

The Collector [Lewd Game System] [Terminology & Lore]

Dr. Faust has always been fascinated with Superheroines ever since he was a little boy. From their powerful feminine forms to the spectacular powers they wield, he wanted to learn everything he could about them. As he grew older, his love for these beautiful crime fighters transformed into an obsession. He did everything he could to get close to the Superheroines he adored and study them. Graduating from the top college in the country and using his family connections, he managed to land a position within SMPS (Specialized Medical Professionals For Supers) a government program created to provide specialized medical treatment to Superheroes. His position allowed him to fulfill his dream of personally attending and getting close to Superheroines, but it wasn't enough to satisfy him. He wanted to closely study every inch of them. As the years passed by, his examination of his Heroine patients became more and more invasive. Eventually, during one of his 'medical examinations', a coworker walked in on him while he was inserting unauthorized equipment into a drugged out heroine's pussy. In a panic, he knocked out his coworker and fled the building before it was too late to escape.

Dr. Faust quickly became a wanted man after that incident. This fact, however, wasn't enough to stop him from continuing his 'research'. He went underground, using his intellect to collect resources and build his power. Five long years after his disappearance from the world, he was now ready to emerge as the Supervillain known as "The Collector". Unlike other Supervillains, his goal wasn't world domination, but to capture heroines in order to examine them without any restrictions to hold him back.

Being the brilliant scientist and businessman he was, Dr. Faust found ways to profit off his kidnappings and fund his ever expanding research into Superheroines. As it turns out, he was far from the only degenerate interested in sensational caped crusaders. There existed a good number of wealthy individuals with questionable morals who were very willing to pay him handsomely for the results of his research. His products ranged from machines designed to snag heroines and safely transport them to serums that enhance the sensitivity of any Superheroine unfortunate enough to be injected with it. Out of all his wonderful products, there was one that consistently outsold them all; Superheroine milk. Chock full of vitamins and minerals, this nutritious drink was not only healthy, but could temporarily bestow the drinker with the superpowers of the heroine who generously provided the milk. Delicious!

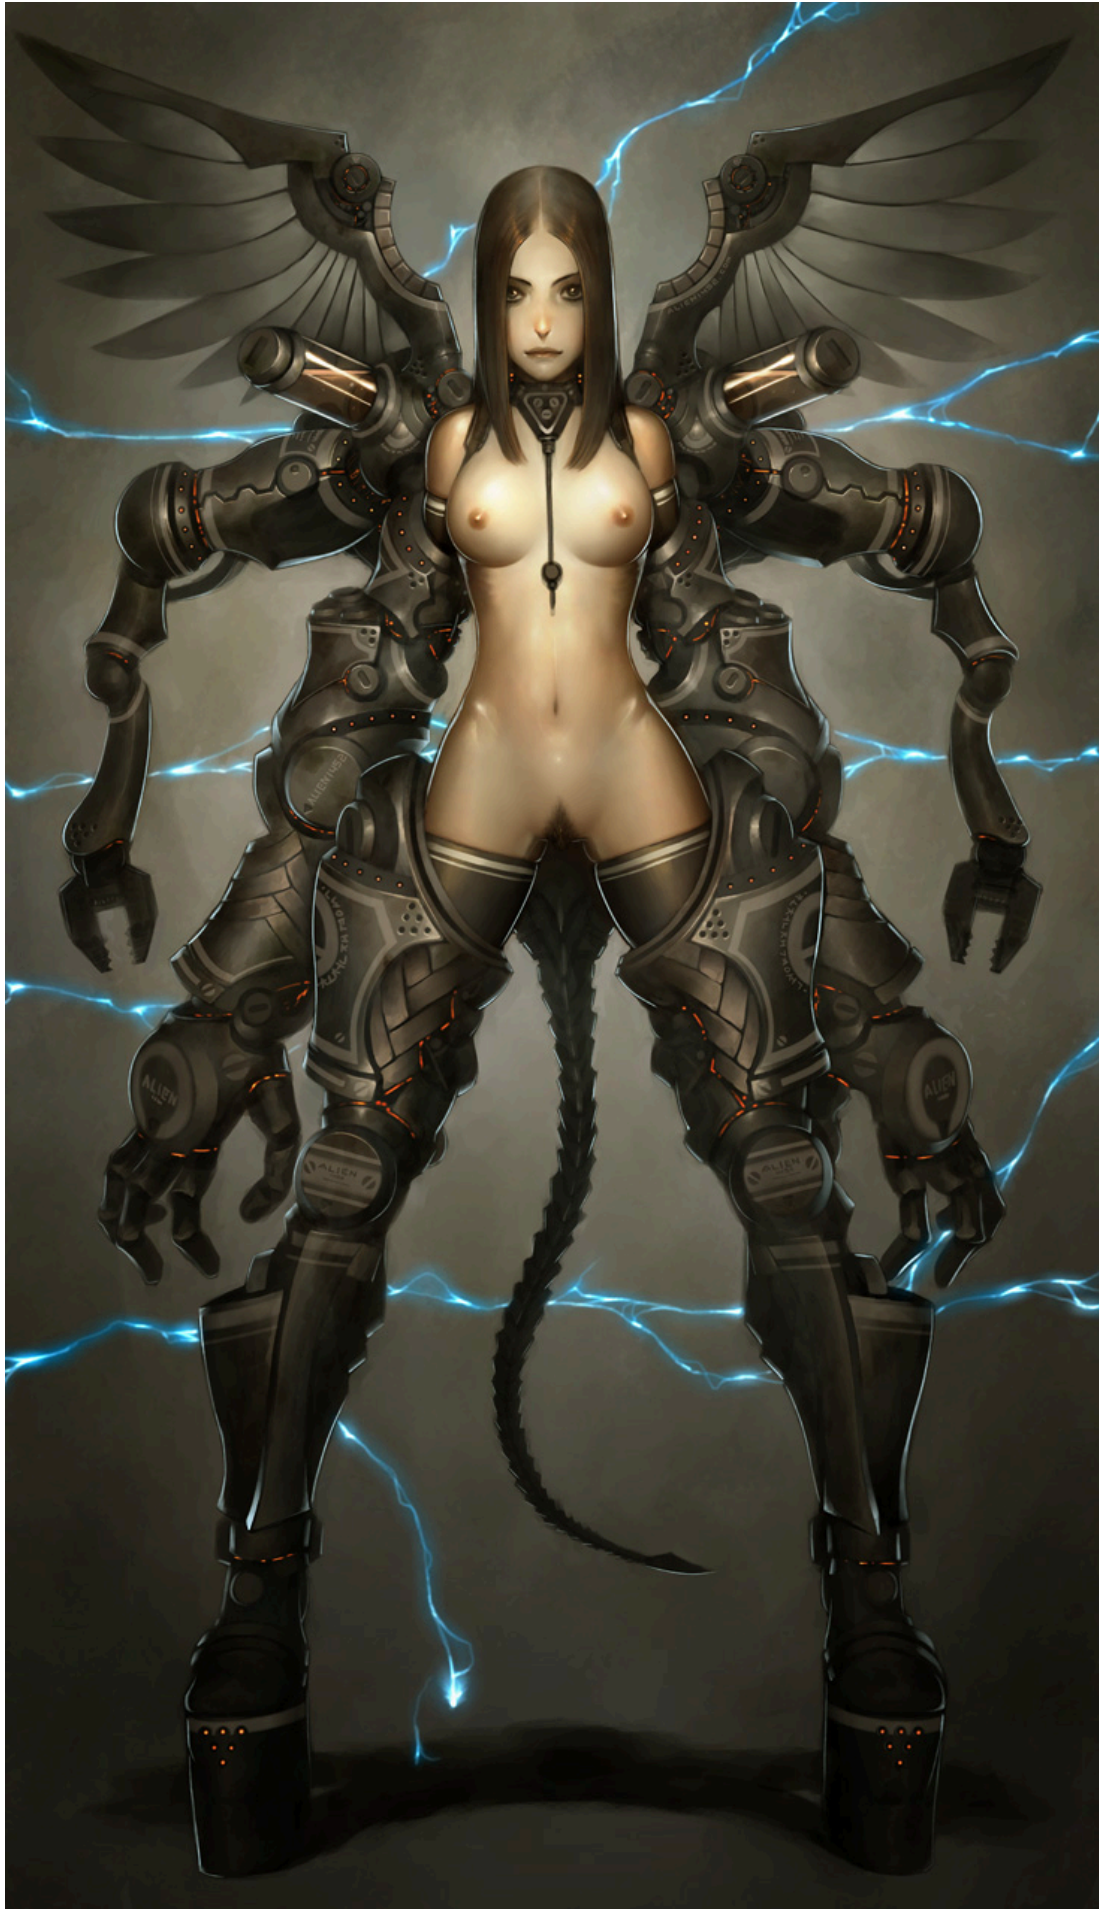

His ability to extract Superheroine powers from their breast milk was thanks to his latest invention. Codenamed DRAIN (Detain Remove Analyze Isolate Negate), this devious creation of his used a special electrometric wavelength to convert superpowers into milk. The more powerful they are, the larger their tits swell.

The effects of his business have had an astonishing negative effect across the globe. His superpowered milk has transformed once insignificant petty criminal organizations into terrifying powerhouses capable of wracking serious havoc. And with every Superheroine defeated and captured, his power and influence grows. This has led to the P.U.S.S (Protection Union of Supers Salvation) to secretly assemble a small team of Superheroines to investigate any leads to the main base of operation of 'The Collector' and hopefully put an end to his villainy. Your Character has been selected for the job. An honor at first, but it quickly becomes apparent that this mission might be your last.

Pic Ideas

ZERO NIS
patreon.com/zeronis
zeronis.deviantart.com

ART © 2021 SAKIMICHAN ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

