History

After being fished out of the sea by Lumine around Cape Oath, Paimon began to travel with her across Teyvat - also acting as her guide.

Paimon's origins - how she ended up in the ocean - as well as what she is doing in Teyvat (and how she knows so much about the region) remain unknown to this day.

Personality

Positive Traits: Energetic, optimistic, loyal, innovative, kind towards those she truly cares about

Negative Traits: Gluttonous, hot-tempered, self-centered (at times), loud, annoying (according to some)

General Personality: Paimon is a very finicky individual. She can be incredibly cheerful and positive one moment, but if you upset her or get on her bad side, she will voice her dissatisfaction with you. By someone she might be considered annoying, but she truly cares a lot for the Traveler and gets frightened by the thought of being separated. She is a big foodie and can be easily convinced to do something if the reward is either a delicious meal, or Mora to buy food with.

Connections/Relationships:

Lumine

Status: Alive

General Description of Relationship: Her traveling companion. She is the one who saved Paimon from drowning in the river, so Paimon feels indebted to her. They are almost always together. Paimon grows uneasy when Lumine is not around.

Quirks: She talks in her sleep - a lot.

Hobbies: Trying delicious food

Affiliations (if any): The Adventurer's Guild (through the Traveler)
