My highs and lows through my journey to becoming a successful freelance writer:

Hey Shahyaan Rahman,

My name is John Carlton.

30 years ago, I started my journey toward becoming a successful freelance writer and mastered the art of freelance writing.

I was 23 and made it my life's journey to become the best freelance writer.

I was fascinated. I Decided to change my life, trying the best I could, just to go back to scrolling on tik tok the next day. I could never be consistent; I always went back to my "comfort zone".

But no matter how many times I failed, lost hope, wanted to give up,

There was something inside of me that knew that the only way I could become the best version of myself was by trying the best I could and trying to be consistent with freelance writing every day.

I want to help you to become the 1% of Freelance writers out there. But it's going to take your dedication and concentration towards it...

We created a community of successful veteran copywriters around the world.

And discovered the secrets, methods, and tactics for attracting high-paying clients, increasing sales, producing more traffic, the basics of freelance writing, and an advanced level of freelance writing.

But we don't want to overwhelm you with all this complicated information.

So, we simplified it by making short and quick lessons with easily digestible content taught by verified professionals separating each level from beginner to advanced with bonus content about the secrets on the path to reach success.

Turn your dreams of success into reality:

Hey Shahyaan Rahman ,

Most people dream of success, but never make the move to turn their dreams of success into reality.

It's like chess,

A pawn can only move forward,

So, you have to deal with your situation and move forward

Because when the pawn reaches the end of the board it can be anything it wants to be,

Much like real life, if you keep on moving forward and deal with the situation you've been dealt with, your dreams of success turn into reality.
