

Have you ever considered this thought?

Hey, Andrew.

Male loneliness is rising, and their need to form an intimate connection with the opposite sex is too.

Your workshops are exactly what these guys need, and they are more than happy to spend a fortune on them (I'm sure you know this).

In the pick-up industry, I've noticed what the top competitors are busy doing, and it's crazy how many single men are buying their programs.

These businesses apply a system specifically meant to target every animalistic impulse of every sex-deprived man that reads it, and...

it's working! Those businesses have scaled like crazy. This simple system has been proven to work on countless different occasions with many different businesses.

I know for a fact, especially with your expertise in this field, that it can not fail if you applied to your workshops.

If you've considered scaling the Travel Bum Coaching, let me show you in fine detail what I'm talking about. I'm more than willing to show you this system.

Do you want me to send over a clear example? (Just reply "yes")

Cheers!

John P. Goedkoop