General Disclaimer

This list covers the most active and well known doujin circles that are talked about in the foreign community. This list is not completely comprehensive, and may omit circles that are now inactive, or solo artist circles who have only released a small amount of covers.

Introduction

Circles listed here are the original sources of legitimate covers. Note that due to the large number of circles and their long histories, not all artists that have worked with the circle will be listed. While efforts will be made to keep this document up to date, it may lag over time.

An important distinction to make is that the circles listed that are based in Japan (and the majority outside of Japan) are not businesses but individual artists or individuals who commission other independent artists. As a result, their main focus is not to make money or keep items in stock, but as a once off treat for events. Thus out of all the catalogue a circle has, only the most recent designs will be available if at all directly from the circles, and that's if you catch them during their pre order period if the circle does online mail order, or if you see them physically at an event.

For the majority of the foreigners who have an interest, the only way you will be able to snag a cover from a Japanese circle is through the secondary market. A rough guide of what to expect will be listed next to circles, but be aware that certain covers will be worth more, and some less.

Japanese Doujin Circles

For a circle to be considered a “Japanese Circle” for the purposes of this list, one of the following criteria must be met n addition to how the circle generally runs:

- Circle management is within Japan, with usually limited print runs
- A significant portion of cover designs are printed only on Japanese fabric
    - Examples include Miazi/Moehime Union/Orangemaru/Kyounetsu Zanbun, whose artists are either Chinese or Korean, but mainly prints on Japanese Fabric, as well as Monja whose leadership is outside Japan
    - Dakimakuri and Saikou do not fit in this category as the bulk of their designs are available not on Japanese Fabric.

In the rare cases where it is not by lottery, the site will crash and the covers will be sold out in less than ten minutes. Notorious for being one of the most expensive covers to purchase in the aftermarket, and due to this covers by this circle are heavily targeted by flippers/speculators.
