###Section I. Short Title

This Act shall be cited as the "Student Choices Act".

###Section II. Expanding Humanities Electives

In general, states shall expand their Humanities electives at High School, in order to earn the appropriations listed in Section V, to give more choice to the student on whether or not he/she is studying. These electives shall be at least:

>Studies of world regions, such as African, Latin and Asian Studies and European History;

>Basic Political Science;

>Basic Economics;

>Basic Geography of the world;

>Arts and Music;

>History of Arts.

###Section III. Expanding Life Skills Electives

In general, states shall create a category of electives called Life Skills at High School, in order to earn the appropriations listed in Section V, with the objective of having an education more useful for everyday chores. These group of electives shall contain, at least:

- >Tax and finances;
- >Basic household maintenance;
- >Driving;
- >Mental Health;
- >Cooking and Nutrition.

###Section IV. Expanding Humanities Electives

In general, states shall expand their Languages electives at High School, in order to earn the appropriations listed in Section V, to give more choice to the student on whether or not he/she is studying. These electives shall be at least:

- >Spanish;
- >French;
- >German

###Section V. Study of civics education

In general, for states having the proper funding of this program, they shall adopt 1 credit in social studies designated to civics education at High School.

###Section VI. Funding

In general, the Secretary of Education shall appropriate $500,000,000 yearly to each state with the aim of properly funding these elective programs, paying teachers and buying necessary educational materials. The funding to each state shall end if the program:

>Isn't being funded properly, with lack of educational materials, classes, and necessary structure;

>Has teachers being paid less than their wage or with their wage late;

>Doesn't have all minimum and required electives listed in Sections II, III and IV.
