

Fresh Takes Seasonal Produce Box Terms & Conditions

Please understand that by supporting our Fresh Takes Seasonal Produce Box initiative, you are investing in Get Fresh Daily as we invest in our community and in our local food system. Your subscription means you are taking part in our Collective Care Model that believes that:

Equal access to farm-fresh, locally-grown chemical-free produce is our human birthright.

We are working towards creating a sustainable business model that is streamlined and covers the costs and expenses of running this program, while providing Get Fresh Daily with enough to grow this program forward. We have landed on a subscription model that requires prepay. Your initial investment provides the capital necessary for GFD to provide you with two seasons of chemical-free, local and organically grown produce. Because your investment covers all expenses, please understand that we cannot issue refunds once distribution begins under any circumstance.

In return, the GFD staff and our partners and produce providers at Philly Foodworks commit to providing you and our community with the freshest product possible at current market prices.

- ☐ I understand that if there are weeks that I am not home to receive my box, that I will make arrangements for a family or friend to pick up the box OR will donate my box at GFDs discretion.
- ☐ I understand that Summer Shares are nonrefundable, nonchangeable and nontransferrable.
- ☐ I understand that Fall Shares may be changed or cancelled for a full refund no later than September 3, 2025. After that, all orders are nonrefundable, nonchangeable and nontransferrable.

If you have read and agree to the terms & conditions, please:

- ☐ Complete your order HERE
- ☐ Complete and sign the agreement form HERE.

If you have any questions, please contact us at hello@getfreshdaily.org.

Thank you!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Why do I have to pay the total cost of my share(s) up front?

This model is specifically designed to be an investment in our Fresh Takes Produce Box Program, providing us an opportunity to streamline the lift for our small team to continue operating our produce box program. In the past, this program was operated by grant funds that have run out. In addition to covering the cost of operating this program, we also want to make sure we can offer this program to everyone regardless of their income status or zip code.

That said, we understand it may be difficult for some households to afford the total cost of a share up front. We have 4 solutions to for these situations:

- We accept payment plans through Shop Pay at checkout. Full payment must be received by the 3rd week of each share.
- A limited number of discounted shares will be made available for 50% off of one season. Please contact us at hello@getfreshdaily.org if you are interested in receiving a discount code.
- We will be accepting Food Bucks - vouchers distributed to seniors and at WIC offices soon. However, the bucks must be redeemed in person during one of our Farmers Markets. Please contact us at hello@getfreshdaily.org if you are interested in using Food Bucks to purchase
- Donated shares may also be available. Please contact us at hello@getfreshdaily.org if you would like to be placed on the list to receive this box.

Can I place a hold on my delivery if I'm going to be away?

Unfortunately, at this time we cannot offer any holds, credits or refunds. Our hope is that if you need to skip a week or two, you will consider donating that box to a friend, family or community member.

For any weeks that you will not be able to receive your share, members have the following options:

- Make arrangements to donate or sell your share to a friend or relative.
- Contact GFD so we can make arrangements to donate it on your behalf.

If you are unavailable to receive a weekly delivery, please identify that on the Fresh Takes Seasonal Produce Box | Terms & Conditions questionnaire.

How does the price of Fresh Takes Produce Boxes compare to shopping at the grocery store?

Conventionally grown produce that is available at the grocery store is sometimes less expensive than purchasing local and organically-grown produce from Get Fresh Daily. However, there are so many “hidden costs” associated with conventionally grown produce, primarily the cost to your health. This produce is heavily treated with chemicals and increasingly genetically modified, negatively affecting our environment and our health. Certified Organic produce found at the grocery store is far more expensive than purchasing local and organically-grown produce from GFD. Grocery-store organic produce is often marked up 50 to 150%, and much of it isn't even local! Because our model connects consumers directly with farmers, the price of each food item is comparable to wholesale pricing. Not to mention the incredible benefit to our health, our environment, and our local food system when you buy local.

Fruits are either organically-grown or raised with the environment and consumer-sensitive Integrated Pest Management (IPM) standard.

Why can't I select what's in my weekly box?

The only way we are able to keep our produce box cost so low is by providing everyone with the same produce items in every box. Not only does that allow us to purchase foods in bulk and wholesale, it also reduces the administrative time it takes to sort and pack individual boxes.

However, rest assured, we go to great lengths to select foods that we think you will love - foods you are familiar with and from time to time, local foods that may be new to you. Every box is curated to include 8-10lbs (about 7-8 items) of foods that work well together in meals, and we even provide a simple and delicious plant based recipe that aligns with the foods in that box.

How do my produce box contents change throughout the season(s)?

Over the course of a season, we have access to over 400 varieties of local fruits and vegetables.

We're proud to work with Philly Foodworks, an organization who works directly with farms throughout Pennsylvania. However, due to our growing season being primarily May-November, we do sometimes bring produce from outside the region. While we always prioritize local produce, we will from time to time work with regional growers to supplement our boxes to diversify our boxes and source fruits and vegetables that maintain the diversity of product in your box shares.

The list below features many - but not all - of the produce that you will find in our boxes!
