

Thank you for sharing your memories with us.

I remember...

I remember my best girl friend YAN when I heard the sound of Vesna's voice the first time I met her.

I remember my mom when I smell green tea.

Nichole

I remember the time when I worked in my office in Viet Nam.

I remember the taste of salty eggs in my grandfather's house.

I remember the sound of my motorcycle in Viet Nam.

I remember playing tennis with my mother when I was 27 years old.

Rose

I remember the smell of chili peppers in my hometown in Chengdu.

I remember playing hopscotch with my girl friend when I was a little girl.

Karen

I remember eating too many candies, not eating any other food, and bringing home as many sweets as I could when I was taken to a party by my parents.

I remember when I was child and

I remember the smell of jasmine tea which my mom always drank.

I remember playing with two toys that were made of plastic with my two sisters. There were three of us and only two dolls. My little sister liked a girl doll, so I could only play with a boy doll, and my big sister had to wait until I was done playing, so that she could play.

Fang Yue

I remember the smell of roasted chestnuts in my hometown in Serbia.

I remember the sound of crickets in my grandmother's yard.

I remember the sound of thunder in the summer.

Vesna

I remember the taste of nuts & watermelon on Nowruz day.

I remember the smell of coffee when I went to Starbucks with my nephew & my brother.

I remember the sound of the airplane when a Homa airline plane landed hard.

I remember the day when I got my first important award in 2001.

Hamed

I remember the smell of my shampoo as I was getting ready for my high school Christmas dance.

I remember the taste of popcorn at the movie theatre with my boyfriend sitting next to me.

I remember the feeling of rolling down the grassy hill at my school.

-Sara

I remember the sound of my friend singing a terrible song.

I remember seeing my first 3D movie in a theatre with my friends.

I remember the feeling of sadness and excitement at my party before I came to Canada.

David

When I was child, I played in a ball pit. The pit was huge and filled with balls, so if someone lost something in the pit, we were not able to find it. I always liked playing in the ball pit because the balls were soft and colorful.

Joe

I remember catching a whiff of mandarins at Christmas.

Whenever I try another country's bread, I remember the taste of the bread I ate in my home country.

I remember skiing in Mont-Tremblant, when I see snow.

Elena

I remember my first day at school .

I remember when I got locked out of the house and waited outside all day.

When I see babies , I remember my son's smile.

Ken

When I smell coffee, I remember an Ethiopian Holiday and a coffee ceremony. When I was in Ethiopia during holiday time, I had fun.

Samuel

I remember the taste of the Peking roasted duck. When I see a picture of food ads, it makes my water mouth.

Phil

Whenever I smell coffee, it reminds me of the smell of freshly brewed coffee when I was in my office in Korea. This smell awakes my mind, and that's why I like it.

Kesler

When I touch a ball I remember when I was 7 years old.

A jar broke in my hand, and the glass cut a nerve in my finger. After a surgery, my doctor told me that I had to play with and squeeze the same ball until my finger became strong.

Narmin

I'll always remember my university classmate Jiahui. While we were at school, we did everything together. We had breakfast, lunch, and dinner together. We were late to school together. We watched beautiful girls together... We had a very nice time in school.

Terrence

When I eat a candy, I remember my younger brother. If he has a candy, he will cut it in half and share it with me. Sometimes even if a candy broke into pieces, we would share it happily.

Shala

I remember all my childhood friends' innocent smiles.

I remember my mom's lullaby.

John

I remember when playing soccer with my old friends on the elementary school.
