History: being born to the head maid of the castle, Emery isn't one to brag about her family.

While growing up, she was taught how to respect, be loyal and to serve the queen and her family. Having her mother pass a few years back, she has come to her duties as a servant to keep her occupied. Knowing the queen personally from growing up around her, she is able to manage the kitchen staff and many others by what she knows. Having her abilities seen by the queen herself, Emery has earned her promotion as Head Maid, and even more, personal maid to the queen. Even though it's a low ranking position, she still does it with loyalty and pride.
