

Still Frame (aka Stop Motion) Animation

Project Due Date: Wednesday, May 14th

MaYbE! Thursday, May 15th--if everyone is on task, being productive, and being responsible

Video watching on: Friday, May 16th

Today is day one of your project. With your partner you are going to use toys/props you've brought from home OR yourselves to create a still frame animation movie. Please view these videos as an example of what you can do if you use yourselves:

- Fill in the chart below with your names so I know who is paired up with who.
- Then! You need to talk with your partner(s) and come up a game plan for your movie! Try to keep your movie simple.
- Time limit minimum 0:45 and a maximum of 2:00 minutes.
- Cameras must be kept stationary when filming.
- There must be a clear plot line: no matter how silly, plain, or boring it may be.
- You will utilize whatever you have with you, or, that is in the computer lab.
- Ideas: cars racing, two toy characters going shopping, two characters talking and walking, you being late to class, getting something stuck in your locker, shoes walking down a hallway, etc... List your topic on the chart below, too!
- Check out an ipad from the ipad cart. ONE ipad per partner/group...and start snapping pictures. You will use iStopMotion app on the ipads.
- IF you need to leave the room to film your video you need to make sure to be respectful with wherever you film.
 - a. Keep in mind people working behind the walls you are working. And please note on the chart where you will be filming so that I know where to find you.
- Make your music on GarageBand and use the headphones to record it to the ipad.

- When you're done, save to camera roll, upload to your google account (via the app), then put it into the folder I have created for our class and shared with you. Remember to share the video (via google) with your partner as well.
- Have a great time! Have fun! Get those creative juices flowing! I can't wait to see what you guys and gals come up with! ;)

Please come back to class within the last five minutes BEFORE the bell rings to put the ipads back onto the cart!
