This week the weather was great! The cold is coming soon! Teachers have been putting together work for possible future snow events. Our first snow event (could be more than one day) will be traditional days off of school, with no work assigned to students. The next 5 snow days will be AMI Days. On AMI days students will complete work from their classes. Teachers will be sending paper copies of the AMI work home with students. We will also communicate all snow event days through email, phone calls, google classrooms, as well as social media as needed.

Basketball practice is in full swing. Coaches should be communicating with players and parents about practice and upcoming games. Click here for the GIRLS schedule. Click here for the BOYS schedule.
