

THE BEST RELATIONSHIP ADVICE

NO ONE EVER TOLD YOU

The most common mistakes men make when they start a new relations

I've done these mistakes and so have you that's why your relationship started horribly

MISTAKE NO1

Many men consider a girl to be their girlfriend simply because they talk and go on a few dates. The golden rule— if you haven't had any intimacy with her, she's not your girlfriend.

Seducing women involves manipulative aspects. You can not manipulate a woman if you don't have some form of leverage over her. The most effective leverage usually involves exploiting her deepest fears. So if you know what women are afraid of the most, you can use it as leverage over her. Being intimate with a man who will discard her the next day is a woman's worst nightmare, until you do that you cannot tell her what she should do or shouldn't do.

The beginning stages of dating a woman shouldn't revolve around determining the roles and responsibilities. It should be enjoyable.

To point out another great fear women have — scenario;

Let's say you go out with a girl and she asks me if it's okay for me if she has male friends. I will not give her a direct answer. Instead I will say in a friendly way "hey I don't think it's ideal for my woman to have guy friends, but who am I to dictate to you if you can or cannot have one. "You are not my girlfriend".

Analysis:

She shit tests me to see if I will lose my frame, which is obviously a red flag. My response hit her right in the liver because I'm exploiting a fear women have— "fear of a man not desiring her ". It strikes into their insecurities. It becomes more fun and engaging, it creates an experience if we can stick to the golden rule "she's not my girlfriend until I sleep with her " At this point the game is on the next level and the tables are turned because now she's fighting for your attention.

MISTAKE NO2

Men start early on introducing her to his social circle and family members. This shows her that you are deeply invested in her, therefore placing yourself in a vulnerable position and giving her leverage over you

If she turns out to be manipulative and a narcissistic toxic person, she might break up with you just to see you suffer. If you guys breakup, now you will have explanations to do, and no matter what you say everyone will think you probably messed up.

Men introduce women to their family and friends because she's super hot and he wants to show her off and tease his ego. No cap everyone including the girl is going to think you are a dork and she'll disrespect you for that.

MISTAKE NO3

No mutual photos". New relationships are like a game of chess, the goal is to outplay your partner with the winner taking the leading position.

Small details such as who posts mutual photos first, who initiates dates first, who raises topics about moving in together or about future plans. All these details can cost you points. You can take a picture together "only" if she initiates it. Do not post a mutual photo on your social media. Most importantly, I'm pleading with you, do not smile and get too excited with women. They hate it. Being over excited shows weakness and neediness. Your default emotional state should not rise. Women give this golden advice and it's f*cking true— "just be yourself". When you truly embrace yourself for who you are, women will be drawn to you. This is one secret to get more bodies that masculine and redpill coaches are blind to. Read more about this HERE

It is really not that easy because to be yourself, you have to be confident and honest. Insecure men try to show off and start acting fake, trying to present themselves better than who they actually are.

MISTAKE NO4

Something I learnt about attracting women — no amount of money, gifts, expensive restaurant dates or vacations can make a woman fall in love with you. If you invite her to the coffee shop on the first date and she says "oh I don't go to the coffee shop on the first date and bla bla bla..." that means taking her to an expensive restaurant won't make her more attracted to you. If she's genuinely interested in you, she will be open to going to the park with you. So save your money and don't try to impress women with your success. If you are truly successful you can't hide it, people always sense it when someone is good with money.

MISTAKE NO5

A challenging problem— difficult to avoid —but if you can't avoid it, be aware of it, if you catch yourself in this situation be ready to end the relationship, when it's needed to be. Practice ending the relationship when you are fully attached to the girl. It will make you a better man. If you find yourself living a girls life instead of your own, the relationship is destined to end and be very toxic.

THE GOAL

She should be living your life instead of you meeting her up and discussing her life. It is not much of the time when you are attached to a woman. There are self centered women, like career women. Women who thinks the whole world revolves around them, but you should be aware.

QUICK TIP

If you have a routine— you start dating a girl and suddenly you start changing your routine and adjusting your schedule for her — that's a huge sign of you living her life and getting attached to her

NOTE

If you cannot take a leading position in the beginning of a relationship— be aware the relationship will never workout if you follow my advice and the girl don't want to accept your rules, well you're welcome because I just saved you from a toxic relationship. No feminine woman , no good woman will refuse a guy who starts a relationship like this. I promise you.