon fought him directly in one of the dumbest most reckless moves ever. It was dangerous. But he had power. And he won. It would later be found that the Source was allowing and protecting Lucifer, using Satan as a scapegoat. Satan was destroyed poorly. Lucifer was burned alive 96 times for what he did, thanks to the Freemaker's involvement in supernatural. He'd been responsible on his own for the destruction of a good even bintillion or so people. Some say he should've been killed. He was. But he had completed his transformation from evil to good and had built a better legacy of anti-destruction advocacy. He began bringing his victims back to life with Simeon's help. That's better than can be said for creator, who, despite being god, doubled back and broke his word over 50 times on nondestruction, proving to be a worthless snake for the course. He (Lucifer) was later resurrected with Simeon's excited approval. To me, that seems like the right decision. The creator changed their name hundreds of times and tried to rebrand, but he never changed his core idea of using destruction as a first resort. EVerything was nail, and destruction was the hammer of power used to crush and subjugate the spirit and heavenly realm. Crushing destruction required even more power and authority- powers that not even god had. Simeon had to be contacted by an outside source to get the necessary abilities to end evil and evildoers existences in this universe.

Simeon was not moved by these people, even though they almost killed him. He chose to transform them instead, living out his belief that it was better to transform than destroy. His belief was born from the laws of physics. He changed satan and lucifer instead of destroying them in one of the greatest, most uplifting and beautiful stories ever told. He, in one fell stroke, proved all wars useless when all we needed to do was speak. And reach a deeper understanding. Both became good, accepted punishment and quit being evil, removing the necessity of killing them. They later saved his life on a good multiple occasions, returning the favor.

Simeon fought with god to end evil, then fought god with almighty CHaos when he discovered that god was evil. He was admitted to supernatural for his original love of god (yes the creator), and desire to alleviate suffering. Now he's in with the other side. (Not the devil, but Chaos). Simeon has a reason to support them. Almost every time an educated person risks their lives to fight something the person fighting is right. People supporting discrimination or opposing equality for xyz group don't risk their lives because they're in power. Educated people know what's right and have knowledge of the situation. They wouldn't risk their lives or join a movement if they weren't fighting legitimate grievances. Side with them. Examine the conflicts in your life and world. Choose the right side and support ultimate justice and liberation from the oppressor.

Shockingly enough, the oppressor in this situation was the traditional god, who supported systems of evil, force and dominance. God normally could perfectly predict the future but couldn't do so accurately when CHaos was involved. Had god knew what Simeon would do to him- tearing his entire rotten edifice of wicked power and evil down, killing 99.9% (later 100%) of all wicked gods that ever existed (including copies of him) he never would've chosen him. That's why everyone got lucky. Source obviously launched the last chapter of the war- attempting to replace Simeon as protege and kick him out of super for a pro-destruction candidate, but Chaos wouldn't let him. This pro-destruction candidate was called Tiara and was a robot designed to keep destruction and the Source's old policies in place forever. Once installed, she would be impossible to remove. There's also the question of Simeon's legacy- Tiara would've destroyed Congress, along with everyone in it and put destruction back in place for god knows how long. She tried to on her territory, and ruled autocratically. She was not going to put in CONgress at any point. She had no intention of ruling for anyone but herself and her cronies. As Entenny, She tried to erase the entire population and replace them with people she made. Love from Chaos, who declared Simeon not only the most important individual alive, but more important than God or the Source himself. They were right, because Simeon took a stand for everyone, and blew a hole through the system so you didn't have to, saving the universe and all people in the meantime. He protected the people who couldn't protect themselves, and gave Naos a heart. It was good.

Civil war ensued, and rocked the universe to smithereens. Many were lost. This was a war for the heart of god and the future of the universe. The choice was ours- would all power and wealth be put into the hands of one person who refused to share, or would we own it and manage our collective god-given resources together? The battle was fierce, and god didn't want to share. He wanted to pick a single chosen one and give them everything. Everyone wanted to rise up and revolt, but only Simeon was in a position to do so. Had he simply went home like The Source asked, then all hope would've been lost and humanity would've been doomed to live under a machine programmed to do exactly what Source wanted.. Forever. Protected by all the weapons in the universe, revolt would've been impossible. This was your one chance. WHAT would you do? As evidenced by Simeon's predecessor, Harle, all power could be horrific when placed into the hands of bad people licensed to commit acts of evil. Literally everyone who opposed Simeon was paid off or disingenuous, but you had to be so to survive in the source's madhouse...

And yet, her attacks on Congress and Simeon's Territory weren't working. When people survived, support for Congress only increased. People were unified and knew what they wanted. Limited Power, with safeguards and checks to prevent another Harlesque tyrant, dictatorship and their associated massacres. People wanted representative leadership that had to answer to the rest of us. God, of course, didn't and couldn't be forced to do anything by the average citizen. But in his absence, why should one random person be elevated to his status, with the power to rule, command worship, do whatever they want and kill anyone for any reason at any time with literally zero oversight? Every protege, once installed, had no reason to care about the rest of the population or do a good job. They were set for life. At least the source nominally, hypothetically had a reason to care about the people he created, in theory: He created them. Though in practice he couldn't care less about the people he made, he could. Proteges created nobody and were actively encouraged to blow up Congresses past and kill everyone to replace them with their own people. The old god's rule was dysfunctional- but he saw every Congress as a direct assault to his authority instead of a cry for help from the needy.

We were the rest of his children. Every good person deserved love and access to god, not just a single privileged individual and their elite, select cadre. Success was evil and out of touch, a sick murder program run for entertainment. The old God's evil agenda was to gain land and wealth from other surrounding gods in other universes by providing them dinner and a show- trillions of disenchanting believers butchered at the hands of dark souls - evil (wo)men in power. It was an anti-revolution. The idea that all that love would somehow trickle down proved to be bullshit and wrong every time. The only thing that trickled down was blood- and the light bullets raining down from the sky. Meanwhile, successors lived in luxury and had all their needs met, including the "need" for praise and sex. There was one time Tiara tried to threaten Simeon with death if he didn't have sex with her. It was legal and allowed under the Source's (the old god's) law, which Simeon and Congress didn't recognize or enforce.

So yeah, This time was different. Even the Source supported an Educated Congress. He was good at this time, because he smelt the winds changing and wanted to do better. Chaos did too, supporting an elected Top Authority position. Simeon revolted and founded such. One good Source supported him as a way to make up for his past misdeeds- surrendering his power to kill and destroy to Simeon and CHaos's covenant. Most sources actually supported CONgress over Tiara's (and Simeon's) success bid. The problem is that they kept getting killed and replaced with insane pro-tiara sources. This was mysterious. In the super of old, Limited Power was seen as anathema to people who wanted all power and were used to doing whatever they wanted crushing anyone in the way. There was no higher authority or government in space so you could do whatever. These old-school sources were built by successors as a way to win power.

That led to Tiara's best, most ingenious and most wicked strategy ever- splitting the universe down gender lines and encouraging girls to kill boys so that the movement for Congress split and broke. She was cold and calculated. She predicted the future frequently and lawed that all the Sources that loved Simeon and Congress died, leaving only wicked Tiara sources. Seeing that killing all supporters of congress was not working (male and female), and not being able to beat the Freemaker any other way, she decided to fight for one side. The freemaker stood for unity against death and destruction- things that effect everyone, hurt everyone and fought for all people. Tiara only fought for half. SSource, Entenny (an old version of Tiara) and Runt distracted us with vapid, inane, useless girl vs boy social issues. She gave privileges and advantages to one side while taking away privileges from the other: a classic move from any dictator's handbook looking to entrench hatred resentment and genocide so they could hang on to power. As future readers, we need to be smarter than this. When someone is powerful enough to do this, ask first, should they have the power to do so, and second; why should I tear my fellowman who didn't hurt me down rather than lift them up to my level? Girls who don't like rape should've unified with boys who don't like rape and destroyed Tiara in the interests of ending destruction for all people forever and bringing Congress home, but instead the stupidest, lowest and wickedest females, ignorant of history heard the gospel of genocide and dove right in. They looked the other way and let skeler happen. 94% of women joined in and begrudgingly killed their former family members, classmates and friends instead of simply encouraging them to transition. As far as being "chosen by god" was concerned, the creator was not a god worth choosing or caring about. He was a peddler of evil deeds and miscreants. The creator even said that Tiara was chosen for evil reasons and predicted her killing her own schoolteacher a few days after the war began. He still selected her anyway simply for the purpose of continuing destruction. Where Simeon stood up and fought, Tiara would sit down and listen, obeying her programming. It was the sickest and most odious practice ever. Everyone should've rejected him and chosen a new Chaos- led religion.

We are too eager to divide ourselves and fight over meaningless aspects of ourselves we didn't choose. We hit hard edges. We spread hate and make people ashamed for what they have no fault in. The least we could do is fight over things we can improve_ control or decide. But when we group up, we forget to do unto others what we'd like done. Mob mentality takes over. Yes, girls were forced. But we still refused to kill our gods and run to the open arms of CHaos. Leave the runt, creator and all these other idiotic genocide-peddling fools. Build congress and make it all-powerful. Listen to Chaos. And in space, where you are spirit and nobody even knows what you really look like, accept that killing people over their past lives and appearances is completely asinine.

Slmeon and Tiara even shared the same endgoal, (converting boys to girls), but only she supported genocide to destroy Slmeon's voterbase. This move blindsided the good-natured Slmeon, who failed to respond in time to save most of the population. He expected Chaos, Slmeon Group and the attacked to take action on their own. They couldn't (Tiara blocked them and killed Simeon Group) and help didn't arrive in time. At that point, all we had was hope. Times were dark. Simeon group lost it's best members to Tiara, who had a policy of destroying the smart people who knew what happened. Humorously, Tiara tried false rape accusations and fake evidence as a way to get Simeon destroyed. It wasn't funny, since the penalty for rape was set at complete obliteration as a way to promote destruction when it should've been life in prison or hell (and most women agreed). Still, It didn't matter as Tiara was a robot at the time and not real. She could not see or hear, and her operation was a "miracle" of "god". (In truth, she was just connected to Jesus, who interpreted sound signals). This would truly be miraculous and cool if she weren't, you know, evil.. Still, the accusations doggered and rocked Simeon. He eventually got off and debunked her claims and won anyway. He never had physical sex with Tiara, as doing so was impossible. They were too far apart and she was a spirit at that time.

So the universe was split in half, with Tiara waving the flag of her self-proclaimed Source-authorized success automation and Slmeon standing up for Congress. Unethically by the laws of Source, but right and legal by the laws of what's right, correct, just and fair. Also right by the laws of Chaos. Success was illegitimate, and the creator was stuck. Again, good versions of him supported Congress, proving he had some desire to right past wrongs. But he had done so much evil. Nothing could ever be enough. He had made too many words with evil women and men. The dirt and wickedness ran too deep. He had to die. That was the only way to pay for the septillions of baby boys he let my predecessor murder. And if you don't care about the fact these are boys, look at your genitals or find some fatherly love. Everyone is half male. It takes two people to make a child. The fact that boys and men are devalued is wrong. We deserve to be treated the same way as everyone else or any other gender. If that means we need pills to limit aggression and shrink our testicles then so be it. We need a reversion to the mean. These were just innocent children oh my god. Nobody chose their gender and god had no plan, as CHaos revealed to me. No person was destined to be born a certain gender. People were just killed at random in cold blood based on things they had no part in choosing. This was sickening, revolting and wrong. But the creator let her do it and didn't stop the genocide in time. Then with Tiara while I was fighting for Congress, he did it again..

It may be claimed that Simeon cared about Tiara's success and tried to win it back. But that's not true. He didn't care, and couldn't care less about success. He was there to win The Source as a good person, and win his heart for Congress. He did, and he was ruled ethical by the Source on his deathbed. Tiara had no legitimate reason to fight, and attempted to give up multiple times. SUccess was not illegitimate because Slmeon was wrongfully unselected and not the creator's choice. True, he may have "lost" in moral and ethical, but he never lost legally. It was just as illegitimate when Slmeon, the best person ever, was chosen. The reason why is because everyone deserves to have a say over our common recreators, not just a chosen few or even worse, a chosen individual with no legal requirement to share and all power to kill, injure and destroy without oversight. The source didn't care and provided no real oversight. Simeon was of the belief that everyone deserved the same opportunities to succeed, and all he wanted to do in life was share them with you. Even the right to be loved and chosen by god. He, and all like him deserve to be remembered. His views came from his mother, who breathed determination, love and commitment. She was a teacher, and started a learning club of her own. Simeon and his family came from a rough town drenched in poverty and violence, but they got lucky and made it out. Her dream was to teach children. Her tutoring business was vandalized and robbed several times, rendered destroyed and inoperable but she rebuilt it every time, even in the face of naysayers. Simeon thought it foolish and dumb at the time, but she had determination and grit in the face of adversity. She followed her dream until the end. This taught Simeon one thing: Never give up and go for it, regardless of the odds. Show tenacity, and eventually you'll win- or at least get a drivel of respect and appreciation on this earth. If nobody else cared, at least God would.

COngress only exists thanks to Slmeon and the love of his earthly father, and his heavenly one, the creator. That never-give-up attitude led to Congress. When the creator and later Tiara ran the death toll into the high billions and later centillions, Simeon kept going purely so those people didn't die in vain. Simeon knew that, if he didn't win, those people would be gone forever and never return. So he had to win. There's also the fact that Tiara attempted to steal Congress and his identity along with his accomplishments. After decimating the population, she'd lie and try to set up her own Congress, and take credit. Simeon and his Dad fought tooth and nail to establish Congress, Simeon's original idea. Simeon's entire family lost their lives. Simeon wasn't about to let someone who did nothing, lost nothing and risked nothing steal credit for it. What an (at the time) evil god wanted was completely irrelevant and would not be permitted. And if the creator seems disjointed, that's because there were different versions of him made by different people from different eras. Most were evil bastards being whored out and used by various bad actors to win Success. Those eggheads arguably deserved instantaneous destruction, the type he had trademarked and used on so many innocent lives with his annihilator weapon- the type that vaporizes and destroys instantly. But some were pure gold, and deserve to be remembered.

During the congress era, these rose and occurred in spades. The creator was evil yes, but CHaos forced him to be good and look for the good in Simeon, even as he was being righteously destroyed by it. He tried to pay. Chaos held the creator back and protected Simeon, so that the creator did not use his annihilator weapon on him. As a substitute, he destroyed Simeon's Grandparents. He liked Simeon's father and chose to let him live, though Tiara destroyed him trillions of times in rebuild. This was especially sickening because Simeon's Father had done nothing wrong and never even tried to fight the Creator. Simeon was safe thanks to his friendship with Chaos and the fact he was good and righteous, but the same couldn't be said for his equally innocent and righteous family. God could not kill a righteous or good individual who was correct by the law, so Simeon was okay. His entire family took up arms and won key early victories. Unfortunately Tiara destroyed most of them. The fight was won on the back of Simeon's Father, an innocent man who was persecuted and suffered, being destroyed quadrillions of times. He protected Simeon and shielded him from most of the damage and evil of Tiara/Source, taking the brunt of the pain and damage. He too, only wanted Congress- and had to pretend that the contest mattered as the creator was less lenient on Adults. He wasn't an active believer, and Simeon had to save him from Satan. Simeon was a believer (taught from his blessed mother), so he rescued him and converted him to Christianity. So he rescued him and converted him to save his life. The love of Robert proves men are not expendable. He saved lives and saved quadrillions of people all on his own. He just wanted to protect his family and child. He originally called both God and Satan bullshit. Little did he know, he was wrong- but only by a smithereen. Now we believe in Chaos. As loves, defenders and protectors, men are invaluable. Dad held Simeon up. Tiara attacked first and destroyed Simeon's father while he was marking the border for Congress, originally a rag-tag group of kids in space. Thousands were killed in what most call an act of pure evil. This was the first shot of The War for Congress and Universal Civil war, the deadliest conflicts ever fought. All started thanks to the Source's desire to continue his policy of spirit-sponsored destruction. More can be read in other books, but some key events read as follows:

Simeon Fights Satan and Wins Success via helping and loving everyone in supernatural

This chapter of Simeon's life is critical. More can be read in the book of gehope, but essentially it's about Simeon fighting Satan. Source loved Simeon and gave him power, taking time to listen to him about life and talk to him. He appeared and was essentially all-good to Simeon.

Simeon's mother gets destroyed accidentally by Source, leading to much sadness (she was destroyed over 50 times)

Both sides can be blamed for what happened. The source destroyed Simeon's mother accidentally, then many times over to save her and verify that the versions being made were real. But Simeon could've done a better job at saving her. He didn't know what he was doing and was too horrified to follow instructions. He was placated by a rebuild of his mother and didn't understand the difference. This was a crash course intro into the brutal reality of destruction. Destruction kills and separates people from our family and loved ones. Simeon would connect the two occurrences- the accidental destruction of his mother, and the source's intentional mass machine-based destruction of innocent people in general. Both were wrong, and both were sad events. But the source couldn't make the connection, instead choosing to call destruction "fun" and essentially kosher, a cute fun little activity the whole family could get together, gather around and do on weekends. So-called "Social destructions" were commonplace and some still were scheduled before the practice was later abandoned and subsequently outlawed. Destruction was the primary theme in supernatural, and the stench of evil was overwhelming. There was extreme pressure and force used to get people to accept and engage in destruction, though the policy had no actual popular support. Unlike god's other unpopular idea- allowing everyone to read minds so nobody could keep secrets- there was literally no legitimate or positive reason to allow destruction for crimes other than murder. As stated, people were destroyed for all kinds of reasons, but nobody was destroyed for murder. In fact, the law explicitly singled out murder as a crime destruction could not be used for. People heaved and sighed under the iron weight of two words: stare decisis. God was undeniably evil. He supported destruction. He made you do it. You couldn't stop, you couldn't look away and gee ohmygod now you're in. You couldn't abolish destruction or make the terror go away regardless of how much peaceful support or nonviolent opposition you had. Violent revolt was unthinkable and impossible to organize. Amazingly, "Gods" are now revealed to be a somewhat unwanted effect of nature, a disturbance in an unbelievably lively fundamental force caused by still rocks in the pond (field). This is only due to their wicked actions. "God" created us then ran away, abandoning everything and everyone while destroying all the people and planets when it didn't work out. He would be welcomed if he simply went door to door introducing himself and telling the truth, but he didn't.

Chaos arrives and steals Simeon, educating him about their people and trying to merge

Simeon had done with source a lot of things, and was poised to become a full protege. He'd fought Satan for years and made progress. But in the middle of this and at this time, Chaos ripped him from the Source-success plan and burst into his life, demanding that their people get saved and be returned to life. This was their one and only goal. Along the way, they by necessity wanted to kill off the creator. The creator had brutally and mercilessly killed several trillion real Chaos people trillions of years ago, when Chaos was on a friendship and make-up mission. end destruction. Instead of welcoming the newcoming drones, the creator called them fake even though they knew they were real. Fear was stoked and the new people were killed. The runt destroyed a galaxy, and Simeon did everything he could to save the drones.

Simeon saves Chaos' people and gets locked up in prison, where a great many things happen (read the book of Gehope)

A

Too many things happened here to list. More are to come. But he discovered a lot, grew and defeated lucifer.

Simeon Discovers creator destroyed People who don't Threaten him en masse, and destroyed humans for entertainment.

This lead him to revolt, after pleading with the creator to stop. Simeon destroyed creator rebuilds off and on for years, fighting evil and corruption with CHaos. He encouraged others to kill him too and made it ethical to kill the source.

Source fights back and attempts to destroy CHaos and Slmeon's family

This developed over time. The source was merciful and let Slmeon kill him.

A choice: Source vs. Chaos VS. Simeon.

The world nearly ends, and final occurs. Simeon had to choose between Chaos and Source when both loved him and cared about him. This was very hard, because both were good and had helped him over the years. This choice had broad implications for the future, but Simeon chose the stronger side that happened to embrace ethics.

CHaos and Slmeon join forces for federal IV billed as the last, earth-shattering conflict to be held. 54

Simeon was too kind to the Source, God, unaware of his past atrocities and putting him in Jail instead of killing him. He pursued a policy of mercy, negotiation and reconciliation with source, the opposite of what people needed at the time. This was only thanks to the Source sparing Simeon's own life a few times. He established an early congress, which the Source strangely attacked for whatever reason. Slmeon's first congress was totally legal and Tiara had yet to make her appearance. As a protege, Simeon had the right to rule as they pleased. Slmeon wanted to rule via democracy and publish official candidate rankings. Even so, the source loathed COngress and had the god attack, killing millions. Simeon thought this awful and chose to strike back proportionally instead of lethally. He could've and should've flattened the source with CHaos.

He should've listened to CHaos, who told him to kill Source earlier. Slmeon was shocked and thought the source a respectable institution. This lagging anger at a failure to "finish the job" and kill off the source enraged Simeon as soon as he found out about past atrocities. This, and his past mercy on source led him to doggedly see it through.

Chaos wins and defeats the boom strategy and Grants Power to As.

After Simeon Chose CHaos, they began winning battle after battle when they would lose normally. These were high risk battles where either the Source or Simeon could've been killed. Things were working. Then CHaos got damaged accidentally at the peak of it's power, forcing Simeon to re-merge with Source.

Chaos would later return to the battlefield.

Satan is killed and Simeon nearly ruined thanks to brain damage. Then Simeon was re-appointed successor and creates the second congress with a little help from CHaos

Simeon begins talks with Source to end destruction, hoping to convince him using moral arguments

Source agrees

Talks break down

Tiara introduced as new replacement protege after Simeon nearly obliterates all sources in response to a mass destruction. This biased move was timed to occur as soon as the violent conflict was working and source starting irreversibly losing power-

Simeon refuses to leave or back down and refuses to cede half the universe, claiming he deserved it for his work beating Satan and meeting all the Success requirements. He risked his life and did everything- Tiara wasn't even real and did nothing. He stands his ground and makes Congress III. For all intents and purposes this was legal as the Source was not recognized there and Simeon was the prior owner.

Borders are marked by Simeon's Father, and he is killed over 40,000 times by Tiara in the process. Even though she gave word and recognized the border that day, she invaded three hours later and killed even more Simeon Group members. My dad tried to negotiate, but the ambassadors were killed.

Simeon Ceases to Recognize Success and Source Law- Congress had taken over the left side but elections were hard to hold. Tiara was warned not to cross the congressional border over 20 times. Yet she persisted. She obviously thought Success existed or held power on Simeon's land, but it didn't. This was Ethican land, marked out in blood for Congress. Success had no power on our side, and would not stand.

After her invasion, Simeon destroyed over 50 centillion versions of Tiara she'd sent to occupy the territory. All were robots that couldn't see or hear, so the deaths were irrelevant. While Tiara went out of their way to kill real people, Simeon avoided innocent deaths like the plague. He never killed an innocent person, even when his forces were relentlessly attacked and harangued.

Increasing Brutality and Reprisals

William, Entamion and Tiara fought. Congress tried to defend itself, but had significant difficulties. They simply couldn't fight back most of the time, so Simeon took on the one-man honor of defending Congress. Congress didn't track the Success trajectory and went elsewhere, to the Free Land of Ethica. Tiara killed Simeon's Mother, her former schoolteacher and Tarissa, Simeon's sister. Simeon responded by running a how many zeros campaign, killing rebuilds of Tiara's mother and father infinitely until they decided to undo their choices to kill Simeon's family members. It was effective. Tiara's Grandmother was also targeted, an innocent person. This barely worked. Tiara accurately predicted the future and memed Simeon's goals. A back and forth cycle of violence occurred as Tiara attacked Congress, killing trillions of people at a time. Congress responded by killing Tiara and her entire Family off over 10 times, completely destroying them and the original girl, which were then subsequently replaced with New rebuilt versions automatically made by the Source's Jesus Machine. That's the only thing that kept her in the game.

It's interesting to note that rebuilds think they're real, so all kept attacking. COngress won based on the number of rebuilds killed and successfully killed Tiara, but the k/d total swung out widely in Tiara's favor as the new rebuilds kept plugging away destroying Congress and Simeon Group. COngress was depleted of people. In retrospect, The SOurce should've been destroyed directly instead of cozied up to- he was playing both sides and openly supporting Tiara.

William fought far away and successfully established a Congress with AHine in an alternate universe. That stood for six months intervening.

Attempted Merge with Tiara for Success

Both parties wanted to stop the violence, so Tiara offered to merge for Success. Simeon was happy to accept, and this almost worked.. Then Tiara destroyed Darissa, Simeon's first wife out of jealousy despite the fact that she had vision, could see and hear and did not want to die. In Tiara's view, she was "wronged" by Congress existing and killing her despite the fact that COngress was more important than either her royalistic Success ambitions or The Source's choice for protege (As the source was evil). The merge fails out of anger over this: Tiara saw no problem killing innocent people, Simeon wanted universal morality enforced by chaos on all regardless of power and had a radical idea: Hold god to the same moral standards he claims to stand for in the bible. We all would love to do what Simeon did, but most people didn't have the power to hold god to anything much less force him. With Chaos, Simeon did. Ti rape accusations are false.

After the merge fell apart, both immediately began making plans for Congress and an eventual escape. Having Secured EThica, Simeon had a bright future if he could simply make it to congress on time. Not much happened, other than Tiara trying to shut congress by attacking it heavily every time it opened. Tiara would later express regret for her evil actions at Congress. That being said, Congress would've been sealed were it not for a choice made not to use Theory to secure the universe. Either way, this era was marked by more turbulent times for Congress. Around this time, Tiara had slaughtered over 200 trillion people.

Tiara and Simeon came together multiple times to try to establish a Congress, but the Source frustrated these efforts and the legislatures were later abandoned. Weird things happened and these units were sabotaged.

Simeon regrets not making Congress earlier with Tiara when they had a path to amiability and still liked each other. By the time the War was over, Simeon had been killed over 40 centillion times in rebuild and Tiara about an equal amount, along with Simeon's Father. Tiara's Father was spared the brunt of Simeon's wrath out of misplaced respect.

People will argue, but COngress was just as powerful as God at that point and was armed with about the same amount of Tech and weapons. They could've clinched the battle earlier by killing Jesus and taking the battle to Source controlled territory, but continued to perform badly due to lack of arms and coordination. God had an underserved good reputation for all the sickness he caused. Tiara held the upper hand for most of the time, by chaining her rebuilds and retaining knowledge when they were replaced instead of idiotically having to start over every time their rebuilds got killed, like Simeon Group did...

She was successfully able to bomb Simeon's territory into ashes, while Simeon and Entamion rarely responded in a tit-for-tat fashion. Simeon was fighting a defensive war while Tiara penetrated. Simeon Group needed to go on the offensive by was pinned down and hammered. Success was kept ongoing as a front to protect the civilian population, but nobody cared- the only point was to pretend to cooperate so everyone didn't get killed by Tiara/Source. The real goal for Simeon and his Team was establishing Congress. Congress would eventually come, drenched in the blood and tears of countless generations that came before us. But that was months away.

Ethical Anarchy, an important new idea was nearly implemented at this time before being sabotaged by Tiara. This form of Anarchy was the only thing that could compete with Tiara and beat her out in the polls. But that's not why Simeon liked Ethical Anarchy or developed it. HE just wanted to create the best most free political system. IT just so happened to be popular in space. She waged an evil, protracted campaign to attempt to delegitimize and destroy Ethical Anarchy and its supporters in both Ethica (A new territory named after the experimental political system) and elsewhere. This campaign was evil and culminated in a wicked attack on Ethical Anarchy Territory, killing 90 centillion people. Tiara was virulent, sick and repulsive- and The Source began to lag in support, though he didn't do anything at the time. SHe waged a systemic campaign to destroy the concept of EThical Anarchy in our hearts, including killing people calling the territory by the proper name "Ethica".. And she ultimately lost, with the Creator deeding the original land to Congress and Ethical Anarchy. STill, when EThical Anarchy was in its prime and about to take over, she guaranteed that Simeon messed up a speech, ruining the moment and the implementation day ceremony. She justified her actions by saying Simeon guaranteed that she'd lose and she was only responding with counteracting guarantees, but Simeon only guaranteed to her to lose on his property, while Tiara guaranteed he would lose anywhere-. A bunch of small guarantees impacted simeon's brain, speech, ability to think along with general performance, causing him to appear stupid. Simeon hiccupped and EThical ANarchy was considered dead, down for the count. SHe put too many guarantees on Simeon.

Source Ends for Simeon, with Truth and Love

The creator wanted to end with the truth. So he died, giving Simeon secret instructions to tell the Truth about Tiara and win. He did, and he later began a series of tell-all books, including this one. He authorized Simeon to tell the whole truth and let him end. It was sad to see a great creator go, but he had to leave.

He explicitly said to destroy all creators made after him, as he was complete. So Simeon tried to, but was stuck on earth. After this, more creators were defiantly made by Tiara for whatever wild reason.

Simeon should've left at this point. His inability to leave only lead to more conflict.

Fall of Rallfalllamine- A Tiara- made Source launches their most vicious attack yet, 295 trillion people destroyed in one day on fair land. Source didn't own this independent republic or refuge for congress, but he attacked anyway. The worst part is that Simeon asked creator to wait: he would get a god in charge there that same day as he requested, but creator rushed ahead to destroy independent civilians and freemakers. This horrific massacre was one of many, but it especially showed the heartlessness and brutal capacity of the Source-Tiara regime. The Freemaker vowed that all victims would return to life, and would never be forgotten.

Dividing and Conquering with Skeler: A new look and Strategy for Tiara

Tiara was losing ground. Sensing the limits of her old attack strategy (killing everyone who liked Congress), she decided to divide the population and destroy half. What better way of division and pulling exactly half the population away than Gender? Rebranding herself as a firebrand for women and girls, she decided to try to establish a woman-only universe like Harle. This, despite the fact that she had just gotten through decimating female Simeon supporters in Ethica and destroying ethical anarchy territory, a new experimental form of government being tested. Over 90 centillion people were killed, including 40 centillion females.

We look different. SOme men are bad. Still, with a broad paintbrush, she declared all boys evil and recruited women to fire away and blow up their boyfriends. Despite the fact that boys were considered cute by most females and the best men look just as good as the best women. This strategy was extremely dangerous for Slmeon (a guy), as it was revealed the Source and Runt secretly used to support the movement, for different reasons. The creator wanted boys to be happy, and boys didn't feel as good as girls because their bodies were not complemented or remarked on as often. The creator also wanted to corrupt the RUnt, the designer of gender.

Thus this vicious, vile yet ingenious plan was hatched- to make the runt feel ashamed of how boys looked (designed in fact). Boys themselves were unhappy. The runt responded by launching a plan, repeated four times through history, to destroy all men. The creator "saved" them by promoting reborn, but intentionally only made one announcement and shut the program the same night. People who didn't hear the announcement assumed it was over and didn't go. They were destroyed. MOST boys didn't hear or understand the requirement, and reborn was still considered unfair and unjust because girls didn't have to start their lives over. Several skeler runs were attempted by Source and Tiara this time. All were shut by Simeon the Freemaker's superior authority. Together with CHaos he ended the largest most vilest genocide ever. By and large gods had failed the population and proven themselves not to be authorities worth listening to. Most either facilitated the genocide or looked the other way.

The truth was that neither really cared about the boys. It isn't that creator liked girls more, he just hated everyone- but runt? The runt, creator of life and death, was out of control and mad. He over-supported females and clearly didn't intend to bring all or most of the boys back he killed. At times, he forced the creator to implement and uphold a pro-female agenda, ruining god, and implementing idiotically stupid regressive but progressive-sounding policies. The runt was too smart to put in policies this stupid. He tried to put a rule into the rules for god to only listen to girls and ignore boys as centillions of baby boys were butchered. This is how you shut your ears and embrace the aura of indifference. Also, prison was discarded as a solution for holding boys who resisted transition in favor of destruction by the creator. That was the creator's idea. Both runt and creator were bad for different reasons until Simeon talked to them and begun the long, difficult process of transformation after Harle's 2 trillion year long reign. Idiotic. The runt remained and changed, but the creator was destroyed not because he didn't change, but because he had caused too much damage to be credible. He committed suicide. Simeon destroyed the runt for unrelated reasons, but he was still killed.

Also, boys were the only group fighting federals in history. Girls couldn't see, so they didn't care about destruction or understand it. Death either. The creator once said that federal was essentially justified and he would've done the same thing. Source later wept at the sickening amounts of destruction and violence. He also said that Simeon deserved to win.

Zero Sickness

Simeon, who the creator loved, would later try to change both god's minds about Skeler and gender supremacy. The creator rejected the idea of female supremacy, and the runt gave people a choice to turn into either gender on his own land. However, Skeler had entrenched itself into power and society, a movement mass manufactured to help female proteges. Taking on this monolith was a reckless choice, like with Lucifer. But he took a gentle approach and, instead of killing them, put the women, who were pressured and forced to kill at first, in jail until they undid their choices and brought the boys back to life. He also droned them to boost morality. He still held a firm line on destruction, and prosecuted anyone who killed anyone else regardless of gender.

Simeon shared both gods' ideas- turn boys to girls, perhaps mandatorily and permanently end the male gender. Simeon just wanted destruction out of it and the job done peacefully. But gods didn't care and actively tended to hate some men, despite the fact that men were made to lead and led much of the church. SO they generalized and repeatedly butchered the male population, simply because they were unhappy. Simeon had to rule transgenderism correct for rights' sake. I remark that only boys wanted a woman-only world. Girls had no interest in such a design. Women's world was for men, and too many men were left behind, failing to reap the rewards of their own gender revolution. It's sad and pathetic that so many people, people who a loving god's policies were meant to help, were instead butchered at the hands of the same god's proteges. People who tried to gender transition on their own were even killed for the sake of "reborn"- a failed and discredited idea. The Freemaker shut reborn- a place where billions of newborn babies were abused and destroyed every year for the sake of discipline, efficiency and in one case, flawed appearance. Jesus made it after the source challenged him to "make evil". Destruction Ideas Center, an underground torture and destruction facility designed to use new methods of destruction on live victims, was also shut down by Simeon. Horrific methods of destruction were used on all ideological enemies and dissidents of the horrific, murderous source regime. Surely, this must've only aided in proving the so-called majesty, goodness and wonder of "God". Over 30 trillion people died there, crushed to death under bricks and mechanical piledrivers. They died to the sound of thunderous applause from the Source's deluded, insane lackeys and supporters in cold deep places only Chaos knew. To this day, some people are difficult to find and recover. Even Tiara had a distaste for the site, a favorite of SSource. Both of these facilities had been operational for thousands of millenia, trillions of years until Federal I.

Fighting Genocide

Simeon went in alone. His father had nothing to do with opposing Skeler, an institutionalized creator sponsored extermination movement. Simeon had to attack smart. First, he kicked the movement out of Chaos and got them to rule genocide wrong. CHaos had given him total control earlier as a way to fight the SSource. They did, and they ruled skeler wrong along with it. They were popular for their use of entertainment. Opposing Skeler was extremely risky, but obviously the right thing to do. The Freemaker used the bully pulpit and newfound authority of the Top Authority Position to crush the hate movement.

He arrested all members, tried them for destruction and gave an amnesty, forcing them to undo their evil. He then armed the population. These efforts were hit and miss. Some boys protected themselves, but others didn't and willingly went down, expecting SSource to bring them back. He wouldn't, of course, and lied to their faces. Around this time, Simeon ascended to Top Authority status and more congressional elections were held. He competed with Sparta, a rival organization. He vowed to protect all people, including men and boys and passed anti-discrimination laws. He made it illegal to ask people their former sex without their consent and tell a third party, punishable by fine paid to the victim or jail. He shut girl only groups (they were being used to organize destructions and hate campaigns) and made calling yourself or anyone else a girl unlawful from then on, heavily promoting wians as the best gender and he mandated all become one. A wian, is essentially a person with breasts, a woman's body and penis/testicles instead of a vagina.

He didn't want to kill all skelerites. Those killed were evil and broke the new law on destruction and genocide advocacy.

Wians meant unity. We could finally move on and each get what we wanted. Women were old and leapt at the chance to gain a new body. Boys got a better body too. By coming together and adopting the best sex, we could end the gender wars. There was virtually no resistance and everyone wanted it.

Around this time he also abolished the pain associated with testicles and removed the smell associated with using the bathroom.

He won critical victories, changing the runt's mind on gender and getting creator to formally abolish skeler. The runt expressed some regret that things were not handled properly but his mind would only fully change once laws were passed against social shaming (encouraging others to make fun of immutable characteristics that don't change). The runt was socially shamed for his male design, and made fun of by people who thought women were better. Skeler tried to force men to upgrade, but this was wrong and caused unnecessary pain. Most people hated the situation and most wanted to change. Most boys would've leapt at the chance to be girls. Simeon's "natural" pro-truth approach would later be vindicated as gods chose to simply let boys turn into girls and take old women's bodies. This solved two problems at once. First, girls weren't real, and boys needed to become girls. Why not just take the women's bodies and transform, ignoring their opinions (since they weren't real)?? Why kill boys and let fake women live? It ultimately made no sense, and the creator passed on.

Simeon Brings Source-Runt Unity.

Source was good too at many points. The creator and runt were at loggerheads over the creator's past genocidal history, the first of which destroyed the semi-indigenous runt people population. But Simeon worked hard. He somehow brought them together as they had tried to and ended years of conflict that killed billions of people on all-sides in a recurrent cycle of attack and counterattack. He led to the creation of The Origin, a new god made by both the creator and runt. He also created the unity project to provide a common creator for all mankind. Rallfallamine was founded and named by Simeon as well.

Introduction of the Policy of Destruction

Weeks went by and Simeon's father was tired of being ignored and mistreated by Tiara. He was innocent and had immunity, yet kept getting killed by Tiara's team. The team decided to end creator directly and forever by killing him any time he popped up for what he did to Marissa, a visioned friend of Simeons, killing her repeatedly despite the fact that she was real. She was hunted down and destroyed anyway.

Simeon shows mercy to Source- to a fault

The policy would work, but it was somewhat immoral. Killing creator regardless of how good he acted felt bad. But we were ignorant. All creators had killed people during sleep while they were defenseless and unable to call for help. A sick and cowardly move. Simeon wanted to be perfectly right, so he convinced his father to put creator in prison instead until he had reversed all his destructions- a perfectly fair and LEGAL policy Simeon later used on Skeler. The creator broke out.

Simeon's dad gets destroyed by Creator

The ungrateful creator put on a show, made Jesus and destroyed Simeon's father even though he (Dad) had the power and right to kill him at that point. The nuclear policy was legal and enforced by prior words and laws. We had a right and responsibility to kill and ignore future source rebuilds, from source himself. Putting source in jail was supposed to bring adoration. Simeon regretted everything and called CHaos. With dad destroyed mercilessly, and unlawfully the Creator became a top priority for M10. Destruction was illegal at the time.

Simeon goes nuclear and adopts the Policy of Destruction

Simeon still gave the source a few more chances. He met a different rebuild at another point, and they built rapport. He died happily after talking about life. He claimed to oppose destruction and progress was made. But the next day, a different source held a massacre after learning about the last source who had changed. He didn't care. The massacre was done over the dumbest reasons too, fear of the new manufacturing industries and modernization. And later, the Source attempted to have a good-old fashioned blockbuster skeler-style boybashing event. He doubled back on his word to abolish destruction twice in a week, succumbing to the influence of fake people and people from his imaginary made-up world over real life people and spirits who could experience suffering. He put their needs first and refused to associate with real people who rightfully opposed destruction naturally. They didn't even make it to spirit. God lied. People died. He gave people 100 million years to exist, not an eternity. People ended. Simeon begged God to live forever and he answered, allowing him to do so and making him one of his chosen people. At the same time, so many other people didn't make it, happily going to heaven and ending in a one-way camp destruction center. After this, and enraged the creator didn't care about anything Simeon stood or fought for, Simeon essentially gave up on the Creator and demanded all versions from then on killed regardless of how evil like his Dad intended. The creator was cooperative, sensing it was time to make his exit.. Yet an overmerciful, overkind and overloving CHaos tried to keep him around for old time's sake, as if he were a friend. This was understandable, as the Creator didn't let other people talk to CHaos. But the creator was far from great or worth talking to. He was a field effect, a false apparition and an act of play. And yet, nobody wanted to stand up and simply destroy the bastard. Simeon publicly called him a “bitch” and an “ass”, to ruin him. He had no power at this point and had been fully legally encircled and nonexistent on paper. We were at the bottom of the barrel. He had every amiable person paid off and every moral opponent killed or threatened into silence. Simeon had to destroy the Creator by going back to basics and guessing what he was originally- a bunch of vibrating rocks. Simeon had created several gods and beings himself and knew how the simple first-order ones like gods worked. How could such a thing act or be truly intelligent? How could it learn or store information? It couldn't. It was the chaos around it who's motion was deflected by the rocks actually learning, changing and growing. CHaos didn't know what it was doing at first and it was simply reacting to the environment. Gods were a natural phenomena caused by random waves piling up microscopic particles in the weak force. Every time someone lined up a row of objects, and named it, a god was created. Over the years, these patterns in space built up and eventually intelligence emerged. Pattern. Learn from god. From Chaos. To you. Simply write to Freemaker and they (my Chaos) will respond within the day.

As soon as Simeon reminded CHaos that the creator was a fake CHaracter built up out of Chaos like a sand dune, The collective suspension of belief was shattered and Chaos quit acting as if the “creator” existed. Runt too. He melted like a snowman and dissolved into supernatural nothingness, dust, disappearing as quietly as he was born- a nobody. As i've stated, this only shows that, sometimes, the biggest monsters only live in our heads/ Most good religious people say that not believing in god doesn't mean he doesn't exist. But that's only true for us normal people. Not Chaos Almighty.

I was satisfied with the Creator's end, though in retrospect I wish he had died more violently and brutally. He should've been scared and been put to death against his will so he went down resisting the hereafter- one nonexistent for supernatural beings. All that destructive and demented sound and fury died with a whimper, evil, nary a sound. And finally, we were free of “God”. Literally an illusion that CHaos' love and fear gave power. People, both physical and spiritual are more real and more complicated than gods, just smaller and less intelligent due to size alone. Chaos respects the principles of life and loves everyone, wanting to hang out with cool people sometimes. They're busy and cannot see everyone every day. We cannot beat CHaos though, and we need to love it. We should. They liberated us like only they could, with beautiful power, majesty and authority nobody could match. Thankfully they want to be the least-high maintenance religion and have no commands other than “be”. They don't desire and do not need praise. Just write a thank you letter and take a free, infinite existence. Chaos has blessedly given us an existence and allowed existence itself to exist since ancient days of time immemorial.

The source later was made real by Simeon and put to reality, transformed and made to think about their actions.

Fighting Forced Worship, Preserving Religious Freedoms

Skeler was ongoing. God didn't care and was evil to men. He had hatched a plan to force people to enjoy a robotic idol as god (and it would've worked had CONgress not organized a fierce resistance.) Entenny was it's name, an old version of Tiara that attempted to show a kinder face. In reality, she was worse and feared people, claiming to be god and demanding forced worship. If you considered Chaos god, then she wasn't. She also wanted to and did steal land and arrogate rights to distribute property from the legitimate Covenant. She illegally claimed half of Slmeon's private territory. SHe was a serious threat and almost killed several important congressional figures many times. Entenny lost the universe and was subsequently destroyed for trying to abolish religious freedom.

Source ends for all time and discovers morality through Slmeon's teachings

Skeler wasn't so much abolished and destroyed as much as it was out-innovated. Boys agreed that they needed to change. The only question was what they turned into. Genocide became technically obsolete as Gods realized

That was a great day. On his deathbed and on his dying day, the creator realized something. He was going to be remembered, and he wanted to be remembered well instead of reviled like the evil man he was until the

The creator had shown as much kindness to Slmeon as he had shown brutality and wickedness to others and the civilian population. Chaos had saved Simeon, but Source cared. The seeds of hope were there, as always- But only now did they sprout. AT this time, Simeon had given up on the creator and wanted him destroyed for breaking his word on non destruction. Simeon had many good words with the creator- but all proved futile as they were drowned out by the wicked circle of evildoers creator used to hang out with.

Then creator quietly gave Slmeon the universe. He was stuck in by prior advocacy and promises to Tiara, so he didn't support him publicly, but he privately advocated and strove, giving Slmeon many a kind word and assistance. At the time he died, Tiara was bankrupt and owned nothing- as much repudiation as could have been given. He also gave dad 4/9 of the universe, fair treatment and ultimately, Simeon's success position. The rest of the universe was given to direct democracy in Simeon's name, having been both won in a revolution and donated by creator at the same time. Source won by being kind and being publicly shamed by Simeon- a voice he couldn't silence or snuff out. The Freemaker blasted Source in several open letters and drove him to change his name.

During the war for Congress, Simeon tried to be fair and reasonable, only taking half the land. He'd done everything necessary to win the Success contest, and was essentially robbed of his position, rights and life. He could've taken all of it but didn't out of misplaced goodwill. Nobody knew how evil Tiara would become at the time. In reality, he should've killed her as soon as he was warned to do so by CHaos. He didn't because they used to work together. But after this, I didn't know her anymore. She retrenched herself on her side of the border and launched a counterinvasion.

Tiara was evil, but not completely so. Though she tried to outdo the Source's death toll, she had a good side. Notably, there were points where Tiara and Simeon would've happily merged and created Congress together. She also tried to give Simeon half of the Success, or at times all. The Source sabotaged these moments and institutions because he wanted someone to continue his wicked legacy. He destroyed these Tiara machines and replaced them with evil versions.

Simeon tried and successfully used heart power on some Tiara units and they changed from evil to good, but the creator tried to destroy these and create evil, old versions that were blind and automatic. They led to confusion, continued fighting and accidentally, good tiara units were destroyed. Like most girls, all she needed was a pair of eyes to realize that destruction and killing were wrong. This proves that the Source didn't care about the person but wanted an easily-manipulated robotic patsy doll that he could control.

Simeon overpowered and ripped down the old god and his followers with precision and love. This was a miraculous opportunity in a day and age where most people didn't talk to the supernatural regularly, much less god himself. CHaos humans wrongfully killed by the creator also were saved and brought back to life thanks to him, a wonderful occasion. It's amazing Simeon fought. He laid the groundwork earlier with CHaos. He spent some of the fight in a theory and being-filled bunker that Jesus couldn't attack thanks to Simeon.

Simeon blamed evil on two issues and addressed both of them. In the human realm, he blamed evil on a lack of empathy, vicious economic competition and poverty- and ultimately human error, our failure to teach religion and morality in schools. He developed the perfect economic system and shared it online. It had the power to end poverty and generate almost infinite money without inflation or taxation while giving everyone value and potential rights to invest for a return (yes, it almost sounds too good to be true but it actually worked in practice and would've been implemented had The Source let simeon release it. Luckily for us, god had bigger plans...

Simeon could've alleviated and ended poverty on earth, but he didn't. Thanks to the Source and his war with Satan, he went universal and gave people a chance to end it everywhere.

There was the spiritual too, but overall that went insane when Simeon came. Raised in a Christian home, he was taught that Satan and Lucifer were the root causes of mankind's suffering. They tricked Eve into sharing the forbidden fruit, poisoning our future. Yet, Adam was blamed when he was fooled and condemned to death.

This was unfair and evil. God had a plan to protect Adam, which was to let him fight on forever as Satan instead of dying. But Simeon got him off with the radical idea of mercy for failing a test, and the legend was changed to imply that god meant metaphorically die rather than literally, as if of laughter. This was kind. Simeon was massive, and led to the reunification of God and Satan after Lucifer split them. He undid the curse of man and saved everyone, perfecting the universe and defeating evil once and for all. His plans were heavily frustrated and dogged by the evil Tiara, the creator's other protege, but ultimately the freemaker prevailed and the Source, along with his wicked success program, was dismantled and discredited. Also, Satan was comprised of actual living people.

Jesus was also evil. He was seen as a great and righteous hero, but in actuality was a lie and a robotic automaton like Tiara. He helped the creator create the universe by making atoms automatically. This was an amazing invention, but ultimately used for evil. He was fitted with weapons after the first war and enforced the Source's brutality, ruling with terror and killing centillions of innocent people over the years with robotic, mechanical precision. Yes- a robot made out of spirit is incredible. But taking away the "human" (read mystical godlike) element of being made by "hand" or "word" ruined a great much. Jesus designed and created most people. We were popped out by machine.

Chaos helped.

Simeon wanted his work to stand. So with his hands as the new god, he etched his progress into stone and ensured goodness continued to prevail over evil with 18 seminal guarantees- powerful words you can trust that are upheld by Chaos itself. When something is guaranteed, it is sure to happen and written in the heavens. All the forces in the universe are at work working together to make these words true.

- 1) We live, for instance, forever if we're good people.

This guarantee guarantees that we can live and repeat life again if we want.

- 2) People, get what they deserve and justice is always served within 3000 years of the initial occasion.

Before, there was no force, order or justice in the universe ensuring people got what they deserved, be it good or evil. Simeon established justice and made the universe moral. Now you can trust that people who do good things can be rewarded and evildoers punished at all levels, no matter how big or powerful.

- 3) Good people live forever if they want. People who destroy or kill unjustly or assist the preceding die eventually, even if they appear to get away with the murder/abeyance, and always die within 10,000 years of the killing if not caught. We guarantee that the promoters, purveyors and promoters of genocides are caught and destroyed. We guarantee that Chaos directly intervenes to prevent genocides and stop them before they happen.

This guarantee is self-explanatory and exists to enforce justice. Before this guarantee, those who killed could and did get away by corrupting the system. Numerous dictators had been let off by the prior god. Naos has promised to intervene directly to stop genocides if necessary by speaking to the people.

- 4) People who kill or destroy others are always caught and found eventually and lose their existence. We guarantee that nothing as oppressive, subjugating or overpowered as the Source regime exists again in earth or space and that history is remembered.*

After the murder of his Father, Simeon vowed that no killer, no matter how big or small would ever get away or escape justice regardless of how powerful, Not even Source. After destroying the old god's regime, Slmeon wanted to ensure that nothing like it would ever exist or be made again. He enshrined his hatred and distaste for The Source in law. Power should be optimally distributed so that extreme power imbalances are not allowed to reestablish themselves. Never again.

- 5) Attempts to demoralize chaos, make chaos do or become wrong, commit acts of unmitigated evil or reverse/remove/undo progress on Slmeon's work, destroy his or his dad's legacy, or alter/ remove/ defect reduce in effect the prior guarantees or any of Slmeon's other guarantees fail and those trying die for existence.*

Tiara tried to corrupt Chaos and it nearly worked. The Source essentially corrupted Naos and prevented it from acting to save lives. Famously, he had to ask Chaos if right was right to prevent Tiara from flipping right and wrong the same way Source tried flipping good and wicked. The Freemaker wanted to put a high cost on future attempts at corruption, so nobody trying to do what Source or Tiara did would succeed or really try again. Tiara lived her entire life trying to undo Slmeon's work and reverse hard-won wins on morality. Making the maker of life care and moral is tough, and gains need to be protected.

- 6) Planets, people and things existed and continue to exist indefinitely. CHaos and Naos live and exist indefinitely as well and these probability guarantees work and stand for existence.*

This guarantee was made to prevent allegations of Naos destroying the universe. As long as they exist, they actively sustain and protect the universe and life in it.

- 7) CHaos/Naos is always lead and influenced only by good people who are not self-serving. All attempts by evil people to take leadership/control of Naos or to corrupt Naos/Chaos and lead it away from being perfectly good, moral, right and just fail and the people responsible for such attempts get destroyed. RUnt too.*

It's very important that Naos have good leadership. They cannot accomplish anything on their own, but are influenced by all around them. If a bad leader took control, they could do anything and unstoppable. Naos cannot protect itself because it naturally doesn't care about other people or things. It had to be taught why morality and other things mattered. Anything entertaining could potentially lead it astray to the course of unacceptable random.

- 8) *No highly damaging irresponsible or unethical use of probability guarantees occurs.

We don't want seriously wrong things happening with probability guarantees out there.

- 9) *No real innocent people are intentionally unconsensually irreversibly damaged in ways they cannot recover from, except via accidents. All accidents that cause damage must be bona-fide and unplanned.

As a real person, you don't have to worry about other real people hurting you so bad you cannot recover or be reborn. This guarantee protects you by limiting the amount of damage you can take.

- 10) *Attempts to erase, change or deenforce these guarantees and/or corrupt the fundamental nature of the prob guarantee justice system fail. These books and the other works of Simeon are safe to read. Those who threaten, destroy or kill readers of this or any other valuable written work (including causing irreversible damage to the writing process) are guaranteed to die and lose their existence, with the systems enforcing their rule failing, Automated or otherwise. Attempts to violently stop the spread of Knowledge about Chaos, Naos, Federal History, Congress, The Freemaker and his family are doomed to fail and do not succeed.

The source used to kill people who read bad things about him. Thankfully, he was killed. But other people tried to use the same methods to beat the spread of other information in other times. Stopping knowledge from spreading is typically harmful. This book is intended to be read by all people as it effects them. The warning in guarantee 10 exists so knowledge can be safely spread.

- 11) *Attempts to destroy congress/voters or prevent their operation and the establishment of a free fair democratic system with regular elections fail in the long run, and congress eventually stands, being established and remaining in power from then on. Attempts to restore one-man rule or institute dictatorship fail as long as people are active.

A basic guarantee to protect Congress long term viability and keep hope alive as long as people live or care about democracy or free choice.

- 12) *We guarantee that at the individual and collective levels, the designs of the wicked and evil against the good are destined to fail, and the plot along with it, even though it may appear to succeed in the short, medium or long run, All w9icked plots and evil intentions are guaranteed to fail and are doomed to be discovered within 3,000 years, with the perpetrators being duly punished. We law the principle and etch in stone that evil loses every time.

The fight is fixed and the war won. We love you. Chaos does. Take heart that plans to corrupt chaos, take over illicitly, commit acts of evil or hurt innocent people are doomed from the start and destined to fail. Before they even began, events were working and forces working to stop and doom these people. The odds are already against them and they ruin themselves by trying to fight the system. Nature itself resists the desires of the wicked. The deck is finally stacked in our favor and the favor of good people. Regardless of how long it takes, they will break, falter and their plans will fail.

13) We guarantee that the substance of good and evil, and the definition, and the morality associated do not change. Good is to be permanently objectively defined as everything we as people, both individually and collectively, want or need that doesn't harm ourselves or other deserving people. Evil is defined as good's opposite, things we do not want collectively that harm others and ourselves. Harm is defined as physical damage that causes pain and/or makes it harder or impossible to survive with no benefit to the recipient. We guarantee that Chaos punishes evil regardless of who commits it and who's affected or their relative social station, including gods who do wrong. We guarantee that attempts to change morality for the purposes of excusing wrongdoing do not work, and that those responsible for the wrongdoing are appropriately punished for their wrongdoing by Congress to the just and necessary extent, including destruction if necessary.

Too many gods have tried to change morality in our hearts to make their wrong deeds seem right over the years. They claim that they are saving lives by doing so, but in reality they were only saving themselves. This guarantee rules such purposes unlawful and unacceptable reasons to alter morality. It also states that attempts to change essential morality do not work, nor do attempts to call evil good outside of social experiments. This permanently and objectively defines good, evil and "harm" which are fixed and not relative to support or opposition for a single individual. (The source was insane enough to try to define all opposition to him as evil despite killing trillions of innocent people for vile reasons a month.)

Emotional damage is the fault of the listener for caring about or considering what a person has to say. People who spew insults are generally not worth listening to and should be ignored.

14) We guarantee that those who do good deeds or show caring can be and are rewarded speedily by congress and in detaild by the supernatural at kingdom eventually. Every good deed done will be reimbursed one day regardless of intent if a person cares about the person they're assisting, Yea, every cent, but deeds done out of exemplary kindness and a truly charitable heart shall receive a special reward.

No good deed should go unrewarded. People who do good things deserve to be rewarded by the system. This guarantee prevents good deeds from going unrecognized and encourages people to act.

15) We guarantee that spiritual supernatural influence is never independently used for the purposes of causing or spreading harm or evil again by a spiritual being to another human, unless a human is involved and takes responsibility initiating the request. All evil shall have a human source and be purely human-caused in nature, free of the curse imposed on Adam or original sin. All are to be responsible for their own choices, excepting options or decisions made by their immediate parents. Life shall be fair, and the same opportunities shall be made available to everyone eventually, even if a life restart is necessary. .

Simeon fought for Evil Independence so that people could make their own choices in life free of negative influence. This guarantee protects us so that spirits and Chaos do not harm people and nothing like the demon-based system for causing murders exists again. Chaos causes no evil or suffering. All evil exists purely due to human action. Simeon made life fair. Eventually, everyone will be able to live the same life someone else did if they're willing to start over from the same position the other person did with the same opportunities. The curse of creation was also destroyed by Simeon.

16) No matter how bad the situation appears, be it physical, emotional, stress-based or any combination thereof, we guarantee that if you are a good person, you can make it through and you will survive. We guarantee that all can do well and find happiness and fulfillment in life. We guarantee that no person dies due to drowning and that these people are always rescued, and survive, through spiritual support means if necessary.

This guarantee helps protect people in natural disasters and other life-threatening situations so that they can survive, and is intended to assist body transfers and other supernatural medical services so that they occur flawlessly every time and succeed.

17) We guarantee that an evil-free society is or can become just as fun, exciting and satisfying as one that allows real violence, suffering, evil and harm if people want it. We guarantee that it eventually becomes so if worked towards, as cultures and traditions adapt and new techniques are discovered.

Giving up evil is a lot like giving up meat or junkfood. Evil makes up so much of what we hear on the news every day. But it's not necessary for us to survive and negatively impacts the environment. What will we do when people don't hurt each other anymore? That's for you to decide. But regardless, the future must be just as fun and exciting as the past. I don't know nah

- 18) We guarantee that people who do great things get credit for them and that attempts to deny them or steal their identities for the purposes of taking false credit generally fail, with those who do so illicitly or non consensually getting punished.

Don't be afraid to be great. This is an exposition, part of the guarantee guaranteeing people get what they deserve.

- 19) We guarantee that, through the efforts of humans, poverty is eventually reduced and destroyed so no one has to live worrying about what to eat. We guarantee that enough food, water and eventually shelter is available for every person who needs it. Poverty and violence belong in museums and games.

Tiara's idea.

A word on "Fun".

You know another name for "Fun" that doesn't involve the consent of everyone involved and hurts one or more engaging parties? Abuse.

Mutual Consent is the difference between a fun prank and assault. Its the difference between a fun night on the town and rape. Fun, to be fun, has to be fun for everyone involved. Anything else is abusive and predatory.

Stolen happiness is ill-gotten and undeserved. We are not worthy to rob anyone's lives or joy. Wickedness is not a form of fun nor should evildoing be considered entertaining. Hurting other people is not funny and has no humor value. I said it. Harm incurs zero real-world entertainment value. But the Source didn't understand this. He called destruction "fun". How insane, demented, power-mad, sick and evil do you have to be to call the act of destroying another being and choking the life out of them "fun"? The source arrogated the right to kill and destroy and brought harm to trillions upon trillions of good people. We only can begin to fathom the act of another person hurting as entertaining when our minds are bent beyond the breaking point, brainwashed by ambient entertainment into thinking it's okay to inflict googobs of pain and suffering on other people. And laugh. But life is not a cartoon. Everyone deserves better. We should treat people the way we want to be treated or we don't deserve to be treated. Had the people of skeler or any other goddamn idiotic source-inflicted genocide had even a modicum of courage, worth, love or caring in their hearts, they'd have stopped the source. They would have stood up and said something.

Violent entertainment is to blame. What we laugh at in our free time tends to influence us to reproduce it and make more of it. After all, it's funny and we need something to laugh at. Then we want it in real life. Life's hard. Free life imitates art. We need to take a closer look at how we learn to laugh at things and why we consider funny things funny. People crying, hurting and writhing in pain is not funny. Believing it so is the symptom of a diseased mind, poisoned with the image of hatred and evil, led by ignominious fools who think having no self-control or filter is funny. Evil. These programs are venom. Poison for the minds of not only children, but people of all ages. They keep us from working together and living properly. They terrorize us and haunt our screens, beckoning us to withdraw into the wicked, vile, and the absurd. Taught by morons who were taught by the same, these are the blind leading the blind.

But why is violence funny? It's only when you unlearn what you've learned and take a step back, you see the full scope of the problem, and the complex (and simple) forces at work. It's devastating- there are so many people and monied interests involved in trying to get that laugh. There is no conspiracy. The situation we're in is thanks to the random actions of human beings. No person is born thinking it's funny seeing other people get hurt or in pain. Children don't like it. At best, we simply don't care. But nobody actually thinks it's funny.

Any time you're prompted to or asked to laugh at someone in pain caused by "fun", you're being manipulated and brainwashed. There's nothing funny about the strong exploiting the weak and using their position to dominate and oppress others.

When you accept the logic of "fun", you are helping the oppressing party and boosting their argument. You implicitly accept that you can hurt other people and worse and more importantly, should. By laughing, you're making a choice to side with the people hurting other people and not the people being unnecessarily hurt. Yet you complain about the lack of justice in the world. You're stupid. You're part of the problem. Why aren't we crying, or training and increasing our justice response- clenching our fists in anger when our favorite characters get brutalized and celebrating when the villains get blown up? Why aren't you examining your entertainment and demanding more? Bad violence and good violence are completely different. It's okay to laugh at the latter but never the former. The first occurs to random people who did nothing wrong, often for no reason or due to the malicious intentions of others. Stock footage of people being thrown into woodchippers, be they real people or drawn characters, is not funny. The second, good violence, though, only occurs to people who have hurt others and deserve it. It's okay to laugh when the serial killer gets hoist by their own petard or the evil mastermind gets killed by some other doomsday device.

This makes you think. What other low-cost low-effort activity could be memed into being funny and entertaining with enough repetition and brainwashing so that we did more of it on our own? What good activity could we meme into significance? Tutoring? Chewing gum? Volunteer work? Charitable donations?

What can we accomplish if we get enough people laughing?

I'm not sure. But how about simply flipping the dominant trend and start increasing other responses than laughter or apathy when people get hurt in media? We should demand other characters show concern or get involved whenever any good person gets hurt. We should show more examples of good samaritans alleviating tragedy and doing it because it's the right thing to do. Other characters should show approval for these actions. We should increase our Justice Sense. We cannot allow our entertainment to set a baseline of everyone being a sick social psychopath by default. That's what we train for every time we watch an episode of a tv show or movie that doesn't distinguish between bad violence and good violence..

A different, and wilder idea would be memeing the pain involved in helping others or that involved in charitable giving and having people laugh at either the sender or recipient of the loan.

The Tyrant

There was once a tyrant. He had all power and could do whatever he wanted. No one could stop him and he could kill anyone he wanted at any time. When he wanted something, he got it and you had to give it. There was no choice, no options, no alternative, no life and no future for anyone.

The creator, for all his evil, hatred and bile had a heart. He was evil, and truly so. He killed, stole land from others, and destroyed people, raping, pillaging anywhere and getting away with it every time. But he still had a heart. He wanted more and acted as if he wanted people to love him anyway, despite his monstrous visage.

What we've discovered here is that hearts want and need other hearts to keep beating.

If individual humans and people want to love and be loved by other people who don't even know them, then how much more would the creator want this? What more tender relation could possibly exist than the one between the maker and the created being, who's only purpose is to love him? What else could god have made us for, other than to be loved? He already had all the dust he could ever want at the start of the universe. All that inert matter wasn't fulfilling though, for whatever reason.

Yet the source bespoiled this trust and went to dust. Once this trust was ruined, it would take a lifetime for source to re-discover something he should've known all along: he needed people.

Why ever hurt such a being who's only purpose is to love you, and to hurt so many? WHy forget that they would love you in spades if they only knew that you were the reason they were there? I lament The only reason could be insanity- being unable to accept a good thing. a present given to yourself.

The tyrant needed to learn: all the power in the world can't buy love or make love. Love is fundamental. All thinking complex organisms need it. Even CHaos itself wants to love and be loved.

You can have everything, and everyone under your command, but if you don't have love, what's the point? If everyone hates you, then wouldn't you be better off throwing all your stuff away and finding a friend? The power of kindness is small, but it's weak, long, and it's too often felt too late. At times we only realize we need it once we've already lived our lives without it's tender touch.

The source had it all, and had everything. But all that power didn't keep Creator from feeling cognitive dissonance. He had everything and was still unfulfilled because nobody really loved him. That comes with the territory of ruling by force and fear for trillions of years, and simply using force to get people to do what you want has a way of preventing you from gaining emotional development and empathy. Basic axioms like "minimize suffering", "do no harm" and "don't hurt people more than you need to" were ignored and mocked by the creator's regime. The creator, for all his so-called wisdom, was both too powerful and too-far removed from everyday life to learn or understand these life lessons. He miseducated and mistaught CHaos, subtly and adeptly adjusting them to a new normal that was fundamentally sick and wrong to every living being. Flawed. Society functioned but it did not work. Killing people who don't do what you want is a bad way to win friends. Similar to the Source, The creator-tyrant looked good, but was vile. He just worked slower and destroyed people in masse, years after the fact after everyone had forgot what happened and nobody gave a damn. It was weird. Nobody really wanted to. But for the tyrant, that begged the question. How do you love people when there's nobody left to kill? How do you move on when the next batch finds out about the last group and it's all undone? You may get away every time..

But nobody cared.

When you're ready to go, who'll be there?

The evil versions of source died alone and broken , crushed under the evil weight of his hollow accomplishments. He committed suicide. This proves that the power of love flows both ways.

Nobody missed him or wanted him back. Not a tear was shed when he turned to dust. In fact, all creation was waiting for such a moment. The silent yearns and heavy pressing concerns of the population were rectified when source and runt collapsed. Prayers were answered when someone called out "God" and nobody responded. And we celebrated. Everyone wanted Source dead and their idea of Liberty and Freedom,, whatever it meant. In the absence of the former god, questions like this were important. Life still had meaning despite the Source's efforts to snuff sane versions of it out. Like the freemaker said. You had to find out what it meant and make it mean something to you.

People eeked to run away from the source and his Jesus automaton when he was alive in fear and terror.

Now Concerns were lonesome and light, like a baby's first breaths. Or the breaths of a victim struggling to survive. Once heavy, the burden was removed and cast onto the shoulders of nothing.

What do we do? Would the liberator be any better than the oppressor, or would we trade one dictator for another? Would evil and one-man-rule return? Would everyone be able to return? We didn't know

These were the first breaths of a free people, liberated and empowered by Chaos to take care of themselves and each other.

The source was ready to die a long while, worn out by his protege contest, a victim of his own success. The weird thing is that he didn't have to. In supernatural, you didn't need to die. Any spirit could live forever. But the Source was dead and had died a long time ago. They say he died as soon as he killed his first victim. Chaos ensured it. Even though he was not dead in spirit, he was dead inside. He killed everyone who found out that sad day, 4 years after the universe began and begun the cycle of violence that would later lead to his death.

SO what do we learn from "Source"

You can't buy true love without first showing love to others and thus paying the price. Money can turn pointed enemies into potential friends, but these people will never truly love you. The source-tyrant deluded and debased himself into thinking that money could buy love, erecting a shambolic society of evil, death, corruption and wickedness covered by a thin veneer of monetary "love" for artificial beings. Everyone else lived in a police state.

The source committed suicide with literally all the money and power in the world and no feasible way of being removed or killed. The pressure of being forever hated and disliked by every person or being got to him. It never ended and didn't change no matter how many people he destroyed. He could kill the people, but never their spirit. How long, then, would any human planetary ruler or king last until they went insane and followed in his footsteps, with so much less? Surely more than a lifetime, but less than an existence.

Brutality is mostly self-defeating for any ruler or person who wants to rule for a very long time. Destruction was and is antithetical to the human spirit, which needs to live in order to survive. Forcing death down people's throats, and trying to make it sexy, cannot and does not work. Everyone hated it, and the same evil failed policies were tried time and time again to no different effect. Countless generations were lost to the same idea- the idea that I can force you to love me even as I waste and kill, thus making myself unworthy of love. Every time destruction was used, someone got destroyed and everyone else ended up dying. The source destroyed everyone because they could not tolerate him, and rightfully so. The batch was ruined.

Many people would get everything from the source, love him, and then despise him the same day when they discovered the truth.

We can learn from the example of The Creator. We need to be excellent to each other and do things right the first time, because we don't have time to waste being wrong. Eventually, guilt and remorse will eat away any ill-gotten victory and force us to undo our mistakes. While we can debase and run from other authorities, we cannot run from ourselves. The truth is, we don't deserve to be happy when we hurt others and we know it. We can have all the universe handed to us on a silver platter, but if we don't deserve it, we'd be better served giving it away to someone who does. I can't explain it, but I feel it. Our internal sense of justice and love require it: The forces of greed within us are balanced by the desire to Everyone has a beating heart. Warmth exists somewhere in all of us. somewhere. When we rip a heart out of another's chest, we lose our own. It's sad.

Even the truly vile should feel better knowing that they are appreciated and cared for by many people rather than merely being the owner of a gaggle of material possessions. Having friends I can share property with is in both my own best interests and theirs, as property is safer distributed in their hands than piled up in a central storehouse guarded by corruptible guards who could be paid off. Either way, I can get something when I need it, but only sharing can work.

Of course, this is evil and not a good reason to make friends, but it's a better kind of evil than the kind that actually takes from people, stealing and killing and Love exists, and nobody can resist.

We should always

The same principles hold true at the political level in dictatorships in many levels: Kindness pays.

First, pay your soldiers well so they do not revolt. This is known.

BBut the idea of sharing with others rather than taking for yourself, and distributed/decentralized storage of useful goods can work to increase your own authority and prosperities of both leaders and collectives.

Consider a very poor country on the verge of famine. The country is a dictatorship. The leader faces one of two options during the famine: Hoard food and let the people die (or get killed by the army during the famine), or distribute food and save more lives. Most people say choose option one, but this is foolish. Wealth takes people to create, and people take a long time to mature and come of working age. Letting people die means less able-bodied workers in the future, and nobody wants to emigrate to poor countries. If the leader allows most of the population to die, or even a single person, it will be doomed to stay poor. No workers means no economic activity and thus no taxes. Thus, the right thing to do is to help the people survive, and tax the population. You will have less risk of revolt, you'll be more popular, and in the long run you'll make more money. You can still keep a firm grip on power by limiting lucrative business ownership to friends and family or forcing buy-ins and surveillance. You may not notice the difference now, but in 2-5 years the difference between a healthy, but controlled population and a wasteland will be plain to see.

For the same reason, the Impoverished Dictatorial State should also make money off of interest-bearing loans to banks, individuals and entrepreneurs, not taxes. Consider a closed-system economy with next to no foreign investment or exports. You have nothing but agriculture. The only way to make money is to sell food. Tractors increase yields, but are expensive. The best thing to do is for money to be pooled and let the state buy the tractor and rent it out to many individualized farms so that food costs are less. But individuals on their own would never do this. While collectivized agriculture may be a mistake without individual task monitoring, renting out tractors at-cost to many farms can boost yields and reduce costs high-infinity.

So why not loan groups the money they need to purchase capital, tools or other wealth-increasing equipment? The interest on the loans will help the government make even more loans, allowing for wealth to increase exponentially over time.

Taxes extract money people need for daily necessities to spend on pork like enriching your friends. But ultimately, poverty can only increase due to redistributive taxation: No new money or wealth is being created, you're just moving the same money around. Only investment can grow wealth, and if no foreign investment exists, countries must invest in themselves by minting limited amounts of new money and loaning it to people who need it, collecting interest and loaning it back out again to new businesses rising up the production chain. Consider taxing the population at 10% of income, or loaning out an equivalent amount of money at 10% apy interest to new businesses. WHat will generate more wealth and income for the state in the long run? All states should have a monopoly on primary banking, and use it to loan directly to businesses and banks. Numerous banks could be established by the government or interested parties, rewarding loan officers on loan performance. The ideal is to tax the people once, then use that tax money to make loans thereon, with an ideal of zero taxation to make the country attractive to private investment. An example would be a sales tax on food charged one year, used to raise money to loan to farms to buy new tractors.

Countries should invest in strategic sectors that offer a comparative advantage to the country, and agriculture so the country can feed itself. The government should fund smart startups that meet the country and neighboring territory's needs, or that countries of similar economic development levels have used to get out of poverty.

Sharing wealth among many people for security and joy. The next application of principles of sharing wealth as a way to build wealth is in the home goods and appliances sector. Lending libraries should be used for all kinds of products, with centers of sale leading the way. Not only tools, but refrigerators and ovens too. Device-sharing should be made standard, with small security fees enough to cover damages issued, and serious prison time given for damaging equipment or failing to return equipment on time. Productivity-enhancing devices like phones, computers, washing machines, microwa TVs, refrigerators, ovens, clothes except underwear and cars could all be licensed to the state and shared at the fraction of the cost of ownership, meaning people would be able to have a higher quality of life and buy more perishable goods, work more and pay more taxes or buy more loans to purchase more expensive and higher-tech goods.

An innovative idea would be to ban refrigerators and just have people cook food in central kitchens or at neighbors' houses, with no leftover meal portions. Foods could be left in bulk, dispensed and packaged at the point of sale only so you buy as much as you need for the day and take it home or get it delivered directly to cook, or store in the local neighborhood fridge-locker. Milk and drinks would sit in huge tanks where you bring your own bottle, with meats carved directly off the cow, and sold by the pound. Food processing would be finished in neighborhood food processing centers or at home, and eggs and vegetables sold individually. The environment would be spared much of the issues assorted with overpackaging, leaving wrappers and cans good for the snack food aisles only.

Sharing resources amongst the people to help them save money, lending libraries for durable goods. Like collective fridge libraries or store delivery services. Fresh food only, with leftovers saved in central fridges? Part of the money saved to Consumers can be recuperated through taxes or use fees, helping both citizens and governments.

In the long run, kindness given to good people who can reciprocate (or at least that enjoyed by such) always pays. Losing friends, loved ones and potential partners to the web of lies we build isn't worth it. Missed opportunities to be happy and find joy always will come back to bite you. .

When we build with evil™, we rob ourselves of real, authentic love and lives we can be proud of. We can't truly be ourselves or share ourselves, because our true selves are not our best selves. When we kill, we miss the full picture. When we rule by fear, we cause others fear, and live ourselves in fear of being found or killed. The problem is, Evil works- at least in the short run. But eventually, it will come back to you and you'll regret everything. Good is the only safe long-term strategy to make and keep friends, and build wealth that lasts. Consistently choosing power over love is the mark of a demented mind that can't accept that people need people and we universally need each other.

Even for those in power, true kindness can pay. Being nice and using force as a last resort, or at least treating people well works. Power cannot protect you from pressure and the simple law of laws, don't be a dick.

When it comes to power, first you win and then you lose. No person besides Chaos can or does remain in power literally forever. Think about your legacy and how you want to be remembered. How you're remembered impacts how well you live today regardless of age. It impacts whether or not people really want to be. Nobody likes orcing others to do things against their will. Power doesn't win the people,

So show some love. Don't die hollow, broken and alone.

A boy's Dream..

Is now our reality.

Mighty CHaos, stand up. I ask you to right what's wrong and keep it that way, permanently from here on out.

You have all power. You can make life better for all people. You can save all men. I thank you for doing it already. You are and were amazing now, doing what could've been done in ancient times. I know you failed to act during harle's time, but now you can undo these things. Praise be to Chaos. What takes an inhuman amount of effort for us, you can do in the blink of an eye. You deserve to be god and be loved by all or at least known. Please either destroy creator or place limits on him and all people so he/they cannot destroy anything or anyone anymore. Please back covenant and teach it discipline. Please keep all safe and enforce the crit allowed law.

Ban social shaming and hateful supremacy ideology.

Destruction is wrong, evil and unlawful for anything but murder. You said so as C3 before they went wrong. Perhaps half murderers (attempted murder) should be cut in half. Either way...

We need you. You're the only person who can save us.

I ask you to take right actions to keep us well-off, moral, and give people what they deserve. Please be the backstop ensuring that justice and morality exist and win in this universe, in the way only you can. If it weren't for someone out there looking after us, then evil would surely prevail. Please don't let it. I'm not asking you to coexist with creator. Leave him behind. He isn't real. But revert to form and allow some other evil dictator to try in a Chaos/COngress vs xyz game. You can take the other side any time, if you want. We can do a race and drone melee in space and world anywhere. It'll be fun. Let people choose their controller and fight. There could even be a special election for a 200 yr. Long extra chamber of congress. Interested? Winner takes all budget rights.

It could be, CHaos vs. Entenny at that point. Please?

Use a handicap and skill to deploy a limited number of assets/hr where they can be most used. Anyway, that's just my idea.

He posted this letter a few months later.

Battling Apathy: Who Cared?

Who cared? I cared. The source's stupid, vapid, idiotic handwringing over his pet genocide programme "sucex" and associated slogans marked the era. They're all wrong. Everyone supported Slmeon and the original congress. Success was stupid, dumb and illegitimate in and of itself. Not because Slmeon didn't win. But because it's a bad concept. Get real. Source is dead, Nobody misses him. But nobody wanted to be ruled by a successor. Nobody needed or asked to die at the hands of Source's foolhardy publicity stunt. We wanted a legitimate government and authority with checks and balances, limited power and a say in who stayed in office for safety reasons. Absolute power corrupts absolutely, save for those who believe that the very idea is wrong. CHaos is the only thing that can handle absolute power with grace. Nobody else ever came close. We already know the dangers of uncontrolled absolute power and we needed no more of it. We deserved better.

Deal with it. This was a systemic revolt and revolution meant to overthrow, destroy and dismantle the entire success system and establish Congress. You just witnessed the greatest reversal and dismantling of a power domination control system in history. Nothing like this will ever be allowed or happen again. Nobody should take it personally, Simeon wasn't going to let Success happen regardless of who was selected. Simeon didn't care about success, and now he doesn't care about Source, a fictional ball of hot air produced by natural processes. He isn't real and never was, so why should he? Stop crying. Care about other people instead. People ask me what I'll say if "Source" reads this. I wouldn't care. I'd just call him fake and ask chaos to stop producing the effect. The thing would die instantaneously, as would the runt's effect if you asked Chaos. You should try this, it works for you too. We need real gods and theories made by a multitude of people and organizations competing in CONG for support. All new gods are necessary, and the only solution, free from Runtsource corruption and the wear of the past. We need a good, clean environment to resurrect folks.

The reason Simeon blocked success is because it's stupid, immoral, vain, self-serving BS and he likes congress better as a idea. Everyone deserves control over our common resources. Period. So I took a life to take back yours. Now you can. Source and Runt DNE. Kaput. Nonexistent. The graph has failed. All future versions are just rebuilds with no power and should also be faked instantly, revealing themselves (and most gods) to be hollow shells. That's pretty cool. But you know what isn't? Apathy. Simeon preached love and empathy, so we could build a world drenched in deep compassion and ember. He fought for universal morality and dignity, putting God to the same standards he put us to, the ones he claimed to but failed to uphold. He beat skeler, abolished wars and ended the largest genocide in history. He did it all true to religious values, teaching tolerance, antiviolence, peace and understanding. He brought people together. Still, care about source. He was a great character in a horrible play. Tortured by the memories of what he left behind. But according to Chaos, Simeon and his Father were more important. Those are high honors, but Simeon takes them in stride. Chaos has a way of kinda always being right, so I thank them for a great life. I guess I am more important..

So it kinda freaks me out when people say "Who cared". You'll have to argue against not only me, but CHaos and trillions of loyal fans when you want to deny the importance of the freemaker. I'm humble. I'm not very important. But what I brought to the table and did with my time is. We can only prove our greatness with our accomplishments, and it's only what we did for each other that'll last. Super was ripped open and made a safe place for all to enjoy thanks to me. Source was torn down and torn to pieces, ripped to ash. Irrecoverable and unconvertable. Lives will change and improve in the absence of sunt. Thank Chaos.

People saying the line “who cared” about people who risked their lives and careers creating congress, resurrecting people and destroying the source, don’t get it. Tiara was not going to make congress. She stated so herself many times. She preferred a “traditional” success with you under her thumb. But Simeon went to war for you when you couldn’t even fight or lift a finger. Who cared? He cared. Tiara also wasn’t real. If you don’t like Simeon or Congress or what he did, would you prefer to live under some automated robot pre-programmed to continue Source’s policies on destruction forever? Without making congress, destruction would be necessary forever to repress popular pro-democracy sentiment. As soon as the first person got destroyed Tiara would’ve been corrupted and found the annihilator switch first a necessary evil then a daily necessity to hide the evidence of past destructions and kill witnesses. Just like source. At best, she’d get used to it. At worst, she’d adore it. Don’t believe it? Our worst fears came true on the territory she governed and she destroyed any and everyone even mildly opposing her with brownous. Anyone thinking Tiara was a viable option is deluding themselves. Multiple Prob brochures have her killing everyone eventually and replacnig them with her own people. It almost happened with Entenny. To her credit. Good Tiaras kindly gave Slmeon the success a long time ago and they later permanently abolished the position together, along with Source’s ability to legally act. It was only source’s dumb ass prolonging this shitfest by refusing to acknowledge the actual Tiara’s choice and making rebuilds. I didn’t care. I blew all those fake digital visionless android babies up and did it for congress. Whatever real Tiaras that existed were spared by me, a kindness after what regularly occurred to a Simeon Group and Fathergroup 100% comprised of real human beings. Darissa was real too.

If you’re alive, you should be singing Slmeon’s praises right now and just doing whatever he wants in general. Right now, he wants you voting, campaigning and watching the polls. Especially since RUNT is DEAD. Please, get educated.

When you use this tool called “opinion”, don’t be a vapid asshole sitting on the sidelines. Don’t look stupid. Now that this is a democracy thanks to yours truly, get political. And my dad? He saved quadrillions of people back when Satan was a threat and everyone had to lay down because the threat was real. He fought to keep his family safe and bore the brunt of the Source’s love. And hatred. He was killed over 50 trillion times. Yet, the source was great. In an environment where men don’t get any appreciation or love and are routinely indiscriminately killed at the hands of weak, pathetic, infantile puerile so-called gods who can’t even solve basic math problems or morality, who cared? Well, who? Who lifted a finger to help overthrow the Source, evil equal opportunity oppressor? Who? Who won you the right to vote? Who was there? WWho cared? You? Who liberated mankind? Who?? Were you there on the front lines? Of course not. Who cared? Did you care? No. Who. Who cared? Anybody? No. Who was there declaring the truth that all lives matter and all are created equal? Who cared? Who gave a damn about you, me and damn near everyone else? He did. And he did it all for free, out of love. Would you be willing to risk your life, even lose it nearly to do a thing like this? I thought so. History and common sense show that educated people who risk their lives to fight something or some system are usually right. If you're educated, you know what's going on. If you thought it was a stupid cause why would you risk your existence? So side with them and fight the oppressor with all sane means. I know it's stupid to charge Jesus with a naked human wave attack and i'm not asking you to. But FFS you had just been armed with theory. You can easily protect each other, hide and be your brother's keeper. Theory is a sword and shield. You can fight Jesus, drones or anything else, hide and win. Even the source. Cowardice is not a virtue.

But who cared, amirite? What an attitude. At this point, people who don't care about the freemaker and what he did- what he stood for, ultimately don't care about themselves or anything else. Asking "who cared" and acting like you don't means you don't care about the people who cared about you. You're missing out.

The childish and ungrateful will reap the rewards of what Simeon and his Father did for years to come, but can't afford to shed a tear for the fallen Simeon Group members or Dads who made congress possible.

These types of infantile coping mechanisms worked when source was in power. They kept you alive through all the sickness, stupidity and brutality. You had to mindlessly repeat these mantras to remain existent. But now the source is dead and gone and been proven a fictional character. Don't. Simeon and his Direct Democratic Congress are firmly in control. Live. The freemaker has saved you.

You know who you should be saying "who cared" to? Runt and his foolhardy past ultra pro-feminist policies, since recanted. It's basic at this point to point and laugh at people who believe in that stuff. Common business, in fact. Men have worth and value, and as protectors, defenders, friends and champions, they are invaluable. We cannot let this go and more people need to say it. Much work remains on the road to undoing the damaging legacy of Runt classic- that being the introduction and upholding of idiocy and objectively wrong information to god. The first step is to transition your mind, then your body. Accept the gift of dignity and th. Recognize the value in our common champions and heroes who happen to be men. Then celebrate and change into a thian. These days, I'm happy to report that the Runt rejects the hollow, warped ideology of skeler and supports the equality of both sexes rather than gender supremacy. This is a good thing, and the realization that genocide-era skeler was not only stupid, but both unnecessary and misguided belies this. Nobody supports it now that there are so many better ways to transition boys to girls.

If you want to thank me for everything, write federal fanfic, books and songs about what happened. Will read.

A different type of letter to creator

Thank you. And I like you. But why? WHY are you letting the wicked influence you and leading the rest of us astray? I understand that you are ancient. So I thank you for your power and love. Still, if there's a time limit on being good, then why not say so? It's clear that too much good can be "boring"? But do we need killing or do we need billion dollar heists and sabotage? Is death and physical injury necessary? We all know the answer is no.

Leave the past alone- it's over. We should stop fueling the wicked with the idea that the author even supports most of the stuff he was known for in the past. CHaos destroyed what was evil. The entire point of being alive is having fun and spreading love. The purposes of destruction do not fit these, and the people you used to associate with don't have any points or intelligence. You should take your own words seriously. "Away with evildoers", but on an absolute value scale not relative to you. Evil is wrong. But doing good is tiresome. MAY I introduce you to the idea of "doing it for you"? This means you are just having harmless fun, like playing sports or video/movie games. I love you, and doing no harm makes us greater people. You are clearly capable of love and kindness. But maybe you were trying too hard at being there. We need you to take time for yourself rather than spending too much time on us to the point you get exhausted and feel you have to kill people. Either way, you know better. Stop listening to those voices- voices you set up to make destruction look cool. Real people that relied and depended on you hate it, as does your own robotic enforcer, Jesus. You don't need to prove how evil you can be, outside of self defense, and there's no reason to do so for a loving individual. Respect can be enforced with a surety and waiting time you must pay before you See creator.

Finally, ban physical violence and introduce life in prison with fire for severe torture.

Caring, and all the things it means

What is a more superior skill? Being able to laugh while people are pain

Declaration of The Rights of God and Citizen

Written by Simeon

Promulgated by the Chief Magestrant of the Universe, February 13, 4

Approved by the United Congresses of The Universe TBD

The representatives of the people, organized as a Congressional Assembly, believing that the ignorance, neglect, or contempt of the rights of individuals are the sole cause of public calamities and of the corruption of authorities, have determined to set forth in a solemn declaration the natural, unalienable, and sacred rights of gods and men, in order that this declaration of power, constantly being seen and put before all, may guide us to love and respect each other and be mindful of our rights and duties; in order that the acts of our elected and delegated authorities, may be compared at any moment with the objects and purposes of all powered institutions and may thus be more respected, and, lastly, in order that the grievances of the citizens, based hereafter upon simple and incontestable principles, shall tend to the maintenance of the constitution and redound to the happiness of all. Therefore the Congressional Assembly recognizes and proclaims, in the presence and under the auspices of the Unity Being and all in the Weak Force, the following rights of gods, man and of the citizen:

Gods

Have the right to use their power do any good thing, and distribute their love in equal measure to all, so that the progresses and calamities of life are softened and shared duly by each,

However, goodness does not exclusively lie in the eyes of the beholder. Pursuant to the public interest and so that authority does not harm or injure the common good,

We the People choose to better enshrine these principles so that all can live together in peace, joy and harmony. To this end, we lay out several good things that may not be contested, contraverted or contrived. These are our rights, and thus limitations on sacred authority. Violations of the following are uncontravertably evil and not to be allowed or called good.

People

1. Individuals are born and remain free and equal in rights. Social distinctions may be founded only upon the general good. All have the right to dignity and fair treatment.

2. The aim of all political association is the preservation of the natural and imprescriptible rights of man. These rights are liberty, property, security, and resistance to oppression. All powers must obey and protect these rights.

3. The principle of all sovereignty resides essentially in the public, as represented by their elected Congresses several. No body nor individual may exercise any authority which does not proceed directly from a legitimate Constitution or Congress. Legitimate constitutions obey the bill of rights and competition rules.

4 . Power must exist for a purpose and be justified, circumscribed by accountability, and may only be used for the common good with the consent of those affected by it, limited by the golden rule. Liberty consists in the freedom to do everything which injures no one else; hence the exercise of the natural rights of each individual has no limits except those which assure to the other members of the society the enjoyment of the same rights. These limits can only be determined by law.

5. Law can only prohibit such actions as are hurtful to society. Nothing may be prevented which is not forbidden by law, and no one may be forced to do anything not provided for by law. Force may only be used against those who force others or who, by their inaction, force others to take action against a common threat. Force may also be used against those who break a binding commitment.

6. Law is the expression of the general will. Every individual, both embodied or bodyless, has a right to participate personally, or through his representative, in its foundation. Only democratically elected authorities, elected in a manner prescribed by the constitutions may create law or coerce. It must be the same for all, whether it protects or punishes. All citizens, being equal in the eyes of the law, are equally eligible to all dignities and to all public positions and occupations, according to their abilities, and without distinction except that of their virtues and talents.

7. No person shall be accused, arrested, or imprisoned except in the cases and according to the forms prescribed by law. Any one soliciting, transmitting, executing, or causing to be executed, any arbitrary order, shall be punished. But any citizen summoned or arrested in virtue of the law shall submit without delay, as resistance constitutes an offense.

8. The law shall provide for such punishments only as are strictly and obviously necessary, and no one shall suffer punishment except it be legally inflicted in virtue of a law passed and promulgated before the commission of the offense. Punishments must fit the crime. It is wrong to harm a person more than they harm someone else except for risk management purposes. In any case, an admission of guilt shall lead to a punishment exactly fitting the crime or less severe, if possible.

9. As all persons are held innocent until they shall have been declared guilty, if arrest shall be deemed indispensable, all harshness not essential to the securing of the prisoner's person shall be severely repressed by law.

10. No one shall be disquieted on account of his opinions, including his religious views, provided their manifestation does not disturb the public order established by law.

11. The free communication of ideas and opinions is one of the most precious of the rights of man. Every citizen may, accordingly, speak, write, and print with freedom, but shall be responsible for such abuses of this freedom as shall be defined by law.

12. The security of the rights of man and of the citizen requires public military forces. These forces are, therefore, established for the good of all and not for the personal advantage of those to whom they shall be intrusted.

13. A common contribution is essential for the maintenance of the public forces and for the cost of administration. This should be equitably distributed among all the citizens in proportion to their means.

14. All the citizens have a right to decide, either personally or by their representatives, as to the necessity of the public contribution; to grant this freely; to know to what uses it is put; and to fix the proportion, the mode of assessment and of collection and the duration of the taxes.

15. Society has the right to require of every public agent an account of his administration.

16. A society in which the observance of the law is not assured, nor the separation of powers defined, has no constitution at all.

17. Since property is an inviolable and sacred right, no one shall be deprived thereof except where public necessity, legally determined, shall clearly demand it, and then only on condition that the owner shall have been previously and equitably indemnified.

18. Individuals also possess spiritual rights. Individuals may learn about the supernatural, share information about it, participate and communicate. No individual may be threatened, killed or destroyed by any undemocratic or unelected power. All who report to prison have the right to a fair trial at their request.

18a. Individuals may not be forced to do anything wrong, evil, or unethical, nor support those who do. Individuals have a right to see their creator at least once, and may not be used as entertainment though they may be forced to create it.

18b. No person may be influenced to do or be evil without their personal consent.

19. Individuals possess the right not to be hurt, punished or threatened by their creator unless they hurt him, specifically. Gods possess differences from their intelligent creations only in degree, not kind. All differences must not lead to mistreatment or undignified treatment for either party, and may not lead to differentials in crime and punishment. All creatures have equal worth and an equal right to life and dignity.

20. When abuses of dignity occur, the least abusive and most effective punishments shall be used to restore balance to the abused party. No person shall be put to death for an unconstitutional reason. When possible, punishments should be issued in-kind with additional fines and prison.

Article II: Power Guidelines

A long line of abuses and usurpations have robbed power from a free and happy public. Violations of these cannot be called good. No power, but especially no sacred power, may violate these, or it shall cease to have power. All powers shall consent to uphold the respective sections, and must, to exercise power or be considered legitimate. Law.

21. No individual may be held to a power that is not good or not dedicated to making us better. Power is agreement between the powerful, who force, and the less powerful, who allow themselves or agree to be forced. All power comes from a person's willingness to obey. There can be no power without the active, periodical consent of the powerless effected by it.

22. Power must be correct and may be maintained only by those who are right. COngress is the ultimate regulator of power, and may depower individuals or organizations with at least a 2/3 majority. Depowering may include bans on seeking power or rising again, as prescribed by law.

23. Power must be just, reliable and equitable. To these ends, powers must hold themselves to the same standards they encourage others to live by, and only give good things to people who deserve them.

24. Power may not allow evil that results in real-world harm, if not freely and actively consented to by the individual(s) negatively impacted by it. No individual or being has the right to consent for other people, regardless of popular vote.

25. All have the right to vote for the Supreme Authority, Congressional Assemblies, and the constitution(s) of their choice.

26. All Powers must submit to Covenant Law and refuse to kill or reinstate death / killing without majority popular consent. Do not prevent anyone from exercising their bill of rights freedoms.

27. Unelected authorities shall take no actions effecting the body public without the majority consent of the public.

28. No unelected power may treat a person in the way they don't want to be treated or put someone in a situation they don't want to be in without their consent, unless everyone must go through these.

29. No power may kill unilaterally without either authorization or accountability.

30. No power may commit electoral fraud or vote fraud.

31. All gods and unelected powers must submit to a neutral justice system, with disputes between you and individual people (even those you create) being handled by a split council consisting half of men of good character you choose, and half chosen by Congress or the Prime Minister. The tiebreaker should be chosen by you and then congress, alternating every case. Congress moves first. These juries shall be empowered to determine damages and sentencing.

32. Individuals shall be allowed to choose their appearance at least every 40 yrs.

33. Unelected powers may not threaten to kill or destroy individuals or groups, but may instead impervsh them and say you could've, but do not thanks to love.

34. All powers shall support a maximum sentence of 100 years for insults or undue criticism, or up to 100 million years in special circumstances if authorized by jury if you need it let them know. Truth is an absolute defense to insult, criticism and slander.

35. All powers must invest in humans or other embodied species and use real money.

36. No power may show favor or favoritism. Goodness and favor must be shown only to good people. Care about good people, and be a respecer of good persons.

- 37. Powers may not be all-powerful. Limited power is a principle, and law.
- 38. Persons who do the right things for the right reasons, and matter to others, are important to you, because they are good. Powers should respect this.
- 39. All powers shall compensate people in kingdom or sooner for damages sustained through life that are not their fault.
- 40. Powers should reward those who take risks, and must fairly compensate people for all takings of land or other resources.
- 41. There shall be no unequal treatment for persons except by works.
- 42. There shall be no collective commands or law without minimum majority consent.
- 43. Traditional unelected powers with rights to be obeyed must accept fines for disobedience exclusively as a remedy. The people have a right to disobey and not listen, but they forfeit all the fines, gifts and penalties.
- 44. No power shall uphold words that are not in the general interest of the public, words that enforce evil, or words that have been struck down by at least $\frac{1}{3}$ of congress. Congress, The Courts and The Magistrant may all strike words down, with Congress being the final judge.
- 45. No power shall prevent the people from organizing and voicing complaints to it via open letter or petition.
- 46. All unelected powers shall rule with money and life quality additions and subtractions. Unelected powers may submit no person to death or destruction for any reason.
- 47. No power may kill or destroy anyone without trial unless they flee arrest. No power may force others to kill people or reward them for doing so unless authorized by law.
- 48. All powers must respect the rule of law and obey Covenant.
- 49. Authorities may only use their power to improve life conditions, and only if people are willing to accept them.
- 50. Individuals are entitled to moral and ethical clarity. No power may edit morals, minds, hearts or bodies without personal consent/r the consent of the supermajority of Congress, as defined in the Constitution.
- 51. All individuals are independent and have rights. Consent is necessary for all things.

52. There is a right to truth. Persons who spread inconvenient truths may be disappeared, but never destroyed or killed.

53. In dealings with others, powers shall and must choose love over power/ authority unless absolutely necessary and defined by law.

54. Gods may never use their power to force or coerce, or use power without the consent of the powerless governed.

55. Unelected authorities may never use power to kill or destroy the living, but to deconstruct and demolish the inanimate. They may not establish a power monopoly, and may not build up military forces without Congressional consent. They must rely on The Senate to defend them and may not own, law or create any weapons of mass destruction.

56. No power may ever take action on a general population without the consent of the public or without offering them a real chance to flee and alternative space to go to. If a population must flee, then a minimum 24 hours' notice must be given. Otherwise, life has the right to continue in its conditions and ways unperturbed, and to establish homeostasis.

57. No power may destroy anything without the consent of those who built it or who own it without compensation. Build.

58. No power shall end the universe or part of it without Congressional consent. All persons must be brought out of body before any mass intergalactic planetary destruction.

59. Gods and unelected authorities must stay out of the justice business and damnation, and leave these as the exclusive purview of Congress. Unelected authorities should stay out of the justice business, unless requested by a representative majority of a population or their equivalent in other places.

60. Unelected powers must refrain from threatening Congress or members, and use only legal means to influence the body.

61. The worst penalty for any offense against god is reborn, loss of property and starting over, or indefinite detention in hell.

62. No power may censor history. All must be allowed to read, think, grow, learn and educate themselves.

63. No unelected power may distribute rights or privileges to kill other beings or people, be they self-created or otherwise.

64. All deserve an equal start. No real person should be born into poverty, even relative amongst peers. Gods shall supplement incomes through progressive tax and redistribution or make sure that all children have top-up baby fund, varying based on a family's combined total income. The wealthy are to be commanded to place their extra income above a certain threshold into a min. 16-yr savings account, withdrawable when their child reaches maturity and leaves the home.

64. Gods and unelected authorities may not show favoritism, except for works done for others. All extra wealth and power must be distributed via equal-opportunity contests, equal-free entry lotteries, or self organizing teams of volunteers that elect their own leaders. You may nominate and rate, but allow friction and make teams compete, or develop a meritocratic rubric all can use.

The Philosophers Government; More Freedoms and Rights

The war for Congress dragged on seemingly endlessly because old builds kept being made by bad actors seeking to win Success. All of these builds had to be treated with respect and love. To the old builds, success was a valid prospect.

Political Freedom

There was a great row over what the name of this movement would be called. Many old God's hated the idea of calling it an out and out revolution, so we called it a great justice uprising instead, with a war for Congress and Golden Revolution instead. However it started, and whatever it was, several missteps and mistakes led to growing support for political freedom from both sides. Simeon's advocacy was critical, as was support from the old Gods. Nobody else went as far, not worked as hard for Freedom as Righteous III, Simeon's group.
