#1: The King and the Prince of the Stepstones

Title: The King and the Prince of the Stepstones

Author: vierundachzig

Length: 62k

Category: AU

Last updated : Completed

Keywords: Daemon/Alicent (mentioned), Aemond/Baela, Aemond as Daemon's bastard, Aemond repemtion arc

Ratings and Archive Warnings: Teen and Up

Summary:

Fierce, bold, quick to anger and slow to forgive - he was the Queen's biggest secret. But no matter how much she tried to hide it, it was destined to be revealed.

In this story, King Viserys' second son is not his son - but instead the outcome of his wife's lust for the Rogue Prince. Aemond Targaryen never found his rightful place at court until he found out who he really was and became what he detested the most; a bastard.

#2: No Rest For The WickedTitle: No Rest For The WickedAuthor: vierundachzigLength: 328kCategory: AU, OCLast updated : CompletedLinks: [No Rest For The Wicked - Chapter 1 - vierundachzig - A Song of Ice and Fire & Related Fandoms \[Archive of Our Own\]](#)Keywords: Aemond/OC, OC female from House Belaerys, Daeron/Rhaena, Daeron/Addam VelyaronRatings and Archive Warnings: MatureSummary:

120 AC - Driftmark is mourning two children and the island is shadowed with dragons. On the shore beneath the cliffs of High Tide Castle a bastard daughter has an encounter that would change the course of her life. In the stables a boy sits himself on a dragon. During a council a family clashes and it creates a rift that will never come back together.

This is my take on the decade before the dance of the dragons, if another person from an old Valyrian family was involved. The focus lays on a character that is neither a green nor a black but both at the same time. It is a complicated romance story at first which turns into a bloody family dispute later on.

Would some compassion for one of the main antagonists of the dance of the dragons change the outcome of the civil war?

#3: Love Doesn't Live Here

Title: Love Doesn't Live Here

Ratings and Archive Warnings: Mature, Violence

Summary:

Viserra Targaryen's life as the reluctant Lady of White Harbor was not one of songs, not with her insufferable husband as unbearable as he is old, and his magnetic young heir Desmond seemingly despising her.

Baelon the Brave never feels less brave than when he steals a crown from his beloved brother Aemon's daughter, all while raising his two quarrelsome sons alone.

When a widowed Viserra returns to King's Landing only six years after she was sent away, their parallel journeys of healing bring them together in the unlikeliest of ways. But ghosts of the past (alongside new revelations) aren't quite done with them yet.

So when she woke up again in her maiden bed, five and ten once more, her first thought was to not let that happen again. She had lived an entire life that she couldn't repeat. A life she had to renounce if she were to win her crown and keep it.

She would make different decisions, and paths she wouldn't have taken, and change what she could. Prophecy, duty or love couldn't block her way to victory once again. But could she do it? Could she push away every source of happiness in her first life?

Could she renounce to everything to get the crown even if she was called a monster and a tyrant again?

Could she stop being human? Or would she burn away what was left of herself in pursuit of her crown?
