

Steven Huprich
Member of CCC since 2005

General Introduction:

I love this parish and its people, which is why I want to serve on the CCC Vestry. I have been an active member since 2005 and served as Senior Warden during the first year of the pandemic. I was a tenured professor for 26.5 years, serving at four universities, most recently at the University of Detroit Mercy. I have served as an Associate Dean, directed two clinical psychology PhD programs, was President of an international professional society, and Editor of a leading personality assessment journal. Presently, I am the founder, owner, and director of the Center for Mind and Personality in Northville, which is a group practice of clinical psychologists, serving adults and adolescents. I also hold an adjunct faculty appointment at Western Michigan University's Stryker School of Medicine in the Department of Psychiatry. I am married to Donna and have two daughters, Chris and Katie, all of whom are also active at the church. CCC is our spiritual home and holds treasured places in our hearts. We live in Northville and enjoy the community around us.

Describe a time when you were engaged in Meeting Jesus, Finding Joy, Sharing Beauty, or Serving others:

I love to travel to the west side of the state and spend time on the beaches of Lake Michigan. What moves me most is the sunset over the lake, which is decorated with lighthouses. My cell phone probably has hundreds of lake photos from Petoskey to St. Joseph. Often, I share these photos on social media in an attempt to capture what I am feeling. In these moments of waves, wind, colors, ever-changing lighting, I experience the joy of creation and know that God is there. The beauty and vastness remind me of God's love and infinite power. Here, I feel connected to God and all people in our human existence on this earth. While such vastness can be frightening, the lighthouses stand as a reminder of the light of Christ, which brings hope and joy as we navigate our days. This is a message I cannot hear enough.
