Although the main event is face to face, there's also room for others working remotely to be part of the event. This chat tool serves then for those on remote to be in contact with the rest of the participants.

It can also serve for coordinating teams, fast interaction without moving from the seat and for making announcements.

Rules

1. Have fun!
2. It's an excellent occasion to meet in person people that you have been working with collaboratively through GitHub. Don't be shy and say hello to them.
   - Code of Conduct
   - Pac-man rule: If talking in a group, look like Pac-man, so that anyone feels free to come and join the conversation.
   - Attendance Rule: If this is your first OCA Days, you must introduce yourself to at least 1 person you don't know, 2nd OCA Days is 2 people, 3rd OCA Days is 3 people and so on.
3. Please take a few minutes to report your work in this document
   - For every topic, give the planning for others to join !
   - List your achievements to share it with our community

Planning

Before leaving for the sprint

1. Pack an extension cord and multiboard - if you want power, you need to be able to connect. BYO.
2. Make sure you have an up-to-date clone of Odoo and of all the OCA repositories you plan to work on. In the maintainer-tools repository, you will find a clone-everything script which can help make clones of all the OCA repositories.
3. Enable Travis builds on your forks of the OCA repositories. As Travis will end up loaded and the version for FLOSS has an organization-wide concurrent build limit, by doing this you will get builds of your forks which are likely to be faster than the builds of the PRs and merges on the OCA repositories.
4. Make sure you have signed and sent your CLA - https://odoo-community.org/page/cla we won't have physical copies with us for people to sign, please send them through.

Hi all,

During OCA days, I took commitment to upgrade Weblate to latest stable version.

It is a big upgrade (from 4.3 version to 4.14), I tested it and it goes smoothly (although it takes some time to rebuild stats, indexes, etc.).

I then plan to upgrade OCA Weblate tomorrow morning, Friday 14th October from 11:00 till 13:00 CET. Hopefully I should not take longer.

I will let you know when upgrade is complete and you can translate again !

Best Regards,
