

Work was absolutely killing you - weeks went by where you would do nothing but work and sleep and you needed a change. Your coworkers were constantly telling you to get a girlfriend and you decided they may be right. Friday night came around and you took some PTO to leave early, heading to the bar.

After a few drinks and mentally preparing yourself to hit on women for the first time in ages, you began scanning for candidates. You noticed a hot blonde with her friends in the corner and made your move. You introduced yourself and sat down with them. You could definitely tell they just wanted to be left alone, so you awkwardly made your way out. This happened a few more times before you found yourself back at the bar, alone.

Not long later, something strange happened. A brunette woman approached you and sat right next to you. You casually checked her out as she ordered a drink before she said, "I haven't seen you at this bar before."

You looked around, wondering if she was talking to you. "Yes, I am talking to you," She smiled, turning to look at you.

"Oh, um yeah I never find the time to get out here," You responded, a little flustered.

"Ah that's a shame, this bar could use a few more pretty faces."

"Maybe I could find some more time to come out here... as long as you're here," You smirked, feeling more confident in flirting with this woman.

She grinned and drank from her bottle. "Sounds like you need help taking a load off; release some stress. I could help you with that."

You liked where this was going and eagerly, yet as casually as you could, responded, "That sounds good to me. You want to come back to my place?"

"Mmmm, let's go to my place actually. I have something I think you'll like."

Not needing to be told twice, you got up with her and started leaving the bar.

"Hey, I don't even know your name.." You said as you walked outside.

"Luna," She answered. "Let's take my car, it looks like you've had one too many drinks." She was right, so you followed her and got in the passenger seat. After a short drive and some small talk, you arrived at her cozy home.

“Take a seat on the couch, I’m going to get changed into something more comfortable,” Luna winked, walking into her bedroom.

You mindlessly picked up some knick-knacks, looking around. You sat down on her comfy blue couch and waited.

Moments later, Luna emerged from her room, only she wasn’t wearing her cute bar outfit - she was clad in a leather bra/panty set. A smirk spread across your face as lust grew in your eye. “Well, hellooooo Luna.”

She sauntered across the room and pushed you back against the couch. “Still needing to take a load off?”

Still smiling, you nodded. Luna crawled on top of you, straddling you on your lap.

“Then just relax and enjoy this.” Luna leaned forward and connected her lips with yours, kissing you passionately. You kissed her back and soon her tongue was intruding your mouth, though it was not unwelcome. You did the same to her, making out intensely.

Soon, she pulled away, running her hand through your hair as you laid back, looking up at her. You opened your eyes, noticing something... Was she getting taller? It looked like she was growing as she was sitting on your lap. Unable to take your eyes off hers, you watched as her face got further and further away. Your clothes felt looser on your dwindling body as her weight grew on your lap.

Just relax...

“What’s happening?” You asked worriedly, still dwindling. “Why are you getting bigger?”

“Don’t you feel our connection?” Luna responded, moaning softly. She held your chest with her growing hand while her weight pinned you to the couch. She laughed before adding, “I’m just helping you take a load off!”

Unable to do anything, you watched as she grew on top of you. Her leather clothes strained tightly against her enlarging curves before they tore, shredding off her body.

“Ohhhhh yes!” Luna moaned, now naked on top of you. Your clothes slid off you, now too large for your small body. She grabbed your face with her giant hand and pulled you in between her massive breasts as she licked her lips in delight.

"Mphhh!!!" You exclaimed, unable to breathe between her boobs. You could hear her squeals of delight above. Luna pulled your head away and looked down at you, her eyes filled with lust. She pulled you against one of her nipples and you knew what you had to do.

You wrapped your lips around her growing nipple and began sucking on it - the nipple practically filled your mouth as you were practically the size of a child compared to her.

You continued to suck and please her before switching to the other one and she moaned in approval. After a while, Luna pushed you off her and stood, towering far above you. She had to duck under her high ceilings as you barely came up to her knee. You looked up at her in awe, seeing her looking down at you through her mountainous cleavage.

Luna walked around the couch and dragged you with her, her hand engulfing your arm. "Come here, you're gonna fuck me before you're too small to reach."

You did not need to even think about it - how many dudes would DREAM about being in your position, about to fuck a growing amazon. Luna got on her knees and leaned against the back of the couch. Her ass pushed against your chest, still slightly ballooning in front of you.

You pulled her ass cheeks apart, each cheek basically as big as you before you stepped forward, your stomach squished between them as you thrust your waist against her crotch. You felt your penis slide between her massive pussy lips as you moaned in pleasure. Was it pretty loose? Yes. Did it still feel incredible? Fuck yes.

Her ass was still enlarging, threatening to push you off her as you continued to thrust into her.

“Fuuuuck!” She moaned loudly. You could feel the cum building up in your cock as you continued to thrust into her. Despite the dangers of a growing giantess, your lust kept you there.

While her ass expanded in front of you, her tits were experiencing something similar on the other side, growing larger and larger as they began to fill the couch she was leaning over. Each boob was as big as a person, each taking up a couch cushion.

"Give me your load, baby!" She moaned loudly as you strained to reach her pussy with your cock. Her ass was making it very difficult for you, but you were determined to finish in her.

Finally, you couldn't hold it any longer - you burst, cumming everything you had built up inside of her. For a moment, her ass stopped growing. It seemed like time itself stopped as you leaned against her giant curves catching your breath. Was it over?

Quicker than it stopped, Luna exploded in growth before you, practically doubling in size in one second. You were thrown from her, falling on your ass as she continued expanding, filling the entire room.

“Holy shit!!!” You yelled as she continued growing over you, completely enveloping you between her thick thighs and bubble butt. You were directly underneath her massive lips, her pussy now bigger than you. “Please stop!!”

Her growth slowed as she sat up as much as she could under her low ceiling.

“Stop? Honey, I don’t plan on stopping anytime soon... You said you wanted to take a load off, and I plan on taking every. Last. Load.” She laughed, lowering her pussy down towards your tiny body.

The smell of sex dominated your scent, her warmth and wetness was all you could feel. Her echoing moans filled your ears before she said, “Give me everything.”

Before you could even react, you were swallowed in her massive vagina, nothing more than her toy.

Images from EMK3D on Deviantart