Dang I wish we could've had a class together like with waterman last year. Regardless, thank you for being a memer, a listener, and most importantly, a friend. Fingers crossed I get to see your face in person before you thadduate. See ya!

MY NAME IS HOMIEMAN AND I AM MAD THAT YOU KILLED THE BEES YOU PIECE OF SHIT

Ayyy! It's Thad m'dude! What a strange year, not gonna lie. Regardless, it was pretty awesome to see you again after being gone for two years. Since middle school, you've evolved at least from a Pichu into a Pikachu (I can tell by the quality of your kip-up

:P). It's too bad we didn't share any classes, but at least we got to see each other in calisthenics. I have yet to master the bring sally-up challenge, but I'll get to your level eventually XD Hope to see you around next year bro!

P.S.: Here's a photo of you and Tenu. I like the tie :)

Yooooooooo u've been pretty cool since 9th grade Gish. Ur body roll is forever burned into my mind, as is basically every single pun in ur notebook. So thanks for those. See ya!

Sup Thaddeus

Thanks for being a super cool friend these last years (years? When did we meet. It was like ninth grade. That's crazy it's been so long we're so OLD) and hopefully for being a super cool friend in the years to come (this is a thank you in advance so it's on you to be a super cool friend. The standards have been drawn). Let it be known on this official document that I would totally beat you in Minecraft, no matter what type of game we play. 100%. Unfortunately we may never have a chance to test that, which just proves my point that I would win because reasons. I will forever be jealous of your productivity during quarantine (how dare you do exercise. Eat potato chips on the couch like the rest of us). I hope you have an amazing summer and to see you next year (if school ever starts up again)!

You'd better pay up, kid, or you'll start losing fingers. I ain't stickin' around for much longer, so don't muck about. I'll be watching you, mate.

-Anonymous (Thadd Edit: Ik that's you Pascal)

Bro I'm sad I didn't get to visit you this year and listen to you play meme songs on your recorder. Miss skippin' college to kick it with you and the homeroom gang. Senior year is gonna be weird for you my dude but you'll make the best of it :)))
