A vibrant poster for the Global Day of Action for Climate Justice. The background is a deep orange-red. In the center, a large, stylized sunburst or flower-like shape in yellow and orange radiates from the top right. Below it, a dark silhouette of a person stands with arms raised, holding up a small object. Surrounding this central figure are several smaller, colorful silhouettes of people in various poses, some holding up objects. The text 'GLOBAL DAY OF ACTION FOR CLIMATE JUSTICE' is written in large, bold, blue capital letters across the top left. Below it, 'NOV 6' is written in large, bold, white capital letters. At the bottom left, a paragraph of white text reads: 'World leaders will meet in Glasgow in November at the global climate talks, COP26. We are organising decentralised mass mobilisations across the world, bringing together movements to build power for system change – from indigenous struggles to trade unions, from racial justice groups to youth strikers.'
